

Divorce is the Best Choice by Riley Mccarthy

Chapter 383 - 400

Chapter 383 You almost fooled me
She was confused and didn't understand what was wrong.
After careful imagination, she came to a conclusion that Sarah must be there with Will. Sarah must have grabbed the phone and blocked her out, worrying that she would tell those things.
Lola wanted to send WhatsApp message to talk about it.
But she was afraid that Sarah would do something again, so she gave up.
Will did not care about this matter anymore, nor did he worry about what Lola would say to his parents.
He knew his parents were not the kind of people who would listen to others' words easily. They would make judgments based on their own understanding, no matter about things or about people.
After taking Sarah back last time, he knew that his parents liked her very much.
After washing up in the bathroom, Will lay on the bed with his mobile phone, thinking of someone living next door, and sent a message to her: Good night, my girlfriend.
But Sarah didn't see the message.
She didn't like to play with her phone. She put it down and went to sleep. In addition, she turned on distraction free mode, so all message prompts were automatically muted.
So that when she saw this message the next morning, she could only reply: Good morning.
The doorbell rang just after she sent the message.
When she opened the door, she saw Will standing outside in his home clothes, and his voice was slow, "Wouldn't it be better to say that in person?"
"I didn't see the message last night." Sarah explained.
Will leaned over and said, "Kiss me and I'll forgive you."
Sarah was stunned.
She slipped away decisively and said, "I'm going to wash up."
"Come to have breakfast after washing." Will had come specially to invite her. He said that he would contract for three meals a day.
"I've kept some for Muffin and Wilson. Don't wake them up."
Sarah nodded.
Rita liked to stay in bed, so did Wilson.
If they didn't have to go to school or go to work, they might not be up until ten.
And it turned out to be pretty much what they thought.
Rita and Wilson both got up slowly at about ten o'clock. Sarah left a message for Rita, so she came directly to Will after waking up.
She finished breakfast with Wilson, and Wilson began to talk about business.
Things were not discussed well last night. He wanted to get it done today.
He wanted to be a rich playboy!
He was not interested in work at all.

He just wanna have fun.

"When will you go back to take over the position of President of Yeats Group?" Wilson sat on the sofa and asked directly.

Everyone looked up.

They were all confused.

They didn't expect that he would suddenly say this.

There was no foreshadowing.

"There is no objection from uncle and grandpa, and I've sounded out the shareholders, and they're in favor." Wilson wanted to have fun. But Being a boss was really not a fun thing. "As long as you agree, you can take office at any time."

Sarah was silent for a moment and gave the condition, "I will share my shares with you."

"No."

"Half."

"Not interested."

"All of it."

"Even if give me all of yours and Muffin's, my answer is a no."

Wilson said seriously, but also with some arrogance, "I want freedom, not money."

"Besides being a little tired, there are many benefits to being a boss." Sarah tried to persuade him.

Wilson was puzzled.

"Many?"

"Why didn't he see any?" He thought.

"You may not find true love if you are a rich man who only knows to idle about." Sarah said to him seriously.

Wilson subconsciously denied, "No way. I can find love with my face."

"Do you think you're better looking than captain?"

Wilson was speechless.

"No." Rita answered for him.

Wilson's eyes were wide open.

But he could not refute.

Sarah continued to persuade him, her tone particularly sincere,

"Some people may like because of your face and money, but these will not attract a person for long. As long as there is a person who is better-looking or richer than you, those advantages are gone."

Wilson thought deeply.

This sounded reasonable, but he just didn't feel right.

"The president of Yeats Group is not only a position." Sarah was really a persuasive talker, "Which do you think is more attractive, the boss of a listed company or a rich man who sit around and wait to die?"

"Nonsense, of course a boss." Wilson blurted out.

The future of a rich man was uncertain If the family went down one day, wouldn't he be nothing?

Most of the people in this circle were related to interests. When someone went bankrupt, they would be the first to stay away. But a boss had the ability to stage a comeback even if went bankrupt.

"Do you still want to quit the position of president of Yeats Group?" Sarah asked.

"No..." Wilson just said a word, and immediately realized that it was wrong. "It's not right."

Sarah was stunned.

She couldn't believe he realized it so quickly.

"Damn. You almost fooled me." Said Wilson. He realized that he would always be the boss of Yeats Group.

Had it not been for his cousin Sarah, he would have retorted calmly from the first sentence.

He really didn't expect that Pumpkin would also play trick on him.

Sarah kept calm, "What?"

"Stop pretending, what you just said doesn't hold water." Wilson said with reason. "Even if I resign now and become just a rich man, none of that would happen. I'm not really fooling around and waiting for death. I'm capable."

As for what true love, he didn't really care.

"Next Monday, on the 7th, remember to sign in at Yeats Group."

Wilson was determined this time. "I'll be angry if you don't come."

Humph!

Sarah had nothing to say.

She felt that she had been hasty.

"Of course, it's ok if Will is willing to help you." Wilson's eyes fell on Will who was calm from beginning to end.

Will looked over with indifference and said slowly, "I have a question."

"Go ahead." Wilson was more satisfied with Will now.

"In your opinion, is promise important?" Will set him up step by step.

Wilson was confused.

"Promise?"

"Why it has to do with this?" He thought.

"Of course, it is important." Wilson just thought it was between him and Sarah. "As a man, you should do what you promised. If you can't do it, don't promise casually."

No matter whether it was the matter between Will and Sarah, there was nothing wrong to say that.

Anyway, he was talking about men, not everyone. "What if you promise and don't do it?" Will asked again.

Wilson looked at Sarah, and wondered whether the two were in conflict, otherwise why would he ask such a question at this time.

Sarah said, "Captain is asking you. Why look at me?"

Wilson sounded a ten-level alarm bell in his heart.

"They have a contradiction." "They must have a contradiction!"

Chapter 384 Let me get you a new boyfriend

"If you can't do it, give yourself a castration." Wilson said very seriously without hesitation. "As a man, you can't break your word!"

"Then please continue to serve as the president of Yeats Group." Will said with a joking smile on his face.

Wilson was stunned.

What?

He looked confused, "What do you mean?"

Will took out his mobile phone and played the voice recorded last night.

"Wilson do you want Sarah to suffer?"

"No."

"Do you want her to be tired?"

"No."

"Then how about you keep the Yeats Group in your hands?"

"Okay!"

The moment when the recording ended,

Wilson felt a thunderbolt on his head.

"When did this happen? Why don't I remember anything?" Wilson asked himself in his mind.

"Pumpkin." Wilson wanted to cry, and his liking for Will fell rapidly. "Let me get you a new boyfriend. He's too cunning!"

He couldn't believe Will screwed him over.

He was Sarah's cousin. How could Will be so ruthless?

Damn it!

Sarah was also surprised, "When did you record it?"

"Before taking him back to his room last night," With that, Will played with his mobile phone in his hand.

Man was selfish. He wanted to make it easy for his girlfriend, so he could only make it harder for Wilson.

Wilson was extremely aggrieved.

"They do that for your own good." Rita comforted him, but it was better not to. "It's a place where you can put your skills to use. It may be hard sometimes, but you have all the fame and fortune. It's a good deal."

"Since it's a good deal, you should take care of it." Wilson glared at her.

"No, it's too tiring."

"Tiring for you, but not for me?"

"You can only bear the tiredness. Who makes you not have the best cousin in the world?" Rita blinked her big clean eyes, and said with a charming and lovely tone.

Wilson was pissed off at once. "Forget it."

"Sarah is just a little girl."

"Who makes me the best cousin in the world?"

"Humph." Wilson comforted himself in his mind.

"But, even if I am the best cousin in the world, you have to take one out to manage the company after you two get married and have children." Wilson again compromised, saying to Sarah and Will, "otherwise I will give myself a castration!"

He planned that in the last few years,

When Sarah married Will and have children, he would definitely give up immediately.

Sarah,

Rita

And Will

Were all speechless.

But Wilson continued, "What are you looking at? Do you hear me?"

"Let's talk about it then." Sarah said lightly.

Angel International Group was basically stable now, and there were not many problems in the future.

If Wilson really wanted to quit, she would take over.

But now,

he was obviously joking.

"Talk about it then? If you don't say yes today, I'm gonna kidnap your boyfriend to my house." Wilson pretended to be fierce, "and you won't see each other for months."

"If you really have this ability, I will take over the company now." Sarah gave a somewhat provocative remark.

Not to mention Wilson, even if she and Robert went together, it was unlikely that they could take Will down.

She could not defeat him physically.

Wilson gave a puzzled look.

He could not believe that Sarah was looking down on him.

He groaned, walked to Will, and whispered in a low voice, "Now come home with me, I will tell you about Muffin's childhood, and help you deal with the Yeats' family."

Will said nothing.

Since he liked Sarah, getting the approval of her family was what he should do.

"I'll tell you what she likes." Wilson saw that he was unmoved, and offered another condition.

"I know everything she likes." Said Will. He knew Sarah as well as Wilson did. "We just got together, and it's not worth spending months apart for what you're saying."

Wilson's face drooped.

He knew now that Will was difficult to be fooled.

"All right, you should go back to work." Rita said, "As your cousin, I will support you mentally."

"Shut up," Wilson said to her.

After knowing that there was no possibility for that, Wilson didn't insist.

However, he had decided that as soon as Sarah's child could run on the ground, he would quit immediately.

Wilson gave a wicked smile.

Before noon,

Sarah sent a message to Chris asking him about Jason, and Chris replied the same as yesterday.

After learning that he still didn't come back today, Sarah told Will.

Although she was worried about Jason, Chris was there, so she didn't ask too much.

As for Chris,

As soon as he texted back to Sarah, he received a call from Serial.

When he learned that Jason was going to wake up, he immediately put his business aside and drove to the base.

But when he got there, Jason hadn't wake up. "He won't be awake for another half an hour if anything goes wrong." Serial, wearing a white coat, looked gentle and dignified.

"Don't you call Sarah?"

"No."

"Really?"

"Mr. Noth told me not to tell Miss Yeats," Chris said directly.

Serial rubbed the material in his hand and said, "He's not still trying to lie to Sarah, is he?"

Chris didn't speak.

He didn't know what Jason was thinking.

But if he recovered his past memory and character, Chris still dared to talk back to him.

After half an hour.

All data of Jason were stable.

"All right." Serial was completely relieved. "His memory should completely recover. Let's go and check on him."

He took Chris with him.

After arriving at the medical room, Serial took all the testing instruments off Jason's body.

Chris stared for a while, but Jason didn't wake up. He couldn't help but worry, "Doctor Lance, why isn't Mr. Noth awake?"

Serial also twisted his eyebrows.

It shouldn't be like this.

According to the monitoring, he should wake up.

"Jason." Serial called him.

Jason lay still on the bed, still closed his dark and indifferent eyes and breathed steadily.

Chris was worried. He was afraid of accidents.

"Go out and wait." Serial said to Chris while checking Jason. "I'll check him."

Chris went out without delay.

He wanted to see the inside through the glass window, but after he went out, Serial locked the door, and the window was sealed.

So,

Chris couldn't see anything.

Serial sat on the chair in the medical room, his legs were folded and he looked gentle, "Don't pretend, I know you are awake."

Jason slowly opened his eyes.

The dark and indifferent eyes were now dead and lonely. "Chris said that you told him not to tell Sarah about you to restore your memory." Serial talked to him about immediately. "Are you still going to lie to her?"

Chapter 385 Can't go back to the past

"Not anymore." Jason Noth looked at the ceiling with deep loss and his voice was hoarse.

How dare he cheat her again.

When he woke up, there were many fragments of memory in his mind. Through these fragments, he could know how much trouble he brought to her during the period of memory loss.

He also knew that she was with Will Gardner.

Serial Lance paused when he heard what Jason said, "Are you... all right?"

"Why should you involve her?" Jason Noth sat up from the bed and watched Serial Lance as if he had become the same cold and indifferent person as before. "This is just a deal between you and me."

He felt guilty for what he did to her before.

So as long as she can be good, he is even willing to die.

But he didn't expect that Serial Lance would involve Sarah during the period of his memory loss, and so many things happened.

"I want to challenge." Serial Lance explained, "Besides, the contract didn't mention that she couldn't be involved. You just said that I couldn't do anything illegal."

Jason Noth didn't watch him again.

At the moment, he didn't even want to be angry with him.

His mind is full of the scene of Sarah admitting to be with Will Gardner, and the word 'you' she firmly said when he asked whom she would choose between Jason Noth and Sarah Noth.

He thought that she hated him very much.

So she hoped that he could disappear.

"After the deal is over, I will ask Chris to list out the amount you need to compensate in a few days." Jason Noth said in a cool voice, "After the payment is completed, it will be clear."

Serial Lance, "??"

Amount of compensation?

He frowned and was puzzled, "What is the amount of compensation?"

Why didn't he know that there was something to be compensated? Isn't everything going on according to the contract?

"According to the contract, you should bear all the losses caused by you during the deal." Jason Noth's eyes were indifferent and unkind, "You are responsible for compensation for the money the Noth Group lost during my amnesia.”

“Didn’t you say that this part did not count?” Serial Lance was worried.

If he should really responsible for the compensation, he can not afford!

It will be tens of thousands of amount of compensation. So he can’t afford.

Jason Noth had come down from the hospital bed and put on his clothes. The whole person was full of coldness, “Who said this? Where did I say this? Is there any signature or seal?”

“You said it yourself,” Serial Lance reminded him.

“Sorry, I can’t remember.” Jason Noth’s words were indifferent. There was an aura of indifference around him. “If you can’t take out the supporting document with my signature or seal, you still have to pay for the compensation.”

Serial Lance’s mentality collapsed, “What on earth did I provoke you?”

He generally knew Jason Noth’s personality.

Even if it is a verbal commitment, as long as he says it, he will do it.

But now he went back on what he had said.

There must be something fishy!

“You shouldn’t involve her in our deal.” Jason Noth straightened his sleeves, and his eyes gradually turned cold, “You shouldn’t let her take care of me.” ”

He can never repay what he owed her in his lifetime.

Serial Lance, however, involved her and asked her to take care of him.

“Because of this?” Serial Lance didn’t understand.

“That’s the reason.”

Jason Noth finished his words and left the medical room.

Chris was still waiting outside, unable to see or hear, so that he was more worried than ever.

Just when he was thinking about what happened to his boss, he saw his boss come out of the medical room, with a coldness of putting other people off.

“Boss?” Chris called tentatively.

Jason Noth said, “Go back.”

“Okay.” Chris immediately agreed.

He took him out of Serial Medical Base and opened the rear seat door for him.

On the way back,

Chris glanced at the rearview mirror from time to time.

He only cared about one problem now. Was boss the one who has restored his memory or not?

“Did you give her the thing which I let you give to Sarah?” Jason Noth said suddenly.

Chris did not hesitate, but replied honestly, “Not yet.”

“Throw it away.”

“Huh?”

“Throw it away, don’t give it to her.” Jason Noth said with indifference.

He clearly knew that his boss was not in the second personality. This was just his own self that guided by Serial Lance with giving psychological hints in the state of his amnesia.

That's him, not Saran Noth.

Chris thought about what his boss had given him before, and his heart was a little complicated, "Do you really want to throw?"

"Yes." Jason Noth answered a word.

Inside was a letter from him to Sarah, which probably meant that he was going to become Jason Noth in the past. He hoped she would remember that there was a person who loved her as his life.

He is Jason Noth and he is also Saran Noth.

There is no need for Sarah to worry about him. After all, she has her own new life.

"Boss." Chris looked at the rearview mirror and was worried.

Judging from the conversation just now, the boss should have recovered his memory. Because he said Sarah, not Sa.

Jason Noth looked out of the car through the window and was obviously absentminded, "What's the matter?"

"Don't you really tell Sarah about your memory recovery?" Chris asked. During this time, his mood also became complicated. "She has been asking you whether to go back to have dinner these two days. She is worried about you."

Jason Noth's heart was stabbed, and it was stuffy and painful. Many memories of this period appeared in his mind. Sarah was kind to him. And Her patience and indulgence to him...

He also wanted to go back to that period.

But...he couldn't go back.

"Leave aside for the moment." Jason Noth was a little decadent, with a depressing feeling in his dark eyes. "Give me two days."

Chris said nothing more and sent him home.

When he got home, Jason Noth shut himself in his room. He didn't drink any water or eat anything all day long. When Chris went to ask him to eat at night, he said that he didn't want to eat.

Chris was worried about his state. He wanted to contact Sarah, but thought of the boss's saying. He didn't do anything after all.

At nine o'clock in the evening.

Jason Noth came out of the room.

The whole person looked a little haggard and lonely.

"Boss." Chris wanted him to eat.

"I'll go out and come back later." Jason Noth, holding the car key in his hand, said in a low voice. "You can go back to sleep first, don't worry about me."

"Where are you going? I'll see you off."

"No, Let me alone."

After he said that, Jason Noth went out with the car key.

Instead of going to other places, he drove to the neighborhood where Sarah was.

Sitting on the bench downstairs in the community, he could look up and see the bright light in her home. He just looked at it and did nothing. "Jason?" Sarah's voice suddenly rose.

Jason Noth was stiff, as if he had been pressed the pause button.

He pursed his lips and watched her with all kinds of complicated feelings. What struck him was the scene of her clasping with Will Gardner's fingers.

Chapter 386 Interview Sarah

At that moment, his heart was broken.

He just felt that interlocking fingers were extremely dazzling.

"Why did you sit here?" Sarah noticed the change of his mood, but she didn't think about the things that his memory had recovered.

Jason Noth's Adam's apple moved and didn't say anything after all.

He stood up. It was only a few steps away, but he felt that there was a thousand miles between them.

"Chris is doing something nearby. I just come with him." Jason Noth's voice was low, and his eyes fell on her plain white face. "Didn't you sleep at this time in the past? Why..."

He didn't continue to say what he wanted to ask next.

It seemed that everything she wanted to do had nothing to do with him. He was no longer qualified to ask about her life.

"Come down for a walk." Sarah explained simply.

In the past, she had no habit of walking at night, but Captain Leon felt that she would not walk outside the door and stay at home, so he took her down for a walk.

Jason Noth sighed.

Will Gardner always held Sarah's hand and said, "Would you go upstairs now? It's cold outside."

"No, Chris should be finished. I have something to talk about with him." Jason Noth refused.

This time.

He just studied Will Gardner carefully.

He is good-looking, has a good voice and a good figure, and meets Sarah's aesthetic requirements.

As for his character,

It's also good.

His heart was full of pain, and his eyes fell on their hands again, only to feel the suffocation of the whole heart.

"You go home first." Jason Noth's deep eyes were complicated. "Don't be cold."

"Okay."

"All right."

Jason Noth raised his feet to leave.

Sarah stopped him, "Jason."

Jason Noth turned around and the emotion in his eyes was complicated. Those feelings in his heart which he can't tell occupied his thoughts little by little.

"If you don't want to restore your memory, you won't restore it." Sarah said, "The choice is in your hands. I won't force you."

This was what she discussed with Captain Leon.
There was meaningless in forcing him.
Theoretically, Jason Noth and Saran Noth were the same person. It should not be difficult to learn again without restoring memory.
Moreover, once he is forced to restore resulting in emotional collapse, there may be suddenness.
"If nothing had happened, everything would have returned to the time at the beginning." Jason Noth suppressed the pain in his heart, "Would you choose Jason Noth or Saran Noth?"
Sarah's red lips moved and unconsciously she wanted to blurt out Jason Noth. If there was no divorce and If it came to the time before the appearance of Jenny Smith, Jason Noth really treated her very well, and he was also a rare person she admired besides Captain Leon.
But now,
she was with Captain Leon. Whoever she chooses will cause some harm to Captain Leon.
Time cannot go back, and they cannot go back to the past.
"At least now, she will choose Will Gardner." Will Gardner squeezed Sarah's hand, and his voice was lazy and low.
Jason Noth's heart clenched.
He didn't say any more, left after saying that have an early night.
He could not watch their love and intimacy. Originally, all of these... should belong to him.
He lost the girl who liked him.
It was he who caused it.
Looking at his slightly lonely back, Sarah was a little confused, "Do you think Jason Noth is strange?"
"Yes, a little bit strange." Will Gardner said in a faint voice.
He didn't care what Jason Noth's purpose was, as long as he didn't hurt Atha again, he won't care.
Sarah took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Chris. Jason Noth was in a bad state. It was better to let Chris take good care of him.
After the message was sent, she went upstairs with Will Gardner.
Arrived at the living room,
Will Gardner held Sarah in his arms and let her sit on his lap.
Facing the sudden intimate behavior, Sarah was very confused.
"I want to interview Sarah. If everything goes back to the beginning and Jason Noth and I will profess love to you at the same time, who will you choose, him or me?" Will Gardner gently picked his eyebrows with his loose temperament.
Sarah, "??"
A tricky question?
She just couldn't understand the love a little bit, but it didn't mean that she didn't have EQ completely, "You."

"I want to listen to the truth."

"You."

"Seriously?"

"Yes."

"I won't be angry, just tell me exactly how you feel." Will Gardner started his routine again, but he really wanted to know, "Don't lie."
Sarah paused.

Captain Leon is not a person who likes to joke about such things.
Since he said so, it meant he really wanted to know.

But...

"Really?" She hesitated.

Although Will Gardner had already known her answer, he still answered calmly, "Yes."

Sarah is an honest person, "Jason Noth."

"Ah."

Will Gardner smiled with indifference.

This guy.

The person made him angry.

"Could you please not be angry?" Sarah quickly added.

"Why is he?" Will Gardner was curious about this. "Am I not good?"

"You are very good, but what you said is that everything goes back to the beginning." Sarah was serious about this matter. "At that time, my impression of you was still on the cold-blooded instructor who was cruel and harsh, and who gave others hard tasks."

She was telling the truth.

If she was professed love by Captain Leon at that time, her reaction will be the same as the reaction when Captain Leon first time sent her breakfast.

She would think that in which ways she offended Captain Leon, and then she would found a chance to go away.

"Am I so fierce?" Will Gardner didn't expect this reason.

"Just ask Jasmine and others." Sarah said a lot. "Don't judge me, even if you tell them, they will wonder whether they have offended you,"

Will Gardner's eyes were full of surprises.

Is he really so fierce?

"Angry?" Sarah saw that he didn't speak, and was a little unpredictable.

Will Gardner began to tease her, "Well, very angry."

"I set you up as a special concern, and wrote a program myself."

Sarah coaxed him, "After that, even if I mute the mobile phone and set the message undisturbed, the message you send will have a special prompt tone."

The program was the last time she wrote after she didn't reply to him good night.

Will Gardner sipped his thin lips and said, "Hmm."

Sarah's eyes turned.
Is he still angry?
However, she also understood that if Captain Leon chose other girls between her and other girls, she would also be angry. "Please don't be angry" Sarah was not good at comforting people.
"I'll buy you what you want."
"No."
"What do you want?"
"Kiss me."
Sarah, "..."
Will Gardner repeated, "Kiss me and I will forgive you."
Sarah was a little embarrassed. Even if it was a relationship between lovers, there was always a feeling of defiling the gods if she kissed. Will Gardner saw her hesitating there and asked lazily, "Do you want to kiss?"
Yes!
Sarah made a decision immediately.
She leaned over and kissed him on his thin lips.

Chapter 387 I regret

Just as she was about to stop, Will Gardner clasped her body and deepened the kiss. Worried about losing control later, he kissed for a while and then released her. His rough thumb touched Sarah's red lips stained with water. His voice was much lower than before, "This is called kiss, understand?"
Sarah nodded with red cheeks.
"Go to wash and sleep, and I will call you for breakfast tomorrow." Will Gardner did not continue to flirt.
He knew Sarah's work and rest, and would not easily disrupt.
Keeping early hours was the key to good health.
Sarah agreed and then added, "You can come to my room without knocking, just come in."
"Okay." Will Gardner responded.
Knocking on the door before is because Sarah's sister was here. It was always impolite to enter without knocking when two girls were here.
Sarah went down from his arms, said good night to him before entering the bedroom. She then went to the bathroom to wash and then sleep.
Will Gardner calmed down for a while before returning to his room next to Sarah's room.
He has only one idea now.
Marry Sarah early.
Compared with their quiet and warm daily life here, Jason Noth had formed a huge contrast.
After leaving Sarah's community, he sent a message to Chris, telling him that if Sarah asked, he should reply that he work nearby and meet him later. He didn't want Sarah to worry about him any more.

Chris didn't spill the beans at Sarah's side. His answers were normal.

The sky began to drizzle.

Jason Noth leaned back against the car and looked at the building where Sarah was. From his position, he couldn't find the window of Sarah's home. But he didn't want to leave.

He wanted to be closer to her.

It was raining all the time.

In just ten minutes, Jason Noth's hair was wet and his body was stained with rain.

The cold air rushed into the body, and the feeling of chill rose.

But these were not as cold as seeing Sarah be with others.

The rain continued to fall on him, and he was just stay there as if he didn't feel the rain. It seemed that in this way, he could reduce the suffocating pain in his heart.

Just at this time,

a black umbrella appeared above his head.

He looked sideways and saw Chris standing beside him with an umbrella in his hand.

His voice was hoarse, as if he had been stripped of all his energy and said to Chris, "I don't need the umbrella."

"You have just recovered, and you are weak." Chris had never seen his boss look like an abandoned child. "If you have a fever again because of rain, what will you do?"

Jason Noth didn't say anything, but took back his sight.

Chris took the car key from his hand and opened the back seat for him. "Go home first."

Jason Noth looked at the building again and finally got on the car.

Chris helped him close the car door, then closed the umbrella, sat in the driver's seat and started the car to leave.

On the way back,

Jason Noth had been looking at the retrogressive scenery outside the car window, thinking about the little things he and Sarah were together.

Chris turned on the air conditioner to warm the car.

Jason Noth felt a little warm and asked him, "Why are you here?"

"I'm worried that you will have an accident alone." Chris is honest. Because he has never seen his boss in that condition. "So I took a taxi to follow you."

"Investigate all the information about Will Gardner." Jason Noth sat down on the seat, "And handed it to me after investigation." Will Gardner is a good man from the contact during the period of his amnesia.

But since Sarah is with him, he needs to know better.

I can't let her feel frustrated any more.

Chris agreed.

When boss was in the period of losing his memory before, he also asked him to investigate Will Gardner. But at that time he didn't investigate his information very much and didn't pay much attention to.

This time it was different. This time real boss asked him to investigate.

"After the investigation, you should go back to Atlanta first." Jason Noth's voice was too lonely and low to say. "Dad probably doesn't want to run the company. You should take the post of CEO temporarily, and your salary will be doubled."

"How about you?" Chris asked.

"I'll stay in New York for a while." Jason Noth didn't hide the real thought from him, "Wanting to see her more."

Even if he could only watch her from afar, he wanted to stay longer.

Who is she?

Chris knows.

He wanted to say something, but he found that it was not appropriate to say anything that time.

When he arrived the community, Jason Noth asked Chris to stop his car. He went to the convenience store and bought something before entering the community.

When they were at home,

Jason Noth asked Chris to go back first.

"It's better for me to accompany you here." Chris said frankly to him, "I am worried about your current condition."

Jason Noth was eager to talk but stopped. He didn't urge him to leave.

Thinking that he hadn't eaten all day, Chris prepared him some food, but Jason Noth didn't touch the food.

No appetite.

Didn't want to eat.

"If you don't eat, you must change your clothes." Chris cared him like an old lady. "It's easy to catch a cold when the clothes are wet." Although there was heating in the room, it was better to replace the clothes.

Jason Noth still didn't take any action.

A moment later,

he took out the cigarette and lighter he had bought in the convenience store from his pocket, lit it with a snap, and then took a sip.

Chris, "??"

Smoking?!!

He remembered that his boss never smoked.

The company also clearly stipulated that smoking was not allowed in public areas in order to prevent people from inhaling secondhand smoke.

Chris thought that why did he start smoking now?

He began to cough!

Jason Noth was choked by the smoke and coughed violently.

Chris sighed, went to take the cigarette out of his hand, extinguished it and threw it in the garbage can, "If you can't smoke, don't smoke."

Smoking is harmful to your health.”

Jason Noth said nothing and threw away the cigarette and lighter he had just bought.

Sure enough, He still didn't like the taste.

“Drink? I'll get some drink.” Chris knew he was in a bad mood.

“No.” Jason Noth's eyes were dim, and his whole heart was empty. It was no use getting drunk.

The deeper you get drunk, the more you miss.

Now he could control himself with reason not to disturb her new life, but if he get drunk, he can't help calling her.

He watched the dark night outside the window, and his heart was filled with thousands of complex emotions, “Chris.”

Chris came over.

“I regret.” Jason Noth said this with a deep thin lip and a slight movement. It seemed that it was hard for him to say these words.

His eyes were sour.

He regretted.

But everything couldn't go back.

“If I had listened to you, would she not have left?” Jason Noth hid his face and lowered his eyes, tears flowing down his fingers.

Chris couldn't bear to see it, but he told the truth, “She will still go.”

Jason Noth felt intense pain.

There was a gnawing pain from his heart.

“For Sarah, one infidelity means that she would not forgive you for one hundred times.” Chris said word by word, and his heart became more complicated, “Since the moment you asked her for a divorce because of Jenny Smith, Sarah's heart fainted.”

The only difference was that the relationship between you two would not be too rigid if there was compensation and no other harm.

Chapter 388 A heart-to-heart talk

Jason Noth's heart was throbbing with regret occupying him.

Chris couldn't bear to see it. After being silent for a moment, he went to fetch the beer and called Lucas Richardson at the same time, who was filming in New York.

The physical state of boss was too bad.

If he doesn't adjust, he will break his health.

After taking the beer, Chris also brought the food. Drinking on an empty stomach not only makes you drunk quickly, but also hurts your health.

Jason Noth refused all.

“I'll tell you something about Sarah after you eat this meal.” Chris began to lie to let him eat. “It's about you.”

“What?”

“You eat first.”

Jason Noth really had no appetite, but he wanted to know something about Sarah. In the intertwined emotions, he squeezed the food into his mouth and ate it one mouthful at a time. Until he finished eating, he didn't know what the food tasted like. Sarah was full of his mind.

"Finished." He put down his chopsticks and bowl and watched Chris with a little vitality between his eyes and eyebrows. "You can tell me now." Chris, "..."

What should he say?

He was lying.

During the stalemate, Lucas Richardson came.

After entering the house, he took off his cap and mask, and took off his scarf and overcoat.

As a movie king, his acting skills were so good that he had so many fans that it was difficult for him to go out.

Seeing him coming, Jason Noth was distracted.

He adjusted his state for a while, and didn't want his affairs to be known too much, "Why did you come?"

"I'm in a bad mood." Chris taught Lucas Richardson to say like this. "I want to drink with you."

Jason Noth frowned.

He glanced at Chris subconsciously.

Chris's acting skills were excellent, and he looked surprised at the sudden arrival of Lucas Richardson.

Lucas Richardson was familiar with Jason Noth's home. In the past, when Jason Noth came to New York for work, he would also talk to him about the old days, and naturally knew his door password. He was very familiar to get the glasses.

When taking the glasses, he glanced at Chris and asked, "Do you want to drink?"

"Just drink with the boss." Chris didn't like to drink. "I'll go back first and don't bother you to talk about the past."

After finishing his words, he left.

He gave them space.

Jason Noth didn't want him to leave, but Chris was so fast that he didn't give him a chance to talk at all.

Lucas Richardson took the glasses and took the beer Chris put there. He poured the beer and asked, "What is Chris doing with the beer? Are you in a bad mood?"

"No." Jason Noth hid his feeling.

Lucas Richardson didn't ask more.

One glass for each person.

After clinking the glasses with Jason Noth, he drank it all at once.

Seeing him like this, Jason Noth adjusted his mood and cared about his buddy first, "What happened?"

"I was liked by a man at the dinner party tonight." What Lucas Richardson said was true, but his tone was the same as before. "He wanted to take me back to be a toyboy, and said that I could choose any resources."

There were many such things in their circle.
Some talked about these things with resources; Some would not pay anything; Some even use drugs to play dirty tricks.
There were many different ways.
“Your agent is not with you?” Jason Noth asked.
He was not worried that Lucas Richardson would suffer losses.
Although he was in the entertainment circle, and his family had strong capital, he had always been in this circle as an ordinary person.
“No, my agent was brought to another private room to talk about things.” Lucas Richardson was disgusted about these things, but he didn’t need to find someone to drink.
The reason why he spoke out these things was to let Jason Noth drink with him.
Chris said that this guy was in a bad mood and didn’t eat or drink, so he was invited to persuade him.
Seeing that the beer in his glass was drunk, Lucas Richardson filled his and Jason’s glasses.
After the next few glasses.
Lucas Richardson didn’t say a word, just drank one glass after another.
Jason Noth was deeply worried and depressed, so he didn’t think about Lucas Richardson’s reaction and his things.
If he is normal, he will know that these things will only be ignored because of Lucas Richardson’s character, and he will not be unhappy to come to him for drinking at all.
After the drinking has gone through three rounds.
They have already drunk two bottles of beer.
Jason Noth was a little drunk at the moment because of the high degree of alcohol and the strong delayed effect of the beer.
Lucas Richardson was not drunk.
Because when he drank, he didn’t finish the glass. Every time when he took a sip, he put the glass down and continued pouring. He held the glass in his hand, so Jason Noth couldn’t see it.
Through these series of behaviors, Lucas Richardson understood one thing.
Jason Noth was on his chest.
He didn’t find anything wrong with two uncommon things in a row. This was totally not the person he used to be.
“How about you?” Lucas Richardson, seeing it was the time to ask, poured him another glass before pretending to be natural and asked, “How have you been lately? How is your relationship with Sarah?”
Lucas Richardson and Edgar Williams didn’t know about Jason’s coma and memory loss after serious injury.
Jason Noth didn’t tell many people about these things.
The things that broke out on the Internet before were also regarded as edited photo after Jason Noth appeared automatically.

“I lost her.” Jason Noth held the glass in his hand, and his sad and depressed mood became more obvious after he was drunk.
Lucas Richardson paused.
He looked up and saw something else in his eyes. Jason Noth drank the beer in the glass and began to tell Lucas Richardson the truth, “She is with other people.”
“Is that person good to her?”
“Yes.”
“What do you think?” Lucas Richardson asked again.
“I don’t know.” Jason Noth’s voice was hoarse and couldn’t find the right answer. “I don’t know what to do.”
“Let it go.” Lucas Richardson began to talk to him formally, with a warm voice and healing power. “Now that she has a good home and someone takes good care of her, you should also go forward.”
Jason Noth shook his head.
He didn’t say a word.
How did he go forward...
“Don’t you want to get her back?” Lucas Richardson asked suddenly.
“No.”
Jason Noth gave the answer without hesitation.
If Sarah is single now, and if she doesn’t have a relationship with Will Gardner, he will chase her even if he is badly beaten.
But there was no chance.
He couldn’t destroy her happiness without the bottom line.
“Take a good rest for a while, and sincerely apologize to her.” Lucas Richardson said. He was not surprised by the result. “Then go back to your original life course, and do not disturb her.”
Jason Noth said nothing.
Even if he wants to return to the original life course, he have to wait until she is truly happy.
They drank for a while, and Jason Noth became more intoxicated.
He looked at the mobile phone on the side. There were countless voices in his mind asking him to call Sarah and tell her that he missed her, loved her, and could not live without her.
But the only reason told him not to disturb her.
With the two emotions intertwined, he picked up his mobile phone, looked at it for a long time, and then threw it under the sofa.
The place he threw the phone...
Even if someone is completely drunk, he can’t take out his mobile phone form that place.

Chapter 389 Quit himself or you’ll fire him

Tate looked at him, and his beautiful lips pouted. His mind was a total mess.
Without his phone, Jason drank one cup after another.

After a few more, Jason's consciousness had completely dissipated, and his mind was full of his time together with Sarah when they just married. They were... so happy. But all this was destroyed by him. Tate picked him up and planned to take him back to his room for a rest, but Jason grabbed his arm and said, "Give me my cell phone." "No." "Then call Sarah." "Don't have her number." "I remember it, I could tell you." "She was asleep, do you want to wake her up?" Tate asked him. The light in Jason's eyes immediately faded. After standing there for a long time, he said in a dull voice, "I don't want to." Tate can't tell what his mood is. This guy had never suffered setbacks in his studies and career. He was a typical A student. But now. He was like a child who did something wrong. Jason pushed away his hand and staggered back to the room and threw himself on the bed. That night, he dreamed of Sarah. When Jenny called, he hung up the phone and told her that he was married and asked her not to disturb him again. He also dreamed that he and Sarah had lovely children, and their family of three lived happily. But anyways. When he woke up in the morning, it all turned into bubbles. He stared at the ceiling in a daze. The pain of suffocation spread from the tip of his heart to his whole body. He was drown in regret. In the next few days. Jason had been staying at home. He didn't walk out for once. Chris was investigating Will. Sarah was living happily there. However... February 6th. She and Will went to work at A&Y International. At noon, Sivan looked at the intimate appearance of the two when they had lunch. A little doubt and puzzlement crossed his eyes, "Boss." "What's the matter?" "You..." Sivan always felt that something big happened that he didn't know. Sarah blinked. She promised Sivan that if she remarried, she would ask for his advice. Although they were just boyfriend and girlfriend... "We are together." Sarah looked at Will and said in a calm voice. "In a serious relationship now.”

Sivan looked at Will.

He said that this man entered A&Y International with an evil intention.

Unexpectedly, it was really happening.

“Are you going to fire him, or was he going to quit himself?”

Sivan’s voice was as cold as ever.

Sarah and Will were both confused.

Sarah was shocked by his words.

A&Y International had no regulations to prohibit office romance.

Why he had to leave?

Sivan saw her look and asked, “Did you forget the notice that I sent to each department?”

“What notification?”

“The boss forbids office romance, and once it happens they should be fired.” Sivan said seriously, adding, “This was what you asked me to say when too many men asked you out after the business got stable.”

The boss was good-looking and capable. Many guys in the company liked her, and some of them have openly started their pursuit.

The boss didn’t get used to this, so she asked him to send the notice.

After the notice came out, those people also knew what the boss was thinking, so they didn’t continue. After all, no one wanted to lose their job.

No one can promise that they will be together for a lifetime anyways.

Sarah paused and looked at Will awkwardly, “Can I say I forgot?”

“I could help you remember.” Sivan said solemnly.

Sarah was speechless.

Will raised his eyes slightly with indifference.

He didn’t expect it to happen.

Sarah thought carefully and said to Will, “Captain, why don’t you leave and go back to just inherit your family’s wealth?” “You’re driving me away?” Will said lazily in an indifferent tone.

“I’m the boss, I have to set an example.” Sarah was very serious.

Will raised his hand and flicked it on her forehead, “To set an example by sacrificing me?”

Sarah pursed his lips and said nothing.

This was not easy to answer.

No answer then.

“I must leave?” Will looked at Sivan and consciously didn’t ask

Sarah, knowing that she had forgotten all about it.

“If you can control yourself from having close contact with the boss in the company, I can help you keep it secret for the time being.” Sivan said word by word, still cold, "That way you don't have to leave."

Will thought about it for a while. It was not a big problem, so he agreed.

At work that afternoon, Sivan reported to Sarah all the arrangements for the week.

After that, he looked at her without hesitation, "Boss, can I ask you something?"

"Go ahead."

"Did you chase Will or Will was the proactive one?"

"He chased me."

How would she dare to chase the captain. What if he let her run with weights and do frog jumps?

"What's the matter?" Sarah saw that he was worried.

"Is he good to you?" Sivan's cool tone was more concerned, and his eyes were full of emotion.

Sarah smiled and said, "Pretty good."

Before she didn't expect the captain to be so gentle, careful and provocative.

Sivan was relieved to see that she was happy. But in order to determine whether Will really loved the boss, he decided to talk to Will.

The boss was injured in her last relationship.

She can't have it again.

Will was not surprised when he saw Sivan.

During his working time at A&Y International, he also knew how much Sivan cared about Sarah. He was a perfect help.

"Let's talk." Sivan said with a cool face, but he still looked like a little boy.

Will nodded.

Sivan closed the door.

Without beating around the bush, Sivan cut straight to the point,

"What do you like about the boss?"

"I like her for being herself."

"Or for her money."

"No."

"If your ex showed up, you will choose to stand on the side of the boss or your ex." Sivan asked the key question.

"I don't have an ex." Will's thin lips slightly curled, "But at any time, I'm on the same side with your boss."

He didn't feel offended by Sivan's interrogation at all.

On the contrary.

He was glad that Sarah had such a person who took care of her carefully and really cared about her over the years.

"The last question." Sivan felt a little relieved after seeing that Will was not lying.

Will said in a low voice, "Okay."

"If someone else pursues the boss, what would you do?" Sivan blurted out, and his cold eyes fell on Will's face at this moment, not missing any sign on his face.

Chapter 390 The fool

"Won't do anything, just love her and care about her as usual." Will's voice was low and slow, pleasant to listen to. "Marriage should be a big thing in her life. She can choose her favorite among many suitors and make the best choice."

"Even if she doesn't choose you?" Sivan was surprised.

Will answered firmly, "Yes."

The biggest reason why he can say these words was that he knew that he would love Sarah wholeheartedly.

Sarah was not a flirty person. He can give her happiness that others can give as well, but he can give her something that others can't.

"If one day you don't love her, don't do anything that hurts her." Sivan said his closing words, and was satisfied with this conversation.

Will promised, "I will love her until the end of my life."

This promise would work.

Sivan handed over a document in his hand.

Will took it and was about to open it to see what the document was when Sivan's voice rang.

"It records the boss's hobbies, work and life habits." Sivan said formally, "And her allergy to food and medication. You can have a look."

Even if Will loved the boss, it was impossible for him to know everything.

After all, he had not lived with his boss for a long time.

Now that he had become the boss's boyfriend, he could give it to him.

Will read it carefully.

If he had just felt that Sivan cared about Sarah, now he could be sure that his care was filled with emotion.

If not, it was impossible to do this far for her.

"Insomnia?" Will's finger fell on the bold font and frowned slightly.

"A few years ago, she often had a bad sleep and needed incense to help." Sivan explained carefully. "Now she had recovered, but I'm not sure if she will have it again in the future, so I wrote it down."

Will looked at this line.

Sarah never slept beside him, and he didn't know her sleep problem.

However, from the observation after her return, Sarah's spirit was good every day, and he never thought about this problem.

"When did she start to have insomnia?" He asked.

"Four years ago in July." Sivan remembered it very clearly. "She said she would go out with Robert to do something, and she began to lose sleep when she came back."

Will trembled a bit.

At that time...

It was just the time when they went to perform the most brutal task. Sarah was almost seriously injured, and the scene was bloody and frightening.

Fortunately, all the staff returned after finishing the task.

"I gotta go now." Sivan explained everything that should be explained, "Treat her nicely."

"Wait."

"What's the matter?"

"You..." Will wondered how to ask.

"I like the boss, but different from you." Sivan knew exactly what he wanted to ask. "If you treat her bad, I will take it over."

After that, Sivan left.

Will felt a little relieved.

If Sivan also had feelings for Sarah, he might choose to resign and leave A&Y International. After all, Sivan treated Sarah well, and he couldn't display their affection in front of him.

Fortunately, their feelings were different.

After reading the whole document, he put it in the drawer and planned to talk to Sarah when he returned from work in the afternoon.

This fool.

She never told him about insomnia.

After that mission, she stayed in the base for almost a week before leaving.

Sarah left in Will's car when she got off work in the afternoon, and Sivan could stay longer in the since he didn't have to do this driver work anymore.

After all, for him.

It's boring to go back. It's better to stay in the company.

On the way back, Sarah noticed that Will was a little different than before.

She glanced at him and slowly asked, "Captain, something's on your mind?"

"Yes."

"What?"

"I wonder why a fool didn't tell me about her insomnia." Will looked at her and continued to drive safely.

Sarah was confused..

Fool? Insomnia?

She asked curiously, "What fool?"

"Whoever answers the question." Will was amused by her dazed look, and his voice was a little more relaxed.

Sarah was even more confused.

She?

"Sivan said that you had been having insomnia for a long time before and could only sleep with the help of incense." Will said. "Is it the psychological trauma left by that task?"

When he mentioned the past again, Sarah's thoughts drifted back to the past.

Her insomnia was really related to that task.

Not only she, but also Jacob and the rest of the group.
“Why don’t you tell me?” Will asked.
Sarah replied seriously, “You are too fierce.”
Will was a little shocked.
This was the second time Sarah said that he was fierce.
Was he that aggressive to her?
“But you can talk to them.” Will meant the mates who had a good relationship with Sarah. “At that time, your team was pretty close.”
Sarah didn’t tease him, but said the truth, “At that time, I didn’t think it was a big deal, and I would be alright.”
Unexpectedly, it didn’t.
On the contrary, insomnia was becoming more and more serious.
“Next time, tell me immediately.” Will smiled. “Don’t fight by yourself.”
Just say it or find someone to talk about it.
But if you keep it in your heart, it will gradually enlarge and finally affect your mind.
“OK.” Sarah agreed.
The car was driving on the road.
Sarah looked at the buildings outside the window. She suddenly found her peace at this moment.
She didn’t know what it was like to have peace.
But this moment.
She seemed to feel it.
When seeing her quiet face, Will’s smiled and his look were tender, and he began to think about what to cook tonight.
It was half past six when they arrived at the community.
When they were just about to drive into the underground parking lot, a figure suddenly jumped up and greeted Will warmly, “Brother Will!”
He had to stop the car.
Sarah looked at Lola, who looked just like a model, and naturally asked, “Your friend?”
“No...”
“Brother Will!” Lola came over with a sweet smile on her face. “I finally got you.”

Chapter 391 A gigolo

Will remembered what she had said on the phone that night, and his attitude towards her was also full of alienation, “Why are you here?”
“I came to see you on purpose.” Lola looked at Sarah on the copilot when she said this.
She must debunk Sarah’s true feature today.
Let Will know that his girlfriend was not a good person.
“What’s the matter?” Will was indifferent.
“It’s not convenient to talk here. Why don’t we go to where you live?” Lola asked tentatively. She didn’t know that Will was the person who blacklisted her that day.

Will refused.

That was the house Sarah gave him.

Lola said bad things about Sarah, so he wouldn't let her go there.

"Wait for me." Will wanted to find out how she knew he lived here. "I parked the car and came out to find you."

Lola, "?"

She was totally confused.

It was so cold outside. Why should she wait outside? Wasn't Will a gentleman?

Will said nothing more, and drove into the underground parking lot.

This was a community with excellent security system. Outsiders and vehicles without permission wouldn't be released, and Lola couldn't enter.

Sarah noticed the subtle relationship between Will and that girl, "Don't you get along well with her?"

"Certainly not," Will said directly, "But our parents have dealings. It's not good to ignore her. I'll go out and talk to her later."

He didn't care Lola at all.

But he had to care about her parents.

"Do you want to join us?" Will asked.

He knew that Sarah was more sensitive about some things, so he would not cheat her.

He loved her.

Sarah thought for a moment and refused, "It seems that she has something important to tell you. I don't want to affect your conversation."

"Atha." Will once again stressed their relationship. "You are my girlfriend."

"I know."

"Apart from organizational or company secrets, there is nothing you need to avoid."

Will said seriously.

Sarah paused.

She didn't know how to answer.

"Come with me." Will helped her make a decision and also wanted to take this opportunity to give her more reassurance.

Sarah couldn't resist him and got off the car.

Couples also needed a sense of moderation.

She was not a person with strong desire to control, or even had no desire to control.

Even if Will had met Lola alone, she would not think blindly.

After all, she believed in the character of Will.

Will knew her idea, holding her small hand, and walked out together.

Lola waited outside for five minutes before seeing him coming.

After seeing Sarah, she seemed to understand everything.

In her opinion, it must be Sarah who didn't trust them, and then came with him.

"Dear bro!" Lola trotted over.

Will was alienated, and his tone was not as lazy as it used to be. He just said, "Just call me Will. It sounds strange."

"But I'm used to it."

"Change it."

Sarah blinked and looked at Will.

It seemed that their relationship was not generally bad.

"All right." Lola looked helpless, and then asked, "By the way, I can't call you after the previous call was hung up. Is the phone off or what?"

"I blacklisted you." Will didn't beat around the bush.

Lola, "?"

Sarah, "?"

"I'd like to officially introduce Sarah, my girlfriend, who will spend the rest of her life together with me." Will told Lola Sarah's importance with words and attitude, "And she is also the most important person in my life."

After that, he said to Sarah again, "Lola, my uncle's daughter."

Sarah was going to say hello politely.

Lola said first, "You missed one. I grew up with you."

"How do you know I live here?" Will did not answer her question.

"Your parents told me." Lola didn't hide, but said it very seriously.

Will frowned.

Why did his parents tell her?

"Dear bro, why did you blacklist me?" Lola couldn't figure it out. "Isn't our relationship very good?"

"The good relationship between parents does not mean that we have a good relationship." Will put it mildly. "If there is nothing else, we will go back first."

"Wait a minute!" Lola didn't forget her purpose of coming here.

Will and Sarah looked at her.

Lola pursed her lips, deliberated for a moment, and then said, "Sarah, is your thing to be frank with Will or I will tell him?"

"What's the matter?" Sarah was confused.

"Don't cheat me."

"?"

Will was holding Sarah, and Lola's attitude towards Sarah made him unhappy, "Lola."

Just a name, but Lola felt pressure.

Also at this moment, she finally realized Will seemed to really care about Sarah.

"I know you don't like me talking about Sarah." Lola said very directly, "But do you really know her?"

At the beginning, she only felt that the name was familiar.

Later, she remembered that there was a hot discussion topic that Sarah and Jason had been together, and she shared 1.4 billion dollars at the time of divorce.

Will was about to speak when Sarah stopped him, "Let her speak."

"She and Jason were married." Lola told him what she knew. "She also shared 1.4 billion dollars at the time of divorce. She is a person who makes money by cheating on marriage. Maybe she is also interested in your property when she is with you.”

“My name is Sarah Yeats,” Sarah said.

Lola didn’t care, “I know.”

“Yeats Group belongs to my family.” Sarah didn’t bother to talk any more.

As soon as she said, Lola paused.

“I know all that you said.” Will still held Sarah’s hand and said in an unhurried tone, “But I will help you correct one thing myself.” “What?” Lola hadn’t reflected from Sarah’s identity. “The house I live in and the work I do are all given by Sarah.” Will was lazy and leisurely. “In other words, it is not she who takes a fancy to my property, but I rely on her.”

Sarah, “?”

People worth hundreds of billions was a gigolo?

Chapter 392 The kitchen was my territory

Lola feels disillusioned.

Will was a gigolo?

“Isn’t your family very rich?” She asked with a skeptical tone.

“That’s true.” Will said casually, with a low and slow voice. “But I prefer to be a gigolo rather than inherit family property.”

Lola frowned slightly, as if she had known him for the first time.

After a long pause, she didn’t say anything else.

“If there is nothing else, we will go back.” Will saw that the purpose had been achieved, and did not intend to say more.

Lola pursed her lips and watched them leave.

She really believed what Will was a gigolo.

After all, Sarah was really the stockholder of Yeats Group, so even if Will didn’t go back to inherit the family property, he could have no worries all his life.

The most important thing was that if he inherited his family property, he had to manage it himself. But he only needed to spend money when staying with Sarah.

How did Will become such a person?

Will didn’t care what she thought.

When he got home, he asked Sarah to sit on the sofa and watch TV. He went to cook.

Sarah stopped him, “I’ll do it.”

“Hmm?”

“Don’t you want to be a gigolo?”

“Ah.” Will smiled and then drew closer to her. “Do you want to feed me yourself?”

Sarah: “”

Sarah couldn’t find the right words to answer.

“Go and sit down.” Will won’t let her go to the kitchen. He said with a kind of captain’s momentum, “The kitchen is my territory. You can’t enter it.”

Sarah wanted to help him wash vegetables.

All were rejected by Will.

It was better for him to cook and do other housework.
Seeing that she had no chance, Sarah had to stand aside, "Why did you just say that? Aren't you afraid of being misunderstood?"
Will asked, "What is wrong?"
"Misunderstanding you are a gigolo."
Sometimes she was a little curious about why Will always said he was a gigolo. It was clear that he lived by himself.
"I'm telling the truth."
"Will."
"It doesn't matter whether she misunderstood it or not." Will put the rice in the pot before washing the vegetables. "After I said that, she wouldn't bother me any more."
He knew that Lola liked him.
A few years ago, she asked her parents to tell his. At that time, his parents also asked him.
If he agreed, they would get engaged.
He refused.
But he didn't expect that she would come to trouble Sarah.
"She likes you?" Sarah realized.
Will paused and then replied, "She doesn't like me now."
No girl liked a man who was a gigolo.
Except for Atha.
An hour later, Will and Sarah finished their meal.
Knowing that Sarah had something to do, Will let her go after dinner.
Meanwhile, Lola went back with a full of depression and told Will's father about Will's words. His parents knew this long ago and didn't say much.
After Lola hung up, they discussed another matter.
"I don't know whether Lola talked about Sarah with Will today."
Will's mother looked.
"Just call and ask!"
"You call him."
"I won't."
Will's mother glared at him and called Will with a complicated voice.
Will was not surprised by the call. Lola, with a temper, would inevitably tell his parents.
After the simple opening words, Will's mother hesitated and said
"Walt, there is something we need to talk about with you."
"You say."
"Did you know Sarah was married?"
"What's the matter?"
Will didn't expect that they were asking.
His parents looked at each other, obviously wondering what to say later.
"Do you mind?" Will said in a low tone.

"No, how can dislike a girl like Sarah?" His mother immediately retorted and asked her own worries. "We are worried about you." They knew the character of their son. He pursued perfection in everything.

They didn't know what he thought about it.

"I don't mind." Will was in a cool voice. "What I want is her future."

Even if he minded, he only blamed himself.

If he told her that he loved her directly, she would not be hurt by Jason.

"That's good." His mother was happy. "Help Sarah. Your father can do himself."

Herman, "?"

Herman was immediately dissatisfied.

It was agreed to give the company to Will this year and travel around the world!

"OK." Will could imagine Herman's expression.

After the phone hung up, Herman immediately expressed his dissatisfaction and said angrily, "My dear!"

"What's the matter?"

"Have you forgotten what you promised?"

"I'm not going to die right now. What's the hurry?" Will's mother quarreled with him every day and said, "The matter of global travel will be discussed in a few years."

Herman, "?"

A few years!

"Walt and Sarah are going to get married, have children and raise them." Will's mother analyzed, "These things need Walt. You can't let him do two things at once."

"My dear!" Herman was not happy.

"Do you have comments?"

"Yes."

"It's no use."

"

"I will cook for you in the evening."

"Don't lie to me?" Herman face finally softened.

Will's mother smiled softly and said, "Of course not."

"Then I will try my best to help him for a few years." Herman was a little arrogant. "It is agreed in advance that when their child went to kindergarten, he has to manage the company."

Will's mother agreed, "No problem."

Herman was very clear that his wife's decision could change at any time.

Humph!

In the next few days, Will and Sarah lived a warm and comfortable life together.

It was Saturday in an instant.
Will just planned to take Sarah out for a date. Unexpectedly, Chris called. He and Jason would come here in the morning.
They had to shelve the plan and wait.

Chapter 393. I'm stupid in your eyes, right?

After nine o'clock, Jason came with Chris.

Jason was in a lower spirit than before, and his pretty face is also a little sickly pale.

"Miss Yeats, I'm going to pack boss's luggage, and take your time to have a chat."

Chris knew that his boss had something to say to Sarah, so he would not stand in the way.

Sarah paused and said, "What's luggage?"

Chris subconsciously looked at his boss.

After all, his boss should tell Miss Yeats in person about his memory recovery.

"My memory has been restored." Jason's hands on both sides became rigid for a second, and looking at her with his dark eyes, he seemed to remember Sarah's face clearly. He said, "Sorry to bother you in this period of time."

Sarah subconsciously cast his eyes on him, and then found that Jason, who was standing in front of her at the moment, was the person she was most familiar with.

In her thoughts, she remembered what happened downstairs that night.

She thought, "Has he recovered since then?"

"Why didn't you tell me when you were looking for Serial?" Sarah asked him, carrying complicate emotions in heart.

"I don't know how to face you after memory recovery." Said Jason frankly. He told her what he thought when losing his memory. He said, "You will be self-condemned and worried about me if I didn't recover my memory successfully, so I didn't tell you."

Sarah didn't answer.

Now that he has recovered, he really didn't need to live here.

"Sarah." Jason called her.

"Hmm?"

"I did a lot of absurd things during the period of amnesia, which has caused you a lot of trouble." Jason's deep voice was low and hoarse, and was not as cold as it was before, "I'm sorry."

Sarah no longer cared, "It's okay. It's all over."

Jason had complicate emotions in his heart.

Actually, he really wanted to talk to her again, and tell her that he really regretted what he did before.

But he knew that Sarah has not cared about what happened in the past.

No matter how much he said, it was useless.

"Does he treat you well?" Jason kept silent for a long time, and then asked this with a very complicated mood.

Sarah didn't respond what he meant for a moment, "What?"

"Will."

"He treats me well."

The several simple words hit Jason's heart in pieces. His strong self-control held back the pain in heart.

They missed each other after all.

"That's good." Jason tried to talk to her in a normal tone, but the expression in his eyes exposed how reluctant he was. "If he treats you badly one day, or you regret, I will always be your safe haven."

Sarah was stunned.

After understanding what he said, she only said: "No need."

Jason's heart was stabbed by these two words.

"You don't have to be self-condemned or feel guilty for the past.

What you owe me has already been paid off." Sarah knew what he was thinking of, so told him frankly, "You can't do anything by staying where you are. You should move forward."

People had a long life, and no one knew what would happen in the future.

When they got married, she thought that she might never meet such a nice person as Jason in her life, and also never expected those terrible things happened to them after marriage.

But at this time.

She has met Captain Leon, a better man.

She had infinite possibilities in the future, so should not be trapped in the small world at present.

Jason's heart was full of pain.

"Maybe the person who will accompany you all your life will appear in the near future," Said Sarah.

Jason didn't answer her.

He didn't know where his future was, not want to know that.

He only knew that Sarah didn't really love him anymore. She hoped him leave her and start a new life.

"Can I ask you a question?" He was thinking of what was hidden in heart.

"OK."

"Who is your first love?"

Jason asked her in a husky voice after pondering for a long time.

He remembered that Sarah didn't answer who was her first love when other people asked her that in the party Edwin organized. He was jealous of the man she remembered for so long.

Sarah puckered his lips and didn't keep it a secret from him this time, "You."

"What..." Jason paused with deep eyes.

"My first love is you." Sarah knew why he asked this question, so answered him. "I didn't answer the question, nor choose to do something bravely in the game at that time, because I didn't want to have too much relationship with you. With your attitude towards me at that time, even if I said my first love was you, you wouldn't believe it."

Jason was shocked, and then felt bitter.

They should have a happy life in the future, but he messed it up.

"Who is Zuck?"

"My custom pillow."

Sarah answered him.

Speaking of this, she remembered that she had not slept with Zuck in her arms for several months. After all, she used to sleep at home most of the time, but almost lived here after returning from Atlanta this time.

No wonder she always felt strange when sleeping during this period, but didn't know why.

Jason didn't know how he left Sarah's family.

Sarah's words echoed in his head as he sat in the car.

—"My first love is you."

—"My custom pillow."

At this moment, he felt that he had always been stupid. He wronged her in the matter of Jenny. Cindy hurt Jenny, but he suspected it was Sarah who did that. Cindy framed her, but Sarah was lying in his eyes when she refuted.

But the truth has always been what she said.

Why didn't he believe her...

After putting away all things, Chris saw his boss look extremely tired, so he asked, "Boss, why don't you go back to Atlanta for a rest?"

It was said that the best way to forget a person was time and new environment. If his boss stayed in New York all the time, he would only had a stronger emotion.

"No," Jason refused.

Chris sighed silently, and then sat down on the copilot, driving away.

Sometimes he really wanted to tell his boss that it didn't work to regret his mistakes, and he should attach more importance on his work and make himself rank the first and equal to Miss Yeats in the market.

thus.

Miss Yeats would certainly hear a lot of legends about Noth Group and its boss when she ran the company.

In this way, she would not forget him. "When I targeted Sarah before, did you think I was stupid?" Jason rolled his deep throat knot, and his voice was low and hoarse.

"No," Chris denied.

Jason was about to say something.

But Chris said seriously at this time, "I think you are very stupid."

Jason,

||

"You've seen the evidence, but you still don't believe it." Chris finally found the opportunity to make a good roast, regardless of whether his boss was depressed or not, "I thought you should go to a do about your brain at that time."

Jason, ""

He thought of what happened in the past carefully.

At that time, he didn't believe Sarah and the evidence just because of his self-esteem.

In addition, Sarah's relationship with Robert was too good, so some negative emotions burst out in his heart.

Chapter 394 Someone he missed would not come round
But all in all, it was because he didn't trust her enough.
He was not good enough.

"But why do you still stay with me as my special assistance?" Jason was not angry this time, and he talked with Chris seriously under various emotions.

"Because I'm satisfied with the salary and you treated me well." Chris answered him honestly. "Although you have failed in Ivoe, you treat your employees of the enterprise very well."

Jason closed his lips and didn't speak.

"For instance, you gave me an opportunity to be in charge of a project before, and I messed it up, but you didn't blame me, and also dealt with the aftermath." Chris always remembered this matter.

He made the company lose millions that time.

It might not be a big deal for the boss, but for him who has just worked in the company for one year could not afford even if he broke the bank.

Jason said simply, "That's because your value is more than several million."

That was Chris's only mistake since he took office.

Actually, it was not all his fault.

After all, Jason didn't make him confident enough, so that he would be over cautious and restrained when working.

Fortunately, after that time, Chris was seemingly enlightened. He worked very smoothly, and Jason didn't need to worry most of time.

"Boss," said Chris slowly after the gossip, "I think what Miss Yeats said is right today. People should move forward, whether it is emotion or career."

Jason was silent.

Everyone let him go forward, but how did he go.

Loving affairs were not projects which could be forgotten easily.

"Someone you missed will not come round." Chris hoped that Miss Yeats and his boss would be well off. "She won't come back even if you wait her in place."

"I know." Jason's voice was hoarse.

Chris still had something to say, but he finally didn't spurt it out, lest his boss would not eat or drink as before after being irritated.

After a long time.

Jason looked out of the window and said, "When her child goes to kindergarten, I will give up."

He had to confirm that Will really treated Sarah well.

Some men acted differently before falling in love and after marriage. Some men might cheat during women's pregnancy, and some might dislike their wives because they were out of shape and became haggard after giving birth.

He could rest assured only after confirming that Sarah was really had a happy life.

Chris was somehow stunned.

kindergarten?

She had to be pregnant for ten months, and her child could go to kindergarten when he was 3 years old.

Even if she got married at this time and was pregnant, it would take almost four years!

Jason would be 28 years old on October this year. Twenty-eight plus four equals thirty-two.

Thirty-two years old...

Chris thought, "The elders of the Noth family will agree him, won't they?"

"Boss, if you really want to wait for Miss Yeats's children to go to kindergarten before giving up, let Edwin go to a blind date when you go back this year." Chris knew about the elders of the Noth family. "Otherwise, Mrs. Noth will pay much attention to you."

Mrs. Noth, grandpa Noth and his other families all liked Miss Yeats very much.

Once they knew that Miss Yeats and Will were in love, Jason must be disliked by his families.

What was the result of that?

Of course, they would make many troubles to him!

Jason paused for a moment. His dim eyes were a little more emotional. After thinking for a moment, he answered, "OK."

Edwin was not a kid any more.

He was at the age for marriage.

At the moment, Edwin who was loitering outside felt cool at his neck. After touching it twice, he continued to surf in sea. It was sunny, and he was enjoying his happy time.

After Jason left, Sarah went to the room where he lived and checked if Chris had left anything.

After looking around and making sure that everything had been taken away, she went back to her room.

But as she just went in,

Will held her in his arms.

Sarah blinked blankly and wondered if he heard what she had just said in the room. She asked, "Do you care what I said to Jason?"

"No." Will especially liked to hold her, because she was so soft. He said, "I just think you said something wrong just now."

Sarah thought about it for a while, but didn't find out what she said was wrong.

So she asked, "Which sentence?"

"First love." Will said very seriously. Sarah, "?"

Sarah was dazed.

Her first love was really Jason. She had never been in love with anyone before being in a relationship with Jason, nor did she have thought of that.

"Search for the meaning of first love with your phone." Will only felt that her flashing curly eyelashes were scratching his heart like a small brush. He said, "You can search it on Google."

Sarah searched it in his arms.
When she saw the answer, Will also saw it.
"You and Jason are in a flash marriage, and you are not in love."
Said Will anomalously. He only cared her, saying, "I am your first love."
Sarah, "??"
Will gently pinched her white face, "Do you understand?"
"What?" Sarah was a little confused.
Will lowered his head and kissed her.
This girl.
She always flirted with him unwittingly.
Sarah, opening her eyes, was confused. How did they kiss again!
Will just gave her a quick kiss before leaving. He raised hand and rubbed on her head gently and patiently.
Sarah always felt that her such a captain was very untrue.
Even if they have kissed many times.
"Captain."
"Hmm?"
"If you want to train Jasmine in the future, will you train me?"
"What do you think?"
"Probably not." Sarah guessed, "I'm your girlfriend."
He puckered up a beautiful radian with his thin lips, and his low and lazy voice slowly sounded in her ear, with a bit of enchantment, "The dream is good, but you can make it more unreal next time." Sarah, "."
She knew that his all tenderness was false.
The radian of Will's lips was getting bigger as looking at her who looked a little depressed.
Men should spoiled their girlfriends, but if this guy had to take part in dangerous tasks, he would only train his subordinates severely.
She was no exception.
Strict training was for life.
The task was changeable. Even if he was with her, he might not be able to protect her all the time. After all, their tasks were not idol dramas. Sarah saw the smile on the corner of his lips. She suddenly though then stood on tiptoe in retaliation and kissed on his of something, thin lips.
Will was stunned by her kiss. When he reacted, Sarah was trying her best to flirt him. He immediately gained the initia and held her in his arms.
Sarah clearly felt the temperature change between them.
When the atmosphere was at its best, she broke away from Will's embrace as quickly as possible, slipped into another room and closed the door.
This happened so fast that Will didn't stop her. After all, he really didn't expect Sarah to slip away directly.

Her fresh and clean breath still lingered on his lips, and the lust still lingered in his inky eyes

Chapter 395 Why run away after kissing

He accurately walked towards the room where Sarah hid with his long legs,, and called her through the door, "Sarah."

Sarah didn't answer him.

The most deadly thing was to run away after seducing him. If she went out, she must be held by her captain and kissed for a long time.

"I will come in if you don't come out." He said that in a casual and lazy tone.

Sarah was stunned.

She immediately remembered that his skills in almost all aspects were very good. It was not difficult for him to open a lock.

"Three."

"Two."

He didn't counted to one yet.

But Sarah obediently opened the door and came out, with a clear conscience in her eyes.

After careful consideration, she thought it was much better to have a kiss in his arms out of her room than being pressed on the bed after he broke into the door. After all, they might do much more in bed.

Will raised his hand to pinch her face softly, and said: "You deliberately ran away after flirting me just because I intend to train you, right?"

"No," Sarah denied.

"Are you sure not?" He leaned towards her with his nonchalant face.

Sarah tensed up and said honestly, "Yes..."

"Why run away!" Will leaned down slightly. The two were so close that they could hear each other's breathing. "You should not run away after kissing me just now."

After he said that, ...

His thin lips cover her red lips.

Sarah's heart was about to jump out, and at this moment she was not as calm and confident as she was before.

Will pecked her, and then raised his hand to tap her on head. His low and lazy voice slowly overflowed from his thin lips, "Go to change your clothes."

"What?"

Why change clothes?

Will was really gentle with her, "Take you to meet my real childhood friend."

They could not have a date, so he could only change his plan.

Robert was their common friends, so he didn't need to introduce him to her. But his childhood friend was very important in his life, so he should introduce him to Sarah.

Sarah went out with him after washing herself and making up.

They were at a hot pot restaurant.

In the box.

Zack was sitting with a cute girl.

The girl was not very tall, about 1.55 meters in height. Sitting with Zack, who was 1.85 meters in height, she looked very cute.

"When Will comes here later, you pretend to have a crush on him from childhood to now and confess to him." Zack still remembered that will input a virus in his mobile phone last time and his mother chased and hit him because of that.

He had to revenge on him!

It was a good time to revenge.

Susan, "????"

Susan said without hesitation, "Did you go out today without taking medicine?"

Confess with Will. Was he crazy?

"Please help me, your brother." Zack shook her arm and blinked.

"If you promise me, I will buy you what you want!"

"I have money."

"I promise you a request!"

"No interest."

"Susan, for the sake of being beaten by my mother before because of him, please help me."

Susan answered him simply, "Go away!"

"If you don't help me, I will expose your secret love for the boy of the Davis family for many years." Zack grunted twice and began to threaten her.

"How dare you!"

"Just wait and see."

Susan suddenly clenched her fist, glaring at him and feeling sour at this same time.

This fool!

How stupid!

"As long as you promise me, I will keep this secret in my heart forever, and I will promise you one thing." Zack raised his eyebrows and said seriously, "How about that?"

Susan hit him with a fist, which meant a disguised promise, "You'd better do what you say."

The two were fighting and quarreling.

Sarah and Will came here at this time.

As soon as they came in, Susan kept her eye on Sarah, and a bit of surprise flashed between her eyebrows.

But she was curious how did Will successfully woo such a beautiful girl?

"Little sister, we are meeting again." Zack greeted warmly and touched Susan with his elbow quietly.

Zack wondered whether Will has confessed to this girl.

Although he didn't admit it and said that she was just his boss, he could be 100% sure that Will absolutely loved her!

"They are my childhood friends. He is Zack, and she is Susan." Will introduced them to Sarah, and then introduced Sarah to them.

"Sarah, my girlfriend."

Several people simply said hello.

Zack winked at Susan at this time, but the latter really wanted to beat him!

But she had to stop Zack to spread the news that she has a crush on the guy of the Davis family. Once he did, she could not conceal the lie.

"Will." Susan called him.

She was only two years younger than Will and Zack. Although she was twenty-eight years old, she looked only in her early twenties because of her petite figure and lovely appearance.

She was very good-looking.

Will was about to sit down with Sarah at this time, and he asked,

"What's the matter?"

"I secretly love you from childhood to adulthood." Susan said sorry to Sarah constantly in heart, but said that with a serious face.

Will, "??"

Sarah, "?"

Their expressions were synchronized, and they were both confused.

However, Zack was secretly poking and gloating.

"Can I sit with Sarah for this meal today?" Susan said later, "I like her too."

Will, "?"

Zack, "?"

Before Will said something, Sarah agreed first.

Although Susan made a confession to Will, she somehow liked her very much.

After the two sat together, Susan first apologized to Sarah, and then told Will honestly, "Don't misunderstand me. I don't really like you, but Zack forced me to say it."

She said two sentence.

But the three people took a look at her.

Zack didn't expect Susan to betray him without any selfaccusation, "I did that because you implanted a virus in my mobile phone last time."

Will didn't argue with him.

He didn't need to revenge on him immediately.

Will and Zack took good care of the two girls when they had hot pot.

Will knew Sarah's favorite food, and Zack also new what Susan liked to eat. The two men put what the two girls' favorite food next to them for their convenience.

After eating for half an hour, Will began to fight back, "Susan."

Susan raised his eyes.

"I heard that your family is urging you to get married?"

"They are very vexatious."

"I know two high-quality single men. Do you want to make a date with them?" Will said that carelessly, and somehow looked at Zack.

Susan paused.

After all, he knew Susan loved Zack, didn't he?

"one of them is mature and sedate, while the another was tender. They are Robert and Julian." Will said this to stimulate Zack. "Although Julian's family background is not as good as Robert's, he is a hacker."

Chapter 391 A gigolo

Will remembered what she had said on the phone that night, and his attitude towards her was also full of alienation, "Why are you here?"

"I came to see you on purpose." Lola looked at Sarah on the copilot when she said this.

She must debunk Sarah's true feature today.

Let Will know that his girlfriend was not a good person.

"What's the matter?" Will was indifferent.

"It's not convenient to talk here. Why don't we go to where you live?" Lola asked tentatively. She didn't know that Will was the person who blacklisted her that day. Will refused.

That was the house Sarah gave him.

Lola said bad things about Sarah, so he wouldn't let her go there.

"Wait for me." Will wanted to find out how she knew he lived here. "I parked the car and came out to find you."

Lola, "?"

She was totally confused.

It was so cold outside. Why should she wait outside? Wasn't Will a gentleman?

Will said nothing more, and drove into the underground parking lot.

This was a community with excellent security system. Outsiders and vehicles without permission wouldn't be released, and Lola couldn't enter.

Sarah noticed the subtle relationship between Will and that girl, "Don't you get along well with her?"

"Certainly not," Will said directly, "But our parents have dealings. It's not good to ignore her. I'll go out and talk to her later."

He didn't care Lola at all.

But he had to care about her parents.

"Do you want to join us?" Will asked.

He knew that Sarah was more sensitive about some things, so he would not cheat her.

He loved her.

Sarah thought for a moment and refused, "It seems that she has something important to tell you. I don't want to affect your conversation."

"Atha." Will once again stressed their relationship. "You are my girlfriend."

"I know."

"Apart from organizational or company secrets, there is nothing you need to avoid." Will said seriously.

Sarah paused.

She didn't know how to answer.

"Come with me." Will helped her make a decision and also wanted to take this opportunity to give her more reassurance.

Sarah couldn't resist him and got off the car.

Couples also needed a sense of moderation.

She was not a person with strong desire to control, or even had no desire to control.

Even if Will had met Lola alone, she would not think blindly.

After all, she believed in the character of Will.

Will knew her idea, holding her small hand, and walked out together.

Lola waited outside for five minutes before seeing him coming.

After seeing Sarah, she seemed to understand everything.

In her opinion, it must be Sarah who didn't trust them, and then came with him.

"Dear bro!" Lola trotted over.

Will was alienated, and his tone was not as lazy as it used to be. He just said, "Just call me Will. It sounds strange."

"But I'm used to it."

"Change it."

Sarah blinked and looked at Will.

It seemed that their relationship was not generally bad.

"All right." Lola looked helpless, and then asked, "By the way, I can't call you after the previous call was hung up. Is the phone off or what?"

"I blacklisted you." Will didn't beat around the bush.

Lola, "?"

Sarah, "?"

"I'd like to officially introduce Sarah, my girlfriend, who will spend the rest of her life together with me." Will told Lola Sarah's importance with words and attitude, "And she is also the most important person in my life."

After that, he said to Sarah again, "Lola, my uncle's daughter."

Sarah was going to say hello politely.

Lola said first, "You missed one. I grew up with you."

"How do you know I live here?" Will did not answer her question.

"Your parents told me." Lola didn't hide, but said it very seriously.

Will frowned.

Why did his parents tell her?

"Dear bro, why did you blacklist me?" Lola couldn't figure it out. "Isn't our relationship very good?"

"The good relationship between parents does not mean that we have a good relationship." Will put it mildly. "If there is nothing else, we will go back first."

"Wait a minute!" Lola didn't forget her purpose of coming here.

Will and Sarah looked at her.

Lola pursed her lips, deliberated for a moment, and then said, "Sarah, is your thing to be frank with Will or I will tell him?"

"What's the matter?" Sarah was confused.

"Don't cheat me."

"?"

Will was holding Sarah, and Lola's attitude towards Sarah made him unhappy, "Lola."

Just a name, but Lola felt pressure.

Also at this moment, she finally realized Will seemed to really care about Sarah.

"I know you don't like me talking about Sarah." Lola said very directly, "But do you really know her?"

At the beginning, she only felt that the name was familiar.

Later, she remembered that there was a hot discussion topic that Sarah and Jason had been together, and she shared 1.4 billion dollars at the time of divorce.

Will was about to speak when Sarah stopped him, "Let her speak."

"She and Jason were married." Lola told him what she knew. "She also shared 1.4 billion dollars at the time of divorce. She is a person who makes money by cheating on marriage. Maybe she is also interested in your property when she is with you."

"My name is Sarah Yeats," Sarah said.

Lola didn't care, "I know."

"Yeats Group belongs to my family." Sarah didn't bother to talk any more.

As soon as she said, Lola paused.

"I know all that you said." Will still held Sarah's hand and said in an unhurried tone, "But I will help you correct one thing myself." "What?" Lola hadn't reflected from Sarah's identity. "The house I live in and the work I do are all given by Sarah." Will was lazy and leisurely. "In other words, it is not she who takes a fancy to my property, but I rely on her."

Sarah, "?"

People worth hundreds of billions was a gigolo?

Chapter 392 The kitchen was my territory

Lola feels disillusioned.

Will was a gigolo?

"Isn't your family very rich?" She asked with a skeptical tone.

"That's true." Will said casually, with a low and slow voice. "But I prefer to be a gigolo rather than inherit family property."

Lola frowned slightly, as if she had known him for the first time.

After a long pause, she didn't say anything else.

"If there is nothing else, we will go back." Will saw that the purpose had been achieved, and did not intend to say more.

Lola pursed her lips and watched them leave.

She really believed what Will was a gigolo.

After all, Sarah was really the stockholder of Yeats Group, so even if Will didn't go back to inherit the family property, he could have no worries all his life.

The most important thing was that if he inherited his family property, he had to manage it himself. But he only needed to spend money when staying with Sarah.

How did Will become such a person?

Will didn't care what she thought.

When he got home, he asked Sarah to sit on the sofa and watch TV. He went to cook.

Sarah stopped him, "I'll do it."

"Hmm?"

"Don't you want to be a gigolo?"

"Ah." Will smiled and then drew closer to her. "Do you want to feed me yourself?"

Sarah: ""

Sarah couldn't find the right words to answer.

"Go and sit down." Will won't let her go to the kitchen. He said with a kind of captain's momentum, "The kitchen is my territory. You can't enter it."

Sarah wanted to help him wash vegetables.

All were rejected by Will.

It was better for him to cook and do other housework.

Seeing that she had no chance, Sarah had to stand aside, "Why did you just say that?

Aren't you afraid of being misunderstood?"

Will asked, "What is wrong?"

"Misunderstanding you are a gigolo."

Sometimes she was a little curious about why Will always said he was a gigolo.

It was clear that he lived by himself.

"I'm telling the truth."

"Will."

"It doesn't matter whether she misunderstood it or not." Will put the rice in the pot before washing the vegetables. "After I said that, she wouldn't bother me any more."

He knew that Lola liked him.

A few years ago, she asked her parents to tell his. At that time, his parents also asked him.

If he agreed, they would get engaged.

He refused.

But he didn't expect that she would come to trouble Sarah.

"She likes you?" Sarah realized.

Will paused and then replied, "She doesn't like me now."

No girl liked a man who was a gigolo.

Except for Atha.

An hour later, Will and Sarah finished their meal.

Knowing that Sarah had something to do, Will let her go after dinner.

Meanwhile, Lola went back with a full of depression and told Will's father about Will's words. His parents knew this long ago and didn't say much.

After Lola hung up, they discussed another matter.

"I don't know whether Lola talked about Sarah with Will today."

Will's mother looked.

"Just call and ask!"

"You call him."

"I won't."

Will's mother glared at him and called Will with a complicated voice.

Will was not surprised by the call. Lola, with a temper, would inevitably tell his parents.

After the simple opening words, Will's mother hesitated and said "Walt, there is something we need to talk about with you."

"You say."

"Did you know Sarah was married?"

"What's the matter?"

Will didn't expect that they were asking.

His parents looked at each other, obviously wondering what to say later.

"Do you mind?" Will said in a low tone.

"No, how can I dislike a girl like Sarah?" His mother immediately retorted and asked her own worries. "We are worried about you." They knew the character of their son. He pursued perfection in everything.

They didn't know what he thought about it.

"I don't mind." Will was in a cool voice. "What I want is her future."

Even if he minded, he only blamed himself.

If he told her that he loved her directly, she would not be hurt by Jason.

"That's good." His mother was happy. "Help Sarah. Your father can do himself."

Herman, "?"

Herman was immediately dissatisfied.

It was agreed to give the company to Will this year and travel around the world!

"OK." Will could imagine Herman's expression.

After the phone hung up, Herman immediately expressed his dissatisfaction and said angrily, "My dear!"

"What's the matter?"

"Have you forgotten what you promised?"

"I'm not going to die right now. What's the hurry?" Will's mother quarreled with him every day and said, "The matter of global travel will be discussed in a few years."

Herman, "?"

A few years!

"Walt and Sarah are going to get married, have children and raise them." Will's mother analyzed, "These things need Walt. You can't let him do two things at once."

"My dear!" Herman was not happy.

"Do you have comments?"

"Yes."

"It's no use."

"

"I will cook for you in the evening."

"Don't lie to me?" Herman face finally softened.

Will's mother smiled softly and said, "Of course not."

"Then I will try my best to help him for a few years." Herman was a little arrogant. "It is agreed in advance that when their child went to kindergarten, he has to manage the company."

Will's mother agreed, "No problem."

Herman was very clear that his wife's decision could change at any time.

Humph!

In the next few days, Will and Sarah lived a warm and comfortable life together.

It was Saturday in an instant.

Will just planned to take Sarah out for a date. Unexpectedly, Chris called. He and Jason would come here in the morning.

They had to shelve the plan and wait.

Chapter 393. I'm stupid in your eyes, right?

After nine o'clock, Jason came with Chris.

Jason was in a lower spirit than before, and his pretty face is also a little sickly pale.

"Miss Yeats, I'm going to pack boss's luggage, and take your time to have a chat."

Chris knew that his boss had something to say to Sarah, so he would not stand in the way.

Sarah paused and said, "What's luggage?"

Chris subconsciously looked at his boss.

After all, his boss should tell Miss Yeats in person about his memory recovery.

"My memory has been restored." Jason's hands on both sides became rigid for a second, and looking at her with his dark eyes, he seemed to remember Sarah's face clearly. He said, "Sorry to bother you in this period of time."

Sarah subconsciously cast his eyes on him, and then found that Jason, who was standing in front of her at the moment, was the person she was most familiar with.

In her thoughts, she remembered what happened downstairs that night.

She thought, "Has he recovered since then?"

"Why didn't you tell me when you were looking for Serial?" Sarah asked him, carrying complicate emotions in heart.

"I don't know how to face you after memory recovery." Said Jason frankly. He told her what he thought when losing his memory. He said, "You will be self-condemned and worried about me if I didn't recover my memory successfully, so I didn't tell you."

Sarah didn't answer.

Now that he has recovered, he really didn't need to live here.

"Sarah." Jason called her.

"Hmm?"

"I did a lot of absurd things during the period of amnesia, which has caused you a lot of trouble." Jason's deep voice was low and hoarse, and was not as cold as it was before, "I'm sorry."

Sarah no longer cared, "It's okay. It's all over."

Jason had complicate emotions in his heart.

Actually, he really wanted to talk to her again, and tell her that he really regretted what he did before.

But he knew that Sarah has not cared about what happened in the past.

No matter how much he said, it was useless.

"Does he treat you well?" Jason kept silent for a long time, and then asked this with a very complicated mood.

Sarah didn't respond what he meant for a moment, "What?"

"Will."

"He treats me well."

The several simple words hit Jason's heart in pieces. His strong self-control held back the pain in heart.

They missed each other after all.

"That's good." Jason tried to talk to her in a normal tone, but the expression in his eyes exposed how reluctant he was. "If he treats you badly one day, or you regret, I will always be your safe haven."

Sarah was stunned.

After understanding what he said, she only said: "No need."

Jason's heart was stabbed by these two words.

"You don't have to be self-condemned or feel guilty for the past.

What you owe me has already been paid off." Sarah knew what he was thinking of, so told him frankly, "You can't do anything by staying where you are. You should move forward."

People had a long life, and no one knew what would happen in the future.

When they got married, she thought that she might never meet such a nice person as Jason in her life, and also never expected those terrible things happened to them after marriage.

But at this time.

She has met Captain Leon, a better man.

She had infinite possibilities in the future, so should not be trapped in the small world at present.

Jason's heart was full of pain.

"Maybe the person who will accompany you all your life will appear in the near future," Said Sarah.

Jason didn't answer her.

He didn't know where his future was, not want to know that.

He only knew that Sarah didn't really love him anymore. She hoped him leave her and start a new life.

"Can I ask you a question?" He was thinking of what was hidden in heart.

"OK."

"Who is your first love?"

Jason asked her in a husky voice after pondering for a long time.

He remembered that Sarah didn't answer who was her first love when other people asked her that in the party Edwin organized. He was jealous of the man she remembered for so long.

Sarah puckered his lips and didn't keep it a secret from him this time, "You."

"What..." Jason paused with deep eyes.

"My first love is you." Sarah knew why he asked this question, so answered him. "I didn't answer the question, nor choose to do something bravely in the game at that time, because I didn't want to have too much relationship with you. With your attitude towards me at that time, even if I said my first love was you, you wouldn't believe it."

Jason was shocked, and then felt bitter.

They should have a happy life in the future, but he messed it up.

"Who is Zuck?"

"My custom pillow."

Sarah answered him.

Speaking of this, she remembered that she had not slept with Zuck in her arms for several months. After all, she used to sleep at home most of the time, but almost lived here after returning from Atlanta this time.

No wonder she always felt strange when sleeping during this period, but didn't know why.

Jason didn't know how he left Sarah's family.

Sarah's words echoed in his head as he sat in the car.

—"My first love is you."

—"My custom pillow."

At this moment, he felt that he had always been stupid. He wronged her in the matter of Jenny. Cindy hurt Jenny, but he suspected it was Sarah who did that. Cindy framed her, but Sarah was lying in his eyes when she refuted.

But the truth has always been what she said.

Why didn't he believe her...

After putting away all things, Chris saw his boss look extremely tired, so he asked, "Boss, why don't you go back to Atlanta for a rest?"

It was said that the best way to forget a person was time and new environment.

If his boss stayed in New York all the time, he would only had a stronger emotion.

"No," Jason refused.

Chris sighed silently, and then sat down on the copilot, driving away.

Sometimes he really wanted to tell his boss that it didn't work to regret his mistakes, and he should attach more importance on his work and make himself rank the first and equal to Miss Yeats in the market.

thus.

Miss Yeats would certainly hear a lot of legends about Noth Group and its boss when she ran the company.

In this way, she would not forget him. "When I targeted Sarah before, did you think I was stupid?" Jason rolled his deep throat knot, and his voice was low and hoarse.

"No," Chris denied.

Jason was about to say something.

But Chris said seriously at this time, "I think you are very stupid."

Jason,

||

"You've seen the evidence, but you still don't believe it." Chris finally found the opportunity to make a good roast, regardless of whether his boss was depressed or not, "I thought you should go to a do about your brain at that time."

Jason, ""

He thought of what happened in the past carefully.

At that time, he didn't believe Sarah and the evidence just because of his self-esteem.

In addition, Sarah's relationship with Robert was too good, so some negative emotions burst out in his heart.

Chapter 395 Why run away after kissing

He accurately walked towards to the room where Sarah hid with his long legs,, and called her through the door, "Sarah."

Sarah didn't answer him.

The most deadly thing was to run away after seducing him. If she went out, she must be held by her captain and kissed for a long time.

"I will come in if you don't come out." He said that in a casual and lazy tone.

Sarah was stunned.

She immediately remembered that his skills in almost all aspects were very good.

It was not difficult for him to open a lock.

"Three."

"Two."

He didn't counted to one yet.

But Sarah obediently opened the door and came out, with a clear conscience in her eyes.

After careful consideration, she thought it was much better to have a kiss in his arms out of her room than being pressed on the bed after he broke into the door. After all, they might do much more in bed.

Will raised his hand to pinch her face softly, and said: "You deliberately ran away after flirting me just because I intend to train you, right?"

"No," Sarah denied.

"Are you sure not?" He leaned towards her with his nonchalant face.

Sarah tensed up and said honestly, "Yes..."

"Why run away!" Will leaned down slightly. The two were so close that they could hear each other's breathing. "You should not run away after kissing me just now."

After he said that, ...

His thin lips cover her red lips.

Sarah's heart was about to jump out, and at this moment she was not as calm and confident as she was before.

Will pecked her, and then raised his hand to tap her on head. His low and lazy voice slowly overflowed from his thin lips, "Go to change your clothes."

"What?"

Why change clothes?

Will was really gentle with her, "Take you to meet my real childhood friend."

They could not have a date, so he could only change his plan.

Robert was their common friends, so he didn't need to introduce him to her. But his childhood friend was very important in his life, so he should introduce him to Sarah.

Sarah went out with him after washing herself and making up.

They were at a hot pot restaurant.

In the box.

Zack was sitting with a cute girl.

The girl was not very tall, about 1.55 meters in height. Sitting with Zack, who was 1.85 meters in height, she looked very cute.

"When Will comes here later, you pretend to have a crush on him from childhood to now and confess to him." Zack still remembered that will input a virus in his mobile phone last time and his mother chased and hit him because of that.

He had to revenge on him!

It was a good time to revenge.

Susan, "????"

Susan said without hesitation, "Did you go out today without taking medicine?"

Confess with Will. Was he crazy?

"Please help me, your brother." Zack shook her arm and blinked.

"If you promise me, I will buy you what you want!"

"I have money."

"I promise you a request!"

"No interest."

"Susan, for the sake of being beaten by my mother before because of him, please help me."

Susan answered him simply, "Go away!"

"If you don't help me, I will expose your secret love for the boy of the Davis family for many years." Zack grunted twice and began to threaten her.

"How dare you!"

"Just wait and see."

Susan suddenly clenched her fist, glaring at him and feeling sour at this same time.

This fool!

How stupid!

"As long as you promise me, I will keep this secret in my heart forever, and I will promise you one thing." Zack raised his eyebrows and said seriously, "How about that?"

Susan hit him with a fist, which meant a disguised promise, "You'd better do what you say.”

The two were fighting and quarreling.

Sarah and Will came here at this time.

As soon as they came in, Susan kept her eye on Sarah, and a bit of surprise flashed between her eyebrows.

But she was curious how did Will successfully woo such a beautiful girl?

“Little sister, we are meeting again.” Zack greeted warmly and touched Susan with his elbow quietly.

Zack wondered whether Will has confessed to this girl.

Although he didn’t admit it and said that she was just his boss, he could be 100% sure that Will absolutely loved her!

“They are my childhood friends. He is Zack, and she is Susan.” Will introduced them to Sarah, and then introduced Sarah to them.

“Sarah, my girlfriend.”

Several people simply said hello.

Zack winked at Susan at this time, but the latter really wanted to beat him!

But she had to stop Zack to spread the news that she has a crush on the guy of the Davis family. Once he did, she could not conceal the lie.

“Will.” Susan called him.

She was only two years younger than Will and Zack. Although she was twenty-eight years old, she looked only in her early twenties because of her petite figure and lovely appearance.

She was very good-looking.

Will was about to sit down with Sarah at this time, and he asked,

“What’s the matter?”

“I secretly love you from childhood to adulthood.” Susan said sorry to Sarah constantly in heart, but said that with a serious face.

Will, “??”

Sarah, “?”

Their expressions were synchronized, and they were both confused.

However, Zack was secretly poking and gloating.

“Can I sit with Sarah for this meal today?” Susan said later, “I like her too.”

Will, “?”

Zack, “?”

Before Will said something, Sarah agreed first.

Although Susan made a confession to Will, she somehow liked her very much.

After the two sat together, Susan first apologized to Sarah, and then told Will honestly, “Don’t misunderstand me. I don’t really like you, but Zack forced me to say it.”

She said two sentence.

But the three people took a look at her.

Zack didn’t expect Susan to betray him without any selfaccusation, “I did that because you implanted a virus in my mobile phone last time.”

Will didn't argue with him.

He didn't need to revenge on him immediately.

Will and Zack took good care of the two girls when they had hot pot.

Will knew Sarah's favorite food, and Zack also knew what Susan liked to eat. The two men put what the two girls' favorite food next to them for their convenience.

After eating for half an hour, Will began to fight back, “Susan.”

Susan raised his eyes.

“I heard that your family is urging you to get married?”

“They are very vexatious.”

“I know two high-quality single men. Do you want to make a date with them?” Will said that carelessly, and somehow looked at Zack.

Susan paused.

After all, he knew Susan loved Zack, didn't he?

“one of them is mature and sedate, while the another was tender.

They are Robert and Julian.” Will said this to stimulate Zack. “Although Julian's family background is not as good as Robert's, he is a hacker.”

Chapter 396 How did he make people love and hate him
Hacker?!

Susan's eyes brightened.

Sarah put a piece of meat in mouth, and turned her eyes.

Will has never been a matchmaker, let alone without Robert and Julian's knowledge.
So...

Zack loved Susan?

Will said that on purpose.

“Their character is very good. If you don't believe it, you can ask Sarah.” Will suggested Sarah to join them.

Sarah understood his meaning. They had tacit understanding on such matters, “Both of them are very good people. Robert is gentle and meticulous, and upright, while Julian is lively and cheerful, and his views on all aspects are very positive.”

“Really?” Susan also understood something and began to cooperate in the performance.

Only Zack didn't know they were acting.

However, Susan was puzzled. Why did Will do this? Zack didn't love her after all.

“Hmm.” Sarah nodded.

Will noticed with his split version that Zack's appetite was obviously not as good as before, and there was a little depression between his eyebrows.

Sarah said more to Susan, “Why not come with us after dinner? They are available today, and you can have a meet.”

“That's fine.” Susan agreed.

“I'm going too!”

Zack suddenly said it.

They focused their eyes on him, and Susan's heart raised a little unexpected expectation.

"I heard that two girls have a good relationship with Robert." Zack said that in an extremely normal tone. He continued, "Why not ask them out and I can make a blind date."

Susan's hopes were completely shattered, and she sneered at him, "You don't need that since you go to the nightclub frequently."

"Come on, I only have entertainment in nightclub." Zack explained to himself, "I have never done something bad."

"You really have not done anything bad, because you just had simple flirtations." Said Susan coolly.

Zack could not refute him.

The last time when he went a nightclub with his disreputable friends, they offered him two women, and Susan saw that before he refused.

From then on, he knew that he could not explain it clearly.

They had different thoughts when having the meal.

Will asked them when were they available on Facebook and could they have a date.

He and Sarah were in a relationship with Jasmine and Julian's help. So he should invite them to have a meal anyway, and then announce the matter.

After the message was sent.

They all said they were free.

After answering his message in chatting group on Facebook, everyone began to send private message to Will.

Jasmine: [What's wrong with you, captain? You are wooing Pumpkin, aren't you? Why do you invite other girls to our date?]

This was not normal!

Normally, no outsiders attended their date before.

Jim: [Captain, have you changed your mind?]

White mouse: [Captain, don't you owe Sister Sarah?]

Robert: [What's wrong with you?]

Buck and Samuel also queried him.

Will and Sarah were very important to them, and they all hoped them fall in love.

But at this time....

Will even took other girls to their date?!

Will made a simple explanation and also told Robert and Julia.

The two of them knew how to act, so they agreed him.

After everyone knew his real intention, they all relaxed.

Over the years, they have never been so serious about the couples in the TV series.

But they hoped Will and Sarah fall in love very much.

After the matter was settled.

Will and Sarah told Susan about the matter. In order to contact in the future, Susan and Sarah kept each other's contact information on Facebook.

After a while, they left after checking out.

Sarah and Will sat in a car, while Susan and Zack in another car.

"Are you really going to have a blind date with Robert and Julian?" Zack asked Susan sitting on the copilot while driving.

"What else?"

"Don't you love the man of the Davis family?"

"He loves another woman. Since my love is doomed to be fruitless, why not try to have a date with other men."

Susan said that naturally.

Zack closed his lips and kept silent for a long time before he said,

"If you call me brother, I will help you woo him. I promise to do that successfully."

"Don't bother him." Susan would stop him. She didn't want to expose it yet. "I don't want my love to cause him any troubles."

Zack didn't speak again.

He didn't understand why was the young master of the Davis family so good in her eyes?

Was this guy worth her love for so many years?

Will and Sarah were also talking about this question, but Sarah was only asking: "Zack loves Susan?"

"Maybe."

"Maybe?"

"I spent most of my time in the organization, and only came back to meet them for a short time when I was on vacation occasionally." Will explained to her in a very pleasant voice. "I'm not clear what happened to the two people, but I just feel that Zack has been a little strange over the years."

"So you want to help him with Robert and Julian?" Sarah asked him.

"Yes." Will pursed his lips.

Sarah nodded.

The two people drove to the destination where they got together. It was a place that gathered all kinds of fun.

There was a special racing area, a golf course, a tennis court and various other projects in various centers, and even a venue similar to a nightclub.

This place was specially developed by the Shawn Group and covered an extremely wide area.

When the four of them arrived there, only Julian was there. He was the closest to here.

"Sister Sarah, captain." Julian said hello as soon as he arrived, but his eyes were full of gossip.

He wondered how her captain was getting along with Sister Sarah.

The two just hummed.

Sarah watched Susan and Zack come and colluded with Julian, "She is Susan. You can act later, but don't go too far."

"No problem!"

Julian showed an understanding expression.
After the two men came to them, Will made an introduction first.
Julian was really lively, and his acting skills were especially natural.
After the greetings, he enjoyed the time with Susan. Sarah and Will were even surprised during the whole process. Zack twisted the skin between his new eyebrows and eyes. "Julian is really a man with a simple mind?" Said Zack under the banner of justice, "He is not reliable because he talks to Susan skillfully."
"He is better than you." Said Will slowly. Zack, "..."
This guy.
How did he say that.
"Susan has been playing with us since childhood." Zack reminded Will in disguised form, "If you hurt her, I will not let you go first."
"How do you plan to deal with me?" Will twisted his eyebrows slightly, and infuriated him on purpose, "Implant virus on my phone or hit me?"
Zack almost vomited blood in anger.
He didn't understand why he loved and hated Will, his friend, at the same time.
Will treated him very well, but sometimes also made him extremely angry.

Chapter 397 I will be pissed off one day!
"How dare you mention this?" Zack still felt scared when he thought of that day when his mother was punching him. "Whom did you ask to insert the virus into my mobile phone? I asked several people to help me. But they failed."
Sarah was speechless.
Will smiled and said one word, "Expert."
"Don't I know that he is an expert?" Zack felt that this guy became cocky after he had a girlfriend. "I'm talking about the identity of that guy."
"Hacker."
Zack rolled eyes at him.
Zack thought, 'I can't talk with this guy. If it goes on like this, I will be pissed off one day!'
Zack came up with an idea.
"You are waiting for others here. I will go to see if Julian is capable."
Will said that that man was a hacker. Julian's skill wouldn't suck.
Since it was the case.
He would ask Julian to crack it.
When he went to Julian, Julian was having fun with Susan. When he went in the room, he heard Julian praising. "You are twenty-eight years old? You look much younger."
"Do you often praise girls like this?" Susan replied.
"No." Julian said the truth. "You are the first person I praise besides Sarah."
As for Jacob and Jim.
They always made fun of each other.
"Julian, Will told me that you're a hacker. Is it true?" Zack felt that Julian was unreliable and went over to interrupt them.

"That's right." Julian said modestly.

Although his hacking technology is not as good as Sarah, it was also impressive. Compared with Alicia, who was second only to Sarah, it was not much worse.

Zack grabbed Julian's shoulder naturally and said, "How about doing me a favor?"
"?"

Zack took him to the room inside.

Zack asked Julian to crack the virus, and Julian made it quickly.

This time.

Zack saw the hope.

He told Julian to wait a moment and then went to the car to get his cell phone with the virus. He asked Julian, "There is a powerful virus in it. Many hackers failed to crack it. As long as you help me solve it, I will invite you to dinner."

Julian took the mobile phone.

He just planned to use the computer to break the virus in the phone! As a result, the computer got a virus!!!

What the hell?

Julian was stunned.

"It also happened to those who helped me crack the virus before..." Zack coughed to cover up his embarrassment. He hadn't come up with this before.

Julian didn't speak. He just continued to crack the code.

After half an hour.

The computer had returned to normal, and the virus in Zack's mobile phone had also been cleared.

He knew that the virus was written by Sarah. It was a harmless prank, that was why he could crack it. If Sarah was serious, he could not solve it.

Sarah's serious virus had not been cracked by anyone so far.

Even other top hackers had never done so.

"You..." Julian stopped when words came to his mouth.

Julian wanted to ask him how he offended Sarah, but after a second thought, Julian realized that he was the captain's friend. Sarah never dealt with Will's friends.

Zack now knew that Julian's technology was better than those he knew. "What's the matter?"

"Where did the virus come from?"

"I don't know. It's inexplicable."

"Think again."

"Do you know something?" Zack was Will's friend, and he was smart. "Do you know who made this virus for me?"

Julian didn't say anything. It was acquiescence.

Zack had a showdown with him. Julian would not tell him if he was not honest. "The virus was implanted by Will for revenge."

Julian was astonished.

His heart beat violently out of fear. "Captain?"

"Yes."

What?

It was over.

He would be finished.

The captain wanted to deal with Zack, but helped Zack to crack the virus

If it was known by the captain, he would be dead meat!

"The virus has not been completely cracked." Julian immediately told a lie. He really didn't want to be punished. "Give it to me."

Zack handed it to him.

He had no doubt about the Julian at the moment.

Julian's fingers knocked on the keyboard, quickly restored Sarah's virus. He turn off the mobile phone to keep it secret for a while.

"All right." Julian handed the mobile phone back to Zack. "I have something to deal with. I'd better go now. If there is any problem, call me."

Then Julian left.

Leaving Zack no chance to speak.

Julian was in a panic.

He thought to himself, 'I restored the virus. I didn't destroy the captain's plan, did I?'

He doesn't want to carry out those cruel training. The punishment was scary.

Zack felt weird.

He ignored the weirdness of Julian.

When he saw that his mobile phone was turned off, he turned it on and planned to move the mobile phone card to it later.

However.

When he opened.

A full-volume voice came out of the mobile phone, "Mom, come and hit me, it's a pity, you can't reach me, hahahaha!"

Zack was stunned.

In an instant.

The voice of the mobile phone attracted the attention of those nearby.

Zack scolded Julian in his heart. Then he immediately turned off his mobile phone.

Zack thought, "What the hell is this guy doing? He has cracked the virus. Why did the phone play that audio?"

Julian didn't care about it. He went back to the place they had agreed.

When he went.

The rest of people had basically arrived.

Robert saw his furtive look and was confused, "Did you do something wrong?"

"How can it be?" Julian scratched his head and felt obviously uncomfortable. "I was looking for the captain and Sarah. Aren't we going to match the captain and Sarah today?"

Robert pushed his gold-rimmed glasses, but didn't tear him apart.

Several people went to play after Zack arrived.

According to what Will told them before, Robert and Julian had a good term with Susan.

Seeing this scene, Zack felt a little uncomfortable. After he suppressed his emotion, he went to talk to Jacob and Jim. He thought, 'It's just a talk. No big deal. I can do it well too.'

However.

Jasmine and Jim never gave him this opportunity. The purpose of the two of them today was to match their team leader and Pumpkin. There was no time to waste with him. Jasmine and Jim found a place with a wide view and a clear view of the crowd. He sat in the sun while chatting with Sarah, "Pumpkin, how are you thinking about the captain?"

"Huh?"

"He likes you."

Sarah pursed her lips, thinking about how she should say that she had been in a relationship with the captain.

Chapter 398 Can I return it

"If he confesses to you, what are you going to say?" Jasmine asked.

Sarah gave an honest answer, "He won't do that."

Jasmine was surprised.

Jim was also confused.

They didn't know why she said so.

Jasmine asked directly, "Why?"

The captain was rejected?

Or was Pumpkin and Jason still emotionally involved?

It wouldn't be the case.

If it was true, Pumpkin should not come with the captain. There was no Pumpkin's car in the parking lot.

"We are already together." Sarah thought that it was better to say it directly.

Her words were a shock.

Jasmine and Jim seemed to have been pressed the pause button.

There were surprises on their faces that hadn't been covered up yet. Their eyes fixed on her.

What did they just hear?

Together!

Together!!!!

"When did it happen?" Jasmine pulled her and asked, "Why didn't you tell us? How did he confess to you?"

"Are you... not angry?" Sarah raised her eyes slightly.

Jasmine and Jim looked at each other. Both of them were puzzled, "What shall we be angry with?"

"You think the captain is bad. You asked me not to be with him." Sarah said seriously, blinking eyes.

"Well." Jasmine immediately smiled meaningfully and told the truth. "That's because you are too dull. We decided to stimulate you in another way. Otherwise, it will be a long time before you agree to be with the captain."

Sarah was stunned.

Jim gossiped, "You didn't know the captain likes you until that night?"

Sarah nodded.

If it was not for the call reminder on the mobile phone, which showed that the captain had called her during that time, she would not know that the captain liked her.

After all, this was too dramatic.

"Well, so you already know this?" Sarah quickly realized their implication.

Jasmine and Jim nodded.

Sarah was slightly confused.

Why didn't she know?

"Robert said that when we got together with the captain," Jasmine told her. After all, they were a couple now. "He should be the first to know."

Hearing this.

Sarah thought of the past.

Since Will came back, Robert had been saying good things about him in front of her.

Up to now, she still clearly remembered that Robert said that Will might feel inferior because of his identity and asked her to take care of Will.

Now she really wanted to ask a question.

Would the heir of Gardner Group feel inferiority complex?

"What's the matter?" Jim saw her fall into thinking.

"You'd better guard against Robert." Sarah made a summary. "He is sly."

"You are wrong."

"Hmm?"

"It's not only Robert, but also you that should be guarded," Jim said with a smile in the soft and cute tone.

Jasmine agreed, "Yes."

"Why?" Sarah didn't understand.

"You are the captain's woman now." Jim said slowly. "You two might set a trap for us one day. After all, no one can defeat captain in slyness, including Robert."

Sarah was speechless.

She thought, 'Can I break up with Will?'

'I want my innocence back.'

In the evening, she was still thinking about this matter. After a group of people entered the box to eat, play and drink, she sat beside Will and wanted to say something.

Will noticed that Sarah was worried, "What's wrong?"

"Can I return it?"

"What?"

"You."

Will raised his eyebrows and looked at her, "Why?"

"Now we are a couple. Jasmine is worried that I will set a trap for them one day." Sarah said seriously, but in fact, it was just something interesting between a couple. "I have to prove my innocence to them."

"Just because of this?" Will was not surprised.

Sarah nodded, "Yes."

"Reject, you can't return it." Will's voice was low and careless.

"Will you lose your strength because an ant thinks you are too strong and is afraid of being seized by you?"

"No," Sarah answered truthfully.

But she was thinking.

'What does this have to do with an ant?'

"I am your strength, and Jasmine is the ant." Will made the simplest analogy.

Jasmine was a little annoyed.

Jim, too.

They said with one voice, "Captain Leon, your metaphor sucks."

Ants?

They were not ants!

"Don't try to ruin my relationship with Sarah." Will still said in a relaxed tone. "If anything really happens, I will throw you into the organization for devil training."

The two men were silent.

Bye!

Although Will left the organization, it was not difficult for him to do that.

"Pumpkin, you'd better not stay with the captain. I'm afraid you will be bullied by him one day." Jim suggested seriously. Jasmine agreed, "You can only admit defeat if you fall into that situation. After all, you can't beat him."

Yes.

"Break up quickly."

"The three of us can get together. When we get old, we go to the nursing home to be happy old ladies."

"That's right!"

Will looked back and forth on their faces. His aura was still at leisure and noble. He looked nonchalant.

Jim and Jasmine trembled under his gaze.

They were a little worried.

They thought, 'Will going against the Captain bring us miserable results?'

"Would you like to go to the nursing home with them to be a happy old lady?" Will asked with his eyes on Sarah.

Sarah was timid and shook her head decisively, "No."

If she said yes, she would be finished.

She wouldn't get herself into a big trouble.

"Will you break up with me?"

"I dare not."

"Dare not?"

"Yes."

"Did you hear that?" Will said to them, still in his low, nonchalant voice. "She would like to live with me. The two of you can give up the idea of bring her to the nursing home."

He knew they were just joking, so he was not angry.

But after a second thought, he found it was not absolutely impossible.

If it hadn't been for the early confession, Sarah might have been taken to the nursing home by them.

In the following time, Sarah was chatting with them. Robert and Julian were more congenial with Susan. Only Zack was sipping wine, and his face showing unsatisfactory with Will.

Here it was.

While Sarah and Jasmine went out to do something, Zack came back.

His eyes fell on Will. This time he asked more seriously than ever,

"Are Robert and Julian really reliable?"

"Yes."

"You are immoral."

"Why?"

"Susan still has someone in her heart. Her love for that guy hasn't changed. Aren't you afraid that Robert and Julian will mind if they know?"

Chapter 399 I don't actually want to know

"I told them about it. They don't mind." Will is very serious and has a strong ability to talk nonsense. "He said that it's nothing to have someone in her heart. If she really likes them, they will make her only have them in her heart."

Zack was at a loss for words.

He was stunned.

He glanced at Julian and Robert not far away, with confusion.

It was not strange that Julian said this, but Robert...

Although he was not familiar with Robert, he knew that this man was abstinent. Could such a man say such sensational words?

"What's wrong?" Will asked.

Zack didn't want him to read his mind. Zack said, "Nothing". He didn't know how to describe his current mood. His mood was mixed up.

Will saw all this.

At the end of the evening.

Susan was still talking with Julian and Robert. They really hit it off.

Zack walked over and stood beside her. His words sounded natural, "Susan, if you don't leave now, you can't get back in time." conversation.

It was very interesting for people with high EQ to chat together. Everything could be the topic of their talks.

Of course.

Robert also told them some interesting cases he had encountered before.

Susan was stunned.

"Hello." Zack shouted when he saw that she was absent-minded.

Susan turned to look at him. "What's the matter?"

"How about Robert and Julian?" Zack asked directly, "Don't think they are nice just because they were introduced by Will to you. Some people perform well as friends, but they are not good lovers."

"I know." Susan gave a simple reply.

Zack didn't get the answer he wanted.

He wondered, 'So... what does she think of Julian and Robert?'

Susan answered his question, "They are both good. If a woman's boyfriend is Robert, she will be taken good care of. If a woman's boyfriend is Julian, she will have a lot of happiness."

They were very different.

One was mature and steady, the other was lively and cheerful.

"Are you serious?" Zack felt a little depressed, but didn't show it. "Why not? Anyway, the man I like don't like me. It's meaningless to stick to it." Susan's words are a test, but also a warning to herself, "It's better to put down the past and look forward to the future."

But in fact.

She couldn't do it.

When she was a little girl, Zack was willing to be bullied by her.

Years later, when she was bullied and hurt at middle school, Zack stepped forward to protect her and told everyone that she was his sister and no one could bully her.

Zack had occupied a large part of her life, and he was almost at every critical turning point in her life.

But...

She didn't like him.

This result was known before, but now he still had a little hope.

When Zack heard her words, he felt an impulse.

He wanted to ask her, since she was going to put it down, could she try it with him?

"Do you get over it? You are in a hurry to a marriage because of your family's wish?"

He asked tentatively while driving.

Susan paused.

She didn't know what to say.

She just made up all that.

After a brief thought, she gave the answer, "Yes."

"Then you could make a couple with me." Zack said this very naturally, as if he hadn't hidden any selfish feelings. "We know each other well. Your parents like me and my parents like you. If we are a couple, we can save much trouble."

Susan's head hummed.

She was stunned. Her heart set off a storm, some of which were difficult to suppress.

"What.... did you say?"

"Well, you don't think I deserve you?" Zack was still joking.

In this way.

Even if he was rejected, they could still be friends.

Susan was afraid that she might lose a good friend if she agreed to have a try with him and the try didn't get a good result. She came up with an excuse.

"I have to worry about whether you will flirt with other women every day if we are in a relationship."

"I don't like to hang around with girls." Zack thought it was a big misunderstanding. "I haven't even touched a girl's hand at this age. The time you saw it, those guys forced me to do it. After you left, I let them leave."

"I don't believe you." Susan was not calm at all.

"Go to my house."

"Why?"

"I can show you the surveillance."

He specially copied the surveillance on that day, so that he could prove his innocence in case that he might be the lucky dog to be with Susan one day.

Susan was surprised.

Zack drove towards his home and decided to have a good talk with Susan.

He couldn't see her being with Robert and Julian.

He accepted that Susan liked man from the Davis family more than him. After all, Susan had loved that man since she was very young.

However, she just got to know Robert and Julian. As her childhood sweetheart, he should have some advantages against the two man.

After they left.

Will and Sarah also left. On the way back, Sarah suddenly became curious about something.

When did Will start to like her?

When did Robert know it?

She asked all these questions after she came home.

"You are thinking about something all the way?" Will asked her while changing shoes. "Is it because I stopped you from going to the nursing home with Jacob and Jim?"

Sarah was speechless.

She said in her heart, 'Come on, can't we get over it?'

"No."

"Tell your boyfriend what it is." Will led her to sit down on the sofa.

Sarah puckered her lips, and said with a kind of desire, "I'm curious about something."

"What?"

"When did you start to like me?"

He paused.
He didn't expect her to ask this question.
"You want to know?"
"Yes." Sarah nodded honestly.
"Kiss me and I'll tell you." Will's voice was very pleasant, low and slow. "Be a good kisser."
Sarah hesitated.
At last.
She chose not to kiss.
Will couldn't keep it secret for a lifetime. She would know it one day.
With this in mind, she stood up and was going to go back to the room to sleep. She said to Will in passing, "Forget it, I don't particularly want to know."
"Kiss me even if you don't want to know." Will took her by the hand and took her in his arms. When Sarah was stunned, his thin lips were on hers.

Chapter 400 His girl deserves the best of all
Sarah pushed his chest with both hands, and his face was a little flushed, "You are taking advantage of me."
"Yes." Will raised his head slightly. He looked a little "shameless".
Sarah was speechless.
What a sly man.
It was not easy for her to deal with him.
"Next time you want to return the goods, I will not just kiss you." Will was very close to her, and his voice was very nice. "I'll register for marriage with you. In this way, you can't return me anymore."
Sarah's focus was relatively strange, "Do you want to get married?"
Will raised his eyes slightly.
He was waiting for her following words.
"Did your family urge you to marry or..." Sarah hesitated.
Will was thirty years old.
It was normal for him to want to get married. After all, he was not very young now.
"Or what?"
"Nothing."
"Sarah."
"Nothing really."
"You think I might want to marry because of I'm old now, right?" Will saw it through and said with a slow tone.
Sarah was stunned.
Jacob and Jim told the truth.
Will was really... difficult to deal with.
Will raised his hand to pinch her face. "You think I'm old?"
"No," Sarah denied.
She swore that she didn't do that.
It was just a fact that he was at an age that was quite suitable for marriage.
"Whether it is true or not, I have to tell you something clearly." Will said this very seriously. He lost his usual carelessness. "Please remember."

Sarah felt a little nervous. It was the first time she saw him so serious, "What?"
"We can only marry because you want to marry, not because of other external factors." Will really liked Sarah, "Understand?"
Neither age nor family's wish were the reasons for their marriage.
He hoped that their marriage was wanted by Sarah. He wouldn't marry her until she truly wanted to have a small family of their own with him.
Hearing this, Sarah was shocked.
She felt secure.
"Will..."
She always thought that though he liked her in a certain degree, the biggest reason he chose to be with her was that he had come to the age that was suitable for a marriage.
Now she found that he really liked her very much.
"What?" Will was extremely gentle with her.
"You can move here." Sarah blurted out, "We live together."
Cohabitation can test whether it was appropriate for them to marry.
After all, marriage was not just about feelings.
His eyes darkened, and he refused in a low voice, "No."
"Why?"
"I'm a normal man with normal desire." Will said quite frankly. This time he didn't hide anything. "I'm not sure I can keep my mind if I live in the same room with the girl I love."
He was self-restraint and had never cared about this kind of stuff before.
But he had changed after being with her. Now there would always be some small fluctuations in his body and mind after every kiss with Sarah.
If they really live together...
It was dangerous.
Sarah was speechless.
She remained silent.
They were adults and naturally knew what he meant.
"Why do you want to live with me?" Will asked her.
"I want to know if we are really suitable for each other." Sarah told him about her true thoughts. "In this way, if we find we are unsuitable for each other, we can break up before the marriage."
She didn't want to go through another divorce.
She wanted to have a complete relationship, and live a peaceful and happy life.
"Sarah."
"What?"
"Believe me and yourself." Will knew what she was worried about.
"Our marriage will be happy."
Sarah's red lips puckered.
Will added, "If you are really worried, I can move in with you."

"No!"

Sarah refused quickly this time.

His lips curled up. "You wanted to live with me before."

"Didn't you refuse me?" Sarah found an excuse. After her reason returned, she found her previous decision was irrational. "It's getting late. Let me send you to have a rest." Will sat still.

Sarah was a little confused.

What was wrong?

"I haven't answered your question yet." Will stared at her, who looked blankly and lovingly. A warm current flew in his heart.

Sarah was puzzled, "What's it?"

Did she ask anything?

She didn't remember it.

"The question you want to know is related to the watch you changed last time." Will said lightly.

Sarah was still confused.

Will urged her to wash and sleep.

When taking a bath, Sarah came to realize that the question was when Will liked her.

Watch?

What did it have to do with the watch?

No matter how hard Sarah thought, she couldn't come up with anything about watches.

Will knew that she couldn't get it straight. After all, when she asked him last time, he knew that this guy had forgotten everything before.

Back next door, he purchased something online.

Ring measurement.

He had to customize the proposal ring and wedding ring in advance, so that when she wanted to marry, he could propose to her at any time.

As for the proposal.

He had to plan well.

She was married to Jason in a flash before. There was no way to propose.

He wanted to give her a surprise.

When thinking about this, he turned on his mobile phone and started a group chat.

He, Jasmine, Jim, Robert, Julian, James and Samuel were all here.

Jasmine, "???"

Jim, "Isn't there a chat group? Why did you create another one?"

Robert, "Pumpkin is not here?"

Samuel, "?"

James, "What's going on?"

Samuel, "Is the captain going to do something behind Pumpkin's back?"

When they discussed these, Will changed the group name into Proposal Planning. It was simple and straightforward.

It also answered their questions indirectly.

"Propose? Is it so fast?" Jasmine asked. "Aren't you just together?"

Will, "Prepare in advance and make a plan. I can give her a perfect proposal when she wants to get married."

Everyone was speechless.

They were caught off guard by the love show.

Will, "Do you have any suggestions?"

The biggest purpose of this group is to ask them to be the workers when Will had come up with the proposal plan. In the proposal,

Sarah's friends had to be there.

Not for a moment.

The chat group was in a hot discussion. Everyone gave suggestions and explained the reasons by the way.

Will recorded them one by one. When they finished talking, it was almost twelve o'clock. He checked their suggestions and planned to find a chance to test Sarah.

It was very important to propose.

He hoped that Sarah would think it was good as well. Besides, he couldn't tell her about it, otherwise there wouldn't be a surprise. After all, his girl deserved the best of everything.