

Divorce is the Best Choice by Riley Mccarthy

Chapter 26 I can't rest assured when you are like this!

When they arrived at a fork in the road, Chris walked in the right direction, and Jason de liberately walked in the wrong direction.

He would like to see how Sarah would choose.

Sarah would not choose at all.

Whether she knew it or not, she would choose Chris without hesitation between them.

This was what Jason had taught her.

"Boss..." out of the corner of his eye, Chris noticed that his boss was walking in the wrong direction. He stopped and said, "Miss Ye ats's ward is here. You are wrong."

Jason turned back.

The three of them continued to walk.

"How do you know this path is the right one?" Jason asked.

"Because this is Chris's road." Her words blocked all his doubts.

Jason, "..."

The flustered Chris was rendered speechless.

Chris was afraid that his boss would suspect that there was something wrong between him and his wife.

He went shopping with Mrs. Noth; he ordered dinner for her; he picked her up if she wanted to go out.

What if the boss imagined wrong?

He was flustered!

Jason was so angry that he sped up his pace to the ward.

He just wanted to test. It would be the same if sent someone to come again for the cooperation.

On the other side.

After tidying up his clothes, Eric asked Rita to check if there was anything wrong with his clothes before he asked, “do I look imposing like this?”

“Yes.”

“Really?”

“Yes!”

“Can I suppress Jason?”

“It’s hard to say...” Rita was telling the truth.

As far as she could remember.

Jason had never been intimidated by anyone. Everyone else was afraid of him.

Eric also knew this, and his eyes became a little more serious. He was thinking about how to intimidate him.

He had to teach him a lesson because of his daughter!

While thinking.

The secretary in a suit at the door opened the door and said in a businesslike voice, “Mr. Yeats, Mr. Noth of the Noth group is here.”

“Let him in.”

“Yes, sir.”

The secretary immediately invited them into the ward.

It was the first time that Jason and Mr. Yeats had a conversation in a ward.

During this period, Jason had been observing the reaction of Eric and Rita.

But he got nothing.

Whether Mr. Yeats or his daughter looked very calm after Sarah appeared in the ward.

It was as if she was just an irrelevant person.

The two of them talked with each other politely. After expressing his condolence to Rita and congratulating her on her early recovery, the business between Jason and Eric finally began.

“Mr. Noth said you were interested in the new project of the Yeats Group. Which project is it exactly?” Eric sat on the chair and asked politely.

Sarah’s eyes moved slightly.

She felt Eric’s temperament had changed a little.

What she didn’t know was that her father was very dissatisfied with Jason now.

Jason showed up with Sarah without introducing her, which made him feel that Jason didn’t care about his own daughter at all.

It was precisely because of this dissatisfaction that his power of deterrence faintly surpassed that of Jason.

Jason also felt that Eric was a little hostile to him, but after observing carefully, he found that he had thought too much. “The artificial intelligence.”

“We have several projects about artificial intelligence.” Eric said quickly and looked at him. “You mean?”

“Artificial intelligence robot.”

“That’s good, but I’ve already cooperated with other companies.” Eric said.

"It doesn't matter." Jason was not here to talk about business.

He took a look at Sarah and said with a meaningful look, "I wonder if Mr. Yeats has another daughter besides

Rita?"

"What do you mean?" Eric answered naturally.

At this moment, Rita looked up.

"A few days ago in Atlanta, I heard a person claiming to be the heir of the Yeats Group. I thought that Mr. Yeats had another daughter besides Miss Yeats."

"I'm the only daughter of my father." Rita sat on the bed and said in a girlish voice.

'My sister is the treasure of our family!'

Eric seemed to be much calmer. He said half jokingly, "This kind of words is just a joke. A lot of words are just to say something without truth. I've heard a lot of people say that they are going to give birth to a baby for you, Mr. Noth."

"You are right." Jason chatted with him casually.

Rita couldn't help but look at Sarah.

She looked at Sarah from time to time.

When she looked at her for the tenth time, Jason looked up and asked in a low voice, "Miss Yeats, do you know my wife?"

Sarah Yeats was speechless.

Would Rita expose her lie?

"Is she your wife?" Finally, Rita looked at her sister aboveboard.

"Yes, temporarily," Jason replied vaguely.

“Temporarily?” Eric asked.

“We are getting divorced.” Jason spoke out this thing in a very calm tone, paying attention to Eric’s emotions.

If Mr. Yeats was really her father, he would definitely be angry when he heard this.

But Eric didn’t show any emotional fluctuation.

He

wasn’t a gossip and wasn’t interested in other people’s affairs. If he asked, he would expose Sarah’s identity and destroy her matter.

“Dad!” Finally, Rita found a reason to argue with Jason. She said to her father excitedly, “do you think that Jason’s wife resembles the person we knew before?”

Eric was speechless.

‘What are you doing?’

‘Let him know that my sister has a backer.’

Eric was anxious, ‘don’t expose your sister!’

‘Don’t worry. I know what to do.’

Eric was speechless again.

‘Don’t be so sure.’

‘I can’t rest assured when you are like this!’

“Who?” Eric stopped eye contact with Rita and asked.

“My bodyguard in primary school, Sarah.” With excitement in her eyes, Rita found out an identity.

Eric was speechless.

Sarah was speechless too.

With a slight frown between his deep eyebrows, Jason muttered a word, "bodyguards?"

"Sarah?" Eric began to pretend.

He really didn't know what to say. He didn't have this script when he colluded with her before.

It was a piece of cake for Rita to act. She helped her father recall the past and said, "didn't you bring back a sister who is five years older than me when I was nine years old? Ask her to take care of my safety and don't let me be bullied outside the school."

Eric frowned.

'What should I say? Do I suddenly realize it or continue to pretend to forget it?'

'Rita is 5 years younger than Sarah.'

But Eric didn't dare to say anything about the plot without script. What if it was messed up?

Chapter 27 Let Sarah chose one she liked

"I was pushed down the stairs when I was in primary school, and you were called to school by the principal. "Rita continued to remind him, saying something very serious. "You went with the police to get the surveillance video..."

The more Rita said, the more serious she became.

Eric knew that if he continued to pretend that he can't remember, the secret would be exposed more.

So he followed her words and said suddenly, "you mean Sarah?"

"Yes, yes, yes!" Rita was so excited.

"You are Sarah?" Eric asked to confirm her identity.

Sarah didn't expect the two of them to be so good at acting. She said lightly, "yes."

"Sarah, is it really you?" Rita was so excited that the whole process didn't reveal anything. "I'm Rita. I was the short haired girl you picked up from the pond when I was a child. Do you remember?"

“Yes, I do.” Sarah nodded.

How could she not remember.

This guy took advantage of her inattention to secretly pick lotus roots, and fell into the pond.

When Sarah lifted her up, she was still holding the lotus root tightly.

Jason looked at her with more scrutiny, “Why didn’t you say that you have something to do with the Yeats family?”

“Will you talk about what happened ten years ago every day?” Sarah retorted.

“...“ Jason said nothing.

“Sarah, come and sit here!” Rita said ebulliently.

Sarah went over.

The two of them talked about the past.

Sometimes it is about her being bullied and Sarah beaten them to the ground for her, and sometimes it is about her eating something secretly, and Sarah covered for her.

“You’ve changed a lot in the past ten years. I wouldn’t have recognized you if you didn’t look familiar.” Rita held her hand tightly, among the eyebrows and eyes was full of nostalgia for the past.

Seeing this, Sarah knew that it must be true.

As a woman controlled by sister, after finding a reasonable reason, Rita began to argue with Jason. “Mr. Noth, may I ask you why you divorced Sarah?”

“We don’t get along well with each other.” Jason gave some words.

“Is it true what he said?” Rita asked.

“Yes.” Sarah nodded.

Rita rolled her eyes.

Sarah must be lying!

"It's good for you to divorce." Rita was not afraid of being beaten when doing things, and said boldly. "Many of my friends are excellent. I'll introduce you to each other. They were curious about you when they heard that you protected me before."

"Okay." Sarah knew that she was acting.

Hearing the word, Jason frowned imperceptibly.

Obviously.

He was not satisfied with what Rita said.

"Miss Yeats, do you like to be a matchmaker?" Jason was already hostile to Rita.

"Not really." Rita was not timid at all. "I only like to help Sarah. Sarah is such an excellent woman. She deserves the best."

"Miss Yeats is not her. How could you know who is suitable for her?"

"It's okay. I'll ask all of them out and ask Sarah to pick one she likes."

"... " Jason was speechless.

He couldn't continue the conversation.

Before he divorced, Rita began to introduce new people to her in front of him. No one who was polite could do such a thing.

"Let's wait until Sarah gets the divorce certificate." There was a touch of coldness and displeasure in Jason words. "I'll send someone to the Yeats Group to talk with Mr. Yeats in person about the cooperation some other day. Today, we won't bother Miss Yeats too much."

"Okay." Eric stood up and sent them to leave.

A conversation.

Both sides knew clearly that they were not talking about cooperation.

They also knew that what Jason said about going to the Yeats group another day was just an excuse. As long as it was not signed on the contract in the business world, it would not count.

After sending away the others.

Then Rita took out her phone and sent several Ins messages to Sarah.

“Sister, did you fall in love with his face when you married Jason?”

“He doesn’t seem to be good to you at all.”

“He doesn’t deserve to be my brother-in-law.”

“He really can’t do it!”

In just a minute.

Rita sent many Ins messages to her.

Rita didn’t know anything else, but from the way Jason looked at her sister, she didn’t see love.

If her sister had told Jason her identity, Rita would have suspected that he had a crush on Sarah’s money!

On the other side of the phone, Sarah sensed that her phone was vibrating.

Needless to guess, she knew that it was a series of messages from her sister, but she didn’t read it immediately. After all, Jason was still there.

“Are you good at fighting?” Standing in front of the car, Jason looked down at her and asked.

Unable to talk to him nicely, Sarah said, “it’s not a problem to hit you.”

“...“ Jason said nothing.

Chris was speechless too.

“Do you think you have a backer after hearing that Rita is going to introduce you to rich men?” Jason took a deep breath.

Sarah just wanted to piss him off. “Of course.”

Jason was pissed off.

The consequence of being angry was to say something without thinking. Jason always said something regretful, “do you really think that those rich men will fall in love with you? Even if you used to be Miss Yeats’s bodyguard in the Yeats family, it only proves that you were only a former worker in the Yeats family.”

“Don’t dream too much.” What Jason said was very hurtful.

“Even if those rich men talk to you later, it’s for the Yeats family’s sake.”

He knew what kind of circle it was.

Once Sarah stepped in, he was afraid that she would be eaten to the bone.

“After having a dream here, I want to have a second one.” Not affected by his words, Sarah said, “if I do it a few more times, maybe I’ll be richer than you.”

“Do you think those people will like you as me?” There was cold in his words.

Sarah nodded, “it’s possible.”

“It’s better for people to have a little self-knowledge.” His tone became deeper and deeper. Jason blurted out the rest of the sentence, “I like you just because your face is like Jenny’s a little.”

Sarah was speechless.

With a deep breath, Jason said, “without this face, I won’t even look at you once.”

“Say it again.” It was one thing to know it, but it was another to hear it in person.

As for Sarah.

She didn't like to be a substitute.

"I will marry you and take care of you, just because you look like Jenny..."

"Bang!"

"Boss!" Chris exclaimed.

Without hesitation, Sarah took action.

She punched Jason in the face. If she hadn't thought that she would have knocked down his nose, she wouldn't have shown mercy at all.

"Do

you think that I will feel inferior and uncomfortable after you say this? Do you think that I have the present because of the help of Jenny?" Sarah said after beating him.

Covering his face which was painful, Jason was a little stunned.

Chapter 28 Not everyone is as bad as you

"Isn't it?" Jason frowned in pain, but still said coldly.

"You can't say that without ten years of cerebral thrombosis.

"Sarah was really angry, only thought Jason was superficial, "Why should I feel inferior because of your fault? Without Jenny, I will live a better life."

"Try it." Flames of fury also followed Jason. He said something unpleasant, "look at who else will give you so many things when you divorce."

"Sarah, you should have a clear estimation of yourself."

"I admit that you are excellent, but the most indispensable person in the world is excellent people."

"People in the business world pay the most attention to interests. They will register their property before.

marriage. Once you divorce him, you won't get a penny."

After giving him a punch, Sarah calmed down a little and asked, "have you finished?"

"The Yeats family is not your backing, and you are not Rita either." Jason said the last sentence.

"I don't need you to remind me." Sarah told him the following words seriously, "I never get married for property from divorce."

Jason paused.

Then Sarah continued, "it doesn't matter whether he does the property registration before marriage or not.

What I want is just a person who loves me and is willing to have a happy family with me."

"Don't judge others with your life and moral quality." The only thing left in her heart was gone at this moment.

"Not everyone is a bad like you."

After saying that.

Without waiting for his answer, Sarah left.

It had been a long time when Jason came to his senses. His mind was full of what Sarah had said.

She said that all she wanted was a man who loved and cared for her.

For a moment.

A great uneasiness rose in his heart, as if something had completely left his life and would never come back.

"Boss..." Chris called tentatively. He couldn't tell how he felt.

The boss had a quarrel with his wife.

The boss was beaten up by his wife.

Em.

Without saying anything, Jason opened the car and got in. Leaning against the back of the chair with his eyes closed, Jason looked a little lonely with some hair between his eyebrows.

Chapter 28 Not everyone is as bad as you

The atmosphere in the car was very low and heavy.

Jason didn't say anywhere to go, so Chris just drove around.

After a long time.

Jason opened his eyes, which were covered with a layer of black mist. "Chris."

"Boss."

"Do you think she is right?"

"Well... "Could he say that she is right?"

"If she really doesn't care about money, why did she ask so much money when she mentioned divorce?" With atmosphere around his body getting colder and colder, Jason seemed to be persuading himself, "She is talking high sounding, but in fact, it's not the same."

Chris was rendered speechless

Chris felt it necessary to remind him, "I don't think Mrs. Noth is that kind of person."

"She is so capable that she can even bribe you." Jason's words were full of coldness, and his impression of Sarah was getting worse and worse.

Chris' mind was a little collapsed, but he still calmly analyzed, "according to the law of our country, after marriage the property is indeed the common property of a couple. It's normal for Mrs. Noth to want half."

He didn't dare to say that even Edwin thought Mrs. Noth was right.

"I don't want hers."

"It is yourself don't want it."

All of a sudden, Jason's breath sank. "Chris!"

"Boss, I'll say something you don't like." Chris mustered up his courage and said, "you cheated on Mrs. Noth first. She was kind enough not to let you leave without getting any property."

Jason, "?"

His face darkened. "When did I cheat on her?"

Chris didn't dare to say anything.

Jason became angrier and angrier.

At this moment.

Chris's phone rang. When he saw the caller ID was Miss Smith, he looked back and said, "boss, Miss Smith is calling."

"That's your business." Jason told him with bad mood. "Don't you know that I can't contact her now?"

Chris was speechless.

He drove the car silently and planned to call back when he went back.

At the same time.

As for Sarah.

After leaving, she returned to the hospital.

Eric was still waiting for her in the ward. As a father, even if his daughter was not close to him, he still wanted to care about her and didn't want her to be bullied.

So that.

Half an hour later.

Unable to sit still any longer, Rita said to her father, "when my sister comes back, you must find out why she divorced with Jason. You can't let my sister suffer for nothing."

"Okay." Eric agreed.

When they were about to say something, the door of the ward was opened.

Sarah walked in with the same indifferent expression as before, as if her anger with Jason previous was an illusion.

"Sister."

"Sarah."

The two of them spoke together.

They looked at her with mixed feelings. Sarah closed the door gently and asked, "what's wrong?"

"Why did you divorce with Jason?" Knowing that it was not easy for her father, Rita took the initiative to ask, "don't fool me with a broken relationship!"

Sarah was stunned.

Sarah wanted to hide it from them, but seeing the expressions of the two, she chose to tell them.

"He's white moonlight was back,"

Rita, "?"

Eric was speechless.

Their expressions were in sync.

Putting her phone aside to charge, Sarah sat opposite to her father and said, "this is also a kind of relationship broken. He asks for a divorce, and I promise."

"Are you kidding me?" Rita doubted life.

Raising her eyebrows slightly, Sarah said, "Nope."

“Is there something wrong with his brain or his eyes?” Rita really didn’t understand, “Why did he choose the white moonlight instead of you such an excellent woman?”

Sarah didn’t answer.

The white moonlight and the red rose, one was in his heart but faraway, and the other could not be obtained nor forgotten.

Either of them was very important to a person.

“I think there is something wrong with both of them!” Eric was angry.

Sarah looked at him.

Eric couldn’t angry anymore and asked eagerly, “why did you fall in love with him?”

“Nice face.” Sarah answered simply.

It turned out that.

A good-looking face can’t be regarded as a meal.

Eric was speechless.

Rita sighed in her heart. She knew that her sister was a person who could be controlled by face, voice, figure and hands.

Eric asked the key point, “then what’s the progress of your divorce?”

“I’ve submitted an application. I’ll get a divorce certificate as soon as the cool down period is over.” Sarah didn’t hide anything.

“Of course!” Rita had no good impression about Jason with the heart indignant “Such a bastard doesn’t deserve to be with you at all. He’s just a loser! Scum! Jerk! Bad ass!

Chapter 29 Don’t give up if you meet someone worth it

She was pissed off.

How could there be such an annoying guy.

How dare he do this to her sister!

“By the way.” As a young girl, Rita didn’t like such things. ‘Did you ask him to divorce you with no property for another woman? He cheated on you.”

“Rita is right,” said Eric.

“No.” Gazing at their emotions, she added, “Property has been divided.”

“How?”

“How much did he give you?”

Eric and Rita asked curiously.

Sarah answered.

The divorce agreement was filled in the same way as before. A most expensive super car, a suburban villa, and 40% of the money he earned after marriage.

She had thought that they would praise her for this result.

As a result...

“Do you still like him?” With a frown, Rita asked worriedly, “How could he get rid of you with such a little money?”

“The net profit of the Noth Group every year is tens of millions of dollars. It’s not appropriate to give you such a little.”

Sarah was speechless.

She pinched between her eyebrows.

She didn't know how to answer the two.

More than one billion was indeed a small amount for the Yeats Group, and it was even much less than their annual net profit.

"He invested most of the money. I said that there is no division of the money for investment and financial products." Sarah explained, "Besides, he didn't get mine."

"What?"

Rita reached out and touched Sarah's forehead.

She was completely confused.

"Sarah, you have to know that he cheated on you. It's his fault." "It's right that you don't give him the money. If you give him the money, he will definitely take the money to raise Jenny Smith."

"No way! I can't let you suffer this loss."

"I have to call Robert and ask him to teach him a lesson!"

Rita wanted to make a phone call.

Sarah stopped her in time.

"What's wrong?" She didn't understand.

"That's enough. The divorce agreement has been delivered." "I have many ways to make him suffer. You don't have to argue about this kind of thing."

"Besides," After a pause, Sarah continued, "If the AA split is true, once the news that I'm married to him is exposed, the media may make a fuss about it. Perhaps they will say that the Yeats Group needs to be managed by deception of marriage and property."

Upon hearing this.

Both Rita and father stopped.

Only a few of her friends knew that Jason Noth divorced her for the sake of Jenny Smith.

If the media really reported it, she couldn't say that he had an affair.

The two of them didn't sleep together. She couldn't even find the evidence of his infidelity.

Even if the photos of Jason taking care of Jenny were discovered, he could still clarify that they are just friends to the public. As long as there was solid evidence, the public opinions would come to them.

But it was easier for this amount of property.

A billion dollars was an astronomical figure for other companies, but for the Yeats Group, it was just a drop in the bucket.

"I'm sorry, sister..." Rita knew she was impulsive. "I didn't think about it."

"Don't apologize to me. I know you care about me." With a smile on Sarah's face, she pinched Rita's hand and said, "I've already let go of him. But as for you..."

"What's wrong?"

"Although the result of my marriage is not good." Sarah was afraid that Rita didn't want to get married. "But I hope you don't resist it. If you meet someone worth it, don't give up."

"I won't." Rita comforted Sarah.

The two sisters chatted warmly.

Seeing this, their father also felt happy. As long as his two daughters were fine, he was willing to pay any price.

"I have something to talk with Mr. Yeats." In front of her father, Sarah didn't call him father. Instead, she called him in a distant way. "We'll talk about it later when you recover."

Rita agreed.

Eric followed Sarah to the corridor.

Because of the guilt in his heart, Eric was lack of confidence every time he faced Sarah.
“What do you want to talk to me, Sarah?”

“Who is the current CEO of the Yeats Group?”

“Your cousin.”

“Can you give me the position of investment counselor?” With a hint of emotion in her eyes, she asked, “And the details of the cooperation project with the Noth Group.”

Eric was stunned.

With emotions surging in his eyes, he asked, “You... Are you willing to go back to the Yeats Group?”

“I’m just working, not inheriting.” Sarah gave him five words.

“Okay, I’ll arrange it later.” His father was agitated, and then he continued, “Other than the details of the project that you cooperated with the Noth Group, do you need anything else?”

“Give me a list of the new projects to be carried out by the Yeats Group.” Sarah was always straightforward.

Before today, she had never thought of slapping Jason in the face.

Just as she had said to him before, a qualified ex should be dead.

But what he said today made her very unhappy. She wanted to slap him in the face in the domain he was familiar with.

“Okay.” Eric agreed quickly.

He had long wanted Sarah to come back and take over the company.

However, this girl was not interested in being the heir at all. She had a great business talent, but she had never been a member of the Yeats Group.

Now she finally came to work!!!

Sarah was calm.

Thinking that she had to go to Atlanta to get a divorce certificate, she said, "I'll get to know the situation first during this period of time. I'll go to work after I get the divorce certificate."

"Okay." Eric agreed, "You can go whenever you want."

Sarah nodded.

In the next few days.

Get Boypt

Jason had never contacted with Sarah. He was busy talking about cooperation, and Sarah was busy investigating the accident of Rita.

In a twinkling of an eye.

Seven days passed.

After a thorough examination, Rita was discharged from the hospital without any sequela. Fortunately, her arm fracture was not serious. She recovered after a few days in the hospital.

If it was serious, a month would be not enough.

As for the wound on her forehead, it looked frightening with too much blood. With the superb medical skills of Julian's sister, it recovered quickly, but the dressing of wound on her forehead had to be changed every day.

Eric took her back.

Sitting in the car, Rita was a little depressed.

"Your sister is investigating what happened to you." Eric knew why she was unhappy, so he explained for Sarah, "Two days ago, she submitted all the evidence to the police. After the procuratorate finishes the investigation, they will be transferred to the court for prosecution."

"Do you know who it is?" Rita came to her senses.

Chapter 30 I don't want anyone to touch her in advance

"I don't know. I asked her but she didn't tell me." Eric didn't answer until he was silent for a while.

When he was about to investigate, Sarah told him not to get involved in this matter. She said she would solve it by herself.

Yesterday, when he asked about the result, she just changed the topic and asked him to remember to pick up Rita and leave the hospital.

Rita wanted to say something but stopped on a second thought.

She didn't know if she should tell her father.

Eric sensed it and asked, "What's wrong?"

"Sarah didn't tell you. Maybe she didn't want to make it difficult for you." After calming herself down, she guessed.

Eric was stunned. "What do you mean?"

"When I was hit, I saw a man outside the alley. He is Linda Brown's brother." After she recovered, the memory in her mind became clearer. "Sarah told me not to tell you after she knew that."

Eric's eyes froze.

"I don't know what happened between you and Sarah, and I don't know why your relationship has become like this. But since we care about each other, why can't we sit down and have a good talk?"

Eric kept silent and felt guilty.

He also wanted to have a talk with Sarah.

But he also knew that Sarah would never forgive him for the rest of her life.

"You are still young." Her father still didn't tell Rita. "I'll tell you when you grow up."

“I’m nineteen years old. I’m an adult legally.” “I’m not the kid who would cry only when she was in trouble.”

Eric still didn’t say anything.

There was a tacit understanding between him and Sarah. He didn’t want to tell Rita about it before she was happy.

Rita was depressed.

Her sister didn’t tell her, and her father didn’t tell either. Would they hide it from her for the rest of her life?

“Ding Dong.”

There were several messages from her phone.

[picture]

[picture]

[picture]

Julian: [Sarah and Jason are fighting against each other!]

Julian: “He is making things difficult for Sarah here. He deliberately embarrassed her. Come and save her.”

Rita clicked on the picture and saw her sister and Jason sharp staring at each other in a fancy box.

She even felt that they would fight over the photos.

“Uncle George, let’s go to Golden Restaurant.” She said quickly, a little anxious.

Golden Restaurant was a membership based restaurant in New York. Celebrities or famous businessmen came in and out of it.

It was impossible for others to get in.

According to the photo sent by Julian, it should be a party for business cooperation. In the photo, besides Sarah and Jason, there were also many people who looked familiar.

Noticing Rita's emotion, Eric asked, "What happened?"

"You're right." "I don't know what happened exactly. Julian only told me that Jason put Sarah in an awkward situation."

"George, cut to the chase." Hearing that it was about Sarah, Eric was a little anxious. Julian's heart was almost lifted up.

He was forced to come here by his father, who said that he would introduce him to the legendary figures in business and let him have a good relationship with others.

But he didn't expect that the legendary figure his father was talking about would be Jason Noth.

Most importantly!

Sarah is here too!

"You can't drink two bottles of wine. How dare you come here to talk about cooperation?" "Do you really think this is a place where you can make money only by your face?"

Sarah felt a headache.

She came here to make trouble for Kenny Brown.

1

Kenny Brown was the biological brother of Eric's new lover, and it seemed that it was his younger brother Kevin Brown who did that to Rita. But in fact, the biggest reason why he did it was because of the cunning fox, Kenny Brown.

She couldn't do anything to him according to the law, so she had to come here in person. She would beat up anyone who would cause danger to Rita.

But she didn't expect to meet Jason here.

"I'm not in the mood to argue with you today." She concluded.

"Mr. Noth asked you to drink it for your sake. Why are you still standing there?"

"I don't know what's wrong with this restaurant. How could such a woman get involved?"

“She is a pretty girl.”

Sitting there, Julian held his breath.

It was not because of the words of those people at the table, but because they thought they were digging their own grave. The last person who treated Sarah like this would now make a detour when he saw her!

“Mr. Noth, this kind of woman deserves to be punished.” Kenny Brown looked handsome and decent, but what he said was like a hooligan. “Just take her back to the hotel.”

With his cold eyes, Jason said slowly, “Really?”

“Of course!” Kenny Brown squinted at Sarah and said, “If Mr. Noth needs it, I’ll send someone to the hotel to check in and send her there.”

The others frowned imperceptibly.

They couldn’t understand why Mr. Noth would ask someone like Kenny to dinner.

Not to mention that his company was a small and medium-sized company, but his character of being addicted to beauty when he saw a woman was disgusting!

“Sure.” “But I don’t want anyone to touch her in advance.”

After saying that, his dark eyes fell on Sarah, which could not be seen through. He was angry.

He decided to teach Sarah a lesson.

She didn’t even know that she had been cheated after divorce

“Don’t worry, Mr. Noth!” With a big smile on his face, Kenny said confidently, “I promise I will send the whole thing to your room. You can enjoy it when you go back.”

He didn’t say anything, and the atmosphere around him was horribly low.

He wouldn’t have had dinner with such a rubbish if he hadn’t asked him about the Yeats family.

He had already dispelled his suspicion of Sarah. He didn't expect that he would know by accident a few days ago that she was investigating the accident of Rita. In the end, she even successfully sent Kevin Brown to the police.

If she was just a bodyguard, how could she be so concerned about the matter of Rita.

"I don't think it's a good idea..." Julian bit the bullet and said

As soon as he said this.

In an instant, it attracted the attention of Jason and Sarah.

The former looked deep, while the latter gave him a warning.

"Mr. Julian, what do you think is wrong?" His deep and magnetic voice was calm and oppressive.

Julian gazed at Sarah subconsciously and didn't say what he wanted to say.

Sarah's eyes were so frightening.

Boo... Hoo!

However, in Jason's eyes, Julian's cowardice had become his worry and concern for Sarah. Under the pressure of power, he didn't dare to say anything more.

So Jason continued, "Do you think it's a pity that I take the beautiful woman back?"

"My son didn't mean that." Noticing the displeasure on his face, Mr. White said, "Please don't blame him, Mr. Noth."
