

Divorce is the Best Choice by Riley Mccarthy

Chapter 411-442

Chapter 411 From now on, it is yours

"I'm happy to be with you on your birthday this year." Will was relaxed and gentle, "I hope that every year in the future, the one standing beside you, is me."

"Captain Leon..." There was emotion in Sarah's eyes.

"Do you like it?"

"Yes."

Sarah was telling the truth.

She liked fireworks. Although they could only last for a short moment, they would still try their best to bloom and show the most beautiful appearance.

"Look behind you." Will gave space out and his eyes looked towards the building, "A birthday present for you."

Sarah subconsciously turned around to look, but she couldn't help but think, 'Isn't the birthday present the fireworks that are still blooming?'

However.

All thoughts stopped when she saw the building in front of her.

It was a galactic building. From the outside, it looked like being in a vast sea of stars, and streams of light passed.

Will took her hand, and his broad palm was warm, "Go in and take a look."

Sarah followed him in, but could not help but look at him sideways. She thought,

'When did he get ready?

Why did she not notice it at all?'

"The password was our day together." Will said as he walked to the door.

Sarah entered password.

After pressing OK, the door was automatically opened.

Immediately afterwards a cute and cheerful mechanical voice rang out from inside and sang, "Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you....."

"Miss Yeats, happy birthday ~"

"Wish you all the same."

Sarah subconsciously looked at Will and her beautiful eyes were filled with Will, "Captain Leon..."

Will smiled, rubbed her head and gestured to her to go in and visit.

She visited the whole building.

It took more than half an hour.

All household appliances in the house were controlled by a complete set of intelligent systems. In other words, the building that looked like the galaxy at night was full of high-tech intelligent devices.

"Did it take a lot of thoughts and money?" Sarah suddenly asked this question.

Will continued to lead her towards the third floor, and said as he walked, "The other one is more invested than the two."

"What?"

"The love for you."

Sarah was speechless.

She was not silent as usual. She looked at this technology-filled decoration and something suddenly came to her mind, "When was this built?"

In terms of time, it couldn't have been after they dated.

Even the top international construction team and decoration team could not build it into the present appearance in just ten days or so.

"It was completed before this year." Will did not hide it, "But the official gift was decided only last week."

Sarah was surprised.

And a gift?

When Sarah was thinking about this, Will took her to the third floor.

The third floor was different from the first and second floors and the basement. There was no smart home here, and there were only some star maps and astronomical information.

"This is the gift." Will walked up to the astronomical telescope and adjusted it before looking at her and said, "Come and take a look."

Sarah walked over.

When she saw an extremely beautiful star through the astronomical telescope, she was a little surprised.

"I have bought this star and named it after you at the Astronomy Bureau." Will said very seriously, and he had finished the formalities before, "From now on, it is yours."

Sarah could not describe her mood.

She could buy a star, but she was a person who did not like trouble.

There were too many procedures and processes to buy a star, and many of them need to be done in person, and cannot be entrusted to others. So after many considerations, she did not go to buy.

But now.

Captain Leon gave it to her.

"Captain Leon, thank you." Sarah smiled.

There was smile in Will's dark and clean eyes and outside the window were fireworks displays.

Starlight twinkled and fireworks set off.

They embraced each other and smiled.

That night, Will and Sarah took a change of clothes from the bedroom in the second floor. After washing, they rested there.

The next morning Sarah found that when Captain Leon said happy birthday to her, she also received wishes from her friends in WhatsApp. She replied to them one by one before getting up and going to the office.

When she went out, she found that the building was different from what she saw at night.

At night, it was like a galaxy, now what she saw was a modern building. It was silver and boasted a sense of technology.

She knew that without asking him.

This contrast was created by Captain Leon.

The two were on the way to company. When Sarah sat in the passenger side, some strange thoughts suddenly emerged in her mind. These thoughts had never occurred to her before.

“Captain Leon, can I ask you a question?” Sarah said.

Will was driving and replied, “You can say whatever you want to me.”

“Why are you so nice to me?” Sarah was really curious about this question, “Aren’t you afraid that I don’t end up with marrying you and your efforts are in vain?”

All those clothes, jewelry, bags, watches and other things in the villa were already worth sky-high prices, and with the building and the star that was named after her, the money and thoughts that he spent can never be described in a sentence or two.

Paying so much.....

Was he really not afraid that she is not the right person for him?

“Are you stupid?” Will bursted out a sentence.

Sarah did not understand very well, so she kept silent and waited for his next words.

“Whether you marry me or not, my efforts would not be wasted.” Will said straightforward and this was also his inner thought, “I also reap the satisfaction when I am nice to you.”

“But...” Sarah still had doubts in her mind.

Will knew what she was thinking.

After weighing his words, he used an analogy relating to the field she was most familiar with, “Relationships are actually similar to investment and cooperation. When you identify a project, even if there are many people who are also competing for the project, you will go all out to get it.”

Sarah did not fully understand what he meant.

Finally, she could only give a reply from a business point of view,

“If a project is not fifty percent sure, and also needs to spend a huge amount of money, I will not do it.”

What she would do were those she was familiar with in that area and knew enough about.

But the project what Captain Leon said was man.

It would be impossible to fully understand man and there are too much uncertainty.

“You forget how your Angel International Group came to be?” Will reminded.

“It’s different, I’m familiar with it and understand it.” Sarah replied, “So I’m willing to take risks for it.”

Will’s finger tapped twice on the steering wheel.

It seemed the example given was not appropriate enough.

After thinking for a moment.

He stopped at a red light intersection and inclined his eyes to Sarah and ask a very direct question, “So why were you so nice to me in the first place?”

Chapter 412 Marriage Proposal Plan

Sarah froze.

Thinking back to what happened before, the answer wasn't much different from last time, "Because you were worth it."

"Isn't that right?" Will said slowly.

Sarah glanced at him.

"If you compare it to an investment, then you are the project that I am willing to give everything I have. Regardless of success or failure, I will take a full shot." Will then said directly, more bluntly this time, "In other words, you are my dream."

Sarah was shocked.

She was like being pressed the pause button, sitting there in a daze without responding.

Dream...

What was contained in this word was too heavy.

"Do not have a psychological burden because I am good to you." Will started the car to go forward and glanced at her, "As your boyfriend, if I can't be kind to you, then I have no need to exist."

"Captain Leon..." Sarah's words were stuck.

Will drove steadily, "As long as you're happy, I'm content."

He wanted to give everything good to Atha.

He wanted to let her know that the person who really loved her will act, not just talk.

It was said that girls were sensual.

Sarah, who had always been sensible, accorded with this conclusion.

At this moment, listening to these heartfelt words, she sprouted the idea to immediately propose to Will because she wanted to let him know that she will also be kind to him.

Relationship between a couple were never one-sided and only the two-way run could make their relationship long-lasting.

This day at work, because there were not too many things to do, Sarah began planning the proposal after a quick processing.

What a coincidence.

When she was writing the proposal plan, it was seen by Sivan.

The four eyes met.

Sarah was a little embarrassed.

At this moment, it was too late to switch the page. She was thinking so intently that she even did not notice him when Sivan came in.

"Boss." Sivan looked at the proposal plan on her computer screen with mixed emotions. He asked, "Are you going to propose to Will?"

Sarah lied with a poker face, "No."

"You didn't lie before." Sivan debunked her lie.

Sarah was speechless.

It was right that you can't lie to people you spend a lot of time with.

It was too easy to be debunked.

"I was planning to propose to him." Sarah still truthfully said and was afraid that Will would spill the beans, "But I did not tell him, can you help me keep it a secret?"

"Marriage proposal is a man's business." Sivan's face was cold as always.

Sarah said, "Sivan~"

"It's useless."

"Good Sivan."

"You are not afraid that your boyfriend would be jealous when he heard this?" Sivan's tone was less cool than before and he looked handsome, "As far as I know, you have so far called him special assistant or Captain Leon."

Sarah was confused.

She thought, 'Was he really Sivan? Was he replaced?'

Sivan looked at her eyes and knew what she was thinking, but he didn't overly explain.

"You're abnormal." Sarah said.

"The person who is abnormal is you." Sivan advised again, "Don't plan this marriage proposal. If you want to marry him, I can talk to him through beating around the bush and let him propose to you." Sarah did not speak.

She had already decided to propose to Captain Leon.

She also wanted to make Captain Leon feel cared for.

"If you do propose to him, he will be happy, but he will regret it for the rest of his life." Sivan was thinking about this matter from the man's point of view.

Sarah was slightly puzzled and asked, "Why."

She thought, 'Isn't it a happy thing to be proposed?'

"Proposal is a relatively important event in a man's life." Sivan said to her seriously, "He would prefer that it is him who makes a proposal."

Sarah thought for a moment, and looked at Sivan twice.

In the end, she only said that she would think about it.

In fact.

There was no need to think about it.

She had decided that. After Sivan left, she wrote two proposal plans and sent them to Jacob and Jim in their chat group. And she incidentally said that she was still thinking of other options.

The two read through them carefully and also pointed out the shortcomings.

Jacob reminded Sarah, "Are you forgetting one of the most important things?"

Sarah asked, "What?"

Jim said, "Ring. How can you propose to Captain Leon without a ring?"

Reading the words.

Sarah was enlightened.

Oh.

The ring...

However, she did not know Captain Leon's finger circumference.

If it were anyone else, she could be confident and make sure she could measure without being noticed. But the captain was so alert that he would notice her when she entered his door, let alone touching his hand, even if he fell into a deep sleep late at night.

She thought about it for a while but couldn't come up with a foolproof plan. Jacob and Jim were talking to her about where they were going to celebrate her birthday tonight. When they talked about the topic, Sarah suddenly came up with an idea and told them both about it. Jim said, "No." Jacob said, "I reject that." Sarah asked, "Why?" Jim said, "Who would dare to ply Captain Leon with alcohol?" Jacob said, "I still want to live a few more days." Jacob said, "If you really want to unknowingly know his finger circumference, I can tell you a way." Sarah asked, "What?" Jacob said, "Abduct him to the bed and make him feel faint." Jim said, "Are you sure it's not Pumpkin that feels faint?" Sarah was speechless. "...". Sarah said, "This is a chat group, not a no man's land..." Reading the increasingly unreliable messages of these two guys, Sarah decided to reply with ellipses and emoticons. After all, she cannot keep up with the two in talking about sex. After seeing that the two could not be relied on, she decided to focus on Robert and Julian. As long as she had a good excuse, they will definitely agree. The fact also proved that her guess was correct. She told Robert and Julian that she intended to formally take Will back to meet her father, but she wanted to confirm what was Captain Leon like when he was drunk before formally meeting her parents. The two agreed soon. They imagined that Will must drink a lot of alcohol when he meets Sarah's father. And Sarah was afraid that Will's alcohol etiquette was not good, so she specially tested him in advance. "Don't worry, Sister Sarah!" Julian promised and said, "Tonight we must help you get Captain Leon drunk." "To be very drunk." "No problem!" Julian promised very quickly. Robert didn't think much of it. He just thought that Sarah had become enlightened and didn't even think that this was her progress plan. After getting the assurance of the two, Sarah was relieved, and contacted the restaurant to book the dinner. The reason why she did not tell James and Samuel was that she was clear that once Robert and Julian began to drink with Captain Leon, the two would also join them. She didn't need to say much at all. If she goes to say it, only then there is a possibility of revealing.

Chapter 413 As her boyfriend, aren't you going to do something?
In the evening for the birthday.
Robert and Julian did not disappoint Sarah's trust in them, halfway through the meal the two began to give Sarah a toast and wish her a happy birthday.

Of course.

They were not really going to let Sarah drink all the time.

“Sister Sarah, happy birthday!” Julian cooperated with Robert.

Sarah clinked glasses with him.

Robert looked at all this and pushed his gold-rimmed glasses. He said meaningfully to Will, “Don’t you help Pumpkin?”

“Today is her birthday and it does not matter to drink a little.” Will did not realize, nor did he think Robert would dig a pit for him, “Even if she is drunk, I will send her back safely.”

“That does not mean one or two cups. After Julian has toasted, Jacob and several of them will certainly also take turns to toast.” Robert’s setup was also really deep, “Pumpkin does not have a high tolerance. As her boyfriend, aren’t you going to do something?”

Will thought for a moment.

As her boyfriend.

It seemed that he should indeed help his girlfriend.

After a glance at Robert, he helped Pumpkin when Buck and the others gave Sarah a toast, and his voice was unhurried, “I’ll drink for her.”

“This is not good, right?”

“Today is Pumpkin’s birthday.”

“Yes, yes, yes, yes, Pumpkin must drink.”

Buck and Samuel both said.

Julian played a role at the moment. He said especially seriously, “It may not be good before, but now Captain Leon is Sister Sarah’s boyfriend. The boyfriend helps his girlfriend, is not this a normal thing?”

“You’re right.” Robert said.

Buck and Samuel glanced at each other and agreed. They clinked glasses with Will.
A few rounds later.

Jim and Jacob both understood what was going on.

Their eyes glanced at the four of them, and they admired Sarah.

How did she manage to persuade these four to ply Captain Leon with alcohol?

The most important thing was.

The fox, Robert, was actually involved in this.

“Ahem.” Sarah passed a glance to them and spoke extremely quietly, “You guys don’t do that?”
for her.”

“This is not good, right?”

“Today is Pumpkin’s birthday.”

“Yes, yes, yes, yes, Pumpkin must drink.”

Buck and Samuel both said.

Julian played a role at the moment. He said especially seriously, “It may not be good before, but now Captain Leon is Sister Sarah’s boyfriend. The boyfriend helps his girlfriend, is not this a normal thing?”

“You’re right.” Robert said.

Buck and Samuel glanced at each other and agreed. They clinked glasses with Will.

A few rounds later.

Jim and Jacob both understood what was going on.

Their eyes glanced at the four of them, and they admired Sarah.

How did she manage to persuade these four to ply Captain Leon with alcohol?

The most important thing was.

The fox, Robert, was actually involved in this.

“Ahem.” Sarah passed a glance to them and spoke extremely quietly, “You guys don’t do that?”

Jim gave her a thumbs up and still stood up to clink glasses with Will.

Drinking.

Either don’t start, once you start, it’s hard to end.

At first, they all just wanted to simply let Will drink a couple of cups, but in the end, they became bold. They found all kinds of reasons to let Will drink.

In the past, he would have refused.

The group of people said all were related to Sarah, so he couldn’t refuse them.

“Captain Leon, I hope that your harmonious union could last a hundred years.”

“I hope you and Pumpkin get married soon.”

“I hope you have a child sooner.”

||

Various words of blessing came out from the mouths of several people.

Will drank one cup after another, even if he was a very good drinker, at this moment he was also a little dizzy.

He knew very well that he was a little drunk.

“Ok, stop.” Will said this before Julian opened his mouth. His voice was a little more hoarse than usual, “Sarah is the main character tonight, let’s celebrate her birthday first.”

“It’s okay.” Sarah watched the whole show.

While the crowd was drinking, she had already asked her bodyguard to get the ring gauge.

As long as Captain Leon was drunk.

She would be able to measure Captain Leon’s finger circumference.

At that time, she could ask people to design the ring.

“Sarah has said it’s okay. Captain Leon, you just continue drinking.” Julian poured him another cup. He was like a teenage and handsome. Julian said, “If you are drunk, Sister Sarah will send you home.”

Will’s eyes moved slightly.

Sarah saw that he kept looking at her, so she poured a cup for herself.

So far.

She only drank one cup.

It did not matter.

Will understood her meaning in seconds and clinked with Julian.

After drinking, he consciously filled up for himself.

When clinking glasses with Sarah, Will deliberately pulled a little closer to her. He lowered his voice and slowly said, "Why do I feel that they are plying me with alcohol?"

"What?" Sarah showed a confused look.

Although her face was calm, she was a little nervous.

She thought, 'Is Captain Leon so perceptive?'

Will didn't see anything unusual on her face and continued to dig a hole for her, "Didn't you ask Robert and Julian to ply me with alcohol?"

"No." Sarah shook her head.

Her eyes looked towards Robert and Julian, and all the reactions were particularly natural.

Will saw her like this, and his ink-colored eyes were tinged with a few drunkenness. Some doubts rose in his heart. He thought, 'Could it be his illusion?'

"If you don't want to drink, just stop." Sarah advised in a serious manner.

Will still drank.

Half an hour later.

The crowd had eaten enough.

Will was only half drunk, and his consciousness could be fully controlled, but he felt drunk after a while.

Sarah and Jim were on the way back from bathroom, and Robert was waiting there with Julian.

"You can feel free to take Captain Leon home." Robert smiled. He was gentle to Sarah and had always been like a big brother. "I have carefully observed. Captain Leon's drinking etiquette is very good." "He is good and keeps silent after getting drunk." Julian added.

Jim was confused.

Take home?

Jim asked, "Take what?"

"Sister Sarah is planning to take Captain Leon home." Julian said and took it for granted, "But she is worried that after going home with her, Captain Leon will...."

"Ahem." Sarah made a faint sound.

Julian was confused.

Robert was confused.

Jim was also puzzled.

The three people's eyes fell on her at the same time.

Robert, always smart, was at this moment sensitive to the fact that something was wrong, "You don't want to take Captain Leon home?"

"To take him home." Only the day had not been decided.

“Plying him with alcohol has nothing to do with taking him home?”

“It has.” No.

Jim tsked twice.

Jim never thought that Pumpkin’s lying skills were already at such a high level now. Sarah showed a serious and unchanged face.

She had to tell Jacob that from now on they have to be a little more careful.

Otherwise, they may be ripped off one day.

“You.” Robert paused here and asked after thinking for a while,

“You’re not lying?”

Sarah paused.

She wanted to say no with a straight face.

But listening to his serious words, the words on the edge of her mouth changed, “A small lie. I want to measure one thing, but I cannot say it to Captain Leon, so ... I can only let you guys help me.”

“Measure what?” Robert was more than a little curious.

Sarah said very directly, “I can’t tell you.”

Robert and Julian were both surprised. Kept it a secret?

“You guys help me keep this a secret.” Sarah was worried that they would spill the beans and added in advance, “You can’t let Captain Leon know.”

Robert and Julian just wanted to speak, but they saw will with a few drunkenness standing not far behind Sarah.

Chapter 414 What can’t I know

He walked over with a slow pace, and because of the drunkenness he was more mundane than usual, “What can’t I know?”

Sarah’s body stiffened. She was frozen when she turned sideways and saw him. She hesitantly called out, “Captain Leon...”

She thought, ‘Isn’t he inside? Why does he come out?’

“Tell me, what can’t I know.” Will came to her and trapped her in his arms.

Sarah wanted to retreat, but at the moment of lifting her feet, she found that the back had been a wall, and she couldn’t retreat anymore.

The crowd looked at the scene and decisively slipped away.

Not long after.

There were only the two in the whole corridor.

“Hmm?” Will lowered his voice.

Sarah’s flirtatious eyes were clear and clean, and there was a little bit of apprehension, “Nothing.”

“Not tell me the truth?”

“It’s really nothing.”

“A child who is not well behaved has no candy to eat.” Will gently brushed over her red lips with a titillating sensuality.

Seeing that he was a bit drunk, Sarah casually made up a story, “I accidentally fell when I was leaving the bathroom just now, and I was afraid that you would be worried and let them keep it a secret and not tell you.”

“You are such a silly goose!” Will raised his hand and gave her a knock on the head.

In his drunkenness, he was a little dotting and heartfelt, “Where did it hurt?”

Sarah hesitantly stretched out her arm and said, "Here, but it is just a slight fall, it doesn't hurt."

"Hoo hoo."

Will blew on her arm.

Sarah paused for a moment and stood there frozen. She stared at the person in front of her who carefully cared for her.

Did Captain Leon.....believe this?

"Does it still hurt?" Will was well-behaved like a child.

Sarah shook her head, but her eyes still fell on his face with a little drunkenness. Amazingly.

She suddenly wanted to touch it.

When she raised her hand to touch his fair and smooth face, she uncontrollably pinched on his well-skinned face.

She sighed in her heart, 'It feels really good.'

Will refused that. His good-looking deep black eyes had become even more unfathomable at the moment. he closed the distance with her, and he slowly said in a low and sexy voice, "My face can only be pinched for my girlfriend."

"I am your girlfriend."

"Kiss."

Listen to this word.

Sarah's cheeks became flushed and she was a little uncomfortable.

"Captain Leon."

"Hmm?"

"Are you drunk?" Sarah pinched again, thinking that he was really a little cute at the moment.

Will shook his head and his words were still relatively clear, "No."

Sarah smiled.

It was clear that he was drunk.

He did not admit it.

"Well, no." Sarah echoed, but her eyes could not help but fall on his face, "I'll take you home, okay?"

Will did not answer, just reached out and pointed to the face that she had just pinched.

Sarah was slightly puzzled, "What's wrong?"

"You haven't kissed here." Will's words were low and muffled and nice.

Sarah looked around to make sure no one was passing by and then stood on tiptoe to drop a kiss on his face.

When she was about to withdraw.

Noisy sounds rang out next to them.

"Cough!"

"You guys go on. I didn't see anything."

"I am sloppy and goes out early."

The crowd was noisy. They stared at Sarah and Will with great curiosity.

Sarah had a thin skin and did not know how to react. She could only pretend to be calm and say, "I take Captain Leon back first. I have called a designated driver and tell me after arriving home."

After saying that, she took Will away.

After getting into the car.

Sarah received messages from Jacob and Jim.

Before she clicked on the chat group, she guessed that they would not send any serious messages.

That was true.

Jacob said, "That's so typical of you."

Jacob added, "I remind you that Captain Leon was drunk, so you must be careful."

Jacob said, "I'm not talking about your measuring, you know."

Jacob, "To tell you the truth, I didn't think you were the upper one."

Jim, "Cheer up and pick Captain Leon the flower of the high mountain."

Sarah was lost for words and replied them with ellipsis.

Sarah replied, "What are you all thinking? I just want to measure the finger circumference."

Jacob and Jim said, "I understand."

Sarah was silent.

Goodbye.

Half a sentence was too much.

This was not the right time for her to appear.

After changing the subject and sending them a message to let them rest early, Sarah screened off and put the phone away.

On the way back, she kept an eye on Will and felt relieved when she saw that he did not feel sick or wanted to vomit.

After the designated driver sent them home, she helped her captain go to the second floor.

Just went inside.

Will took off his jacket and walked towards the bathroom. His steps were a bit drifting. Sarah knew he loved cleanliness, but was also clear that all his current reactions were the most real.

After thinking for a moment, she intended to help him take a bath first.

However.

Just as she was about to help him untie his shirt, her hand was grabbed by him.

She paused for a moment and raised her eyes to call him with a mixture of tentativeness and disbelief, "Captain Leon?"

Will's Adam's Apple rolled for a moment.

He let go of her hand, rubbed his dizzy temples, and held on to the last trace of sanity to talk to her seriously, "Do not you know that it is a very dangerous thing to take off my clothes at such a time?"

Sarah pursed her lips.

Will was attracted by everything she did, and his reason was almost washed away by drunkenness, "I can wash by myself, you help me mix a cup of honey water."

There was nothing before, so he didn't want to control himself. But now it is different, in case they have a sex, it would not be fair to this guy.

"But..." Sarah was really worried about him.

What if he falls later?

Will were still dizzy, but he tried to maintain the last trace of reason, "If you're really worried, please help me prepare the water, and then look for pajamas."

"Okay."

Sarah immediately went to do it.

Looking at the little guy who was busy in the room, Will smiled.

He knew that Sarah had deliberately teamed up with Robert and Julian to get him drunk tonight, but he wasn't going to uncover that.

It was rare that she would do something.

Why didn't he cooperate.

Sarah helped him go to the bathroom after finding his clothes and felt that the water temperature was right in the bathtub, then she went out first.

She didn't go to make the honey water first, because she was worried that she wouldn't hear what happened here when she went down.

In case something happens.

She could be the first to notice.

Twenty minutes or so, Will came out from inside.

After taking a shower, he was a little more awake than before, but he wasn't going to stay awake.

When he was at the restaurant, he heard Sarah's conversation with Robert at the door before he went out, and knew that she had drunk him to measure something. Although he did not know what she was going to measure, since she did not want to let him know, he cooperated with her.

He had to give her a sense of accomplishment.

Chapter 415 Remember to bring him next time

Sarah saw that his hair was wet, so she took his towel aside and wiped it for him, and took the hair dryer to dry his hair. Will was very cooperative during the whole process.

After letting him sit on the bed first, Sarah went to mix honey water for him to drink.

During the whole process.

She was a little nervous.

After all, she didn't know if Captain Leon was completely drunk.

What if he suddenly woke up when she measured his finger circumference later on?

In that case, the surprise would be gone.

While thinking about this, time passed unconsciously.

Soon after.

Ten minutes had passed.

Sarah listened to his steady breathing and called him in an extremely low voice, "Captain Leon?"

“Captain Leon..”

“Are you asleep?”

She whispered but Will did not answer.

At this moment, he was really asleep and he had no defensive mind towards Sarah.

He wanted to cooperate with her to make her plan successful, so he fell asleep when he was drunk.

But Sarah did not know these.

After she went to the bodyguard to get the ring gauge, she asked the two in the chat group.

Sarah asked, “How do I know if Captain Leon is really asleep or pretends to be asleep?”

Jacob said, “Flirt with him and you will know that.”

Jim replied, “That’s right.”

Sarah hesitated.

Flirt?

She remembered that Captain Leon had just said something about danger.

Jacob said, “You do not need to care about whether Captain Leon is asleep or not. If he wants to pretend, no one can see through, his acting skills are comparable to the best actor.”

Jim said, “If you are really worried, you can kiss him while measuring.”

Sarah was lost for words.

That required a high technology.

It was better to give up it.

After she went in with the ring gauge, she stood by the bed for a while and finally decided to measure directly.

In case Captain Leon found out, she said she was helping Jacob and Jim to do an experiment to see if the method worked.

After deciding, she took out several rings and rubbed them hot in her hands because she was worried that the cold touch would wake Captain Leon from his sleep.

Luckily, everything was ducky after that, and after measuring both the ring finger and index finger, she went out.

A wedding ring and an engagement ring.

All had to be prepared in advance.

Will could feel something.

But because he automatically lowered his guard and for the alcohol, there was only a little vague feeling, and he did not know exactly what Sarah was doing.

This night.

Will spent the night in a deep sleep.

Sarah began to prepare for custom ring. All things would be good after the size was determined.

She was busy until two or three in the morning before going to bed.

The next morning.

When Will got up, he was completely awake and saw that the cooking aunt had already made breakfast, so he went to get Sarah up for having a breakfast.

Sarah opened the door with a bit messy hair and two dark circles under her eyes because of staying up late.

She rubbed her hair. She was still sleepy.

“Didn’t wake up?” Will saw her state and knew she wasn’t very good.

“Yeah.”

“What did you do.”

“Nothing.”

She was less confident when she said this word.

Will did not have too deep impression on what happened last night, and some memories had even disappeared automatically after waking up.

“By the way, I’m not going to the office today.” Sarah suddenly remembered this matter that she forgot to tell him, “Dad and Muffin want to celebrate my birthday with me.”

She spent the last two years in Atlanta and did not have dinner with them.

This year, because of having a boyfriend, Dad took the initiative to leave the time of the 16th to them.

After all.....

The 14th and the 15th were next to each other.

He was afraid that if he let her go back on the 15th, it would disrupt their arrangements.

“Don’t take me back to meet your parents?” Will’s eyebrows lightly raised. He still remembered a little.

For example.

Those words that he accidentally overheard.

Sarah’s body froze and her beautiful eyes fluttered twice.

Evident nervousness appeared in the depth of her pupils. She pursed her lips, pretending not to understand and said, “So quick?”

“It seems to be a little early.” Will raised his hand and rubbed on her head, without intentionally making her awkward, “Then you go wash and rinse and come down to eat breakfast, I’ll send you back.”

“No. No.”

“It is necessary.”

Sarah was decisively silent.

She knew one thing very well that she would not win an argument with Captain Leon.

For things like taking her home, as long as she didn’t have a good reason to refuse him, he would send her back.

After breakfast.

Will sent Sarah home.

Sarah’s father and Rita had been waiting at home.

After hearing the sound of a car outside, Sarah’s father and Rita came out and welcomed them at the entrance of the villa.

Not long after.

The car stopped at the door.

Sarah opened the car door and walked down, and Will also got out to greet the elder.

“Sister!” Rita jumped over, hugged Sarah and then greeted Will, “Brother Gardner.”

Will nodded his head to greet her.

Naturally, he also called Sarah’s father.

Sarah’s father coughed lightly, deliberately pretending not to know the situation. He asked, “Pumpkin, who is this?”

“Will Gardner.” Sarah introduced him and admitted it generously, “My boyfriend.”

“Oh, he is Will.” Sarah’s father addressed him amiably, and also politely said, “Come on and go inside.”

“No, there are still things waiting for me to deal with at the company. I’ll come back to visit next time.”

“It doesn’t matter when matters in the company can be dealt with.”

“This...”

“What’s wrong?”

“It’s better to come back next time.” Will glanced at Sarah and that was meaningful, “Sarah said, now is not the time for me to meet her parents.”

When he finished.

After greeting them, he got in the car and left.

Sarah’s father was confused.

Rita was also confused.

Both of them were confused.

Sarah’s father wanted to say something but bit back his words. He finally could not restrain himself and asked, “Pumpkin, did you really say that?”

Sarah was lost for words.

She said it.

But she just simply wanted to avoid that question.

After all, she wasn’t sure if he was really asking that question, or if he knew something from Robert and Julian.

“We’ve only been together for about half a month.” Sarah knew that she could not make it clear, so she gave a statement, “It’s a little hasty to meet parents now, and it’s better to get along for a while longer.”

“This.....” Sarah’s father suddenly did not know what to say.

He could not scold her.

She was his own baby daughter.

“Then you remember to bring him next time. I think this young man is good.” Sarah’s father was serious.

Sarah was speechless.

Sarah felt the need to remind her father, “You and he seem to have only met for the first time?”

“It doesn’t matter.” Sarah’s father said seriously, and incidentally asked a question that he was more concerned about, "Later after the noon meal, will he pick you up or will I have the driver drop you off?"

Sarah was confused.

Sarah felt she couldn't figure out what her dad was thinking.

When she came back before, he kept asking her to stay for two more days, but now he is thinking of her leaving even before she enters the house.

Chapter 416 You did not set a good example for your son

"What's wrong." Seeing she was silent, Eric couldn't help but ask.

Sarah did not tell him what was on her mind, and she just said, "Nothing, go in first, it's quite cold outside."

"Okay."

Eric and Rita both took her inside.

After entering the door Eric went to get a glass of water with her, and he said with a tentative eye, "Why don't you tell me that you have a boyfriend?"

"I thought I'd talk about it after our relationship was stable."

"Your relationship is not stable now?"

Sarah paused.

Well, it is quite stable, actually.

It's just that she wanted to wait a little longer, in case the captain liked her just because of her previous appearance and personality. She wanted to tell her father until the captain knew the true her.

"Your relationship is really unstable?" Eric worried about her and asked more seriously, "What causes it?"

"There is no instability, we are quite good." Sarah replied him with serious face.

Eric looked at Rita, and asked, "Is that so?"

"Don't worry, My sister and Will are sweet on each other." replied Rita.

"Really?" asked Eric.

"It's true."

After receiving a positive answer from Rita, Eric was relieved.

If Pumpkin is really unhappy, Muffin will definitely not hide it, since she said there is no problem, that means their relationship is really stable.

That day.

Sarah has been staying at home.

Her father cooked the food himself.

When it was close to lunch, Wilson came to dine.

After finishing the lunch, Wilson gossiped with Sarah, "Did you know that Jason went back to Atlanta?"

"I'm not concerned." Sarah answered truthfully.

She didn't pay much attention to Jason after he recovered, and only told Serial that if Jason were suffer a relapse, he must have tell her.

Beyond this.

She didn't even care anything about him.

"Did you really put him down?" Wilson asked a serious question.

Sarah replied with a peaceful tone, "Yes."

If she didn't let go, she wouldn't commit to the next relationship, that would be both irresponsible to herself and hurtful to others.

Only when the heart is vacated clean, the people who live in it will be comfortable.

"Then I'm relieved." Wilson took a sip of tea, at this moment, he finally behaved like a little brother, "Will is quite good, I am very relieved that you are with him."

Although last time he was fooled by Will, he knew it clearly that the man was worthy for Sarah's trust for life.

To judge a person as good or bad,
Sometimes all it takes is a meal to know.

Sarah gave him an unexpected look.

When she was about to say something, the special phone beep suddenly sounded.

She didn't have to look to know that this message was sent by Will.

Then she took the phone and checked the message, 'When will you introduce me to your family?'

'You've already met my father.' Sent by Sarah.

Although Sarah replied like that, she was actually thinking when to take him to meet with her Dad officially is more appropriate.

The time they spent together was too short.

And it doesn't seem appropriate if she introduce Will to her family too early.

'Then when can I come to visit my father-in-law to ask him if he will marry you to me?'

Will changed the way he asked.

Sarah couldn't say a word.

She was silent.

She prepared to ignore this message.

When she was thinking of asking him what he did at the company today to change a subject, another message came in.

It was Mr.Noth, 'Has Jason healed?'

I asked Serial for the report, the report shows that all data and indicators of him are normal, and his memory has also recovered.'

replied Sarah.

'What happened?' Sarah sent another message to Mr.Noth.

Mr. Noth took a look at his son, who was so different from before, and sent back with a word 'Nothing'.

Meanwhile.

At the Noth family.

Everyone was surprised when they saw Jason return.

Grandpa Noth wrinkled his brow, and his words came out directly, "Didn't you go to New York to chase Sarah? Why are you back?"

"No more chasing."

"Why?"

"She has a boyfriend."

Grandpa Noth was stunned.

Mr. Noth was not surprised.

Sarah had always been a wonderful girl, and there was a suitor of her was a perfectly natural thing.

However.

This kid could actually accept it so calmly?

“Who’s her boyfriend?” Grandpa Noth asked with concern, he really thought of Sarah as his own granddaughter, “Is he good to her? Have you examined?”

“Will of the Gardner Group, who is righteous, a man worthy of a lifelong commitment.” Jason said in the calmest tone of voice the words that pierced his heart the most.

No one would want the person they like to be with someone else.

He was the same.

But he was also clear that he and Sarah’s relationship had come to an end.

Since he couldn’t give her happiness, he might as well make her happy with someone else.

Grandpa Noth and Mr. Noth glanced at each other when they heard this and had a conversation with their eyes.

Master Noth, ‘What’s wrong with this kid?’

Mr. Noth, ‘I don’t know.’

This kind of words would never have been said by the previous Jason.

He would only say that, ‘Am I your biological kid? I’ve divorced with her, why should I be concerned about her life?’ Grandpa Noth gave Mr. Noth a rolled eye, he really did not know how Mr. Noth to be a father since he didn’t know what happened to his own son.

“It is good to for Sarah to find a person who is worthy of being entrusted for life.” Grandpa Noth could only replied calmly, and incidentally changed the subject, “You must be quite tired after a long trip, go and have a good rest.”

“Okay.” Jason’s voice was low, and the whole person of him looked more composed than ever.

As soon as he left.

Grandpa Noth’s brows knitted together.

He looked at the direction where Jason’s back disappeared, and his aged face was more worried and sorrowful, “Don’t you feel that Jason has changed a bit since he came back this time?”

“Emotionally traumatized, it’s normal.” Mr. Noth was not that worried.

People always have to go through something to really grow, as long as he overcomes the difficulties, he will have new understandings.

Just this process.

Will be very difficult to survive.

“How could you say it’s normal?!” Grandpa Noth took his cane and hit him, glaring at him, “When have you ever seen him like this since he was a kid? You are his fatehr! But you didn’t care him at all.”

“Didn’t you say he hurt Sarah and you wanted to teach him a lesson and snubbed him?” Mr.Noth responded indifferently, saying without a moment's hesitation.

Grandpa Noth held his anger in his heart.

Wanted to dislike but did not know how to dislike!

After all, this is indeed what he said, but at that time he did not think that Jason would be like a different person when he came back again. "You don't have to worry too much." Mr.Noth was worried only about his injuries, and he wasn't worried about anything else at all, "He's an adult now, he can handle his own emotional problems." "It's all your fault." Grandpa Noth wasn't be kind to him.

Mr. Noth raised his eyebrows lightly.

What did this have to do with him?

"If you hadn't been bad to Stephanie in the first place, and absent from Jason's childhood until he was five, he wouldn't have gone this far with Sarah."

The more Grandpa Noth said, the more angry he became, and he finally perorated directly, "In the end, it's all because you didn't set a good example for him." Mr. Noth was silent.

Grandpa Noth continued, "And..."

"Hmm?"

Chapter 417 Why don't you just simply say 'Yes, yes, yes!'

"When Sarah first told us about the divorce, do you remember what you said?"

Grandpa Noth began to dredge stuff up from the past, "Knowing that Jason was taking the wrong path, you didn't even remind and teach him a lesson as a father."

Mr. Noth paused for a moment.

It was true that he hadn't done his best at that time.

At that time, the words that "You didn't take Sarah as that person's replacement, right?" was just a joke. He has only known that Jason had a first love, and didn't know too much about it.

But he did not expect.

He was really willing to divorce Sarah for that girl.

If he had known this before, he would have given him a good beating at the time.

He can only say that Jason and Sarah are not the right person to each other.

Destiny did not tie them together.

It is destined that they can't spend the rest of their lives together.

"I really don't know why Stephanie fell in love with you at that time." Since Grandpa Noth couldn't bear to scold his grandson, he began to scold his son, "How could a person as dedicated as me give birth to a scum like you?"

"This word is more suitable for Jason, not for me." Mr. Noth was experienced, "He is really a scum, I just can't help it."

"It's all because you didn't teach him well."

"Well, you're right."

"Why don't you just simply say 'Yes, yes, yes' as all your reply to my answer?"

Mr. Noth can't speak a word.

He felt that it was better to let Jason do such things as being scolded.

Without being targeted for long, he suddenly a little do not know how to answer, after all, in this situation, he will be scolded if he say a wrong word.

"I'll go and see Jason." Mr. Noth changed the subject.

Master Noth made it clear that he was looking for a fight with him today, "What, you think I'm bored and don't want to stay with me?"

"How could I think like that? Let's play chess?" Mr. Noth didn't care too much. He could stay anywhere.

Sometimes he couldn't take his dad's words, but that didn't matter.

If you can't take it, you can deal with it calmly, think of a good wording and then speak slowly, after all, at their age, it is more important to be calm in mind.

As long as he remains calm in his momentum, he can win.

"Get out of my sight." Grandpa would be angry as long as he saw him. And he was really worried about Jason, so he said, "Go and figure out what's going on with Jason, find a way to make him feel good."

"He'll be in a good mood if you go to see him." Mr. Noth said extremely serious. Grandpa Noth looked at him with a disgusted eye.

If Jason was in an usual bad mood, Grandpa Noth would be able to talk to him and talk about his feeling.

But now it was obviously different.

"Go as you're told to. Don't linger like this." Grandpa Noth urged, really wanting his grandson to be well, "If he is unwilling to come to dinner and eat three servings of steak at night, I will definitely beat you up."

Mr. Noth was silent.

Not to mention that Jason was in a bad mood.

He would not eat three servings of steak when he was in a good mood.

However, Mr.Noth did not dare to say this, if he said this, he will certainly be scolded.

So Mr.Noth just said he will try his best and then went to Jason.

Jason was wearing a knitted shirt sitting on the sofa of his room, looked a few more calm and steady.

The temperature in Atlanta is very different from New York.

Atlanta is snowy and icy in February, but you won't feel cold sitting in a heated room in a sweater.

When Mr. Noth came, he saw that Jason was not as cool as he used to be, and he was even a little peaceful at that time. So Mr. Noth walked and sat next to him and asked, "What are you thinking about?"

"Nothing." Jason said with a clam voice, seeing him come, he take the teapot and cups aside, poured a cup of tea for his own father.

Seeing this, Mr. Noth's eye full of warmness.

"Let's have a talk?" Mr. Noth took the tea Jason poured and slowly said.

Jason inclined his eyes and looked away, "Please continue."

"Are you being polite now?"

"Hmm?"

Mr. Noth smiled and didn't poke him, chatting with him naturally,

"Since you have been taking over the Noth Group, I've rarely seen you sitting in the sofa of your romm and enjoy the yard view outside the window, why do you have this leisurely mood this time?"

"I just want to clean up my mind and relax." Jason replied naturally.

"Your heart is medded up?"

"It's okay."

"Not even telling me the truth?"

"Did grandpa send you?" Jason changed the subject.

"Well, he's quite worried about you, and when he saw that you weren't in the good mood he let me come and have a talk with you." Mr. Noth folded his legs and fondled his teacup, "He even scolded me for you."

Jason was not in a good mood, so he just answered, "Hmm."

"Just one hmm?"

"You need comfort?" Jason asked back naturally.

Mr. Noth took a light sip of tea and also spoke to him directly, "I don't need comfort, the person who needs comfort is you."

"I don't need it."

"That's not what your state tells me."

"I'm fine, I'm just a little tired after walking for too long and want to stop and think about the wrong path I took in the past." Jason said slowly, and his voice was low, "When I think it clearly, I will continue to move on."

"Would you think it through?" Mr. Noth asked him.

He was very relieved about other things of Jason.

This kid has never let anyone worry about him since he was a kid.

But when it comes to love, he was really afraid he wouldn't be able to break through.

How absurd the wrong things he did before, how much he would regret now.

"Think it clearly." Jason gave him a positive answer, "I just need some time."

What does this mean.

Of course Mr. Noth understood.

He made a promise to Jason, "Take your time to think about it, there's no rush, and neither your grandfather nor your mother will rush you in a short time."

"Thanks dad."

"What do you think about Sarah?"

"That's it." Jason's voice was a little more low, and his eyes were deeper than ever, "She's already found someone who can take care of her, so it's not right for me to disturb her again."

Mr.Noth thought about what he had said earlier and asked, "Do you really think Will is someone worth trusting for life?"

"Yes."

Jason said with certainty.

Mr. Noth was a little curious.

What kind of person was it that could make even Jason approve?

He knew about the Gardner Group, but the heir to the Gardner

Group had not been announced openly, and no one knew who is he. "He was good at martial arts, and he also has good family background, good looks, most importantly, he treats Sarah well."

With every word he spoke, Jason's heart ached, "As long as he has been like this now, it is worth Sarah entrusted to life."

"Does he know about Sarah's affair with you?" Mr. Noth asked a critical question.

Jason hummed, "Yes, he knew."

It was because he knew, that Jason was relieved.

After Mr. Noth heard this, he didn't ask any more questions.

He stood up and patted Jason's shoulder with the care and affection of a father to his child, "Don't hold anything in alone, if you don't want to talk to us, talk to your friends."

"I know." Jason replied like a sensible kid.

Mr. Noth knew that he just wanted to be alone now, and after saying two more words of concern from a father to his child, he left his room.

For love.

He still needs to walk out slowly on his own.

For the rest of the afternoon, Jason spent time in his own room.

Looking at the greenery in the courtyard outside the window and the blue sky overhead, his depressed mood was healed a little, and he also reached an unprecedented state of tranquility.

Chapter 418 What if you can't get it over?

During this time, Grandpa Noth sent his housekeeper to bring him some fruits and snacks.

Jason was being gentle all the time.

A gentle Jason such like this.

Not only Mr. Noth and Grandpa Noth was not used to it, even the housekeeper was also not used to it.

Therefore.

After the housekeeper served him hot tea, Mr. Noth inquired about his condition,

"What is Jason's condition now?"

"He was just sitting in the room and enjoying the outside view, not reading a book or playing with his phone." The housekeeper said truthfully, after all, he had a good relationship with Grandpa Noth, "Although he did not seem in a bad mood, I always feel that he is a little strange."

"What is strange about him?" Grandpa Noth asked.

"His character." The housekeeper spoke, "In the past, although the youngest master was also polite and courteous to me, I felt that it was not quite the same as now."

Grandpa Noth sighed.

Sure enough.

This kid, Jason, hadn't come out after his emotional setback.

"Where's my unfilial son?" Grandpa Noth took aim at Mr. Noth. "Mr. Noth accompanied Mrs. Noth to go shopping." The housekeeper knew roughly all of the family's whereabouts, "When he was leaving, he said that if you asked about him, he asked me to convey a message."

"What?"

"Jason needs to walk out on his own, it's useless for others to comfort him."

"Humph!" Grandpa Noth was exasperated, he felt that Mr. Noth's words were too sharp, "It's obvious that he's useless himself, and he's using that as an excuse."

The butler was very sensible and didn't make a reply.

The following days.

Jason was eating and talking with them, and he looked no different from before. But those who were familiar with him knew that he was obviously not normal, and as the experienced man, Grandpa Noth, knew that this was a phenomenon of keeping things bottled up in his heart.

After three or four days.

Edwin, who was playing outside, also came back.

Although he always makes a joke of his brother, Edwin still cares about his brother when he is in a bad mood.

At the night of the 20th.

The Noth family was having dinner together.

Jason was not much different from before, eating normally.

Grandpa Noth had conspired with Mr. Noth and Mrs. Noth and passed them an eye signal when Edwin was frantically eating his meal.

Mrs. Noth understood in seconds, she put down her forks for the moment after taking a bite of steak, her eyes fell on Jason, her voice was gentle as ever, "Jason, there's something I want to ask you."

"Go ahead, please." Jason paused in his eating movements.

"Are there any pretty single girls around you?" Mrs. Noth asked.

Jason paused.

He looked at his own dad the moment he heard his mother's words.

Didn't he say that they won't let him go on a blind date in a short time? This is.....

"Introduce some good girls to Edwin if you know." Mrs. Noth was afraid that he would misunderstand and added, "He is not young, it's time to get married."

What the fuck?! thought Edwin.

He was totally shocked.

He paused in his eating action, then his eyes rolled and immediately said, "I have a girlfriend, you don't need to force me to go to a blind date."

"When did that happen?"

"How come we don't know?"

"Who's the girl?"

Mr.Noth, Mrs. Noth and Grandpa Noth spoke in unison.

Only Jason can see...

He knew that Edwin was lying after one look.

In order to avoid any subsequent trouble, he didn't hesitate to break down his brother's lie, "He lied to you."

"No, it's true, we've just been dating for a week." Edwin said extremely quickly, the look of his eyes was more serious than ever, "If you don't believe me, I'll bring her back to you in a couple of days."

"Do you need me to show your itinerary to mom and dad?" Jason continued to debunk his lies.

Edwin became a little anxious.

What's wrong with my brother?!

He used to have to cover for me, so why did he start exposing his secret now.'

He desperately gave his brother a wink, hoping he could save himself from the 'blind-date torture' in time.

But unfortunately.

Jason did not mean to help him at all.

"I really have a girlfriend." Edwin stressed, and to make the words sound more believable, he made it up, "Only we chatted online, we just confirmed our relationship last week, and we haven't had the chance to face each other yet."

Everyone gave him a rolled eye.

It was clear that they didn't believe him.

After dinner.

Edwin went to chat with Jason.

Both Mr. Noth and Mrs. Noth didn't bother, they both wanted to find a suitable time to talk with Jason together, but it was clear that it wasn't the right time now.

In the backyard.

Edwin followed Jason around, complaining about all his perverse behavior today, and Jason has been bearing it all the time.

At the beginning, both of them were talking about Edwin.

Later on, Edwin started talking about Jason, "Brother, have you ever regretted that you didn't treat Sarah properly?"

"Yes, I've regretted."

'Not only do I regret it.

But also I wanted to go back in time and make up for everything.'

"Mom and Dad are quite worried about you, they're afraid you'll be bored alone, also let me come back to talk to you." Edwin walked side by side with him, his tone was lighter than ever, "But I don't think it's necessary."

Jason looked at him sideways.

Edwin was a sunny and warm person when he smiled, "My brother is the most powerful person in the world, no matter what kind of difficulties he encounters, he will carry them through."

"What if he can't overcome it?"

"That's impossible, he will definitely carry it through."

Jason did not speak.

Of course he will finally let it go.

It's just that what is lost will become a regret in his life, and that void in his heart will never be filled.

"Brother."

"Hmm?"

"Come out and play more often when you have time." Although Edwin said that he was not worried about him, he still hopes that his brother can quickly cheer up, "When you encounter emotional problems again in the future, don't be emotional, be rational."

He also knew the past of his brother and Sarah.
With his brother's IQ, there should not be any problems.
He can only say that love make people lose their reason, emotions overwhelm the rational defense.

"Don't close your heart either." Edwin said the most important thing, "If you close it, others can not walk in, and you can not walk out."

He felt sorry that Sarah and his brother didn't make it to the end.

If it is possible, he hopes more than anyone that the two of them will be together forever, but life is a process full of regrets.

Sarah became Will's girlfriend.

And his brother should also learn to move forward.

"Since you know love so much, you should bring your girlfriend back before the end of this year." Jason didn't intend to listen to his advice, "If you don't find one, I'll arrange for you to go on a blind date."

Edwin was stunned, "What?"

So he just said all those nice things for nothing?' Jason deliberately did not look at his eyes, and added the next words, "This is not only my intention, but also the intention of our parents and grandfather."

"Brother!"

"It's useless to call me brother."

"I like men and how to bring home a girlfriend." Edwin had already started making up nonsense in order not to go on a blind date, "This is not fair to that girl!"

Chapter 419 Can you not tell them?

Jason's suspicious eyes fell on him, his eyebrows frowned invisibly, "Really?"

Over the years, Edwin has not had many relationships.

Nor did he hear him say which girl he liked.

It is true that.....

He really likes men?

Edwin was instantly guilty.

He would like to quickly and firmly answer 'Of course it is true', but he is afraid that after saying out can not be retracted.

A look in his brother's eyes.

It is obvious that he was taking his words seriously.

"When did you found that?" Jason's voice was low, and there was more seriousness in his words.

"Huh?"

Edwin was a little unable to follow his mind.

Jason's eyes fell on him with scrutiny, "When did you find out that you like men."

"?"

..” Edwin momentarily some do not know how to give a reply, and he hesitated for a while and finally gave Jason a vague answer, "I also do not know very well."

"Do you have a boyfriend?" Jason slowly asked.

Edwin was shocked.

He didn't even think about it and quickly denied it, "No."
It will surprise everyone including himself if he has a boyfriend.
He is a normal man.

He only likes girls.

"Have you ever been on a date with a man?"

"No."

"Do you have someone you like now?"

Edwin originally wanted to say no, but thought that if he said no, his brother would definitely let him go on a blind date.

After thinking about it for a while, he decided to lie, "Yes."

"Who?"

"This is my privacy." Edwin tried to find some excuses, "I don't want to tell you."

"Sooner or later this thing will be known to mom and dad." Jason was really thinking about him, "They may not strongly stop it, but you'll never get past grandpa's hurdle."

"It's okay." Edwin didn't care at all.

He didn't really like men anyway, it didn't matter.

Jason noticed his state, his good-looking eyebrows wrinkled up, and for the first time, he called his name so seriously, "Edwin Noth."

"What's wrong?"

"Are you just trying to play up for fun."

"How can that be, am I such a person?"

"Tell me the truth." Jason was a lot more serious than even before.

If you really like a person, how can you not care if your family accepts or not.

The attitude of Edwin.

It was completely different from the way he used to treat things seriously and responsibly.

"I promise you, no matter who I like, I will take it seriously." Edwin knew that his reaction just now was a little too casual.

"Don't tell Mom and Dad about this for now, I'll find a chance to talk to them." Jason said firmly, but his mind was a bit complicated, "I'll talk to you after the I talked with them."

"Okay." Edwin agreed.

He was also completely relieved.

In all likelihood, his brother and parents will not let him go on a blind date again from now on.

"Since you're sure you like....." Jason paused here and then said directly, "Don't mess with girls in the future, and..."

"What?"

"Stay clean."

"Don't worry!"

Edwin made all sorts of assurances.

Jason gave a sound of 'hmm' to reply, and his good-looking eyebrows were flooded with more gravity and complexity than ever before.

He have never thought that Edwin would like men.

Who influenced him?

At that night.

After talking, Jason went to find his parents.

Both of them thought he was coming to talk to them about Edwin's blind date, but they didn't think he was coming to stop it.

After Jason asked them not to force Edwin to go on a blind date,

Mrs. Noth was puzzled for a moment and thought she had heard wrong, "Are you sure you're not going to tell us about Edwin's blind date?"

"No." Jason said frankly and didn't hide, "He's not in a very good state right now, so it wouldn't be fair to those girls if we force him to go on a blind date."

"It's not like they have to be together on a blind date." Mrs. Noth thought simply, "Just think of it as making a friend."

Nowadays, many young people choose to go on blind dates. Some of them became friends after the blind date, playing together, having a dinner together.

It is also considered a way to make friends.

"Better not." Jason stopped.

Mrs. Noth and Mr. Noth looked at each other and then the words came out from her, "Are you hiding something from me?"

Jason became silent instantly.

How can he deal with this?

"Is it hard for you to say that Edwin likes men?"

"How do you know?"

Mrs. Noth was shocked.

Mr. Noth was also stunned.

Both of them was shocked and confused.

Mrs. Noth was as elegant as ever, only with a few complications between her eyebrows, "He really likes men?"

"Yes." Jason answered truthfully.

"He's the top or the bottom?"

"Hmm?"

Jason's face was full of confusion.

He was a bit confused by his own mother's words.

"Do you want to talk to him?" Mrs. Noth was still worried, and she always felt weird about Edwin, "See if you can straighten him out." "I've already talked to him." Jason slowly said, his words as serious as usual, "Give him some time to think about it, don't even let him go on a blind date until he officially thinks it through."

"Okay." Mrs. Noth agreed.

Mr. Noth's eyes glanced over the two.

Then he said, "You guys believe he's a gay?"

Both Mrs. Noth and Jason didn't answer.

Waiting for his next words.

"As I see, liking men is just an excuse for that kid not wanting to go on a blind date.” Mr. Noth saw through it all, and he talked unhurriedly, “If you don’t believe me, you can check his dating circle.”

If he really likes men, there must be traces.

He is not convinced that his son is a gay.

Mrs.Noth’s pretty eyes blinked, and she was thinking.

Jason was inexperienced with this kind of thing, and when he heard Edwin admit with a look of embarrassment that he liked men, he didn’t think too much about it.

But now when he thought about it, everything seems to be normal for Edwin since he was a child, and if he watches emotional movies, he also watches male and female leads.

“I will find out.” Jason gave them a reply at the first time, “I will give you an answer within a week.”

“Okay.” Mr.Noth answered.

After the conversation.

Jason stood up and went back to his room.

Mrs. Noth’s was still worried, her eyebrows were all complicated feelings, “What if Edwin is really a gay?”

“Then we’ll beat him to straight.” “This kind of thing is not something that can be sloved by violence.”

“Don’t worry too much, Just let Jason to find out the truth.” Mr. Noth’s good-looking eyes were filled with a comforting warmth, “In my opinion, there’s ninety percent chance he’s not gay.”

“I hope so.” Mrs. Noth for always worried about her kids most, “Jason now has emotional problems, it is impossible for him to enter the next relationship in a short period of time. If Edwin really likes men, our dad certainly can not accept.”

It would be fine if Jason was still with Sarah.

After all, Grandpa Noth likes Sarah.

If she were here, even if Edwin likes men, the old man wouldn’t care too much.

Chapter 420 I’m not sick, I don’t need to take medicine

It’s a pity.

Jason did not cherish her at first, and lost Sarah, a good girl.

“The situation of Edwin has not yet been determined, even if it is determined, Jason will solve it.” Mr. Noth did not want his wife to worry about these things, “He can handle everything well except his own relationship with Sarah.”

A simple word.

Let Mrs. Noth’s mood become depressed.

Even though months had passed, she still felt that Sarah had separated from Jason just a few days ago.

Mr. Noth knew what she was thinking and hugged her tenderly.

When Jason returned to his room, he sent a message to Chris, asking him to check Edwin’s whereabouts and friendship circle over the past year.

Chris did as he was told.

At twelve o'clock at night.

Jason was still lying in bed, unable to fall asleep.

Since recovering his memory, except for the time he drank, there was not a single day for him to have a good rest.

In the following days, his insomnia did not get any better.

Fearing that his grandfather and his family would be worried if they found out, Jason moved out after two more days and lived in the villa where he lived with Sarah before.

This day.

Jason just finished handling the documents handed over by Chris, and was going to get a glass of water. But unexpectedly, when he just stand up, his eyes suddenly turned black, and he could not hear anything! Then he fainted on the ground.

Chris was frightened and shouted, "Boss!"

He called out Jason several times, and Jason did not respond in the slightest.

Chris immediately sent him to the hospital.

Serial also rushed over after learning of the situation.

Looking at the unconscious person still lying on the hospital bed, he asked casually as usual, "What's going on?"

Didn't he be healed before?

But that's not right.

He helped Jason recover personally, there can't be any problem.

"The doctor said his daily sleep was too little and his spirit was awful." Chris answered truthfully.

Serial glanced towards the person on the hospital bed, "How many hours of sleep does he get a day?"

"Two."

This figure.

It was also something he checked after the doctor had told him.

"For work?"

"No."

"Insomnia?"

"I think so."

Chris wasn't really sure.

His boss had stayed at the old mansion most of the time during this period and didn't deal with company matters, so it couldn't be about work.

Since it wasn't work, he could only guess insomnia.

Serial didn't say anything, and he was thinking to give Jason a checkup when he woke up.

When Jason woke up, he was unwilling to cooperate with him, after the IV, he got up to leave the hospital after he was in better spirits.

Serial stopped him, "Come with me for a checkup."

"No, I'm fine."

"Jason."

"Don't you want to go back to New York? There's nothing for you here for now, just go back."

“Come with me for a checkup, if you keep torturing yourself like this, it won’t take long for your spirit to collapse.” Serial intended to scare him, but some of it was true, “When the time comes, how will you ensure Sarah’s happiness?” Jason was stunned.

“Don’t you want to see her happy? If you dead or your spirit is broken now, you will be unable to help her if she was bullied by Will.” Serial used his weakness to cheer him up.

Jason stood there without moving.

Chris came over as a lobbyist, “Boss, go get checked out, only if your body is well, you can see with your own eyes how well Miss Sarah is doing.”

“There’s nothing wrong with me, I just have insomnia and can’t sleep.” Jason’s thin lips slightly opened, his attitude was not as strong as before, “It will be fine after a while.”

Neither Serial nor Chris opened their mouths.

Both of them knew what the reason was.

In the final analysis, it is because Jason did not come out of his last relationship, and the guilt and regret in his heart also increased his psychological burden.

“It’s okay if you don’t want to check, let me do a hypnosis for you later.” Serial could see that his state was not very good, and there were still red bloodshot in his eyes caused by lack of sleep, “If you do not agree, you do not want to leave the hospital today.”

“Got it.” Jason gave them a word peacefully and crossed them towards the outside.

Chris followed him closely.

Serial calmed down and was also chasing after him.

In the Paradise Villa.

Serial used hypnosis to put Jason into a deep sleep.

Chris had never seen real hypnosis, at this moment it was inevitable that he would be a little worried, “Will something bad happen to my boss?”

“Relax. It’s safe.” Serial was professional, and he was very assured about his skills, “I just let him have a good sleep, with his current mental state, if he continues to torture himself like this, it won’t take long for his spirit to break down.”

“You can’t hypnotize him every time.” Chris was in a complicated mood.

He knows where the knot is, but this knot can only be untied by the boss himself.

He could not persuade him, and Serial could not do it neither.

“Later I will prescribe a medicine to you, give him one pill every day before going to sleep.” Serial slowly said, heavy emotions flashed in his always gentle eyes, “If he does not eat, you soak it in water or milk for him to drink.”

The medicine.

It was developed by him at first, passed the audit of the Drug Administration, and it has no side effects. Only the cost is extremely high.

“Thank you.” Chris was slightly relieved.

While Jason was asleep, Serial called his assistant to sent the medicine over.

Fortunately, he had brought some with him when he returned earlier and left it at the base, otherwise he would have had to fly abroad.

“After this hypnosis, there is still a little effect for the next two or three days.” Serial explained things very clearly, “It can make him sleep for about three hours every day, after two or three days you should give him medicine.”

“Okay.” Chris answered. Serial hmmed and went to the phone.

According to Jason’s current condition, those medicines from the base were not enough for him.

He had to order a batch of herbs to make medicine before those drugs were finished, otherwise something would definitely happen, if Jason was allowed to torture himself.

This sleep.

Jason slept for nine hours.

When he woke up, it was already dark outside, his consciousness was a bit chaotic and he couldn’t tell where he was.

It was only when Chris came in to see how he was doing and tell him about his location that he found out.

“You don’t have to worry about the company affair, I’ve already taken care of it.” Chris was a very dependable man, “Get up and eat something, dinner is ready.”

Jason replied with an ‘Okay’.

His muddled consciousness was quite awake at the moment.

Halfway through his meal, he suddenly remembered something,

“Where’s Serial?”

“He’s busying with something.”

“What is it?”

“I don’t know, he didn’t say.”

Chris said this according to Serial’s request.

Jason didn’t ask any more questions, just ate his meal as usual.

His state made Chris extremely uncomfortable, but he didn’t open his mouth to say more.

A few more days passed.

The hypnotic effect was no longer there.

Chris took the medicine that Serial had given him to Jason, and just as Serial had guessed, Jason didn’t eat it at all.

“I’m not sick, I don’t need to take medicine.” Jason didn’t think he was at the point where he needed to take medicine, “The coma before was just an accident, now I won’t be in coma.”

Chapter 421 Remember to get rid of me first if you get angry next time

“Dr. Lance said your body will have problems if you don’t keep a good sleep.” Chris reminded.

“That’s him who will have problems, not me.” Jason was resistant to the medicine,

"You go back to rest early, I can handle myself."

"You really don't want to take it, boss?"

"I won't take it."

"Then you drink this cup of water, please." Chris put the medicine away and handed the water over.

Fortunately, he was prepared and put one in the cup in advance.

"If my guess is right, the medicine will also be put in the cup, right?" Jason sighted on it more than a glance, and his voice is very calm.

Chris can't say a word.

But he still wanted to take a chance and said, "No."

"Take it down."

"Boss."

"I'm not thirsty right now, I don't want to drink for now." Jason refused in a different way, "Put it there, I'll get it myself when I want to drink water later."

Chris silently sighed, resigned to put the cup down.

Sometimes the boss is too smart is not a good thing.

He put down the cup and sent a message to Serial, 'My boss refused to take the medicine, and he figured it out by putting it in the cup.'

Serial sent a message back, 'I don't know what to say.'

I have never seen such a disobedient patient.' from Serial.

After he sent back the message he put the phone in his hand and played with it, his eyebrows knitted together.

He want to send a message to Sarah at first, and asked her to persuade him, but he still feel not appropriate after thinking it twice.

Although Jason would listen to Sarah, he must don't want to bother her for his own thing. Besides, once Jason knew he had found Sarah for him, his psychological burden would increase.

The situation will only get worse then.

After a serious consideration, Serial was intended to put the phone down, but when he just put his phone on the table, a sence on the phone screen attracted him, that is a post from Whatsapp.

Coincidentally, the post was sent by Sarah.

The content of the post is 'Will, my boyfriend.'

And Sarah also posted nine pictures of her and Will.

Serial was stunned.

k will post her real life on the internet?

And it's a post of showing off her boyfriend?

He immediately commented with a word, 'Are you sure your account have not been stolen?'

However, he deleted these few words just as he typed out, and he silently clicked a like.

This kind of time.

He shouldn't go looking for a sense of existence.

The K was not easy to deal with, if he offend Will, the consequences of him will be tragic.

Sarah didn't even looked at her phone. She passed her phone to Will after posting and sat on the sofa with him. Then she said, "I've already post our photos as you asked, you can't say that I don't love you now."

Will dropped a kiss on her red lips.

Sarah was stunned.

Why did he kiss her again?

"Good girl, a reward for you." Will lazily and loosely ventured a word.

Sarah was very bold at the moment and said, "This reward is not good enough."

"Hmm?"

"Everyone else's rewards are clothes, bags, and cosmetics."

"I'll buy anything you want for you."

"I don't want those stuff."

Sarah refused directly.

Every time the new and limited edition models sent by brands would be given to Rita by her, as for cosmetics, she might use it once some times, she basically has no makeup of her face.

"Then what reward do you think is good?" asked Will.

Sarah's eyes focused on him, and her good-looking eyes rolled twice, "How about taking me home to meet your parents?"

Will was shocked.

He was unexpected to hear this.

He had thought of many presents to send to her, those that fit Sarah's character and those that did not fit her, he all had thought of.

Only this one.

He didn't think of it.

"Do you really want to go?" He was happy in his heart, but he suspected that this girl was deliberately playing a trick on him.

"I really want to go." Sarah nodded, incidentally also said the reason, "Last time I was pretending to be your girlfriend to visit your parents, and I did not buy gifts for them, this time want to meet them formally."

"You don't have to prepare gifts, they will be very happy if you come to visit them." Will smiled with pleasant.

Although this behavior of her is a little bit perverse, but it does not matter, it is already a very happy thing that he can make this 'little frog Sarah' initiative to go to visit his parents.

"Then how about we go tomorrow?" It seems that Sarah has already made her plan, "It happens to be the weekend."

"Okay."

Will has never stopped smiling.

The first thing he did was to call up his parents and tell them about taking Sarah home tomorrow.

They were very happy.

After the time was set, Will circled Sarah in his arms and looked at her with a bit of scrutiny, "Why do you suddenly want to go to my home? Honestly, what are your plans?"

"I don't have any intention. I just want to visit your parents." Sarah looked calm.

In fact.

The visit was secondary.

She mainly wanted to ask the captain's parents what the captain's nickname was when he was a child.

Last time the captain said he didn't have a nickname, and if he had to count one it was little Will, but her intuition told her that the captain must have had a nickname.

After all, when she asked Susan two days ago, Susan was verbally avoiding the question.

"Do you think I will believe it?" Will guessed that she had a purpose, but could not guess what her purpose was. "It's fine if you don't believe it." Sarah took the opportunity to mess things up and stood up from him with an angry look, "Why are you asking me if you don't believe what I said."

"Haha."

Will laughed softly.

Sarah was confused.

He's laughing at what?

She is angry now, right?

"How about I find a few videos of couples arguing and getting angry to show you?" Will looked at her with a calm face of playfulness, "You should study the details inside carefully, so that your acting will be more realistic."

"You think I'm joking with you?" Sarah's acting skills were in place.

Will commented, "You can get by in front of Robert and the others."

"Will!"

"Hmm?"

"I'm not joking with you, I'm really angry with you." Sarah's words were cold, and her whole person was a little more detached than before.

She was on a collision course with the captain.

She admitted that she couldn't win the fight.

She also admitted she can't beat him at fooling others.

But she can't still lose on this.

"Well, I know." Said Will clamly.

Sarah was surprised.

That's it?

He has no more to say?

"Atha." Will was so happy that the smile in his eyes has never disappeared.

Sarah looked at him, subconsciously answered gently because of this title, "What?"

"Do you know that you have a huge bug in your anger acting?"

“What?”

She was acting quite well.

Even she had to believe it herself.

“Which couple have you seen sitting on each other’s lap when they are angry and quarreling?” Will’s thin lips pursed up in a nice arc, and his ink-clear eyes swirled with laughter.

Sarah was embarrassed.

She lowered her eyes to look.

Only then did she realize that she had just been hugged after being hugged by the captain.

“Next time remember to shake me off first if you get angry.” Will’s eyebrows were all gentleness, and his tone was lazy, “This way the play can be acted for a longer time, and I can also participate in playing along with you.”

Chapter 422 This is the best gift I’ve ever received in my life

Sarah was silent.

She was so embarrassed that she just want to leave.

She got off him and sat on the sofa, and very seriously told him something, “I really feel that what Jacob and Jim said before makes sense, and I’m a little worried about my future life suddenly.”

“Worried about what?” Will asked her.

“Worried that I would still help you count the money after you selling me.” Sarah said very serious, no joking at all.

“Don’t worry, even if I sold myself will not sell you.” Will pinched her face.

Sarah suspiciously looked at his face for a moment, and did not see anything.

If captain start a business from scratch, he can certainly start a successful business in the shortest time, after all, he was really good at fooling people and make a trap for them.

“You don’t believe me?”

“No, I believe you.”

Will’s eyebrows lightly raised, he was unexpected to hear this answer.

Sarah added the latter words in a serious manner, “My price is higher, no one can afford to pay the price even if you want to sell.”

Will’s eyes were tinged with a smile.

This answer.

It is really irrefutable.

After that, the two people almost stay together the whole day.

When it was close to evening, Sarah found a reason to go out to buy something.

She knew it clearly that Will won’t give her a chance to buy gifts for his parents and will bring her to his home directly. However, she was afraid that the bodyguards can’t buy the gifts which can satisfy her.

After all, it is a gift to the captain’s parents, it is better to choose personally.

In fact.

Will does think so.

He and his parents will be happy as long as Sarah come to see them.

The gift is not important at all.

The next morning.

The two people simply packed up and left the door.

The first thing Will was going to do was to take the car keys and unlock it, but Sarah opened her mouth before he went to drive, "I'll drive today."

Will gave her the keys.

"I meant to drive my own car." Sarah took out her own keys, "I haven't even driven them for a long time since I've been with you."

"Okay." Will put his own keys into his pocket.

Sarah felt relieved and went to the garage to get her car.

After the car drove some distance out of the villa area, Will, who was sitting on the passenger side, naturally asked, "Are you hiding something from me?"

"What?"

"The car."

"What do you mean?"

Sarah kept pretending to be innocent.

The reason why he had to drive her car was because all the gifts she bought last night were placed in this car, and if she didn't drive it, she couldn't get the gifts.

"Nothing." Will has already seen her through but not to break her lies, then he made a guess, "It was a long way to my parents' home, remember to tell me when you are tired of driving later."

"Okay."

Sarah answered.

At eleven o'clock at noon, the two arrived.

Will saw her dawdling in the car without getting off, went over and opened the car door for her, "What's wrong?"

"I have some things to delay." This was the first time Sarah hid something from Will, her was a bit nervous, "You go in first, I'll be right there."

"Atha."

"Hmm?"

"Are you still angry about yesterday's thing?"

"What?" Sarah was all confused, a little unsure of what he meant by that.

"I promised my parents to take you home, if I go in alone, Mom and Dad will beat me out of the house." Will said slowly, and make fun of her casually, "So you did this on purpose? To let me be kicked out of my home?"

Sarah tried to explain, "I am not"

"Then you should go in with me, it can not be that you are afraid to meet my parents."

"I just want to fix my makeup."

"I'll wait for you."

Sarah was silent.

She also understood at this moment that no matter what she said, the captain would not leave alone first.

She pulled out the car keys and slowly got out of the car and walked to Will's side.

Will went to hold her hand, but Sarah avoided, "Wait a minute, I still have something to take."

After saying that, he went to get the gifts that he put in the car last night, in addition to the basic tonic, there are some other valuable items.

"I still think that since I'm here to visit your mom and dad, I should prepare some greet gifts." Sarah explained to Will, "I just don't know if they like it."

She also wanted to ask the captain about his parents' hobby. But if she asked, he would definitely say that she doesn't need to prepare.

She would just have to choose the right gift based on her impressions from the last time she met them.

"Idiot." Will poked her in the head.

Sarah was confused.

Will took the gift in her hand and helped her carry it, holding her with his other hand to give her warmth, "Didn't I tell you that they will be happy as long as you come."

"You are good to me, I also want you to feel that I value you." Sarah replied.

Will smiled, squeezed her palm and led her in.

Same as last time.

Will's parents were very enthusiastic.

When they found out that Sarah had also bought them gifts, the smiles on their faces were even bigger, and they were complimenting Sarah.

Sarah knew they would be happy at her visit.

But they would be even happier if she brought a gift with her.

"I don't know what you guys like, so I picked some out myself."

Sarah was not as formal as last time and took the initiative to talk to them.

"Thank you, Sarah." Will's mother's eyes curved into a crescent, she was very happy,

"This is the best gift I've ever received in my life."

Will was stunned.

And Will's father was also confused.

The four eyes looked over at the same time.

Will raised his eyebrows lightly, and his tone was unhurried, "Last time you also said that the gift I gave you was the best in your life." "Nonsense, her favorite gift was clearly my gift." Will's father was not willing to show weakness up, he has to fight to win or lose on this thing, "Look at her hand, she is still wearing..." Will's father suddenly paused.

He stared at the newly worn bracelet on Will's mother's hand, and his eyebrows knitted up at once.

She Changed it?!

"You....." Will's father pointed to her wrist, and the words stuck for a moment.

"I've been wearing that bracelet you gave me for thirty years, it's time to change it." Will's mother is really like a bracelet sent by Sarah, and said kindly to Will's father, "It happens that this is the one I wanted before, so I want to try it immediately."

Will's father was shocked!

And he was not happy at once.

Sarah was a little confused.

Is this ...she accidentally destroying the relationship of Will's parents?

"What are you doing with an angry face, you've scared Sarah."

Will's mother took Sarah's hand, she was extra gentle, "What, am I only able to wear the bracelet you gave me for the rest of my life?"

"That's not what I meant." Will's father explained.

"Then what do you mean."

"I ..."

"You what? I think you just don't want me to wear pretty jewelry, think I'm too old to match these beautiful ones." Will's mother hummed, and her temper came out at once.

Chapter 423 That old watch

"No matter who says you're old! I'll be the first to fight him to death!" Herman immediately spoke up. He didn't want to be misunderstood.

Elaine became silent.

Herman tried to coax her. But he saw that Sarah was also there. He was in a dilemma.

"He could only give a look to Will, who was next to him.

'Come to help me persuade your mother!'"

Will. 'What does it have to do with me?'

Herman. 'You know it well!'

Will. 'Sorry, I don't.'

Herman was furious.

"Sarah found that the situation was not going well.

She could only said, "Auntie took off the bracelet you gave her.

The reason was that she loves the new one.

Besides, she may want to cherish the bracelet you gave her."

Thirty years was a long time.

"People didn't want to replace an old cellphone for feeling attached.

The gifts sent between couples would be more valuable than people thought."

If it was accidentally touched and broken, the owner would definitely be heartbroken.

"Really?" Herman asked Elaine.

"No." Elaine deliberately said the opposite.

She was still in the midst of anger.

"I suddenly feel that marriage is also boring.

Sarah, maybe you can give up marrying someone.”

Sarah. “?”

Will. “?”

Herman. “?”

All three of them were puzzled.

Sarah even thought back to see if there was something she had done wrong since she entered in the room.

“Look at your uncle.

He has married me for more than thirty years, but he knows me less than you do.”

Elaine made a difficult problem to Will and Herman.

“According to me, finding a confidant who understands me well is better than finding someone to get married.”

“My Dear!” Herman was excited all of a sudden.

“Sarah, do you think I’m right?” Elaine still asked Sarah.

Sarah pursed her lips and nodded her head in a serious manner,

“Right.”

“Heh.” Will’s voice was low.

“Heh what?” Elaine was elegant when she was quiet.

And she still maintained her elegance when she was angry.

“Do you think I’m wrong?”

“I’ll go check the kitchen.”

Will was very sensible that he didn’t continue this topic.”

The moment he got up.

His glanced at Sarah.

Sarah touched her nose. Captain seemed to be angry.

The special beep of the cell phone rang when she was thinking about it.

“She took it out to look at it while her uncle was talking to her aunt, and a message came into view.

[Is getting married worse than finding a confidant?]

Sarah replied, [Don’t you think so?]

“[Don’t think I don’t know what you’re thinking.]

Will stood out of the door, watching Sarah reply the message.

But his smile was getting bigger.

[You just want to hear “No” from my mouth.

Then you can show the message to my mother.

She will teach me a good lesson, right?]

Sarah replied, [Captain, don’t take the heart of a gentleman with caution.]

Will returned an emoji to her.

There were a few words on the emoji – Little frog, I’ve seen you through.

Sarah became speechless.

She put her phone away.

“Herman and Elaine also just finished talking.

Herman was admitting his mistake.

"I was too excited just now, tomorrow we will go shopping and buy the other things you like."

"I only like this one given by Sarah." Elaine replied.

"Go and see why Will hasn't come yet.

It takes him so long to go to a kitchen."

"Fine, fine." Herman hurriedly agreed.

Herman just walked out the door. He saw Will leaning on the pillar outside, playing with his phone.

Like having noticed him, Will raised his eyes and glanced at him.

For a moment.

The atmosphere between the two people was really embarrassing.

Herman was afraid that Elaine might heard their conversation. So he took will to the yard.

"Now only Sarah and Elaine were in the hall. They had a good chat.

Sarah answered all the questions asked by Elaine one by one."

This time, after all, Will had a real girlfriend, not a fake one.

"Auntie, I want to ask you something."

Sarah cut to the chase after chatting for a while.

She slowly said."

Elaine had a look like she knew everything. "Is it about Will?"

"Hmm."

"Just ask. As long as I know, I'll tell you."

Sarah pursed her lips and weighed her words before inquiring,

"Does Captain have a nickname?"

"A nickname?"

"Hmm."

"Does Walt count?" Elaine asked after a moment's thought.

"Is there one besides it?" Sarah asked directly, her heart was really curious, "Just the one used by a little kid."

"Elaine thought carefully for a moment.

Then she realized. "There!"

"What is it?"

"It's..."

Elaine stopped finishing the whole sentence.

Sarah looked at her in her eyes, patiently waiting for her later words.

"Will has always disliked that nickname.

We hasn't called him by that nickname after he reached 5 years old."

Elaine looked embarrassed.

She also told Sarah something happened on that time.

"His friend used to call him like that for fun.

But every time he called it, he was beaten up by Will."

Sarahba blinked for a moment.

Was Captain so fierce as a child?

"If you really want to know, why don't you ask him?" Elaine didn't say everything either.

“He doesn’t tell me.” Sarah said matter-of-factly, “He said the nickname is Walt.”

Elaine pursed her lips.

Sarah also did not pursue the question.

“He should be afraid that you will laugh at him when you know.”

Elaine finally explained.

“I always wanted to have a son and a daughter, so I gave the two children’s nicknames.

The girl’s name is still not used.”

After giving birth to one child, Herman did not allow her to give birth to more kids.

He thought it would make her suffer too much.

“What is the girl’s name?” Sarah changed direction. Knowing the girl’s name, she might be able to make a guess based on that.

“Elaine coughed lightly to cover up her embarrassment.

“I cannot tell you.

Or you will guess Will’s immediately.

I can only tell you it’s relevant to a cartoon.”

Sarah paused.

Cartoon?

“Just pester Will to ask about it.

He will definitely tell you.”

There was a little gossip in Elaine’s eyes.

“For so many years, it’s the first time I’ve seen him care so much about someone.”

Sarah brainstormed a scene where she asked Captain.

With the character of Captain, he would certainly say, “What can I get if I tell you?”

However, she didn’t have anything valuable to give him.

“Do you know what Will said to me before?” Elaine started speaking once again.

Sarah asked, “What is it?”

“He said that if he hadn’t had too many concerns, you might not have gone through that unhappy relationship.”

Elaine told Sarah a little secret.

“He has liked you since many years ago.”

Sarah paused for a moment.

She thought about the villa.

Counting from the villa, Captain had liked her for at least four years.

“That watch on his hand was given to him by you, right?” Elaine was a very meticulous person.

“Sarah nodded, but she was a little surprised in her heart.

“How do you know about it?”

“Other than you, no one could make him change that old watch.” Elaine knew a lot of things.

Now she told all of them to Sarah.

“Two years ago, I saw his watch broke down.
So I bought him a new one.
But he refused to accept it.
He just repaired the old one.”

Chapter 424 Quarrel

Sarah remembered that when she had given Captain the watch, he had asked her if she wanted to know the origin of the old watch.

At that time, she had asked, but Captain hadn't said more.

“Later she asked Captain when he started liking her.

And his answer at the time was something to do with that watch.

But she didn't remember giving him the watch.”

“When did I give him that watch?” Sarah tried to think again, but still could not remember.

“Many years ago, I don't know exactly when.” Elaine said truthfully.

“But I can be sure that if you keep asking him, he will definitely tell you his nickname.” Will was not easily moved.

But once he moved his heart, he wouldn't change his love.

Although it was bad to think in this way, she was really glad that Sarah had divorced Jason.

“If the two hadn't divorced, Will would have only stayed in the organization for the rest of his life, dedicating himself to the country.

And he would never fall in love with another girl. ”

“Good.” Sarah intended to ask again after going back.

After a while.

“Herman and Will just came in from outside.

Sarah didn't know what they talked about.

But Herman's face was very good.”

“Will came to Sarah's side.

He asked her to go to dinner with Elaine.”

Then they left.

After lunch.

Sarah and Will chatted with the two elders for a while.

“At almost two o'clock, Will's two aunts came.

Both of them dressed especially fashionable.

They just looked like noblewomen.”

However...

Will and his parents didn't like them much.

“The relationship between the three families had been fine.

But the two aunties often came to Herman and Elaine's side to brag about their great kids, criticizing Will as an unfilial son. Then Herman rarely interacted with them.”

“What are you guys doing here?”

Herman was the first to voice his discontent.”

“Stop saying that, Herman.

I just come to visit my brother and sister-in-law. Can't I do this?”

Lydia Gardner — the younger aunt of Will, smiled.
She spoke with gentleness and politeness.
“We didn’t get together for New Year’s Eve.
So we just have to come and see.”
“Who is this girl?” Jessie Gardner, the elder aunt of Will, looked at Sarah.
Herman and Elaine neatly in one sentence. “My daughter-in-law.”
“But her face seems familiar to me.”
“I also feel familiar with her.
If I guess correctly, she is Sarah Yeats, the girl who divorced her husband and shared 1.4 billion dollars a while ago.
People talked about her online.”
“The one who cheated on her marriage and shared her exhusband’s money?!”
“Brother, sister-in-law, how can you two be so confused?
She is such a bitch!
How can you permit Will to marry her?
Don’t you fear her cheating all your money?” ”
Once they said this.
Herman, Elaine and Will were all unhappy.
“Without waiting for Herman and Elaine to speak, Will first said indifferently.
The oppressive feeling around him was strong.
“Apologize.”
“What?” Jessie asked.
“Apologize to Sarah.” Will’s eyes were like a knife.
It was the first time he behaved so cold.”
“Why should I apologize?” Jessie asked.
She despised Sarah from the bottom of her heart.
“She took 1.4 billion from Jason Noth. Every netizen knows.
I did not say anything wrong.”
Will’s breath became cold.
“Sarah stopped Will before he opened his mouth.
She stood out and said lightly.
“The divorce really exists.
But do you have anything that can prove I cheat my ex-husband?”
No matter before or now, she could say with great confidence that she did not cheat on her marriage.
“She and Jason were married in a flash, and both sides were not familiar enough with each other.
So they signed a marriage agreement before the official marriage.”
As long as one of the two sides had a problem with the content of the agreement, both could end this flash marriage.
Both of them listed a number of onditions.
“She had one more condition than Jason’s.
It was that she didn’t inform Jason of her identity, family history or old friends.
She just wants to be an ordinary girl, SarahYeats.”

Jason agreed.

They then signed an agreement and registered as couples.

“Isn’t 1.4 billion the proof?” Lydia said in a shady way.

“Stop saying that!”

Herman’s anger immediately rose.

The kids couldn’t criticize their aunties, but he could say something.

“Do you really think Sarah only cheats and deceives others, just like your kids?”

If you talk more nonsense, don’t blame me for splashing you with water.”

“Lydia and Jessie were so embarrassed.

They didn’t know what to say.

They could only stare at Sarah.”

“Sarah naturally stared at them. She easily overpowered them.”

“I forgot to introduce myself, my name is Sarah Yeats.”

Sarah skipped nonsense.

Now she understood that the most direct way to talk to others was to show them her identity.

“The chairman of Yeats Group is my father, and the chairman of Ambers Group is my grandfather.”

As for Angel International Group...

There was no need to say.

“The chairman of Gardner Group is your father-in-law.” Elaine added a sentence next to her.

“You...” The two did not expect this identity.

“Now do you still think I need to cheat my ex-husband to get the 1.4 billion?” Sarah retorted them with facts.

At this moment.

She suddenly understood a truth.

“If she was really just an ordinary person with no family background and no company of her own...

Once she took the 1.4 billion, wouldn’t she be blamed?”

Thinking about this.

She thought of Eve.

Previously, Sarah just knew and understood her thoughts.

But at this moment.

Only then did Sarah really understand her decision at that time.

“Well, that’s why Will, the boy with a heart higher than the sky, marries a divorced woman.”

Lydia began to gossip again.

Her words were with thorns.

“So he values her family background.”

Sarah instantly clenched her small fists.

She could be gossiped, but Captain couldn’t. “When you first married the young master of the Jones family, didn’t you also value his family background?”

Will's voice was chill, and his eyes were also cold when he looked at her.

"Does he know that his daughter is not his own?"

"What are you talking about?!" Lydia instantly got angry." Jessie, on the other hand, began to look at them at ease.

Will aimed at Jessie again. "Auntie Jessie, does uncle know that you keep a male model secretly?"

"What male model?!" Jessie's face changed dramatically.

And she immediately scolded, "Don't talk nonsense!"

"If you don't apologize to Sarah, I will let people spread these two news later."

The tone of Will's voice was not fast or slow, but it made people tremble.

"I'll buy two more hot searches.

Within tonight, uncles should know about it."

"Will! You don't need to spray people with blood here!"

"Look at the good son you have raised, Herman and Elaine. What is he talking about?!"

The two people instantly got anxious.

"Will glanced at his wristwatch.

Now he looked noble and cold.

"You only have three minutes. If you don't apologize after three minutes, I will do it."

"Lydia and Jessie were so angry that their chests were heaving.

They wanted to curse Will, but they also worried that Will really will talk nonsense on the Internet."

If they were really listed in the hot search list...

Not only their reputation would be ruined, the stock price of the Wing family and the Jones family would also plummet.

"A variety of emotions were intertwined.

They finally reluctantly apologize to Sarah."

"Do you call this an apology?" Will was dissatisfied with their perfunctory attitude.

"Or do you also want to be given only a glib apology after being slandered and wronged?"

Chapter 425 The person I like is her, nothing else

"I'm sorry." Lydia and Jessie finally opened their mouths.

"We were wrong in what we said before.

We shouldn't have slandered you when we didn't know the truth of the matter.

Please forgive us."

"You guys also threw dirty water at Will." Sarah cared only about that, "Apologize to him."

The two people's anger came up all of a sudden.

But even their hearts were filled with dissatisfaction and discontent, they could only suppress it.

"We're sorry, nephew. It's our faults."

Their hearts were discontented when they said these words.

"Please forgive your aunts, Will."

“Will you apologize others if they wrongly accused you and then say sorry to you?”

Herman coldly grunted, supporting the two kids.

“From now on, don’t come to our house if nothing happens.

It’s annoying to meet you two.”

“Brother, how can you talk to us like this?”

“Second brother!”

Both Lydia and Jessie expressed their discontent.

This time, they came because they heard that Will had found a second married woman as his girlfriend.

“They wanted to come to persuade Will.

(Actually they just came to hit him when they thought he was down.)

Anyway, the Gardner family was a luxurious family.

How could will marry someone into his house so casually?”

But what they didn’t expect was that...

Will and his parents actually all liked Sarah.

“Ask yourself how you speak to me before asking me how to speak to you.”

Herman kept a straight face.

He didn’t treat his sisters with special privilege.

“Before now, you said bad things about Will.

We did not bother with you.

But it doesn’t mean that we are cowards.

If you dare to say any other bad words about these two kids, don’t blame me for treating you rudely.”

Lydia and Jessie knew that they couldn’t get any advantages, so they could only leave with dull anger.

In the past, no matter what they said, Herman and Elaine would not take it too seriously in order to maintain the relationship.

But this time....

The result was something they never expected.

“After seeing them leave, Elaine looked at Herman surprisedly.

“In the past, you didn’t take their words into your hearts, right?

Why do you change yourself now?”

“The past things have passed.

We know our own son — even if they accused him.”

Herman didn’t care before, but that didn’t mean he could still be indifferent now.

“Now it’s different.

Sarah is our daughter-in-law, we can’t let her be bullied.”

Elaine was finally satisfied.

“She had been thinking of retorting them for a long time.

The only reason she didn’t do this was that Lydia and Jessie were Herman’s sisters.”

Now things changed.

Herman knew to resist now.

“Will.” Elaine was more concerned about one thing.

“Are the things you just said true?”

Have Lydia and Jess really done those ridiculous things?"

"I made it up." Will's face was calm.

"I haven't paid attention to their lives over the years.

So I don't know how they live."

"But you said that so seriously!"

Elaine glared at Will.

Just now she had believed Will's words!"

"I just said that to tell them..."

We live in an Internet era.

People couldn't know an online news is real or fake."

Will said slowly, with his own considerations in his heart.

"As long as I spread these news, even if they are fake, their lives will be greatly affected."

Only when the knife fell on their own bodies would they know how much it hurt.

"Elaine, however, warned him.

"Just threaten them is OK.

Don't really do it."

Spreading rumors was illegal.

No matter how much you disliked someone, you couldn't retaliate them by spreading rumors.

"I know." Will knew it well in mind.

He curved his lips, smiling nicely.

"I just want to scare them."

"They shouldn't come after this time."

Elaine felt guilty about Sarah.

"I didn't expect them to come suddenly today.

if I had known, I would have let the bodyguards stop them."

"Sarah, I'm sorry." Elaine took her hand, "I made you suffer today."

"It's okay, Captain has settled everything."

Sarah didn't particularly care about the eyes of the onlookers, so she didn't feel anything.

"Do you guys really not mind that I'm a second married woman?"

People of the luxurious families generally treated this kind of things seriously.

At least, among quite a few families she knew, people would care about it.

"That's not a big deal."

Elaine really didn't care about it.

So she also told Sarah a heartfelt word.

"Your uncle and I might only consider it if you had a child with you."

"Consider what?" Will raised his eyebrows and stood by Sarah's side.

"Elaine was stunned for a while.

Then she asked him naturally, "Don't you know about it?"

Of course we'll consider whether you are impulsive or truly like her.”
Although Will had grown up.
But in their minds, Will was still a kid who would be impulsive of loving others without full consideration.
“If Will was in a crush, he would be impulsive for only a while.
Then when the interest receded, it was very likely that he would care about Sarah’s past.”
A girl who has experienced an unhappy marriage will have a hard time carrying through a second marriage that also failed.
So she had to think about it.
“Have you seen any impulse that can last for a few years without interruption?”
Will’s skin was fair.
And he looked handsome and at ease.”
Elaine froze for a moment.
It seemed to be reasonable...
Will had liked Sarah for so many years, it couldn’t be a spur of the moment.
“The person I like is her.” Will made his heart very obvious,
“Nothing else.”
Sarah’s eyes twitched and fell on him.
“Will squeezed her palm.
Then he spoke to Herman and Elaine.
“I have to work tomorrow.
We gotta go.
We’ll come back to visit you when we’re free.”
“Okay.”
“Drive slowly when you go back.”
“Herman and Elaine didn’t try to keep them.
They knew that it was the time to give the two of them more time being together without interruption.”
Sarah also said goodbye to them.
When they left.
“Elaine took a very nice envelope and handed it to Sarah.
And she whispered to Sarah.
“There’s an answer you want in here.”
Sarah was bewildered for a moment.
Elaine whispered in her ear again, “Nickname.”
“Thank you, auntie.” Sarah took it.
“Goodbye, honey.”
Elaine liked Sarah more and more when she looked at her.
Her eyes were full of tenderness.
“Come back to play with auntie when you’re free.
But don’t buy anything if you come next time.”
“Sarah said, “Okay.”
Then she left with Will.”
The car was driven by Will when they went back.

“Will glanced towards Sarah on the passenger side. His eyes were dark and nice.

“What did my mom say to you when you left?”

“Nothing.” “Don’t you tell me the truth? Really?”

“It’s nothing.” Sarah now also learned to lie seriously, “just said that she liked the gift I gave her the most, you and uncle sent can not compare.”

Will believed it.

After all, this has been said once before in front of them.

The first thing you need to do is to take the paper envelope in your hand and not open it, now if you open it, in case Captain sees a handful of snatching it over.

The two arrived home at about five o’clock in the afternoon.

The first time Sarah slipped into his room, Will a second before she closed the door also walked in, but also blocked her body to close the door.

Chapter 426 She wondered if he was trying to plot something

“Captain?” Sarah was a little confused.

She was not quite sure what he was doing coming in.

“Will walked in and closed the door.

He glanced at the envelope in her hand.

And the corners of his lips raised in a nice curve.

“What’s in the envelope? Let me see.”

“No!” Sarah quickly put the envelope behind her back.

Will walked towards her step by step.

Sarah kept backing up.

A few moments later.

Her back hit the wall.

“Will came in front of her and slightly leaned down to close the distance with her.

“What is it that you want to hide even from me?”

“I can’t tell you.”

“Sure?”

“Sure.”

“If I want to grab it, you can’t seem to protect it.”

Will said a rather cruel truth.

The smile at the corner of his lips was deeper than before.

“Are you sure not to show it to me?”

Sarah was speechless.

She couldn’t refute this.

She couldn’t match will with her height, her strength, or her fighting skills.

She was a loser!

“No, I’ll be angry if you grab it.”

Sarah could only reason with him, but she was not sure if it worked.

“I will ignore you for three days.”

“So fierce?” Will’s smile intensified.

Sarah nodded her head.

Looking at her like this, Will wanted to pinch her fair and tender face.
Why was this guy so cute?
“I won’t grab it if you kiss me.”
Will gave Sarah an opportunity to erase the embarrassment.”
Sarah, “...”
Even if she didn’t kiss him, he wouldn’t rob it.
Why did she want to kiss him?
“Will was tickled by her puzzled and clear eyes.
He leaned over and took the initiative to drop a kiss on her red lips.
At the same time, he wrapped his hands around her waist.”
The breath collided and the temperature rose.
The atmosphere became more and more ambiguous.
“Will finally nibbled gently on her lips.
His voice was low and dumb.
“Remember to come out after watching, your boyfriend is waiting for you to hug downstairs.”
“Okay...” Sarah answered.
At this time, she found her voice had become several degrees lower than before.
“Will smiled in a low voice.
He dropped another kiss on her red lips before releasing her.
Then he rubbed her silky soft hair and left the bedroom.”
Sarah watched him leave.
After the door closed, she touched the lips that still had a residual feeling, her cheeks were slightly hot.
How could he ... kissed her.
After calming her heartbeat, she opened the envelope that Elaine had given her, which contained a black card and a folded piece of paper.
She was going to take the two things out together, but she stopped when she touched the black card.
The feel... It was not like a business card or something like that, but it was a bit like a bank card.
She took it out instantly.
It was a black gold card.
“She had a similar black gold card, too.
Why did Elaine give her this?”
“She took out another piece of paper.
Elaine wrote that this card belonged to Captain, but it was now given to her for safekeeping.
And she also said Captain’s nickname.”
Seeing the word, Sarah froze for a moment.
The first reaction was that this nickname did not match Captain at all.
But...
It was quite funny.

She put the piece of paper away and took the black gold card downstairs to find Captain.

"The first time Will saw this card, he was not surprised.

Through the conversation, Sarah also knew that Elaine had planned to give Will the card.

Will was asked to keep this card for his parents' daughter-in-law as a gift."

Sarah returned the card to him.

They were not yet married, so she was not suitable to keep it.

"Will, however, stubbornly gave her the card.

Then he said, "Sooner or later, it will be yours, so take it."

"Then you answer me a question."

"What is it?"

"What is your nickname?" Sarah still wanted him to tell her by himself.

"At first, Will was stunned.

Then he looked at her up and down.

The low and slow voice came out of his mouth.

"Did you go to my house to find out my nickname from my parents?"

Sarah, "..."

11

Was it obvious?

"Didn't they tell you?"

Will pinched her face.

How could he be unaware of her thoughts before?"

"I did not ask them."

"Still pretending?"

"I really did not ask them." Sarah said seriously.

Will gave a light heave.

"They had been together recently, and he knew that she was a lot more cunning than before.

Otherwise, he would really have been fooled by her."

"I did ask a little." Sarah was defeated under Will's eyes.

She told him with half-truths and half-lies.

"But auntie didn't tell me.

She only said that your nickname was given together with the girl's, and the girl's is relevant with a cartoon."

"She didn't tell me anything else."

Will weighed her words, obviously pondering whether it was true or a lie.

"Sarah's acting skills were now in place.

She sincerely asked, "What exactly is your nickname?"

"Do you want to know it so much?"

"Yeah."

"I will tell you the day we marry each other."

"Captain."

||||

“Will.”

|| ||

“Brother Will.” Sarah popped up another name out.

“Will pinched her face with a little more force than before.

“Where did you learn that? Do you want to be cleaned up?”

Sarah was speechless.

She decisively shut up.

“Next time you call me like that, run five kilometers with weights.”

Will released the pinch of her face, his low voice was a little sexy,

“Do you hear that?”

“Oh.”

“Do you have something to say?”

“No.”

“Sarah did not resist.

She was good as a small cat.”

Will leaned over to close the distance with her, his voice was very nice. “Are you unhappy?”

“No.”

“Be good, I’ll go to make you something delicious.”

Will rubbed her head and got up to go cook.

“Sarah knew Will would not let her step into the kitchen.

So she simply went upstairs to her room, holding her computer to draw the ring design.”

That evening.

The two of them had dinner together.

As usual, Sarah went to bed after ten o’clock.

But Will stayed up late.

At one o’clock in the morning.

“He entered Sarah’s room very gently.

He carefully came to her bedside, then carefully and cautiously put the finger ring on her finger.”

In order to ensure that no accidents would occur, he also deliberately warmed the finger ring a little bit.

This operation...

It was exactly the same as Sarah’s.

He tried one by one and eventually recorded the middle and ring fingers’ size. “Just as he was planning to withdraw quietly, Sarah opened her eyes in a daze.

When she saw a figure by the bed, her whole body was refreshed.”

Out of instinctive reaction, she struck down at Will!

“Boom!”

A dry and crisp collision.

“Sarah recognized the figure in the darkness through the other party’s skills.

She murmured out, “Captain?”

Will, "..."

"Should he blame himself for teaching her too well before?
Or should he blame this guy for being too vigilant?"

"He knew that he had been exposed.

So he hid the rings before going to turn on a small light, which was not strong.

He was afraid that the sudden strong light would make Sarah uncomfortable."

He slowly opened his mouth only after the light was turned on.

"It's me."

"Why are you in my room?" Sarah asked a very straightforward question.

It was past one in the morning.

Will sneaked into her room.

If it were any other person, she would have to wonder if he was trying to plot something.

But Captain... He was not such a person.

Chapter 427 Do you like boys or girls

"I just want to see if your alertness has dropped after not training for a while."

Will said seriously, he was still at ease. a serious.

"Now it seems to be maintained well."

Sarah was still still a little confused.

"Just now, she had been forced to defend herself.

She was not really awake.

At the moment she only felt that the words were very difficult to understand."

There were no tasks that needed them to carry out.

Why did Will try her? For what?

"You can sleep, I gotta go." Will only wanted to leave now.

Sarah called him, "Wait."

"Will naturally stopped, not even the slightest look of weakness.

His tone of voice was similar to before.

"What's wrong?"

"Do you really just came to test my vigilance?"

"Mm."

"No other purpose?"

"No."

"If there was, I would have failed to get married with you." Sarah's brain also came online a little bit in the conversation with him.

Will was stunned.

What kind of people would take this to talk about things?

Sarah waited for his answer.

"You can't use this to talk to me." Will corrected, but his brain was thinking how to conceal this guy, "Change another condition."

It was just a simple sentence.

But it was enough for Sarah to understand everything.

Captain's behavior was definitely unusual!

“Previously, when they had been in the organization, Captain had also tested the vigilance of several of them.
In most cases they could recognize the tests, only in a very few cases they would fall into the pit.”

“Now there was no mission or notice of training.
In this case, it made no sense that Captain would come to test her alertness.”
The most important thing was...

“She was his girlfriend now.
And it didn’t make sense that he would do this kind of official business on private time.”

“Why this expression?” Will raised his eyebrows lightly.
“You’re not being honest.” Sarah was clueless for a moment and couldn’t guess what he came in to do, “Lie to me.”
Will, “...”

The two people stared at each other.
One was calm and unconcerned, and the other was stubborn to ask for an answer.

“After about thirty seconds, Sarah spoke once again.
She asked, “What do you want to do when you come to my room so late?”

“Must I say?” Will had already thought of a response.
Sarah replied, “Yes.”

“I want to see if you still have the symptom of insomnia.”
Will said serious, trying to pretend. ”
Sarah did not expect it to be this.
For a moment, she didn’t know how to answer it.
Will added another sentence, and also rubbed her head. “Originally I just want to see you and leave. I did not expect to wake you up.”
“I don’t have insomnia anymore.”
Sarah told him and showed him the health bracelet she wore while sleeping at night.
“You can also see this health bracelet you prepared for me, the data on that is quite accurate.”
“Hmm.” Will gave a h mph.
Sarah also did not think much more.
“After talking to her a few more times, Will let her go back to sleep.
He helped her turn off the lights and door when he left the room.”
After returning to the room he breathed a sigh of relief.
Will Gardner.
He could be dangerous to be an enemy.
“He was smart, calm, good at disguise.
As long as he wanted to tell a lie, basically no one could unravel.
Once such a person became an enemy, it would put people to despair.”
But the person he loved would be particularly happy.
He would give her all the surprises.

Even if the surprise was discovered and bumped into in the middle, he could cover it up perfectly.

“He sat in his chair and opened one of his Whats App contacts, and sent Sarah’s ring finger and middle finger circumference over.

Besides, he also sent two extremely delicate and beautiful ring design drawings.”

People would know his thoughts and efforts after scanning these things.

After sending it, he asked. “How long will it take to get the proposal ring customized?

“At least three months.” The person on the other side returned the message quickly.

Will returned. “Okay.”

Three months...

It was enough for him to get the proposal plan ready.

As long as Sarah revealed a little bit of intention to marry him, he would immediately arrange the proposal on.

“After all this, he talked to the people in the group where Sarah was not present.

He tried to find out when Sarah wanted to get married.”

As soon as he sent it out, someone in the group messaged back.

Jacob, [You can propose anytime.]

Will, [?]

Will, [What do you mean?]

“Jacob did not hesitate to sell Sarah, but not completely, [I asked her about this matter with Jim before. From her meaning, as long as you propose to her, she can agree at any time.]”

Will’s dark eyes paused for a moment when he saw this.

He immediately returned, [Are you sure you didn’t misunderstand her?

Jacob, [Sure for sure — as well as certain.]

Looking at these words.

Will fiddled with his phone and thought about it.

If Sarah really wanted to get married, there were at least three months before he could propose to her.

Three months...

Wouldn’t that be too long?

There was a moment when he wanted to rush the progress of the ring.

“But he controlled himself.

Things made in a hurry would not be as delicate and perfect as those made with enough time.

He did not want his proposal with her to have any flaws and regrets.”

Jacob, [When do you plan to propose?]

Will, [Three months later, the rings only began to customize. And the fastest will take three months to get.]

Jacob's eyes rolled.

"She immediately sent a message to Sarah.

She asked her how the proposal and ring she prepared for Captain was going."

Since

both sides wanted to propose to each other, they could finish it on one day.

That way it would be a double surprise.

"After sending a message to Sarah, she just re-messaged back in the group,

[That you can take its time preparing the proposal.

During this time, Jim and I will also try to find out what style of proposal scene she likes.]"

Will, [Okay.]

After the talk he put the phone down on the bed and went to sleep.

Perhaps it was because he had just talked about this topic, Will had a dream after he fell asleep.

"he dreamed that he proposed to Sarah successfully.

In his dream, they had a very grand wedding.

And he even dreamed that they had a lovely child." This night.

Will spent every minute in the sweetness.

"The sweetness was so good that he asked Sarah a question when he woke up and ate breakfast with her.

"Do you like boys or girls?"

Sarah. "?"

What boys and girls?

She was hesitant, and she could only ask based on her guess. "Do you mean... a child?"

"Hmm."

"I love them both."

Sarah did not pick the baby's gender.

"Both boys and girls were good.

She was in the same frame of mind."

"Last night I dreamed that we had a baby." Will still thought that dream was sweet, "It was cute and well behaved."

"Do you like children?" Sarah asked.

"Only like to have them with you." Will was telling the truth.

For children, he had never been a fan.

But when he thought that their child was the crystallization of his love with Sarah, he could not help but like it.

"Sarah glanced at Will.

Then she said seriously.

"If you really want children, we have to prepare for pregnancy in advance.

One of the preparation for pregnancy is not to stay up late."

It was just a simple sentence.
But it pulled the memories of the two back to last night.

Chapter 428 I'll watch her for you
Will's eyes glanced over her body.

"He was pondering whether she was simply saying this.
Or was she hinting to him that she was suspicious of last night's affair?"

"Given your condition last night, it doesn't seem to work." Sarah said in a serious manner.

Will laughed.

After the reunion, this guy had already said "it doesn't seem to work" several times.
She was so skeptical of his ability.

"We can try it some time, and you will know if it can work." Will said unhurriedly.
However, he was really sexy and charming when he said this.

"I'm just afraid that by then you will have other opinions." Sarah, "..."

She suspected that Captain was teasing her, but she had no evidence.

Knowing that she couldn't win Will, Sarah didn't continue this topic. She just focused on eating her breakfast.

Only after she went to the office did she return Jacob's message. "Just tell us when you plan to propose, we promise to be on call." Jacob called her and said in the phone.

"Don't tell Robert and others." Sarah felt Robert could no longer be relied on, "We can ask Julian to join in us."

Robert was on Captain's side.

"If he knew that she intended to propose to Captain, he would definitely betrayed her and talked to Captain.

Then no surprise could be left."

As for Julian.

All along he was more inclined to be on her side.

Jacob understood her concerns. "No problem."

"Hmm."

"Sarah."

"Yeah?"

"How far have you developed?"

"What?" Sarah was a little confused.

The topic had been changed too quickly."

"How far have you progressed with Captain?"

Jacob was more concerned about this issue.

Now she was full of gossip.

"Don't tell me you guys aren't doing anything right now."

Sarah, "..."

Jacob was a little surprised by her silence. "Really? Nothing was done?"

"We kissed."

"No more?"

"Nope." Sarah answered very naturally.

"Do you want to try him some time?"

If he has some problem in that aspect...
You can go to the doctor before it's too late."
Jacob said seriously.
It was really the private conversation between girls.
"He has been single for thirty years!
But he isn't enthusiastic at all!
There must be a problem!"
"Sarah coughed lightly.
Her eyes moved before she replied.
"He is very good."
Although there was nothing between them until now.
"But there were several times...
When they kissed, they were close to each other, and she could clearly feel his body's change."
She could be sure Captain was in good health.
"You have to try it to know if it's good or not." Jacob said this in a meaningful way.
"Don't you want to find a boyfriend? Robert and Julian are single.
Do you want to consider them?"
Sarah properly changed the subject and refused to talk to her about this.
"One is a cool guy, the other is a warm boy.
There is always one for you."
"No, thanks." Jacob replied her with two words.
"If she wanted to have feelings for those two people, she would have found a boyfriend long ago.
There was no need for her to be reminded. "
The two said something else before hanging up the phone.
Sarah put down the phone and then started working.
There were many kinds of feelings.
Some were bombastic, some were calm.
"The feeling between her and Captain belonged to the combination of both.
Perhaps it was because they had been together with the acquaintance of too long —
Or they had experienced too many times life and death.
Even if they were together now, they didn't change the way they communicated with each other greatly."
After all, since a long time ago, they had been acting as teammates who could deliver their lives and backs to each other.
If the difference must be found out...
"That should be to each other's possessiveness than before a lot more.
Now they wanted more to be good to each other."
In addition, there was not much difference.
But...

Jacob reminded her.

“Captain had been single for thirty years.

So she couldn't let him suffer from the aching need for a long time.”

When the proposal was successful, she would sleep with him.

“If Will knew this idea, he would certainly be very pleased.

And at the same time... he would be looking forward to see how she would sleep with him.”

Unfortunately.

He didn't know.

Some time after that.

“The two of them went to work and left the company normally.

By a chance Sarah saw Will working overtime on Gardner Group's work.

She realized that he was doing two jobs together during this time in order to be with her every day.”

“You'll start back at Gardner Group next Monday.” Sarah did not want him to be so tired, “Sivan can handle things of Angel International Group.”

“Angel International Group was now in a stable stage.

It didn't need to expand its business for the time being.

Sivan could do it alone.”

Will refused.

The reason he worked overtime recently was just that his father threw all the work to him.

“The last time, when he had gone home with Sarah, Herman had pulled him out and talked to him privately.

Herman had been acting as a miserable old man.

He had kept telling Will his hardship and the options without his own wish.

Now his son had been back home, but he still couldn't travel around the world with his wife!”

He had also said that he had also wanted a son who would love his father.

“Will hadn't exposed his father.

He had just promised to take over the business of Gardner Group, letting his parents go on a trip together.”

However...

After the promise, Herman told him not to talk to Elaine about it.

It was then that Will learned that Herman had promised Elaine to help him manage Gardner Group until his kids were in kindergarten.

“I'm just a little busy in these days. One week at most.” Will just wanted to be with Sarah.

There weren't a lot of things in Gardner Group that needed him to deal with.

“Taking over the company in the future was also a relatively easy job.

If he agreed to go back this time, it would be difficult to come back to Angel International Group later.”

“It’s better for you to go back.”

Sarah analyzed with him, and her words were very reasonable.

“Gardner Group and Angel International Group are involved in two completely different areas.

If you stay in Angel all the time, people may gossip.”

As the boss of Gardner Group, Will had been working at Angel International Group every day.

It would create a misunderstanding for Gardner Group and people outside – he preferred technology and was not nostalgic.

In that case.

Gardner Group could possibly be affected.

“Look at you. Are you eager to kick me out?” Will understood.

“No, I’m just analyzing the situation reasonably with you.”

Sarah was also planning something for her own.”

“If Captain had been here, they would have been together almost every moment of every day.

So she couldn’t plan the proposal quietly.

After all, the slightest movement would be easily discovered.”

But if he went back to work at Gardner Group, it would be different, and she would have plenty of time to set up and prepare.

If it was usual.

Will would not leave in any case.

But what he thought now was same as Sarah’s.

The proposal.

“Gardner Group is a long way from here.”

Will had agreed in his heart, but on the surface, he still intended to make things difficult.

“The two company were not in the same district.

If I go there, I will be unable to see you every day.”

“It’s okay.” Sarah replied without hesitation.

So he could still distinguish working affairs and feelings.

Talking about love was not the only thing in the world of adults. “Hey, you’re fine, but it doesn’t mean I’m fine.”

Will propped up his head with one hand, the other hand was still spinning the pen.

“I have had a hard time catching up with my girlfriend.

What can I do if she leaves me secretly?”

“I’ll help you keep an eye on her.” Sarah gave a reply after a brief moment of reflection.

“Will pulled her to his lap, making her sitting on there.

His hands wrapped around her thin and soft waist.

And his voice was lazy and sexy when he asked her.

“How can you help me keep an eye on her?”

Chapter 429 Abandon you

“Eyes help you watch.”

“Watch her run away?”

Sarah was speechless.

Bye.

Surely they couldn't have a good conversation.

“Yes.” She also exposed her renegade nature and went against him, “Watch her run away to someone else's house.”

Will pinched her on her thin waist, with a meaning of punishment. “Yes? Whose house do you want to sneak to? Tell me.”

“I'm not telling you!”

“You believe they both dare to receive you.” Will could know that she was talking about Jacob and Jim without guessing.

Sarah was speechless.

They didn't dare.

They two were cowards in front of Captain Leon.

“With your attitude like this, I will not return to Gardner Group.” Will handled her in place. He clasped her waist with a tighter force, “It's better to stay by your side and watch you personally.”

Sarah fell into silence.

She blinked her eyes, with her eyelashes looked long, “Wasn't that a joke just now?”

“I took it seriously.”

“Well.”

Will was puzzled.

Just well?

Sarah adhered to the thought of her thorough renegade nature and started her plan.

“Then I will also implement my plan. I will go to sleep with Jacob and Jim.”

“You want to organize the special training with their company so much?” Will said in a gentle tone, but the content was an unmitigated threat.

Sarah was speechless.

Although she was unwilling to admit.

She found a problem.

Even now the relationship between her and Captain Leon was lover, she was still a little afraid of him!

“Will Gardner.” Sarah called his name in an extremely serious tone.

Will was slightly surprised.

She unexpectedly changed his appellation.

“It's not right for you to do so.” Sarah kept a straight face and lectured him, “I am your girlfriend, you can't threaten me at will.” “What will happen if I threaten you.” Will asked her.

“I will be burned up.”

Although she said like that.

These words seemed to have no clout.

Will pinched her face, while his words were more playful, “What would you burn?

Hydrogen or nitrogen?”

“Abandon.” Sarah really exposed her renegade nature.

“You can have a try.” Will’s clear eyes were extremely dark, while his lazy tone revealed an obvious threat, “It just so happens that I also want to see how Miss Yeats abandons her sweetheart.”

Sarah was speechless.

Bye.

He always threatened her.

“Have you thought about how to abandon me?” Will stared at her in a good mood.

Sarah’s mind has been full of ideas, then she spoke a sentence out,

“You will know it later.”

She must ‘abandon’ Captain Leon once.

She would see if he was still fierce.

“I’m going to bed, I’ll let Sivan help you with the resignation procedure on Monday.” Sarah got out of his arms, did not play with him again, “You can go back to your Gardner Group.”

“Are you willing to let me go?”

“Yes.”

“Won’t you miss me?”

“No.”

“Little heartless girl.” Will gave her a pinch on her face, spoiling and loving.

Sarah did not make a response.

Will also gave up teasing her.

In order to make the proposal go smoothly, it was kind of a good idea to go back first.

A few moments later.

Sarah went back to her own room.

Will intended to deal with some more work, but Sarah’s words about preparing for pregnancy popped up in his head automatically.

The whole process of proposal, engagement and getting married would take less than half a year if the process is fast.

Thinking about this, he did not stay up late. He did not know when will they get married, but he was prepared for her desire to have children, so he decided not to stay up late.

Thinking of this, he decided to turn off the computer to sleep.

However.

Just a few seconds after he lay down.

A phone call came from Zack came in, and his gloating voice was heard as the phone connected, “I heard from Susan that Sarah was inquiring about your nickname?”

Will did not answer.

Instead, there was danger in his eyes.

“Do you think I should tell her.” Zack laughed wildly, he felt that he had finally turned the table, “After all, that name is quite nice.”

“If you like it so much, you can have it.” Will said in a slow tone.

“A gentleman does not take away the love of others, it is better for you to keep it for yourself." Zack got carried away with happiness. Will's thin lips pursed up a pretty arc, with his eyes turning dark.

It looked like someone's in trouble.

Zack owed a fight, he did not know that the danger has come.

"Maybe you should beg me? I will not tell her if you beg me."

"I heard that you and Susan are in a relationship."

"That's true!"

"I have videos of you flirting with girls from your childhood to adulthood." Will had a great ability to make things up in a serious way, "Do you think I should show it to her?"

"What?" Asked Zack.

The videos of flirting with girls?

He was puzzled for a moment. "When did I flirt with girls?"

Although he had shown a little bit of love for others in the past in an effort to keep his feelings under control, he had never truly flirted with anyone.

"You did it as I said." Will said in a slow tone, creating a strong psychological pressure.

Zack instantly dawned, "You want to lie?"

"No matter true or false, Susan will believe whatever I gave to her."

Will gave him a fatal blow.

Zack was furious.

Fucking Will!

All he knew was to threaten him.

He quickly clicked on the key of call recording, only then he said the next words, "You are overconfident, Susan knows everything, can she not know it is fake?"

"Are you recording?" Will opened his thin lips slightly and said three words.

Zack was shocked.

Holy shit!

How did this guy know it?

"If you want to tell Sarah, then do it, I don't care." Will really did not care, he would tell her anyway, "But do not think that if you threaten me with this, I will not tell Susan about your past." "What are you babbling about." Zack's mind collapsed, he just knew this guy was scheming before, but he never thought he would be so audacious now!

Will continued, "Susan is my childhood friend, she has the right to know those ridiculous things about you."

"You are really crazy." Zack was furious.

Will did not reply to him anymore.

Then he hung up the phone.

He went to great lengths to make it real, so he sent him a message, 'Since you want to marry Susan, you should correct your attitude.

She has the right to know the departed child.'

Zack was shocked.

Shit!

Fuck him.

Zack replied, 'Get out!'

Then he added, 'I just made a few jokes about your nickname, do you have to do so?'

He even said a departed child, nonsense!

What a bullshit!

Will did not reply him, he just put his phone on silent and then went to sleep.

Zack was so angry with him that he couldn't sleep. He was angry, so that he started to spoof. He took the WhatsApp account of Sarah from Susan, and then sent a friend request with his other account.

The next day was Saturday.

Sarah and Will were both at home.

After eating breakfast, Sarah was sitting on the sofa watching TV, and then she found a friend request when she looked at her phone.

Few people knew her WhatsApp account, so she just assumed that the other party knew her.

The request was passed. You are Sarah?' Everlasting Love said.

Yes.' Replied Sarah.

Chapter 430 It's free, who am I to say no?

Is Will Gardner your boyfriend?' Asked Everlasting Love.

Sarah subconsciously looked towards Will who was on the phone, and then replied, 'Yes.'

I'm pregnant with his child.' Said Everlasting Love.

I went to see him once, but he asked me to abort.'

Sarah was confused.

Child?

Captain Leon's?

Her mind was full of doubts, while she looked blank.

Will just saw her staring blankly at her phone after the phonecall, as if she had encountered something very puzzling.

"What's wrong?" Will walked over and hugged her.

Sarah blinked her eyes.

Will locked eyes with her.

What was going on here?

"Your" Sarah was thinking of wording, "Your lover said she was pregnant with your child, and she also said you asked her to abort the child when she visited you to force you to be responsible for her."

Will was puzzled.

Will was extremely puzzled.

Sarah handed him the phone and let him see by himself.

Although she didn't know who this person was, what she could be sure of was that this was either a prank or someone was trying to ruin her relationship with Captain Leon.

She couldn't promise anything else.
But what she could say for sure was that Captain Leon could never do such a thing.
Will went through all the dialogue.
He didn't even have to guess that it was Zack's other account.
"If I'm not mistaken, it was Zack who pretended to be her." Will handed the phone back to her and incidentally said the reason, "I had an argument with him last night, and I pissed him off. He probably wanted to pull a prank and see us quarrel."
"So that's it." Sarah rolled her eyes.
Everlasting Love send a message again, 'Can you help me talk to him, so that he would not force me to abort this child.'
Okay.' Replied Sarah.
At Susan's side, Zack was puzzled.
Okay?
Was Sarah... normal?
Everlasting Love continued, 'Really!
Well, the child is innocent.' Replied Sarah.
Zack was petrified there. Over and over again, he wondered if Sarah's brain circuits were working.
Seeing his reacted a little bit, Susan casually asked, "What are you doing?"
"Nothing." Zack did not dare to admit what he did, while he was afraid of being beaten.
Then Susan ignored him.
Zack came over and asked curiously, "I want to ask you a question."
"Say it."
"What would you do if one day my lover out there got pregnant, and I asked her to abort the child, but she begged you to let her keep the child?" Zack was really interested in knowing what a normal person would do about this matter.
"What?" Asked Susan.
Susan's eyes instantly became dangerous.
Zack immediately explained, "I said if! If!"
"I will put you two in a cage and sink you into the sea." Susan gave him a word.
Zack made a detailed inquiry, "So you won't agree to let her have a child?"
Susan stared at him suspiciously.
Finally she asked a question, "You asked so carefully, do you have someone outside?"
"How is it possible, I will only like you in my whole life." Zack said in an extremely serious tone, he would not lie to Susan, "I will never do anything wrong to you."
Susan gave him a blank stare and then ignored him.
Zack continued to talk to Sarah, 'Thank you, you are a good person.'
Have you got money? If you don't have money, I'll give you some. It's still quite costly to have and bear a child.' Asked Sarah.

Zack was speechless.

Awesome.

He really couldn't continue to talk with her.

The original idea was to let Sarah ask Will by this method, and then let the two have a little conflict to revenge himself on Will for what happened last night.

Now it seemed that.

He made a mistake.

"Susan....." Zack handed her the phone and chose to confess, "You can find Sarah to talk to her sometime, I believe her brain circuit is a little strange."

To be precise.

Not strange, but odd.

Susan was bewildered, and she had no idea how Sarah was involved again.

After she finished reading their chat logs, she understood everything.

She handed the phone back to Zack and said something that made him extremely shock. "She was right."

"How is it right!" Zack was completely confused, "You said you will sink us into the sea when I asked you before, but Sarah's answer was clearly..... stupid."

"You are stupid." Susan said in an indiffernt tone.

Although she didn't have much contact with Sarah, she still knew that Sarah was never a person who could endure these.

Such being the case, there was only one reason that Sarah knew that the person she was talking to was playing a prank.

Zack was puzzled. "What do you mean?"

"Don't play mind games with Will and Sarah." Susan was a person who knew everything, "The two of them are much smarter than you think."

"What?" Asked Zack.

What did she mean?

How come he still didn't understand?

But Susan did not tell him more, she just sighed in her heart and wondered why was there such a stupid person.

Seeing that he did not reply the message for a long time, then Sarah chatting with Will. "He did not reply the message."

"He should be in doubt about life." Will hugged her.

Sarah was a little curious, "What kind of argument did you have last night?"

Will remained silent on this question.

He couldn't say it for now.

"What he did won't hurt your friendship, but it will make trouble for you." Sarah worked her brain to make a guess, "From what I've seen, he's cocky, but he's not the kind of guy who would do something like that at will."

One careless move could ruin their relationship.

Zack would not just mess around.

In that case.....

"Maybe Susan had something to do with the argument you had with him last night?" Sarah asked.

Will didn't hide it, he just told her about his threat to Zack last night.

Sarah froze for a moment.

She didn't expect Captain Leon to be so childish.

"You're not afraid of ruining his relationship with Susan?"

"I won't do it, Susan knew who Zack was. Even if I did it, Susan's reaction should be the same as you just now." Will knew both of them, "Only Susan might take the opportunity to beat Zack up."

Then Sarah was relieved and focused on another thing. "Then how did Zack mess with you?"

Captain Leon would not do something for no reason.

Unless Zack made trouble first.

Will was speechless.

"I think he threatened you with your nickname." This was the only thing Sarah could think of.

"Don't do random guess, you will never guess." Will avoided her answer while his eyes fell on her phone, "He sent you a message."

Sarah was diverted.

Everlasting Love said, 'I have no money, but don't worry, I will work hard to raise this child, thank you for making it happen.' Sarah's eyes lingered on it for a moment before she sent a message back. 'Give me your credit card number, I'll wire you 10 million dollars.'

Zack was totally confused.

Really?

He didn't care if he was role-playing, he immediately copied his credit card number and sent it.

Ten million for nothing, who was he to say no!

Chapter 431 Give birth to a child

Staring at the long string of numbers, Sarah did not know how to reply for a moment.

Should she say that Zack was naive, or he was just stupid?

After a moment of hesitation, she sent him a message, 'Give me the name of your bank account.'

Zack was just thinking about the 10 million. He didn't think anything of it. He just texted the name, 'Zack Snyder.'

Sarah was speechless.

Sarah was just about to type back to him.

Zack withdrew the message.

Staring at the word 'typing' above, for the first time Zack felt himself was like a fool. How did... he send his name over?

When thinking about this, Will sent him a message, with a tone of taunt, 'Brain is a good thing, but you have nothing to do with it.'

Then a phone call from Zack came in.

Will answered.

"You know it's me?" That's what Zack started with, he was still a little unconvinced that he would be found out with such superb acting skills.

"No one but you would do such a stupid thing." Will's words hurt, "It seems that I have to talk to Susan sometime, I will let her consider carefully whether she wants to be with you or not."

"What do you mean."

"The IQ of her boyfriend will affect the next generation."

"Shit!"

Zack got angry.

Susan sat down on the sofa and curled up into a small ball, with a pair of eyes that was dark, bright and large. "You really do not know they are teasing you?"

"I" He certainly did not know!

Zack was tempted to say this sentence.

But he also knew it.

The consequences of saying this were absolutely miserable.

Being criticized by Susan was a small thing, but he was afraid that Susan really thought he was stupid, and she would want to break up with him.

"I definitely know it." He changed the sentence and said in a serious tone, "I just thought they were bored and wanted to amuse them, but they were too deep in the play."

Susan gave him a scornful look.

She knew Zack's poor intelligence.

All this time they've been together, he still thought that Susan was into that boy from the Davis family.

He was really...

He was really stupid enough.

She did not answer his words again, just turned on the TV and began to watch.

"Don't assume everyone's IQ is the same as yours." Will knew it well how to hurt people with words, "Susan is smarter than you."

Zack was speechless.

He wanted to beat this guy up.

He was really talkative!

"She is my wife, she must be smart." Zack began to counterattack, "But you, did Sarah know your nickname? Do you want me to talk to her?"

"You can have a try."

"I will just give it a try."

Zack hung up the phone with a snap.

As if Will knew what Zack was thinking, after he put his phone aside, he immediately took Sarah's phone and unfriended Everlasting Love, without forgetting to add him to the blacklist.

Zack sent Sarah a message, but it was shown that he was not yet her friend.

This made him angry enough.

He really wanted to fight back, but he couldn't. And every time he succeeded, he would be miserable.

After Will unfriended and blacklisted Zack, he just left Zack alone, and whatever Zack tried to do, Will could handle it.

What he concerned more is that.

What Sarah was going to do with him this weekend.

Once he was back in Gardner Group, he couldn't be back every day.

The road from Gardner Group to here was particularly congested. To describe it in an exaggerated way, it could be congested from afternoon to the next morning.

She just drove him away without giving any compensation?

"Sarah."

"Yes?"

"Aren't you going to say something?"

"What?"

"You want to drive me away without any compensation?" Will's eyes fell on her, with a clear and shallow arc between his good-looking eyebrows,

"After going over there, I can only come back once a week."

Sarah nodded, "I know."

This was exactly the result she wanted.

Only when he was not at home, she could plan properly without having to worry about being found out or anything like that.

Will was speechless.

She knew?

It was just like the answer she would say.

"Don't worry, I'll come over to you when I'm free." Sarah added this sentence.

For this.

Will was despaired about this.

From what he knew of Sarah, she was not one of those people who would live one day apart like three years, and it was almost impossible for her to come to him on her own initiative.

The fact was similar to his guess, since he went to work in Gardner Group, Sarah did not come to see him.

In the twinkling of an eye.

A few more days have passed. Will was still working for Gardner Group.

He was going to come back this Friday at noon, but Sarah refused.

She called him back in the hospital and made it clear to him. "I won't go back this week. Eve has just entered the delivery room. I have to stay with her for a few days."

Whether the birth went well or not, she had to be with her for the rest of the day.

Her parents were gone, and she had no lover.

She was the only friend she had.

“Fine.” Will knew the relationship between the two, “Don’t get too tired.”

Sarah agreed, then the two ended the call.

She made arrangements early to make sure everything went smoothly during the birth.

When Eve’s file was transferred here, Sarah chose a private hospital with excellent medical resources. This hospital had a close relationship with Bella, with its excellent medical technology and staff.

As she waited, a leaner figure appeared in the corridor.

She saw him because she was the only one there.

Edgar Williams.

Her eyebrows wrinkled.

She didn’t know how to describe her feelings right now.

As Eve’s friend, she did not hope to see Edgar here.

But she knew, Eve did not completely forget Edgar. His appearance here right now was very likely to let Eve’ affection that had been covered take root again.

“I won’t bother her.” Edgar said this before Sarah could speak, “I will leave as soon as I make sure she is safe.” Sarah did not say anything and continued to wait.

Waiting was suffering, Edgar sat there with his palm covering with sweat. His heart had been tight as soon as he came in.

Fortunately, the whole process went smoothly.

The moment the nurse opened the door and came out with the baby, Edgar stood up and walked over, while his eyes covered with worry and panic. “How is the mother? Is she okay? Did it go well?” Three questions in a row.

The eyes of Sarah and the nurse fell on him.

The nurse didn’t make them wait too long and told them all about Eve and the baby. “Everything went well, the mother and daughter are all safe, she born a princess.”

“That’s good...” Edgar was relieved.

His eyes fell on the child in the nurse’s arms, and there was tenderness between his eyes.

Although the child was wrinkled, he was sure that she would grow up to be a beautiful girl as Eve.

The nurse took the child away.

Not long after that, Eve was also pushed out

Chapter 432 Sarah wanted a baby

A second before she came out, Edgar concealed his figure in advance and did not appear in front of her.

Sarah noticed it, but she did not show it. She just sent Eve back to the ward together with the nurses.

Eve had a normal delivery.

The nurses gave instructions and took the baby here, then they left.

Sarah had never given birth to a child, and did not know what it was like. She only saw the netizen described that it was very painful, so painful that they doubted they could not bear.

“How are you?” Asked Sarah.

“I’m okay.” Eve was just a little weak, her eyes fell on the child next to her. “It was painful before I gave birth, so painful that I swore I would never give birth again, but now I think it’s all worth it.”

Sarah glanced at the baby.

It was crumpled.

A little ugly.....

“Do you think she’s ugly?” Eve quipped, as she was aware of Sarah’s face obsession. Sarah felt a little guilty. “It’s okay.”

“Most of the newly born children look like this, it will be fine after they growing several days.” Eve smiled, the bottom of her eyes had satisfaction and compassion for the child, “Babies grow quickly.” “Do you want to hug?” Eve asked, as she saw her itch to try.

Sarah pursed her lips, “Can I?”

“Of course you can.” Eve lost her smile.

Sarah held her breath and slowed down her breathing and movements, then she carefully held the child in her arms.

She didn’t know why, she just felt the baby was crumpled and ugly, but when she felt the little one in her arms, her unconsciously had an affection for her.

So tiny...

“Do you want one?” Eve noticed the look on her face.

Sarah glanced at her and nodded after a brief thought, “Yes.”

She didn’t feel much before, but at this moment, staring at the tiny one in her arms, she just felt that life was so amazing.

She put the baby to sleep after holding it for a while.

In the following period of time, Sarah almost stayed with Eve all the time. The company’s affairs were all given to Sivan to deal with, she did not have to worry too much.

She booked a bed at the postpartum care center for Eve. Sarah knew that she liked performing industry, so she also arranged a special postnatal repair project.

From physical repair to psychological repair.

All of them were arranged.

At first, when Eve refused when she saw the fully equipped, luxurious and comfortable care center, she knew this place was very expensive.

But when Sarah told her to take care of her body before she could devote herself to the industry she loved, she agreed.

Eve spent the whole month here. Sarah was here with her for the first half month, and then the company needed her to handle some things, so she came every afternoon.

As for the child’s registered permanent residence.

Sarah helped her to register.

Her nickname was October, while her official name was Suri Kent.
In a flash.
A month has passed.
During this month, Sarah witnessed the child change from one day to the next, and now she was already very cute and soft.
In order to ensure that Eve's body could recover to the best condition, Sarah let her stay in the care center for more than 40 days. She originally intended to let her continue to live, but Eve directly slipped away. Sarah had to take her back.
But unexpectedly, when they left the care center, they saw Edgar sitting downstairs.
They stood eye to eye.
Edgar's first reaction was to slip away.
He promised that he would leave her alone, then he would follow it.
"Edgar." Eve called him.
Edgar's body stiffened, his felt his feet were like being filled with lead that made him stand still, he was just like a deadman.
Eve didn't know what was wrong with her.
Perhaps it was the birth of the child, or the psychological counselling in the care center, she seemed to have suddenly got over many things.
"Do you want to come and see her?" Eve took the initiative to say this in a very normal tone.
This place was not a mall restaurant, and Edgar should not be here.
Unless... He knew that she had given birth to a child.
Sarah was a little worried about her, "Eve..."
"It's okay." Eve was now in a much better frame of mind, "After all, he is October's father, I can't really let the child only have a mother."
Her childhood was unhappy.
But she hoped that her child's childhood would be complete.
At least, the role of the father could exist part of the time.
Edgar's heart shook and he turned around with difficulty.
His eyes fell on Eve's face. He moved his lips and wanted to say something, but nothing came out.
But the pair of eyes that were extremely complicated expressed everything.
After a long while.
Only then did he ask in a dark voice, "Is it okay?"
"You are her father and have the right to see her." Eve was now thinking more about the child, she suddenly seemed to care less about herself, "Of course, if you don't like..."
"I'd like to!"
Edgar quickly blurted out.
He walked over with his heavy step and stopped a step away from her.

It has been too long...

It has been a long time since he had been so close to her.

"I..." Edgar opened his mouth, but couldn't get the words out.

Eve did not speak, she just lowered her eyes to look at the child who was sleeping soundly.

Edgar's hands hanging at his sides moved, his heart torn a million times before he asked, "Can I, can I hold her?"

"Do you know how to hold a child?" Eve asked a very direct question.

Sarah was also curious about this question.

She had been able to hold a child since she was young because she had brought Muffin up after she was born.

She was just too young, she did not have too much feelings about things, only knowing that she had a cute sister.

"I do!" Edgar blurted out, wiping his hand on his own body. It could be seen that he was very nervous.

Eve was a little hesitant.

It wasn't that she didn't believe him, but mainly because the child was too delicate.

Edgar was afraid that she did not believe in him, so he added, "I have specifically attended a daddy training camp to learn it before,

I knew how to hold the child, as well as how to change the diaper."

The moment this statement was made.

Eve and Sarah both dropped their eyes on him.

Sarah's eyes twitched.

So after being beaten up by Captain Leon that time, Edgar didn't show up again because he went to the daddy training camp?

"I mean it." Edgar thought Eve didn't believe in him and emphasized a bit, but he lowered his tone a bit considering the reason the child was sleeping.

In fact.

It was not just the child.

He also learned what a husband can do during pregnancy to make his wife happy. In addition, he also learned the birth process, and what he needed to do after delivery. He learned it all.

The reason why he did all this.

Was for him to do these things when Eve needed him. Instead of doing nothing for her when she needed him, except for being excited.

Eve was torn for a few moments, but she still agreed to let him hold the child. "Then please be careful, she just fell asleep."

Edgar agreed.

Just when Eve was worried.

He took the child from her arms with an extremely natural manner and held it in his arms skillfully.

Staring at the child's soft face and tightly closed eyes, his eyebrows were full of soft dotting and love, he was unable to let go of it.

Chapter 433 This seat is not yours.

“What is her name?” Edgar asked with a few more moments of joy in his heart.

“Her nickname is October, and her full name is Suri Kent.” Eve answered, glancing at his face.

She thought Edgar would mind the child taking her last name.

But he showed no sign of displeasure.

On the contrary.

There was a smile on his face when he heard the names. “Nice.”

“Go back first.” Sarah spoke appropriately. Whether it was Eve or October, it was better not to let them be in a draught. “It’s quite windy here.”

“Okay.” Eve responded.

Hearing this.

The joy in Edgar’s eyes darkened for a moment.

He realized that they would be leaving soon.

Edgar took one more look at the child in his arms, and there was deep reluctance in his eyes. But he could not keep the child for all he wanted.

With all kinds of emotions interwoven, he gave the child back to Eve.

Eve didn’t know why Edgar suddenly gave the child back to her, but didn’t say anything. She picked up the child and walked with Sarah towards the car.

Sarah opened the car door for her.

It wasn’t until the car door closed that Eve found Edgar standing there and did not follow.

Sarah sat in the driver’s seat and knew what Eve was thinking. She said impatiently to Edgar before Eve spoke, “What are you still standing there for? Don’t you get on?”

Edgar instantly returned to his senses.

His darkened eyes were refreshed.

Get on?

Was that what he understood?

“You have three seconds to think.” Sarah showed no mercy to him. “Three.”

“On!” Edgar did not care if he misunderstood. He immediately walked towards the car.

There was still the surprise in his eyes that he had not had time to hide.

He knew that if Sarah agreed to let him get in the car, it meant that Eve also agreed.

Did it mean that he was able to spend more time with Eve and October again?

The moment he thought of this.

The heart rose with uncontrollable joy and happiness.

He wanted to open the back door and sit in, but found that it was a little inappropriate.

Sarah had always been excellent to Eve, so it was normal for Eve to sit in the back seat of the car with the child in her arms. But if he was also sitting in the back seat, wouldn’t that treat Sarah as a driver?

Thinking about this.

Edgar decisively open the passenger door.

“What are you doing?” Sarah looked at him a little unpleasantly.

“Get in the car.” Edgar was so filled with happiness at the moment that when he said this, his eyes still had the joy which hadn’t receded down. “Didn’t you let me on?”

“Go sit in the back.”

“Why?”

“This seat is not yours.” Sarah made the words very clear.

Edgar was suddenly speechless.

He resolutely sat in the back.

If it were usual, he would definitely complain first, and then scold Sarah for not knowing his good intentions.

But now he didn't want to complain about anything at all, only to thank her.

Since Eve was discharged from the hospital and came to the confinement center, he had been wandering downstairs around the confinement center frequently and naturally knew that Sarah had helped Eve a lot for over a month.

He was very grateful for this.

After Edgar got into the car, Sarah started the car and left.

In order to see Eve and her child more often in the future, she intended to give them her own set of villa to live in.

Of course.

The most important reason was to see how to raise a child.

After the car drove into the villa area, Edgar was surprised by the outside environment. The greenery area was much larger than what he expected and the surrounding scenery was beautiful.

He had always known that there was a district of villas covering a large area in the prime lot of New York, and there were only twelve villas inside, which were sold at sky-high prices.

But what he didn't expect was that one of them belonged to Sarah.

This woman!

She deserved to be the miss of the Yeats Group!

“Miss Yeats.” Edgar relaxed his mood while talking.

Thinking he was mocking her, Sarah's tone was a bit cold, “What's the matter with you?”

Edgar felt confused.

Did he piss her off?

He didn't think too much about it, and directly said the key point, “Does anyone sell houses in your villa area here? I want to buy one.”

“You're not qualified.”

“I have money!”

“I'm talking about the qualification to buy a house.” Sarah added.

Not everyone could buy a house in this villa area, and one of the most basic requirements was to be a native New Yorker.

If one had to buy it.

He needed the help of at least two owners who lived here.

She wouldn't help him, and neither would Captain Leon.

As for the others, they were either abroad all year round, or they were the kind of people who were not nosy.

“Is there no other way?” Edgar felt a little regretful.

Sarah did not answer.

Not going to talk to him again.

After the car arrived at her villa 6, it was parked in the garage.

Because it was prepared in advance, there were servants and bodyguards in the villa.

Sarah took Eve to the second floor. On the third floor was her room and Captain Leon's room.

Although Captain Leon let her live on his side, she still prepared everything for him over here.

While Eve was putting the child to sleep, Edgar pulled Sarah out, hesitating to say something.

"Is there anyone selling a house in this villa area?"

"Yes, there is one."

"Really?"

"Yes." Sarah didn't hide it from him.

"Then can you help me buy that house? Any amount of money, I can afford it." Edgar said it very seriously, without any joke in it.

Sarah refused, "No."

"Why?"

"There is no reason."

"As long as you help me, I can promise you a request." Edgar stated his purpose, "Please help me, just because I want to give my daughter something as a father."

Sarah paused and was a little surprised, "You want to buy it for October?"

"Yes,"

Edgar nodded his head.

In fact, he wanted to buy it for Eve.

But he knew Eve's character, and she would not accept it if he gave her the house directly. He could only give it to her in another way.

"Let me think about it." Sarah did not immediately refuse. "Don't tell Eve, she'll refuse if she knows." Edgar knew her character, and he had grown a lot during this time. "I really just want to give them something, no other ideas." Sarah gave him a look and did not give a reply right away.

This matter must be told to Eve, and she couldn't hide such a big thing from Eve.

She went to the second floor.

Eve just put the child down to sleep.

"What's wrong?" Seeing that Sarah had something to say, Eve asked, "Does Edgar get you in trouble?"

"He wants to buy a house for October." Sarah said to Eve, "The house here."

Eve was stunned for a moment.

She had spent a long time in the entertainment industry.

Naturally, she also knew that people who could live in this place were representatives of status and wealth in New York.

"This matter will be discussed until October grows up." Eve didn't accept it, and was very rational, "It will depend on whether she wants it or not."

Sarah agreed with her.
She guessed that Eve would answer like this.
“By the way, there’s something I haven’t told you.” Sarah thought for a moment and opened her mouth.

Chapter 434 When are we going to have a baby?

“What?” Eve asked very naturally.

“Edgar came to the hospital the day you gave birth to October. I didn’t tell him about your due date. He came on his own.” Sarah told Eve what happened that day so she could make her choice. “But before you came out of the delivery room, he went into hiding.”

Eve was stunned.

It would be a lie to say that there were no mood swings.

People are emotional. Once on shore, one prays no more.

Eve was silent for a long moment before she spoke, with an imperceptible complex of emotions in her tone. “It’s normal for him to come. October is also his child after all.” Sarah did not say more.

She knew that Edgar had come for Eve, which Eve herself also knew.

It meant that Eve did not want to have any emotional involvement with Edgar since she said this.

“I’ll go down and talk to him about October.” Eve straightened the long hair that spread around her ears, still rationally.

Sarah told her to go at ease, she helped her watch the baby.

Looking at the baby sleeping soundly on the bed, Sarah unconsciously raised a gentle smile at the corner of her lips. She really wanted to reach out her hand and poke the baby’s face, but was afraid to wake her up.

With her itching heart.

She took out her cell phone and sent Will a message.

In order to make sure that the special prompt tone would not disturb little October’s sleep, Sarah also started the program to turn off the tone temporarily.

Sarah, [When are we going to have a baby?]

At this time, Will was handing over all his work to his secretary.

When he saw the message from Sarah, he put down the work in his hands. The corners of his lips raised a pleasant arc. He texted her back, [As long as we get the marriage license, we can have a child at any time.]

Confession, falling in love, proposing, getting engaged, getting married, getting pregnant and having a baby.

This process could not be messed up.

Aaron was waiting there holding the documents, looking at the expression of his young master, and had a bold guess in his heart.

He guessed that Will must be sending a message to his wife.

“Master.”

“You go first, I’ll call you later if something comes up.” Will thought Aaron was waiting impatiently and took the initiative to say this.

Aaron’s desire for gossip couldn’t be hidden, “I’m not busy. Are you messaging your wife?”

My wife?' Will repeated it in his mind.
And he briefly thought of it for a moment.
Then his eyes were tinged with a satisfied smile, and he gave a humph.
"Can you wife win you?" Aaron was more concerned about this question. Until now he still remembered his young master's criteria for choosing a spouse, "Can she protect you?"
"I can protect her." Will only said these four words.
Aaron didn't understand.
He was a little skeptical.
He stood there looking at Will, wanting to say something but then stopped.
Will noticed it and asked, "What's wrong?"
"Didn't you used to say that you wanted someone who could win you and protect you?" Aaron clutched the file, but his heart was on the gossip. "Why are all the requirements different now?"
"You don't understand." Will replied, with his lazy voice and undisciplined temperament.
Aaron looked puzzled.
Will looked at Aaron after returning the message. His thin lips opened slightly, and he said word by word. "To truly love someone is to be willing to lose to this person. As long as the opponent is her, I willingly admit my defeat."
Aaron was suddenly speechless.
Wasn't this the flaunt of their love?
A little envy.
Will had dealt with the important things. He took out the last document from the drawer and gave it to Aaron, "You can call me about important things that can't be handled, and you can decide on other things after weighing the pros and cons." "
"What about you?" Aaron pushed his glasses.
"I'm going to prepare for my proposal and wedding." Will stood up with the phone. Because of Sarah's words just now, he were in a good mood. "If not necessary, Don't bother me for months."
Aaron felt a little devastated.
Should he tell the young master that he had only come to Gardner Group for two months of work?
He just quit?
"My young master."
"What's wrong?"
"Are you serious?" Aaron asked with particular seriousness.
Will returned carelessly, "Of course!"
"Didn't Chairman Gardner let you manage Gardner Group well?"
Aaron had thought that he could have follow Will to make some achievements, but the young master didn't seem to have the entrepreneurial spirit he imagined. "I can ask someone to help you prepare for your proposal and wedding."
"I don't want to leave any things about her to others." Will's thin lips opened slightly, and he said words from the heart. "As for the Gardner Group, just maintain the status quo.”

His life was not short of food and money.
He could go and do what he wanted to do.
Aaron could only obey Will. He felt very curious and really wondered who was the person that his young master would be willing to lose to.
“Come on!” Will had been adhering to the philosophy of giving enough money to retain talent. “From this month, your salary will be doubled, and the performance bonus will be increased by two points.” ”
“Okay my young master!” Aaron suddenly felt energetic, “Just go and fall in love. It’s will be no problem to let me be in charge of the company.”
Will patted his shoulder, took the phone and car keys and went out.
Aaron sent him off with a smile.
Double pay and two points of performance bonus!
A lot of money!
Will was really generous!’ thought Aaron.
Sarah didn’t know that Will had arranged things for the Gardner Group. Looking at the message he returned, she fell into hesitation. Could they have a baby at any time after getting a marriage license?
In another month or so, the proposal ring should arrive.
After proposing, she would take Captain Leon back to meet her father. Then after another month or two, they should be able to get their marriage license.
With this in mind, Sarah quickly replied with one word, [Okay.]
After the message was sent.
She took a few more pictures of the sleeping October.
As for Eve.
At this moment, she was still chatting with Edgar.
After talking about some basic issues, Edgar seemed to know Eve’s concerns and comforted her, “Don’t worry, I won’t tell my parents about the baby’s existence, and I won’t let them know.” He knew the character of his parents.
Once they knew that Eve had given birth to a child, they would try everything to snatch the child back.
He knew that October belonged to Eve.
No one was qualified to snatch her away. Including himself.
“Thanks.” Eve was indeed worried about this.
“I had also let my subordinates pacify your parents, and I didn’t tell them about your pregnancy and childbirth.” Edgar said slowly, “You don’t have to worry about them coming out to trouble you.”
Eve pressed her lips together and her heart was a little complicated. She said thanks again to Edgar as she did just now.
To ordinary people, mother and father were two very warm people.
But for her.
They were a nightmare and trouble.
Since childhood, it had always been.

“Edgar.” Eve called out to him.

“Say.”

“Can you lift the ban on me?” Eve looked up at him, feeling a little stuffy in her heart, “I want to go back to that place and fulfill my dreams.”

Ever since she fell out with Edgar and her agent called to inform her that the company had decided to abandon her, she completely disappeared from the entertainment industry. Almost a year’s time. It was enough for the audience to fade her into oblivion.

Chapter 435 I love you, Eve.

“Your ban has long been gone.” Edgar confessed to her.

Eve was stunned.

Her beautiful eyes were a bit puzzled and confused, “What do you mean?”

“Shortly after you were blocked by me, someone paid a high price for your freedom.”

Edgar had a guilty conscience about this matter. “You are now free, no one can block you.”

Eve’s heart was flooded with emotions, “Who paid it?”

“If I guess correctly, it should be Sarah.” Edgar was also just guessing.

He wasn’t sure whether it was her or not.

At that time, the company executives called him and said that someone offered to cancel the contract between them and Eve, and he refused.

But he didn’t realize that the person had a powerful lawyer and negotiated with them. In the end.

He could only return Eve’s freedom.

“I’m sorry about the past, but I can assure you, I never meant to hurt you.” Edgar still wanted to talk to Eve properly, “I forced you to kill the child before because I heard that keeping the child would cause you a lot of harm.”

At that time, although he misunderstood that the child was not his, the real reason he wanted her to abort the child was because he was afraid that something would happen to her.

He just didn’t expect that he had been lied to.

“The past has passed, there is no need to talk about it again.” Eve made it very clear,

“October and I are both fine now, I won’t stop you from seeing her if you want to.”

“What about you?”

“What?”

“Do you want to see me?” Edgar asked these words carefully.

Eve’s eyes moved, and after a moment of silence, she said a heartless sentence. “We are just two strangers who know each other, there is no such thing as wanting to see or not.”

She knew what Edgar wanted to say, and she also knew that her heart had wavered from the moment she learned that he was waiting outside the delivery room.

But she had to pinch off this thought that came out of her heart.

She and Edgar.

Not suitable.

“I want to see you.” Edgar’s palm was full of nervous sweat, “I want to see you every day and every night and every moment.”

Eve stopped him from saying more, “Edgar.”

“I love you, Eve.” Edgar confessed. His dark eyes were flooded with intense love.

“Whether you still love me or not, I love you.”

These words made Eve’s whole heart a mess.

She wanted to quickly turn him down, but all her words were stuck in her throat.

Edgar didn’t want to embarrass her, explaining, “I just want to tell you that I only love you alone in my life, and I will only be October’s father.”

“A lifetime is a long time and you.....”

“A lifetime is a long time.” Edgar interrupted her. He knew what she was going to say, “But I only want to spend it with you and my daughter.”

The content of today’s conversation was something that Eve had not thought about. Her heart was still in turmoil after she returned to her room.

One marriage made her see too many things clearly. It was okay to like or love someone, but a marriage had to be suitable besides love. They are not suitable.

Edgar did not leave. He wanted to see Eve and the little October again.

When Sarah came down, she saw him sitting alone outside in the garden. After seeing her coming, he even called out to her, “Sarah, can we talk?”

“What do you want to talk about.” Sarah’s attitude towards him was a little better than before.

Before it was pure disgust.

But with him waiting outside the delivery room and going to daddy camp on his own, she had a lot less prejudice about him.

She also knew that Edgar was no longer the Edgar he used to be, and that he had really grown.

“I wanted to pursue Eve, but she didn’t like me.” Edgar didn’t know if something was wrong with his brain, he actually asked Sarah.

“Can you help me think out some ideas?”

“What?”

Sarah felt very surprised and thought in her mind, ‘Who gave him the illusion that I would help him?’

As if Edgar knew what she was thinking, he quickly said, “I can let you be a witness. I will voluntarily give her all the properties under my name, and I will treat her well for the rest of my life.”

“Eve’s things can only be decided by herself.” Sarah gave him this answer.

Edgar’s heart fell to the bottom at once.

As an outsider, Sarah said again, “Besides, you’re not very suitable for her.”

“I know I did some ridiculous and confusing things in the past.”

Edgar admitted his mistake with a pious attitude, “But I really love her now, and will never distrust her and hurt her again just because of the words of others.”

“That’s not what I mean.”

“Then what is it.”

“You and your family.”

“What do you mean?”

“You should be very clear about what attitude your parents have towards Eve, and how much they dislike her career.” Sarah said very straightforward, without beating around the bush. “If she is really with you, can you protect her?”

“Yes, I can!” His answer to the question is very firm.

“You can’t.” Sarah said some heart-piercing words to Edgar. “To say something ugly, you are not very capable. Most of Williams Group’s accomplishments were made by your father. If they dislike Eve and scold her, can you confidently refute them?”

Sarah added, “Even if you can, but Eve does not want to live that kind of life. Freedom is what she aspires to.”

Hearing these words.

Edgar was silent.

If he had Jason’s ability, he could have the courage to say he could do it.

But he did not.

These years.

When Jason Noth was busy with the company, he was eating, drinking and playing with his friends.

Because the Williams family was huge and had many industries, he never needed to worry about the money. Even if there was something wrong, he could let Jason help him to get through the crisis.

But now listening to Sarah’s words, he realized what he lacked.

“I know, thank you.” Edgar seemed to have suddenly grown up and asked again, “Can I stay here a little longer? I want to take another look at Eve and October.”

“This is your freedom.” Sarah did not stop him.

After that, Edgar stayed there for the whole afternoon. When October woke up, he hugged her for a while. After talking to Eve again, he temporarily left New York.

Before leaving, he left a black card with no upper limit for Eve. He would use his efforts to prove to Eve that he could give her happiness and he was a very reliable person.

After Edgar left, everything went on as usual.

At four or five o’clock in the afternoon.

Sarah received a message from Will which asking her when she was going home.

Sarah replied, [I’ve been at home].

Will, [?]

Will got up from the sofa and walked upstairs, searching the whole villa and didn’t find her. Then he returned her message, [Why didn’t I see you?]

Sarah made a phone call to him.
When she found out Will was back, she told Eve and went to look for him.

Her house was in Villa Six and Will's was in Villa Eight.

Chapter 436 Will's love could be seen from heaven and earth.

It sounded like Villa Six and Villa Eight were not far apart, but in fact there was still a long time. After all, a villa here was equivalent to a small estate.

Sarah was a little surprised to see Will when she went back, so much so that the first sentence out of her mouth was "Why did you come back?"

"Don't you want me to come back?" Will pulled her in his arms and hugged her, lowering his voice and asking her.

"No." Sarah didn't tease him this time, "Didn't you say before that there were still a lot of things left to be dealt with and you had to be busy for a long time?"

"Things are handed over to Aaron to handle." Will did not completely tell the truth. After all, he still have to give her a surprise. "In a few days, I will go on a business trip, and the time to come back is uncertain. Next two days I'm free and can accompany you."

"Good."

Sarah agreed very crisply.

Originally, she was a little worried. Because Captain Leon suddenly returned and the matter was handed over to Aaron, she was afraid that she didn't have time to properly prepare for the engagement later.

The good thing was that he still had a business trip.

Thinking about the matter of October, she pulled out the photos from her phone and showed them to Will.

Each photo was taken randomly by her, but even so, the quality of the photos was particularly high. They were even better than the artistic photos taken by professional photographers.

"This is Eve's daughter. She was ugly when she was born, but now she's getting better." Sarah was a face-judger, and she didn't even let go of a child.

"Do you want a baby too?"

"Yes!"

"Do you want to try?" Will took her into his arms, and a nice voice rang in her ears.

A warm breath came, and Sarah's body trembled uncontrollably, feeling very comfortable, as if an electric current was rushing through.

She pressed her lips.

The heart was beating a little faster.

Will picked her up horizontally and walked upstairs step by step.

The moment she was placed on the bed, Sarah's heart was in her throat. So much so that when Will leaned in to kiss her, she reached out to stop him,

"Captain Leon."

"What's wrong?" Will trailed off with an upturned tone.

"Really?"

"Afraid?"

"No." Sarah didn't expect it to be so sudden. They had just hugged and kissed each other before.

The two were so close that they could feel each other's breath. "Want to try? I'm willing to let you check out my body."

Sarah felt very shy.

Was that what she understood?

"Some time ago, Jacob and others sent me a message saying that they were looking for a macho man and a warm man for you." Will's voice was low. He looked at the shy and seductive people lying on the bed and said, "They don't think I can make you happy."

The word "happy".

He deliberately said it heavier.

"They're joking." Sarah explained, knowing that they loved to fool around.

"I'm serious." Will's voice was low, sexy and provocative. "No man can accept this kind of questioning."

Sarah's cheek gradually warmed up, and the last two words were said with some difficulty. "So you let me check it?"

"Yes."

"A real check?"

"Yes."

Sarah pressed her lips.

This action of hers to Will is tantamount to an invitation. No waiting for her to make a reply, Will slightly leaned over and dropped a soft and delicate kiss on her red lips. The kiss was also slightly chilled.

His hand landed on her soft, tiny waist, and his hand slid in a little with a scalding temperature.

This action made Sarah's heart lift up.

The atmosphere became more and more ambiguous.

The temperature in the room rose.

The collar of Will was open and his clothes were messy.

The face, which was always lazy and reserved, was stained with desire. The bottom of the eyes were so black at this moment that people could not see them clearly.

Sarah's ear tips flushed and the waist of her clothes had some crease. Her whole being was more charming than usual.

"How do you want to check?" Will's voice was low, full of compulsion.

Sarah bit her lips. She had never been very good at this. Thinking about it, she reached out and put her arms around his neck, which was a response.

The temperature around Will was very high.

He had been in control of himself and tried to suppress the burning desire. "Not now."

"Why?"

"I haven't married you yet."

Will said this very seriously.

Of course he wanted to make love with her very much.

But he had to think about her.

"It's okay, sooner or later, I will marry you." Sarah knew that he loved herself and it was clear that she loved him too. "Your parents like me and my father is also satisfied with you. We love each other and there is no obstruction."

"Atha."

"Hmm?"

"Don't seduce me." The desire Will had managed to suppress came out again.

Sarah wrapped her arms around him and dropped a kiss on his thin lips.

It was originally a pile of hay.

With a little fire.

It was immediately ignited.

Will pulled the quilt aside to cover them up and prepared to make love.

Ten minutes later, he stopped moving. The whole person was more like a demon than ever because of his lust.

Sarah was confused, "What's wrong?"

"I'll carry you to take a bath."

"Not to do it?"

"Yes."

A simple sentence made Sarah start thinking nonsense.

She was like being poured a pot of cold water. All the love and desire at this moment disappeared cleanly and her mind appeared all kinds of chaotic thoughts.

The most prominent one was whether she was disgusting him.

No matter how to say.

She was not a virgin.

"What are you thinking about." Will just shifted his attention to press his desire, and saw the person in his arms full of unhappiness.

Sarah felt self-contemptuous, then answered, "Nothing." "Your expression told me that there was something with you." Will hugged her tighter, but this action caused his fail to restrain his desire. "Tell me, what's wrong?"

Sarah was silent and did not speak, but will still waited patiently.

Although this posture and this atmosphere were very tormenting, he knew that if he released her from his arms at this time, this person would think of something messy.

"Will." Sarah opened her mouth after a while. "What's wrong?"

"Did you stop because of....."

The latter words came to an abrupt end here. She really did not know how to say.

Will's voice was upward, low and magnetic, "Because of what?"

"I'm not a virgin." After saying that, Sarah moved a little to the side, widening the distance between his.

Will dragged her into his arms again and raised his hand to pinch her face, "Shouldn't you have your brain checked?"

Sarah felt confused.

"How can a very smart person be confused about this?" Will really didn't expect her to struggle with this matter. "If I cared about this, I wouldn't have been with you from the beginning." Jason Noth did not have sexual dysfunction. They had been married for two years, and Will knew what would happen to them.

But he didn't care. The only thing he cared about was that he had thought too much in the past and did not express his love to her in time, so that she could have such a not very happy marriage.

What a little fool she was.

How pitiful.

Chapter 437 Needless to say so politely.

"Then why did you stop." Sarah's heart was mixed with various emotions.

Will took her a little into his arms and asked her, "You guess."

Sarah did not answer.

If she knew why, she wouldn't have asked.

"There is no contraception." Will told her the reason in a hoarse voice, with a pair of deep black eyes surging with irresistible lust, "So I stopped."

Sarah smothered no words.

All along, she had been a little concerned about this matter.

She worried that he would mind about it.

"I'm in a physiological safety period right now." She blurted out these words, and at this moment emotion triumphed over reason.

In the past, this was something that Sarah would never have said. After all, even in the physiological safety period, there would be risks.

But now she had only one thought.

That was to continue making love with will.

"No." Will was very insistent on this matter, preferring to restrain himself. "There is a possibility of pregnancy even during the safe period, and I can't do it until you have a formal marriage license with me."

"I'll take you to see my father in a few days." Sarah lost her former sanity and coldness, and became a little more human. "Then get a marriage license among three months."

In other words.

Even if she was pregnant, it did not matter.

Will's eyebrows were lightly raised, and his voice became more and more low, "Want to check my body so much?"

"Very want." Sarah nodded her head.

"It's useless to think, be good and bear it."

Sarah pressed her lips again and her mood was somewhat low.

It had come to this point.

How could this man still be so calm?

"Do you think I'm not attractive." Sarah suddenly spoke out a sentence. She was obviously a confident person, but at this moment, she always gave birth to a variety of strange psychology. "That's why you are so indifferent."

Will laughed angrily.

Indifferent?

Did she have any idea how hard he had been restraining?

"I? Indifferent?" When he said this, Will leaned his body towards her.

After that, Sarah understood everything.

Her eyes were full of love. "Then why did you restrain yourself? We will get married and get a marriage license, and I know you will be responsible for me."

"Take a bath." Will made an instant decision.

He lifted the quilt and carried her to the bathroom.

If he let this woman talk any longer, his heart, which he could not easily control with reason, would have to be shaken.

Of course, he would be responsible for her, and would get a marriage license with her, but he did not want her to be criticized by the world.

This society was a little unfair to girls. He hoped his girl could not be subjected to these gossip. It was not a big deal for him to restrain himself.

"Will!" Sarah said fiercely.

Will restrained himself at last. He helped her to shower and dress. The whole process was torturous, but he also felt pleasurable at the same time.

After Sarah finished shouting his name, the tips of her ears turned red and she was embarrassed.

Half an hour later.

The two finished showering and sat on the sofa downstairs.

Emotions faded and reason returned.

Sarah's eyes fell on the TV, but her thoughts drifted to nowhere.

When she thought about how she was inviting Will after being rejected, she feel ashamed.

How could she get so active?

"Why are you sitting so far away?" Will looked at the distance between them, and the tone of his voice was not fast. "Are you angry for my rejecting to your check?"

Sarah were wordless.

Why did he have to mention it?

"Come here." Will's voice was very nice.

Sarah, holding the remote control, looked nonchalant and said in a casual tone, "No, it's convenient for me to sit here and watch TV.."

Will looked at her all the time.

Was she really angry or embarrassed? ' Will thought.

"Really do not come over?"

"Yes,"

The moment her words fell, Will stood up and walked over towards her.

Well, then he could come over towards her voluntarily. He sat down beside her, and the sofa sank a little. Sarah immediately tensed up and the hand that held the remote slightly rubbed.

“Do you want to go to the supermarket? Will put his arms around her, sensing her tight body and understanding everything. “Get some snacks and groceries.”

“Hasn’t the house servant already bought these?” Sarah asked.

“Go and see if there’s anything you like.”

“You want to go?”

“Yes,”

“Okay.”

Sarah’s mind wandered a little.

Will clasped her waist and gave her a deliberate pinch on her slender waist.

Sarah went numb all over her body. She pressed her lips and looked at him with a slightly emotional glance. “What are you doing?”

“Hug you.” Will spoke in a very slow tone.

Sarah was speechless.

He was obviously flirting with herself.

How dare he say that he was only hugging her.

“You’ll have to change your diet in a few days.” Will said this seriously, pinching her tiny waist again. “Too thin.”

He wondered how such a thin girl could be so explosive in a fight.

Now they were in love, he had to take good care of her.

He should make her put on some weight.

“You don’t have to be so tactful.” Sarah misunderstood him his meaning and thought that Will’s speaking skills became better.

“Well, if you think I’m small, you can just say it.”

Will felt puzzled.

With his eyebrows lightly raised, he replied, “Small?”

“Isn’t that what you just said?” Sarah asked rhetorically.

Will’s eyes lingered on her face for a moment.

Atha was twenty-five and he was thirty. Compared with their age, she was indeed much younger than him.

But.....

“Aren’t you the one who always thinks I’m old?”

By now he still remembered her talking about how old he was.

Sarah was stunned. She soon realized that they were talking about different things and that she seemed to have misunderstood his actions and words.

“There’s no dislike for your old age.” She changed the subject, not wanting to ramble on about the matter. “It’s getting late. Let’s go to the supermarket first, or they’ll all be closed.”

Will felt that there was something wrong with this conversation, but didn’t know what it was.

It was not until they had got into the car to go to the supermarket that will suddenly understood what Sarah meant when she said she was small.

Then.

When Sarah was putting on the seat belt.

He raised his thin lips in a beautiful curve and said to her in his languid voice, "No.

Sarah didn't understand for a moment.

She had automatically filtered out that previous topic and asked, "What?"

"Nothing." Will started the car, not making her uncomfortable.

The car started towards the supermarket.

Sarah also did not ask more questions.

The two went to the supermarket together for the first time.

The people in the supermarket at this time of the day were more than at noon.

Will enjoyed the feeling. He went and bought the same brand of body wash and shampoo as Sarah, as well as some aromatherapy she liked.

When he prepared to buy the toothbrush, Sarah stopped him. "Don't we already have toothbrushes at home?"

Chapter 438 Low Family Status

"Not for couples."

||

"We are now a couple and we'll get married. Everything must be in pairs." Will chose the goods himself. His angular face looked dignified and amazing.

Sarah glanced at him, and finally chose with him.

He's right.'

We are a couple. Our stuff should be in pairs, too.' Sarah thought.

So the two chose toothbrushes, towels, slippers, and pajamas together.

Almost all kinds of the stuffs were selected, whether it was for couples or not.

Sarah had always felt that captain was a tough and ruthless instructor, but now she realized that away from the training ground, he was also a gentle and meticulous boyfriend.

He knew even more about life and romance than she did.

"You think we got all we need?" Will pushed the cart with one hand and held her with the other.

Sarah took a look at the things in the cart and suddenly teased him with a joke,

"Didn't we come to buy snacks? Why are we buying all the daily necessities?"

"I forgot one thing."

"What?"

"A daily necessity."

Sarah was confused.

She looked at the cart and thought, 'These are not daily necessities?'

“Wait for me for a minute. I’ll go check that out first.” Will rubbed her head, and he had a meaningful look in his dark eyes, “Or when we check out later, you’ll be embarrassed.”

Sarah was even more confused.

What would I be embarrassed about?’

Although she was curious, she did not ask more.

She would know when they got home anyway, so she didn’t need to ask too much.

The two checked out at the self-checkout machine and drove back. They bought a lot of daily necessities, but did not buy a single snack.

At nine o’clock in the evening,

two people went home.

Will put away all the lovers’ towels, electric toothbrushes and so on.

Although most of their previous stuff was also for lovers, it was a rush to move, and he had someone else prepared those things. “Captain.”

“What’s wrong?”

“Didn’t you also buy another daily necessity?” Sarah saw that the shopping bags were empty and asked in slight confusion, “How come I didn’t see it.”

“You wanna see it?” Will began to set a trap for her.

But Sarah didn’t notice that and said, “Yeah, show me.”

She was simply curious that what daily necessity could make her embarrassed.

Pots and pans?’

But these seem to be cooking utensils.’ She thought.

Indeed, her cooking skills were not as good as his, but she wouldn’t be embarrassed about it.

“Your hand.” Will’s voice was low and slow.

Sarah did as she was told.

While she was being curious and waiting, Will took out a small box from his pocket and placed it in her palm and deliberately lowered his voice, “With this, You can inspect my thing whenever you want.”

Sarah’s curiosity was completely extinguished. She only felt that the thing in her hand was somehow thorny.

She used to be able to look right at it.

But Sarah just had a strange feeling when she took it from Will.

“I have something to do. I’m going up.” Sarah shoved the box of condoms into his hand, and said calmly, “Keep it yourself.”

After saying that, she turned and left.

Will yanked her back.

She hit his hard chest all of a sudden, and her heart was in her throat.

“You wanna slip away again?”

“I really have something important to do. You can ask Sivan.”

“Really?”

“Really.” Sarah answered very firmly.

Will held her with one hand and took out his phone with the other to make a call to Sivan.

Sarah couldn't see his phone and thought he was checking the arrangements for things at A&Y International.

Only then the beep came did she realized the fact that he was talking to Sivan on the phone.

"Sivan is asleep. You..."

"Shh." Will put his index finger on her lips, making a silent motion, "Given what I know about him, he'd be either working or working out by now."

Sarah had nothing to say.

Fine, you know him well!' She thought.

When she was dazed, the phone was answered. Sivan's voice came from the phone, "What's up?"

"Does Sarah have any work commitments recently?"

"Ahem!"

Sarah suddenly coughed.

Sivan, who was about to say no, paused, and with his knowledge of his boss, he decisively lied, "Yes, there is an urgent file that needs to be taken care of by Ms. Yeats right now. Is she with you? Help me hurry her up."

Will smiled slightly.

You guys really know each other.' He thought.

"It's Sivan." He handed the phone to Sarah and quietly watched her act.

Sarah was afraid of being found out, but she did not show it at all,

"Sivan."

"Ms. Yeats, our partners are pushing for it. Please confirm the document I sent you." Sivan's acting was very good. He deserved the title of best assistant.

"Okay." Sarah looked serious, "I'm on it right away."

After saying that, she hung up the phone.

Now she had no fear of being caught lying, "I told you I had something to do. See, I did not lie to you."

"Yeah."

"Then I'm going up?"

"Go ahead."

Sarah went upstairs as soon as she heard that.

Will read her mind and raised his eyebrows meaningfully.

Sarah sent Sivan a message of thanks as soon as she returned to her study.

Sivan just asked, [Do you listen to him or does he listen to you?]

Sarah paused.

She didn't know how to answer.

Sivan, [Boss, you're not a henpecked wife, are you?]

Sarah answered quickly this time, [No.]

How could she be?

She simply did not want to discuss life and ideals with him.
[Not now, but the way you're reacting, you will be.] Sivan was suddenly worried about his boss's future, [It is obvious that your family status is lower.]

Sarah was speechless.

Sarah emphasized it just to prove that she wasn't: [I am really not.]

[Well, you're not.]

Sivan's words could be described as perfunctory to the extreme.

He had already decided that his boss was afraid of her husband, she wouldn't have let him tell that lie.

Sarah stared at his reply, wanting to let him know that she really was not.

But the more she explained, the more suspicious she would get.

If she didn't explain, Sivan had already decided.

What to do?' Sarah asked herself.

While Sarah was thinking about this, the door was knocked by Will,

"Ms. Yeats, are you finished?"

"No."

"Can I come in?"

"Not for now."

After Sarah said this, she was seriously thinking about how she could rise her family status a bit.

But she couldn't find a suitable way.

The only one with a chance had to do with the fact that she got cold feet.

Will did not take her words seriously, after all, he knew very well that she was not really busy inside with work.

Chapter 439 Take our time

"What are you doing in here?" Sarah looked at the door that was opened and had a guilty conscience.

"I came in to see what Ms. Yeats is busy with." Will walked over with careless steps and said in a lazy voice, "By the way, if there is anything I can help?"

Sarah put down the phone, "no, not right now."

Will came to her side.

His eyes fell on her black computer screen, and with a few snickers, he said, "You have quite a special way of doing work, Ms. Yeats."

Sarah gave a puzzled look.

"The monitor can run even when it's black."

Sarah was speechless.

"Why don't you teach me? I'll pay you." Will enjoyed watching her slightly depressed face.

"I can't." Sarah was quite good at talking nonsense with a serious look, "This technology requires a lot of hacking, and you can't do it."

"Why don't I feel that way?"

“What?”

“Even a great hacker needs a computer running to act, right?” Will paced back and forth beside her, reached out and pointed to the closed power plug board, “The computer is not even on. How did you do that?”

Sarah had nothing to say.

She hated myself for being sloppy.

She coughed lightly and said, “I did it on my phone.”

“Finished?” Will asked again.

Sarah felt a little helpless.

They were just having a very simple conversation, but now she was under the illusion that she was being interrogated.

Will really gave her a strong sense of pressure.

“Done.” Sarah did not dare to say that it was not finished. She was afraid he would pick on her again, “I’m gonna take a shower and go to bed.”

Will’s hands were propped up on the table behind her and he trapped her between his arms, “It’s only half past nine.”

“A bath takes me half an hour.”

“You just took a shower before we went out.”

“I was sweating in the supermarket.”

“Really?”

“Hmm.”

“I’ll run your bath.”

When Will said this, he stood up straight, and his narrow eyes were full of meaning.

Sarah blinked for a moment.

She just felt that something was wrong.

When Will went to run the bath water, Sarah sent a message in the group of three, asking an urgent question, [What can I do to show my family status?]

Jacob, [?]

Jim, [?]

Sarah’s eyebrows knitted slightly and replied, [What does ? Mean.]

Jacob, [What are you thinking? With the captain still want family status?]

Jim, [You can have a dream, but can not have delusion.]

Sarah was bewildered.

She just want to enhance her family status.

But now it seemed like it was some wishful thinking.

Jacob, [If you really want family status, there is only one way.]

Sarah, [What?]

Jacob, [Make him yield to you in bed.]

Sarah was speechless.

Jacob, [In bed, as long as you’re not shy, he’s shy.]

Jacob, [Go for it.]

Sarah sent an ellipsis.

She just did not think so but she had no choice.

“Ms. Yeats, the bath water is ready.” Will appeared at the door, with a slender figure and excellent vibe, “Go ahead.”

“Would you stop calling me that?”

She always felt that he was teasing her by calling him Ms. Yeats.

“Don’t like it?” Will deliberately said so.

Sarah nodded, “I don’t like it.”

“I kinda like it.” Will smile lightly and his low voice was magnetic.

Sarah’s watery eyes met his, and she blurted out a threat, “Then I’ll call you by your nickname.”

“Hmm.”

Will did not care at all.

Walt,

it is even a little better than Captain Leon.’ Will thought.

Sarah was rendered speechless.

Didn’t he beat up Zack for calling his nickname?’

How come he keeps so cool now?’

“Go Get in the bath.” Will walked over and picked her up from her seat, like taking care of a little baby.

Sarah walked slowly.

When she reached the bathroom door, she asked, “You really don’t care if I call you by your nickname?”

“Yeah.”

“Really?”

“Mm.”

Sarah was silent.

She didn’t believe it.

She didn’t even like being called that.

Suddenly, she came up with a bold idea, and she didn’t know whether it was Jacob or Jim who gave her the courage. She said,

“Then you take a shower, too and wait for me in bed when you’re done. I have something to talk to you about.”

“Atha” Will’s eyes deepened, and he looked down at her with a bland face.

Sarah’s tone rose slightly, “Hmm?”

“Do you know what you meant by that?”

“Yes.”

“What does it mean?”

“Inspecting.”

When heard this, Will smiled harder.

He laughed so hard that his chest shook, and even his voice had laughter in it, “Alright, I’ll wait for you to inspect me.” Sarah felt uncomfortable again, but she said silently to herself what Jacob had said to her – as long as she was not shy, Will would be shy.

The half hour that followed was torturous for Sarah, but for Will it was a kind of anticipation.

He was curious to know how Sarah would inspect him.

Soon, half an hour passed.

When Sarah came out of the bath, she saw Will lying on her bed in his robe. His hair was more messy than before, and there were a few more allure in his dignity.

When she looked over, Will also happened to look at her. Seeing her wet hair, Will lifted the quilt and intended to dry her hair for her.

“Don’t you move.” Sarah stopped him, being nervous, “I’ll do it.” Will raised his eyebrow and thought,

I just wanna dry your hair. Why so nervous?

Sarah had already forgotten about the hair drying thing. She had planned to come out to dry her hair, but forgot about it when she saw Will in her bed.

“Don’t get nervous later.” Said Sarah. She did not know whether to say this to herself or to Will, “I will take it easy.”

Will was amused by her and replied to her calmly, “Good.”

“Are you ready?”

“Always ready.”

“Should I turn off the lights?”

“Up to you.”

Sarah thought,

I’m completely dominating, but how come it seems like he isn’t shy at all?

If Jacob and Jim knew about this, they would definitely ask, “Do you have some misunderstanding of being completely dominating?”

“I’m coming, then.” Sarah adjusted her nervous mind and forced herself to play it cool.

Will’s eyes fell on her still dripping hair, and he said slightly with his thin lips, “Wait.”

Sarah was stunned.

Will lifted the quilt, got out of bed, and stepped towards her with his slender legs.

“Didn’t I say I’d do it?” Sarah didn’t know what he was going to do.

“Don’t you have to blow dry your hair before you start?” Will took a dry towel aside and wiped her hair before taking the hair dryer to help her dry her hair, “The night is still long. We can take our time.”

Chapter 440 Don’t break your word

Sarah was embarrassed.

The initiative that had been brewing was suddenly broken up.

Will noticed her reaction. His thin lips pucker up in a nice curve, and his dark eyes were filled with doting love.

A few minutes later, Sarah’s hair was blow-dried.

He put the hair dryer away and handed her the small box from the pocket of his robe,

“The rest is up to you.”

When she saw what it was, Sarah only felt that it was harsh.

She was not 17 or 18 years old.

But she just felt a little uncomfortable.

“How about...” she was a little abashed.

“What?”

“Nothing, you go lie down.”

There was no sense in getting stage fright before she even got on the stage. She told herself that no matter what happened later, she was going to make Will yield to her.

Will was lying in bed waiting while she was cheering herself on. He looked at her face with a determined look, and knew pretty well what she was thinking.

“If you are embarrassed, we can switch positions.” His tone was lazy and loose, with a touch of tease.

Sarah refused directly, “No.”

She walked over and turned off the lights, leaving only a small light next to the bed.

The dim light did not dissipate the tension, but let her heart a little more uneasy, so much so that when she went to bed and touched Will’s somewhat hot body, her heart almost jumped to her throat.

“Captain, if you’re nervous I can go get you some water.” Sarah tried to divert her attention and relax herself, “Or I can tell you a story first.”

Will smiled, “I’m not nervous.”

Fine,’ Sarah thought,

I’m the one who’s being nervous.’

“When is the inspection?” Will closed the distance with her and deliberately lowered his voice, “I’m ready.”

“I don’t think you’re ready.”

“Ready.”

“You’re not.”

“Atha.”

“Hmm?”

“Are you abashed?” Will went straight to the point, with a a faint smile.

Sarah wanted to say no, but she knew exactly how well Will knew herself.

What she was thinking was almost written on her face.

“Maybe some other time if you feel abashed.” Will would not force her. This kind of thing should come naturally. “Or just let me.” Added Will.

Sarah was silent.

Will did not rush her.

After a long while,

Sarah handed the little box that covered with her sweat to him, lay with her back to him and said glumly, “You go.”

Sarah gave up. She accepted the fact that she had a low family status. She knew that Will would not really bully her.

Even if she was bullied,

She would find a chance to bully him back.

“Really?” Will felt the thin layer of sweat on the surface of the box.

Sarah replied in a muffled voice, “Hum.”

Will put the small box aside, and reached out to hold Sarah in his arms. Her back was against his chest and she could clearly hear the sound of his heart beating.

At that moment,

Sarah froze.

The more she thought about what would happen next, the more nervous she became.

"It's getting late. Time to sleep." Will held her in his arms, his voice low and hoarse.

Sarah was all relaxed then said blankly, "We're not doing it?"

"Not tonight."

"Why?"

"You're not ready." Will wanted to give her some time to prepare mentally. At least she would not be so nervous that her palms were sweaty. "We first share the same bed. After you get used to me sleeping with you, then talk about this." Sarah did not know how to describe her current mood.

On the one hand, she felt warm, because Will was very gentle, always taking care of her feelings.

On the other hand she felt guilty. Last time they stopped in the Nick of time because they didn't have condoms, and now because she was too nervous, Will chose not to do it.

As a single man for thirty years and now in the green, it was a little cruel for him.

All sorts of emotions ran through her, and suddenly she turned to face him. Will did not think much of her behavior, and he just assumed that she was comfortable sleeping in this position.

However, the next second,

Sarah rolled over and pressed him underneath.

She regained her courage and spoke in a serious manner, "We agreed to inspect the thing today. We can't break our word."

"But you're not ready, are you?"

"I'm ready."

Sarah said very seriously.

Will laughed so hard that his chest cavity was vibrating, and his eyes were full of love and tenderness, "Well, you go."

To prove she could do it, Sarah lowered her eyes and kissed him on his thin lips, gently and awkwardly, obviously not good at it.

Will suffered, but he played along.

However,

she was really not good at it. She gave up before they were halfway there, and eventually it was Will who led the "inspection".

The room was dimly lit, and the quilt was constantly undulating.

When everything stopped,

it was already two o'clock in the morning.

Sarah felt that she was exhausted, and could not even lift a finger.

She had never been this tired before, even when the training was super double.

"More?" Will said in a low and hoarse voice, his arm wrapping around her thin waist.

Sarah hurriedly shook her head.

No more.'

Too tired.' Sarah thought, but she had no strength to speak.

Will was obviously still in good spirits, but when he looked at Sarah who was so tired that she didn't even want to open her eyes, he tried to hold back his desire. "You sleep first. I'll carry you to take a bath." Said Will. Sarah gave a weak "hmm".

The moment her consciousness fell into a deep sleep, there was only one thought in her mind, people who had endured for thirty years were so scary.

Will gave a loving smile and kissed her on the lips before going to the bathroom and run the hot water.

He would be responsible for this.

He would always protect her and give her a lifetime of happiness.

After the hot water was ready, Will carried her to the bathroom to take a bath together.

Afraid that she would feel cold later, he also turned up the temperature of the room.

Half an hour later,

both of them finished bathing.

Will lay on his side of the bed and looked at the sleeping beauty in his arms. His dark, deep eyes were filled with strong love.

He turned off the light in the bedroom and hugged Sarah into a sweet sleep.

This night, both of them slept very well.

The next morning,

Sarah woke up and found that the bedroom was different from the one she used to live in. Before she could think about how she got here, a low, lazy voice sounded in her ear, "You awake?"

Sarah gave a start and turned her eyes to see Will's handsome face.

At that moment,

All images from last night came to her mind.

"Did you sleep well?" Will's heart was tickled by her clean and clear eyes.

Sarah pursed her lips and lowered her eyes, not daring to look at him, "Yes."

"How do you feel?"

"What?"

"The inspection."

Sarah did not reply.

"Not satisfied?"

"No."

"Satisfied?"

"No."

Chapter 441 That's a pretty good plan

Will let out a light chortle, raised his hand and gently pinched her face, "That's a pretty good plan."

Sarah was even more confused.

What plan? She thought.

"Not satisfied and not unsatisfied. Don't you just want to do it again?" Will deliberately teased her.

Sarah was stunned

and she immediately retorted, "No."

"Whether you do or not, I'm not gonna let you." Will knew she was embarrassed, so helped her wipe away the discomfort naturally. "Wash up, and have breakfast."

"Oh."

"Oh?"

"I'm going to wash up." Sarah obediently got up.

Looking at her slipped away quickly, Will adjusted his state before getting up.

The reason why he said that before, in addition to wanting to relieve Sarah's discomfort, another reason was that he was well aware of how dangerous he would be in the morning.

Last night he forced himself to stop so that she would not continue to suffer, but this morning he didn't know if he could hold it back. After Will totally calmed down, he stepped on his slippers and went to the bathroom.

When Sarah saw him in the mirror, she was filled with discomfort.

"Atha." Will was squeezing toothpaste while talking to her about business.

Sarah was brushing her teeth, "Hmm?"

"When are you going to my base to practice?"

Sarah was confused.

Practice?

Practice what?

"You are so weak now." When Will got out of bed, he was a different man, as if he were the fierce drillmaster again, "Maybe you should practice there so you can keep me fed afterwards."

"No." Sarah vaguely replied.

She understood what "keep me fed" meant.

She would not go.

Will stood behind her, looking at her from the mirror with foam in her mouth, deliberately bent gently beside her and asked, "Really not going?"

Sarah was speechless.

But she somehow feel that it would be dangerous if she said no.

"If you don't go I'll have to let you make up for the shortage with diligence." Will said extremely serious, his ink-colored eyes flooding with tease, "Practice more, you should get tired less quickly."

Sarah froze, steadying her mind and saying, "Indulgence is not good for your health."

"Moderation is good for physical and mental health." Will replied to her.

Sarah kept silently brushing her teeth.

Her intuition told her that the moderate amount that Will said must be different from the moderate amount she thought.

"I'm gonna change my clothes." Sarah put the toothbrush and cup away and immediately walked away, "You take your time."

Looking at her fleeing figure, Will slowly brushed his teeth, and his dark eyes were tinged with a smile.

After getting out of the bathroom, Sarah changed her clothes and went downstairs.

Originally she planned to drag the suitcase straight away, but when packing clothes, something important occurred to her — take Will back to see Dad. Will would be on a business trip in a few days, and his return time was uncertain.

And some time later she would have to propose to Will

It was time to let them see each other.

So she sent a message to Eric to ask if he was free today. Eric had made a date with friends, but he still told Sarah that he was free.

Sarah did not directly say that she would take Will back. She only mentioned herself. She hadn't asked Will after all.

It was not good for her to tell Eric in advance, in case Will had something to do.

When Will came down, he saw her sitting on the sofa with her cell phone, tapping on it.

He knew that she must be sending a message.

"Breakfast is ready."

"Okay."

Sarah obediently went over to have breakfast.

During the breakfast, when she saw the message from Eric asking what she wanted for lunch, she did not reply but asked Will,

"Captain, are you free today?"

"Yes." Will first answered the question before asking her, "What's up?"

"I want to take you home to meet my family."

"When?"

"After breakfast?"

"OK."

After getting this answer, Sarah replied the message from her dad.

She took the phone and replied word by word, [I'm not picky. Just ask the nanny to prepare more. I'll come with Will.]

When Eric saw the message, he immediately froze.

He looked at the words sent by Sarah, and handed the phone to Rita who was at home, "What does your sister mean by this?"

"Take Will to dinner here."

"I know. I'm asking what she means by that."

Rita was confused.

She did not know what he meant.

She put down the phone and blinked, "Dad, are you out of your mind?"

"You're out of your mind." Eric snorted coldly, then offered a guess of his own, "Dose Pumpkin mean she is bringing Will back to meet me?"

"I guess so."

"Don't guess. Say yes or no."

"Yes."

"Then should I change into something smarter?" Eric asked. He attached great importance to this meeting.

Last time Will sent Pumpkin back, he did not stay and had dinner. Pumpkin said that she felt that their relationship was not that stable.

Now since she chose to bring him back, it meant that it had been stable enough.

Since so, it was also time to talk to Will.

"No need, it's not like Will has never seen you before." Rita had been relaxed about it. She had already gone to dine with them several times, "Besides, even if you wear very nice clothes, but sitting with Will, you still look..."

Eric straighten his face and asked, "Look what?!"

"Look like you are the most handsome guy." Rita heatedly smiled.

Eric glared at her.

Stop sucking up.' He said in his mind.

Of course he knew that he was not as handsome as Will.

But that was not important!

The important thing was that he had to show the most handsome side.

"Skip the snacks and help me in the kitchen. I'm gonna make a big meal for them." Eric stood up and already began to think about the menu, "This is the first time that Pumpkin takes her boyfriend home."

Rita said, her eyes quick-moving, "Dad."

"What?"

"If I take my boyfriend back... Will you make us a nice meal too?"

"You're planning to bring him home?" Eric's brow instantly knitted up.

"Can't I..." Rita felt a bit guilty and pursed her lips, "Haven't you seen him? And agreed with us being together?" "I'm just saying yes to your relationship, not marriage." Said Eric, looking serious, "Besides, I told you not to get Sarah here, you did."

When Pumpkin came, he didn't even have a say.

He even had no opportunity to show his majesty as a father.

Rita rubbed her nose, looking somewhat guilty.

If she did not get Sarah here that day, Andrew would have been overwhelmed by the pressure that Eric gave.

"You can forget about bringing him here to talk about marriage."

Eric put it bluntly, "Just let him be your boyfriend."

Chapter 442 He didn't dare to admit that it was love

The two daughters were married at once.

It was better to give him some time to adjust.

"Humph!" Rita Yeats also knew what he meant by that, simply gave a threat, "I will find sister."

Her father, "....."

||

She just knew he would accept what Pumpkin said.

“Mom was the boss when she lived, mom died sister being the boss.” Rita Yeats understood the family status thing, a pair of eyes looking great, “But sister loves me, as long as it was my request she will agree, in other words, now I am the boss.”

“Want to get something, don’t you?” Eric Yeats felt that this girl was spoiled.

Rita Yeats smiled wryly, and Eric Yeats pretended to be angry and glared at her, they played without hurting the peace, the feelings being very good.

It was close to noon.

Sarah Yeats and Will Gardner came.

Rita Yeats was the first to rush into the arms of her sister, before greeting Will Gardner, who greeted her and gave her and Eric Yeats all the things he brought.

Looking at the pile of valuable things, Eric Yeats greeted them to sit down.

At first, there was nothing to talk about.

Eric Yeats would like to say something, and found that it was not quite appropriate, and finally choose to start eating.

The process of eating was about some very polite chat, whatever Eric Yeats asked Will Gardner would naturally answer it.

So the atmosphere seemed a little strange.

To be more precise.

Only Eric Yeats felt a little uneasy.

“Will Gardner, can you come with me to the study for a chat?” Eric Yeats took the initiative to pick up the topic after eating, also really wanting to talk with him, “There were some words I want to talk to you alone.”

Sarah Yeats wanted to stop it.

No matter what the words were, it’s the same to say here.

But Will Gardner chose to go up with Eric Yeats to chat.

Before going up, he sent a message to Sarah Yeats, Just talking, it’s okay.

Sarah Yeats glanced at the message, and glanced towards the study that had already closed, with some indescribable feelings in her heart.

Rita Yeats felt her emotions and came to sit next to her, “sister, were you worried about Will Gardner?”

“No.”

No need to be worried.

Dad would not stop her from being with Captain Leon.

She was just not used to this kind of way to talk.

It felt strange.

“Just relax, dad is supportive of you and Will Gardner being together.” Rita Yeats spoke to her, not caring if she wasn’t worried, “During the time you weren’t home, I often heard him say things like you and Will Gardner were a good match.”

Sarah Yeats said nothing.

But her mind had drifted away.

She knew that dad would not interfere with her relationships and would not make things difficult for Will Gardner, but there was still no way to be completely at peace.

Half an hour later.

Inside the study.

Eric Yeats and Will Gardner had already talked about some things. Will Gardner had been polite, modest and gentle, "Don't worry, I will take good care of her and won't let the past happen again."

"Pumpkin is rather stubborn." Eric Yeats knew Sarah Yeats well, "There is something that she may be more stubborn with, at that kind of time, I hope you can compromise."

"She is very good, you do not have to worry too much." Will Gardner only said these words.

He understood Sarah Yeats's stubbornness, and everything about her.

When Eric Yeats saw him like this, he also knew that his daughter had found someone truly worthy of a lifelong commitment.

Since this was the case.

He, as a father, was also relieved.

After the two of them finished talking, they opened the door and went out, and they saw Sarah Yeats standing outside the door.

"Pumpkin?" Eric Yeats paused for a moment.

Will Gardner was also slightly surprised.

Sarah Yeats looked natural and her words did not fluctuate, "I came to see how your talk went."

"We've finished talking." Eric Yeats replied.

But he knew she just worried about Will Gardner

She should look outward!

Sarah Yeats took Will Gardner's hand naturally, and said goodbye to Eric Yeats, "Then let's go back first, we have some things to do later, and I'll come back to see you later."

"Not eating dinner?"

"Yes."

Eric Yeats didn't keep them any longer.

Anyway, they were in the same city, they could meet whenever they wanted to.

After leaving Sarah Yeats sat on the passenger side and asked him,

"What did my father tell you?"

She waited for a long time down there.

After seeing that the study door was closed for a long time she couldn't resist going up, but the door was better soundproofed and she couldn't hear the conversation inside.

happened

"Tell me to take good care of you, and talked a little about your mother." Will Gardner didn't hide it from her, it just that he also wanted to relieve her past emotional pain,

"said something about your past."

Sarah Yeats paused.

Closed her eyes.

Will Gardner stopped at the intersection and looked at her, "Do you think your parents' marriage was really a simple business alliance?"

"Yes."

Sarah Yeats said quickly.

Until now she still remembered what dad had said to her, remembering how she felt when she heard those words.

"I don't think so." Will Gardner's voice carried the magic power to soothe people.

Sarah Yeats looked at him.

Will Gardner analyzed it to her, "At first they may have been tied together because of the business alliance, but later on, your father and mother truly loved each other."

"No." This had always been a pain in Sarah Yeats's heart, "Dad himself said that there was no love between him and mom."

"After a long time, you can't tell if it's love or habit." Will Gardner was able to bring himself into the role, "A man who really does not love his wife, there was no way to live a happy life for the rest of his life."

Sarah Yeats was a little moved and subconsciously looked at him. "Love for a person can't be hidden." Will Gardner analyzed it to her, "The reason why your father told you that there was no love between them, perhaps because he also did not know if it was love, or, he did not dare to admit that it was love."

The feelings of adults, simple or complex.

Sarah Yeats's mom and dad, obviously belonged to the latter.

"You should be able to understand if you think back carefully on the life they got together." Will Gardner hopes she can come out,

"Only with love-based marriage, life will be happy and sweet. It can not be performed." There were always loopholes in acting.

With Sarah Yeats's observation it was impossible not to find.

If not, it could only mean that it was not acting, but real love.

Sarah Yeats carefully thought back to the past, what appeared in her memory, only Mom and Dad sweet and warm life, the two never had a quarrel.

If Dad hadn't told her that, she really would have thought they were very much in love.