Home / Humorous / Beloved Wife Of The God Of War

Chapter 66 How About I Inject You With This

Still, Derick remained calm.

Kimberly removed the gag on his mouth and Alessio quickly spoke, "Marshall, I failed you. Please forgive me."

"You didn't fail me. They are the one who rebelled against us," Derrick said.

"You are a coward, Kimberly," Derrick looked at her and said. "You want to kill me yet you need the help of more than a hundred soldiers. Why don't you challenge me directly? I guess you didn't deserve that position, you were politically placed there."

"Shut up!" Kimberly shouted, the veins of his neck revealing as if it will tear her neck opened. She was extremely furious that she wanted to explode out of anger. She hated it when someone call her a coward. She wasn't politically placed on that position, she worked his way by winning several battles for her country before she became the assistant to the god of war.

"I challenge you to a fight," Kimberly then went to stand before him. She knew he was definitely going to beat Derrick, seeing that he was already bleeding in the chest. The chest is a sensitive place and she believed that with just a few heavy punches on the place, he would be on the floor begging to live.

Kimberly paused and said, "are you giving up already?"

Kimberly suddenly charged at him, he guided it and said, "hold on."

"No, if I win, I get to kill all these men with my own hands," Derrick said.

Even if he's not bleeding, I'll beat him to death." She beat her chest proudly.

Kimberly heard some of their rumors and shouted, "Don't you bastard even trust in me?"

Rumors immediately began to spread amidst Kimberly's officers. As if they were scared of Kimberly loosing.

At once, the officers surrounding them kept mute. "He's already bleeding in the chest and you still think he will defeat me, huh?

But Derrick just stood calmly. Of course, he was experiencing pain in his bleeding chest but he did not express it.

She looked at Derrick and said, "I agree to your deal. If I win you as well, not only will I kill you, I'll kill your personal assistant as well." "Okay," Derrick said.

"So can we start?" Kimberly asked as she positioned herself to fight.

he guided them.

"You can," Derrick answered.

She flew and threw two kicks towards him but he guided him easily. She charged at him again and sent several punches at him but "Fight me!" She shouted.

"Fine." Derrick said and charged at her and in five seconds, he knocked her to the floor and matched his heavy booth on her nose, the danger they were in.

her nose immediately began to bleed, Kimberly was even finding it hard to breath. Derrick bent and hit her in his jugular, Kimberly fainted at once. When the officers saw this, they adjusted back in fear and positioned themselves to fight Derrick. They were not ready to be slaughtered just like that.

Derrick released Alessio and once he stood, he said to Derrick, "Marshall, you can leave, I'll handle this. You are already bleeding."

Derrick ignored him and looked at the one hundred soldiers who still had swords in their hand. "Inform our soldiers to meet us here," he whispered to Alessio and he immediately texted one of the men working for him about

About ten thousand soldiers suddenly started rushing towards where they were. These soldiers were officers of Western Ocean City. In a jiffy, they had surrounded the one hundred Aurora Island soldiers.

following orders."

The one hundred soldiers of Aurora Island fell to their knees and immediately pleaded, "Marshall, please forgive us. We were only

In a few minutes, all the one hundred soldiers of Aurora Island were left without weapons, infact, their uniforms were also stripped off leaving them with only with their undergarments.

"Disarm them, " Derrick commanded.

"The punishment for rebellion is death," he said. Although the one hundred soldiers of Aurora Island kept pleading earnesly, Derrick turned deaf ears.

sight was brutal. Derrick didn't stop until he slaughtered all the one hundred. A lot of dead bodies lay on the floor and a lot of blood were flowing like river. Derrick's clothes had a lot of blood splased on it.

He removed his dagger and went to the one hundred soldiers one after the other and began to slaughter them mercilessly. The

Then he walked over to his car and Alessio quickly got in and drove him home. Katherine was fast asleep and had no idea that there had been chaos in the base. It was Alessio's repeated knocks on her door that woke her up.

As soon as she opened her door, she spoke, "Alessio, what's the matter?" "Come with me quickly," he immediately lead her to Derrick's room. When Katherine saw how his chest was bleeding, fear Samantha to bring some medical substances from the laboratory.

Alessio who was standing by a side asked, "how is he?" "He would be fine," Katherine answered and Alessio nodded.

gripped her heart. She ran back inside and brought some medical kits. After she had stopped the bleeding, she then called

"You may leave, Alessio. Thank you," Derrick said.

Alessio saluted and walked away.

"Got it, sir," Alessio responded.

very well. You need lots of it."

bandage across his chest.

here was she.

and adjusted back.

was watching her.

"Marshall, how did you sustain this injury?" Katherine asked.

Derrick explained all that happened to her briefly and added, "it's obvious Christopher is behind the attack."

Derrick sat upright from the bed and picked up his phone then called Alessio. Once he answered, he commanded, "there must be four hundred more officers from Aurora Island. Kill everyone of them and lock up Christopher's assistant in the cell."

"Oh my days! We need to do something about him, you probably need to write to the president about this matter?" She suggested.

"An attempt to kill the god of war is an attempt to breach the highest level of security in a country. Our president and that of Aurora Island will understand the reasons behind my act." Derrick said.

"Well, we still need him cause we will be strategizing on the war against North America countries together. Plus killing the god of "Marshall... You already slaughtered hundred and now, you are killing four hundred more. Won't that anger Aurora Island?"

Christopher was way out of the option.

"Thank you," Derrick said and laid, then closed his eyes slowly.

"And what about Christopher? What will you do to him?" She asked.

"Alright," Katherine said. She didn't want to imagine Derrick's face when he was slaughtering those one hundred men. It's a good thing she wasn't even there to witness it. Although she's an officer, she had never shot someone dead before. She was mostly in the medical department, she likes to save lives, help people heal, she literally didn't have a heart to kill. "Marshall, you should rest war of Aurora Island would make the country too easy to be attacked. I won't go that far," Derrick said. He knew killing him later. She stood and walked up to the door, she was surprised to see Donna walking towards the door so she remained standing.

Kathrine sighed and felt like kissing his soft pink lips before leaving but she dared not. She then decided to come and check on

"I just want to check on him," Donna said.

"He needs lots of rest, you can come back later," Katherine said.

When Donna got before her, she said, "I need to see how Marshall is doing."

"Don't you hear what I said? He's sleeping. Did you want to wake him up?" Katherine asked. "Leave."

Donna looked at her angrily but didn't say a word then she walked away. Katherine ensured that she was out of sight before she left.

She stood by his bed and mumbled, "Marshall, I'm glad you are not dead."

She didn't like the fact that Christopher sent his assistant to kill Derrick. That wasn't what they agreed before he left Aurora Island, she was particularly interested in destroying Katherine and she planned on manipulating Christopher help her accomplish her goal. She was also tempted by his lips and wanted to kiss it but was a little nervous.

Donna brought out an injection in her pocket, since she had tried to make Derrick see Katherine in a bad light severally and he

But as soon as Katherine left, Donna came back and walked inside Derrick's room. Derrick's eyes were closed and there was a big wouldn't, she would have to force things to happen.

She was carefully taking her hands to strike Derrick's skin with the injection when the door suddenly opened.

Katherine almost shouted but cautioned herself because of Derrick that semeed to be sleeping.

Despite Katherine's presence, she still wanted to go ahead and inject him but Katherine threw a flower vase to her. She guided it

Katherine had come back to check on Derrick, she just had this feeling that Donna may come back to Derrick's room and indeed, Katherine charged at her and fought her until she collected the injection from her. Donna sensed that Derrick was waking up and quickly ran out.

Katherine mumbled, "this is an injection of memory loss."

Katherine furrowed her brow, "of course not, Marshall. It was Donna that was trying to inject you with this so I collected it from Derrick opened his eyes and saw Katherine with an injection. Katherine didn't even know that Derrick had woken up and that he

Derrick immediately stood from the bed and adjusted back, "Katherine, what are you about to do to me? You want me to loose my memory?"

"Donna? Where is she?" Derrick asked.

she would not be able to remember her kids nor remember her past.

"She ran out."

her."

Derrick didn't believe her at all. Why would Donna want to inject him with memory loss injection. But the bigger question is why was Katherine holding and examining the injection? And why didn't he wake up to see Donna in the room?

the bed. "How about I inject you with this?" "Please don't, Marshall. I'm telling you the truth."

"Drop the injection on the bed," he commanded and Katherine dropped it gently. He walked up to it and took the injection from

"Why are you pushing the blame on Donna?" He asked as he approached her. Katherine wanted to run out cause his face held a serious look and she was scared that he may make her loose her memory. Loosing her memory would be a great damage on her,