

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 141 - 141 - Peonies And Edelweiss

"What are you looking for me for? Aren't you so happy to be hugged by that cheap woman?" Soo Yin quipped in a somewhat cynical tone.

"Are you jealous of her?" Dae Hyun teased with a smile. It was unexpected that his little wife was jealous of Yeon Woo.

"N ... no. How could I be jealous of her. I'm just annoyed with the man who was hugged by another woman but didn't say anything. You even seem to enjoy it very much," Soo Yin sneered while puffing out her cheeks.

"She's my little friend. We haven't seen each other for a long time, so it's only natural that she might miss our childhood," Dae Hyun said. He could not stand to see his wife jealous like that.

"Then why don't you say that we are husband and wife. You just keep quiet when she says I'm your sister," Soo Yin muttered. She could not harbor the resentment that was in her heart.

"Then come with me." Dae Hyun grabbed Soo Yin's wrist to follow him.

Dae Hyun took Soo Yin to Yeon Woo's house to sort things out.

Soo Yin frowned as they stood back in front of the woman's house.

"What did you bring me here for?" Soo Yin said.

"To straighten out about earlier. I will tell her that you are the wife that I really love," Dae Hyun said.

Just when Dae Hyun was about to knock on the door, at the same time Yeon Woo came out. She looked surprised to see Soo Yin and Dae Hyun.

"Is there something wrong?" Yeon Woo asked raising an eyebrow.

"Nothing, I just wanted to introduce you that Soo Yin is wife...." Before Dae Hyun had time to finish saying his words, Soo Yin had already covered his mouth.

"Wife?" a confused Yeon Woo asked.

"Sorry, we bothered you." Soo Yin immediately pulled Dae Hyun's hand away from Yeon Woo's house.

Yeon Woo shook his head. She felt there was something strange about what Dae Hyun said. She kept thinking about his unfinished words.

Dae Hyun only obeyed his little wife as his hand continued to be pulled.

"Honey, where are we going?" Dae Hyun said.

"Of course back to grandma's house. Why did you embarrass me earlier?" Soo Yin slammed Dae Hyun's wrist hard.

"Didn't you want me to admit you as my wife. Then why did you cover my mouth?" Dae Hyun said. He didn't know what his little wife really wanted.

"Yes, but there's no need to turn around again," Soo Yin said while pursing her lips.

"Don't be angry like that or you won't be able to sleep tonight," Dae Hyun teased.

"You're annoying!" Soo Yin smacked Dae Hyun's chest lightly while smiling.

"Let's go home because it's getting dark soon," Dae Hyun asked.

"Hi, young man!" an old woman called, who was on the side of the road. He was sitting, holding up his hands like someone asked.

The voice suddenly made Soo Yin and Dae Hyun turned their heads. Dae Hyun immediately took out several bills to give to the woman.

"As a thank you may I check your wife's hand?" the grandmother asked to Dae Hyun.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin looked at each other. He was surprised by the woman even though they had never met before but why did that woman know that they were husband and wife.

"Don't be confused about why you know your relationship which is hidden from many people," the old woman said with a chuckle.

"Here beautiful girl let grandmother check your fate." The old woman took Soo Yin's hand.

Soo Yin still clenched her fists. She was a little afraid of the old woman.

"Don't be afraid," the woman said as she opened her palms.

Dae Hyun nodded his head so that Soo Yin would open her palm. He was very sure that the old woman would not do anything wrong to his little wife.

The woman seemed focused as she studied Soo Yin's palm line. She repeatedly knitted her brows together.

"Your love is actually like Peonies but there will be many thorns that will pierce it," the old woman said.

"What do you mean, Grandma?" Soo Yin asked while pulling her wrist.

"But your relationship someday will become Edelweiss flowers," the old woman continued without answering Soo Yin's question.

"Sorry, Grandma. We have to go home soon," Dae Hyun said. He could already guess if the old woman was trying to predict their relationship. To be honest, Dae Hyun never believed in such a thing.

"You have to endure so that your relationship is like the Edelweiss flower," the woman said as she looked at Soo Yin's eyes.

Soo Yin didn't understand what the old lady was saying at all. After all, what do the Peony flower and Edelweiss flower have to do in her life. It didn't make sense.

"Soo Yin, let's just go home," Dae Hyun whispered in his wife's ear.

Soo Yin nodded her head because her stomach suddenly felt a rumbling. In recent days her appetite has greatly increased.

"Sorry, we have to come back soon," Soo Yin said to the old woman.

They bent their bodies before finally stepping their feet away from the woman. Soo Yin was curious so she turned back, but it was unexpected that the old woman was not in the place earlier.

"Where is the woman?" Soo Yin muttered while looking around.

"There's no need to look for her and don't think about anything that woman said," Dae Hyun said as he took Soo Yin's wrist.

"Wash your hands and body before touching me! I don't want to touch the former woman who hugged you," Soo Yin said while staring at Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin immediately took a step first to quickly get to Hae Sok's house. Dae Hyun can only observe Soo Yin while scratching his head which didn't feel itchy. It turned out that Soo Yin's childish nature hasn't disappeared yet. Even though Soo Yin had already held his hand earlier but now told him to wash it first. It turned out that the woman was a bit strange and complicated.

They arrived at Hae Sok's house already dark because they went too far. Dae Hyun and Soo Yin cleaned up first before dinner. Soo Yin actually felt bad because this afternoon she didn't help Hae Sok cook. She felt like a guest who did not know herself.

Her stomach couldn't even be compromised. Soo Yin just continued to eat heartily. Unlike Dae Hyun, who only ate a little.

"Actually, where are you guys, why did you get home so late?" Hae Sok asked.

"Soo Yin got lost, Grandma," Dae Hyun said.

"Oh God, how did you get lost?" Hae Sok asked.

"I have you forgotten the direction of the road. In this village the houses looks the same," Soo Yin said with a grimace.

"I see, next time you have to be careful," Hae Sok suggested.

Soo Yin nodded her head.

They chatted for a while before finally Hae Sok told them to rest because they hadn't been resting at all since they arrived.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin went into their adjoining room.

"Honey, what are you doing?" Dae Hyun who was lying down asked. He knocked on the barrier on the wall made of hanji.

"Hmmm," Soo Yin said from the other side.

"Are you asleep?" Dae Hyun said once again. He really couldn't sleep because he wanted to chat with his little wife.

"Yes," Soo Yin replied curtly. She felt strange with her husband. Already know if she hasn't slept but still ask about it.

"If you sleep then why do you answer my question?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Just your question that was very strange. Already know if I haven't slept yet you still ask about it," Soo Yin muttered.

"Can I sleep in your room?"

"Come here, if you want our relationship to be discovered by Grandma," Soo Yin challenged with a smile. She was sure that there was no way Dae Hyun would do that.

Already received approval from his little wife Dae Hyun immediately got out of bed.

Soo Yin pressed her ear against the wall. No sound was heard.

'Looks like he's sleeping,' Soo Yin muttered to herself. She immediately buried her head under the blanket. Her eyes also felt sticky from lack of sleep all day.

Just about to close, suddenly there was a sound of the door opening. The door was not locked so that people could enter without difficulty.

Soo jumped in surprise to see who suddenly entered. Dae Hyun walked in with a big smile, feeling that it was right to choose the room next to his little wife.

"What are you doing?" Soo Yin whispered with a glare. She was afraid that Hae Sok would suddenly hear them.

"Of course sleep with you," Dae Hyun said casually with a face that looked calm. He went up then buried his body in the same blanket with Soo Yin.

"Do you want Grandma to know about our relationship?" Soo Yin whispered with great emphasis.

"In a moment, I'll be back in my room. Now go to sleep," Dae Hyun said carelessly wrapped his hand around Soo Yeon's stomach.

"Go, grandma will find out later," Soo Yin said while pushing Dae Hyun from the bed.

"I'll only be a moment." Dae Hyun closed his eyes while hugging Soo Yin tighter.

Soo Yin, who was already very sleepy, finally gave up and closed her eyes too.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 142 - 142 - Second Wife

The sound of bird whistling accompanying the atmosphere in the morning was very typical of the countryside. A ray of morning sunshine has begun to race against time. Slowly the light has entered through the window gap.

Hae Sok has been awake since early morning. As she goes to the kitchen to see the waiter preparing breakfast, Hae Sok remembered that Soo Yin wanted to learn to cook more. She immediately rushed to the room occupied by Soo Yin.

Hae Sok went to Soo Yin's room with a broom in her hand. The door to the room did not have a lock so that anyone could enter freely. Hae Sok slowly slide the door open.

She was so shocked that her heart almost fell off when she saw her grandson hugging Soo Yin's small body. She was shocked to see two people who were not husband and wife sleeping in one bed.

"You insolent grandson!" Hae Sok shouted while hitting Dae Hyun's body with a broom.

Soo Yin and Dae Hyun were suddenly shocked by the presence of Hae Sok in their room.

"Ouch, Grandma!" Dae Hyun shrieked, whose body ached because Hae Sok hit his back quite hard.

"You bastard! How could you sleep in a girl's room," Hae Sok said without stopping her broom from beating Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin was now sitting to put some distance between herself and Dae Hyun. Just scratching her head looking at Hae Sok who looked very angry. Luckily Soo Yin was in the middle, not on the edge. So that she did not participate in being the grandmother's tantrum.

But Soo Yin also felt afraid if the old woman hated her like her father-in-law's attitude to her. Too many people have hated her in her lifetime.

"Grandma, enough! Please stop!" Dae Hyun asked, who had fallen to the floor while covering his head because his grandmother was really angry right now.

Hae Sok slowly stopped the action with a gasping breath. She held her chest to try to suppress the emotion.

"You two see Grandma outside!" Hae Sok said in a cold tone. She immediately left two people who made her blood rise again.

Soo Yin felt goosebumps when she heard that. Her body felt weak this time so that without realizing it, water was pouring out of the corner of her beautiful eyes.

"Honey, what's wrong with you?" Dae Hyun said when he saw his little wife was about to cry.

"Will grandma hate me too?" Soo Yin gave Dae Hyun a sad look. This was the first time she felt loved by a grandmother because her grandmother hated her so much. Her extended family always considered her as a trash.

Soo Yin covered her face with both hands. There wasn't much she wanted in her life, she just didn't want the people she knew to hate her.

Dae Hyun who got up from the floor then sat on the bed. He embraced Soo Yin's body in his arms.

"Calm down, I'm sure that Grandma won't hate you." There was guilt in Dae Hyun's heart. If only last night he didn't insist on sleeping in his wife's room, then Grandma wouldn't know about their relationship right now.

"Grandma will definitely hate me as much as your father," Soo Yin said between sobs. Her sobs were completely broken now with fear.

"I am sorry, dear." That was all Dae Hyun could say at this point.

"This is all your fault! If you didn't come here this would not have happened," Soo Yin said while hitting Dae Hyun's chest.

"I'm really sorry," Dae Hyun said regretfully. Last night he overslept so he didn't remember to go back to his room.

Dae Hyun was silent when Soo Yin kept punching him. He let Soo Yin vent her anger until she calmed down a little. Dae Hyun took his wife to meet her grandmother who was sitting in the living room.

The old woman looked away when Dae Hyun and Soo Yin arrived. She was very angry because the two people lied to her. Her heart ached to see her favorite grandson sleeping with a girl who was not his wife.

Hae Sok really wanted to contact Park Ji Hoon and his wife right now but she kept her thought off because she still needed an explanation from Dae Hyun.

"Grandma," Soo Yin said as she approached Hae Sok with teary eyes.

Hae Sok remained in the same position. Her sharp eyes implied that she was annoyed to hold back the emotions that had mounted.

"Grandma, I'm sorry," Dae Hyun said as he sat across from his grandmother.

"What is the relationship between you two?" Hae Sok asked in a cold tone.

"Grandma, I actually married Soo Yin a few months ago," Dae Hyun said calmly and dared to look at his grandmother.

"What are you saying? So you've been having an affair for a long time?" Hae Sok said sarcastically.

"We're not cheating, Grandma," Dae Hyun argued defensively.

"If not having an affair so what is it called?" Hae Sok said while glaring at Dae Hyun and Soo Yin in turn.

"She's my second wife, Grandma," Dae Hyun said, he boldly met Hae Sok's gaze.

"Soo Yin, why do you want to be his wife?" Hae Sok asked intimidatingly.

"I ... i" Soo Yin's tongue felt heavy. She also didn't want to be his wife at first, but as time went on, now her feelings for Dae Hyun didn't even want to be separated.

"I forced her to marry me, Grandma," Dae Hyun said. He looked at his wife who was looking down.

"I didn't ask you!" Hae Sok said.

"It's really me who forced her, Grandma," Dae Hyun said. He didn't want his wife to be blamed because all of this was his fault.

"What do you mean?" Hae Sok asked in a higher tone.

"I am willing to help her family with one the condition that she would marry me," Dae Hyun said honestly, although it was not entirely his fault but he did not want to hurt his wife's feelings.

"Did your father teach you that you have to ask for something in return for helping someone?" Hae Sok shouted, a little trembling. Since childhood, she taught her children to help someone sincerely without asking for anything in return so that her heart was cut when Dae Hyun said the truth like that.

"That's because I love her, Grandma," Dae Hyun said calmly.

"Then what about that model?"

"Grandma also must have known if I married her was just a mistake that I even doubt if I did that." Dae Hyun took a deep breath.

Soo Yin shed tears from her eyelids. The trauma of her childhood made her afraid that she would lose the people she loved. In her life she only had her father, Jae-Hwa, and Jean before meeting Dae Hyun. So far, people have always neglected and looked down on her just because she was the daughter of a mistress.

"Grandma, I beg you not to hate Soo Yin because it's not her fault at all," Dae Hyun said, who could not bear to see his little wife cry. If time could repeat itself maybe he would think a thousand more times to marry Soo Yin.

Everything was too late because at this time he can't let Soo Yin go. He could not afford to be separated from his little wife. He was willing to give up everything he has right now to live with Soo Yin.

Hae Sok looked back at Soo Yin who was sobbing. There was a feeling raging in her heart.

"Grandma, I beg you not to hate me," Soo Yin said with tears streaming down her cheeks. She tried to grab a hand that was wrinkled with age and then grasped it tightly.

"Where is your parents?" Grandma asked while massaging her temples. There was pity to see Soo Yin really cry like that. Although disappointed, she also felt sorry for Soo Yin.

"My mother is gone. I lived with my father since I was little, but now my father has been to Jeju Island," Soo Yin said.

"If Dae Hyun leaves you what will you do?"

Soo Yin ventured to raise her head. She started wiping the tears that were still pooling on her lids.

"Grandma, I won't leave her," Dae Hyun said with a tone full of emphasis. He didn't like his grandmother to say things like that about him. Because until whenever he will never leave his little wife.

Grandma has nothing more to say about them. This morning her heart was really shocked by the two of them. She closed her eyes for a moment to accept all the shocking facts.

Suddenly there was a servant who entered the living room.

"Mrs, there are guests outside," one of the servants in the house said.

"Who?" Hae Sok asked.

"I don't know, Mrs. Just a young woman with her son," the servant said.

Soo Yin and Dae Hyun looked at each other. What was on their mind right now was Yeon Woo and his son who was visiting.

"Okay, soon we'll be out," Hae Sok said to the servant.

The servant nodded her head before finally going to the kitchen to make drinks for the guests.

"If you really love her you should first divorce Aeri. If it's like this what if our extended family finds out you have two wives. They will definitely remove you from the position of director," Hae Sok said.

"Yes, I understand, Grandma," Dae Hyun said with a deep sigh.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 143 - 143 - Aeri's Arrival

Aeri took Jo Yeon Ho's hand while observing the very traditional house. She wondered why the old woman wanted to live in a house like this. Although the house was quite spacious, it was still no more attractive as a modern house.

Once the waiter invited her to enter the living room, there was also no sofa. There was only a table with cushions for seating. They were still standing even though the waiter had invited them to sit down.

"Mother, where is father?" Jo Yeon Ho asked, who couldn't wait to meet his father.

"Have a little patience, grandmother and dad will be out soon," Aeri said, who stood looking at the ornaments around the living room.

Jo Yeon Ho finally sat down and then leaned his head on the table. After a long trip, Jo Yeon Ho's body felt sore.

Hae Sok finally came out. She knitted her brows together when she saw the two people in the living room. She didn't seem to know their faces.

"What can grandma help you with?" Hae Sok said which immediately made Aeri jumped.

"Grandmother?" Aeri immediately bent her body to give a respectful greeting.

"Yeon Ho, hurry up and pay respect to grandma," Aeri said.

"Hello, Grandma," Jo Yeon Ho said in a typical child's voice.

"Who are you?" Hae Sok asked.

"Grandma, I'm Dae Hyun's wife. Don't you remember me?" Aeri said.

Hae Sok studied Aeri's body from top to bottom. She even wore a short dress and was a little tight into the countryside. People in this village will definitely talk about it. They did not like it when someone enters the village wearing immodest clothes.

"Please change your clothes right now. I do not accept guests who do not have politeness," Hae Sok said in a flat tone.

"What do you mean, Grandma?" Aeri looked at her own clothes, which were a little impolite.

"Sorry, I'll change my clothes." Aeri actually felt very upset, but the goal there was to win Dae Hyun's grandmother's heart, so she had to be more patient. Aeri even really didn't like it when someone criticizes whatever she wore but in order to secure her position she has to be kind.

"What is this?" Dae Hyun said, who had just followed into the living room. He was curious about the guest who had suddenly arrived so early.

Soo Yin walked behind following Dae Hyun.

"Father?" Jo Yeon Ho said, flabbergasted to see the figure he missed even though they had only been separated for a day. He stood up and then approached Dae Hyun.

"Yeon Ho?" Dae Hyun said in surprise. He did not expect Aeri and Jo Yeon Ho to catch up with him.

Soo Yin was no less surprised than Dae Hyun. Suddenly her body trembled. She was very afraid that Hae Sok would tell Aeri everything.

"Why didn't you notify me if you caught up here?" Dae Hyun frowned.

"Sorry, we just wanted to surprise you," Aeri said with a smile.

Dae Hyun just massaged his temples.

"Honey, why did you invite that woman here?" Aeri gave Soo Hyun an unpleasant look. Her blood was boiling when Dae Hyun invited her secretary. The man didn't even have the intention of asking her at all.

"I asked her because Soo Yin wanted to learn to cook from grandma," Dae Hyun said casually. He didn't care if Aeri suspected him.

"Aeri, didn't I tell you if you have to change your clothes first?" Hae Sok said to remind her again.

"Okay, where is the room? Let me change my clothes." Now Aeri softens her voice again. The goal there was to make Hae Sok like her so that Dae Hyun won't be able to divorce her.

"Soo Yin, take this model to Dae Hyun's room," Hae Sok ordered.

"Grandma, don't need to call me that. I feel embarrassed," Aeri said, chuckled and then covered her mouth with her fingers.

"Aren't you a model?" Hae Sok knitted her brows together.

"It's true, but that was before. Now I've stopped because I want to focus on taking care of our little family," Aeri said while looking at Dae Hyun but Dae Hyun turned his head away. The man had absolutely no interest in Aeri's acting.

"Good then. Soo Yin, hurry up and deliver Aeri," Hae Sok said while looking at Soo Yin with an expression that was difficult to interpret.

"Fine, Grandma," Soo Yin said while lowering her head. She can only hope that Hae Sok won't get mad at her.

Aeri followed Soo Yin's steps to enter a guest room while dragging her suitcase. She didn't seem to like the room, which was far from luxurious. If only her position were not in danger she would not want to go to a village that was far from city facilities. Luckily they stayed here only for a moment.

"Soo Yin, please prepare warm water because I want to take a shower as well," Aeri said while looking at Soo Yin while raising one lip.

"Can't you prepare it yourself?" Soo Yin said. She didn't like it when Aeri told her to because she was not a servant.

"I'm tired, aren't you here to come because working with my husband, you should serve me too," Aeri said in a curt tone.

"What is this?" Dae Hyun went into the room following his two wives because Soo Yin didn't come out. He was afraid that Aeri would do something to her.

"Honey, it's okay. I just told her to go outside but she was still standing there. Soo Yin even offered to prepare warm water for me," Aeri said softly. She approached Dae Hyun then hugged his arm tightly.

"Let go of my hand!" Dae Hyun tried to let go of his wrist and slightly away from Aeri.

"Soo Yin, let's go outside. No need to prepare anything for her," Dae Hyun asked.

Soo Yin followed Dae Hyun's steps to get out of the room.

After the two of them got out, Aeri stomped the floor. She felt like wanted to slam the suitcase that was in her hand.

=====

In the living room, Jo Yeon Ho was talking with Hae Sok. They looked familiar even though this was the first time they met. Hae Sok saw Jo Yeon Ho only when he was just born.

Hae Sok also really liked the kid. Even though she didn't like Aeri, there was no reason not to like her son because Jo Yeon Ho was just an innocent child.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin returned to the living room. Soo Yin bites her lower lip because Hae Sok seemed indifferent to her now. Soo Yin can already guess if this thing will happen sooner or later.

Soo Yin was now like a strange woman in the house. Although Hae Sok was also indifferent to Aeri, at least there were still a few words that she said.

Soo Yin sat far from Dae Hyun because Jo Yeon Ho and Aeri were there. They chat so warmly like a harmonious family.

Only when about lunch, Hae Sok invited Soo Yin to help her to cook in the kitchen. At breakfast the servants have prepared all the food.

"Soo Yin, didn't you come here wanting to learn to cook? If so, you'd better help the servants to cook," Hae Sok said.

"Fine, Grandma," Soo Yin said curtly.

"Grandma, let me help," Aeri said. Looked like this was an opportunity to win Hae Sok's heart.

"Can you cook?" Hae Sok said, who was not sure about Aeri.

"Of course I can," Aeri said while chuckling. She should be able to win over Hae Sok if she wanted her position safer.

"Yes, you two please cook to prepare lunch. I want to know which one is better," Hae Sok said. She wanted to know if the model's words were true.

Soo Yin was flabbergasted. She was not even good at cooking at all. Looked like Hae Sok was testing them so Soo Yin will try her best.

"Fine, Grandma," Aeri said enthusiastically. Looked like her attempt to win Hae Sok's heart will work. She will not waste this opportunity to gather more people who supported her.

Soo Yin immediately went to the kitchen together with Aeri and prepared some food ingredients. Soo Yin didn't know some foreign-looking materials.

"Why are you always following my husband? Do you intend to seduce him?" Aeri said sarcastically during her activities cleaning the ingredients.

Deg ...

Suddenly Soo Yin's heart throbbed at Aeri's statement, which was very targeted.

"Don't you dare seduce him! If you still want to live in peace," Aeri threatened as she looked at Soo Yin.

"O ... of course that's impossible," Soo Yin stuttered. Her body was currently feeling hot and cold.

"Ha ha ha, of course it's impossible. How could my husband have such low taste," Aeri sneered with a raised lip. The laughter was so crunchy that Soo Yin shuddered hearing it.

'This woman is too confident,' Soo Yin muttered inwardly. She wanted to tell the truth but she didn't want to get into trouble because Dae Hyun said that Aeri was a cunning woman.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 144 - 144 - Cooking Competition

"My husband also doesn't want other men's trash," Aeri said with a chuckle.

Soo Yin knitted her brows together. She did not understand what Aeri meant.

"Haven't you slept with Mr Lee Young Joun? Don't be surprised if I can find out about this," Aeri said with a snort. She remained busy with the knife as it began to slice through some of the ingredients.

"I never slept with him," Soo Yin argued. She thought back to the night where she had almost been tainted by that bastard.

"No need to pretend because I saw when he took you to his apartment. It's true that Li Sa said maybe you are like your mother who likes to seduce rich men." Aeri looked disdainfully at Soo Yin.

Soo Yin clenched her fists. Her patience was now completely exhausted by Aeri's words which made her heart ache. To vent it all Soo Yin carelessly chopped the vegetables.

Her mind was completely heated by the spicy statement that Aeri's mouth spat out.

"How? Can you cook?" Hae Sok asked, who made Soo Yin jumped in surprise. Almost cut her finger.

"Of course, Grandma. I intend to cook Tangsuyuk and Kimbab for grandma and Dae Hyun," Aeri said while glancing at Soo Yin who hasn't cooked anything.

"Then how about you?" Hae Sok asked as she looked at Soo Yin.

"I ... i" Soo Yin hasn't even thought about what to cook.

"Don't expect too much from her, Grandma. Looks like she's having a hard time cooking," Aeri sneered.

"Okay, continue," Hae Sok said, not responding to Aeri's statement. She moved back into the living room to meet Jo Yeon Ho again.

The sound of the kitchen was heard very rumbling with the sound of kitchen utensils rubbing against each other. It was very clear that Aeri and Soo Yin rarely hold cooking utensils.

The waitress was overwhelmed cleaning scattered kitchen utensils. The kitchen also looks very messy.

An hour later, Aeri started arranging her food on the dining table. The two of them were currently in the middle of a cooking competition. There were also waiters who have prepared their dishes because Hae Sok was afraid that her daughter-in-law's food won't taste good.

The food Aeri made looks so flawless and so mouthwatering. In contrast to Soo Yin who only cooked Sundubu Jjigae but it looked very unattractive and did not look good to eat.

Dae Hyun, Jo Yeon Ho and Hae Sok have now sat in a circle around the dining table.

"Where's mother's cooking? I really want to taste it," Jo Yeon Ho said with a beaming face.

"You have to eat this one." Aeri started to put the menu she made into Jo Yeon Ho's plate.

"Then, where that you made, Eunnie?" The boy looked excited.

"It's definitely not delicious. You can get stomach ache if you eat it. Look, it's not even interesting at all," Aeri sneered. She didn't care at all if Soo Yin would be offended by her words.

"Yes, let's eat," Hae Sok said. She started to taste Aeri's food a little.

"How about it, Grandma?" Aeri was very excited to get praise from Hae Sok.

"Hmmm, not bad," Hae Sok said with a flat and hard to read expression. Then she tasted the food Soo Yin made.

Soo Yin bit her lower lip at the look on Hae Sok's face. Sure enough, Soo Yin guessed that the food was not delicious because Hae Sok didn't swallow it even though she only tasted it a little.

"As I said her cooking is definitely not good," Aeri said, who was satisfied.

"Soo Yin, because you made it. You also have to finish it all," Aeri said as she put the bowl containing Soo Yin's cooking in front of her. Unbeknownst to Soo Yin, Aeri had put in a lot of chili and pepper powder.

Soo Yin took a sip of saliva. She might throw up if she ate that much.

"Honey, you just eat mine," Aeri said as she put the food on her husband's plate.

Dae Hyun didn't respond to Aeri at all, instead he shifted Soo Yin's food in front of him. No matter how good Aeri's food was, he didn't intend to taste it at all. Dae Hyun started to spoon the food into his mouth a little. It tasted a little strange and a little too spicy. Dae Hyun only hoped that something wouldn't happen to his digestion.

Aeri widened her eyes when she saw Dae Hyun who chose to eat Soo Yin's menu instead of what she made.

"Dae Hyun, don't eat it!" Aeri said. She didn't want anything to happen to her husband because her only intention was to make Soo Yin stomach ache.

Aeri tried to grab the bowl from Dae Hyun's hand but Dae Hyun didn't let go.

"Let go!" Dae Hyun said so that Aeri put her hand away.

Dae Hyun looked at his little wife for a moment. Before finally feeding the food back into his mouth. Only two spoons of his mouth felt like it was on fire. Even cold sweat started pouring down his forehead.

"Sir, don't!" Soo Yin said tearyly. She felt like crying seeing her husband eat her food which must have tasted strange.

Soo Yin immediately snatched the bowl from Dae Hyun but the man didn't allow it.

Soo Yin pulled the bowl tightly until the contents spilled. It was better for her to be scolded by Hae Sok than to have to watch her husband finish his food which she was reluctant to even eat.

"Soo Yin, why did you spill it?" Dae Hyun said as he felt his stomach start to churn. Cold sweat was running down his forehead.

"The food is not good to eat," Soo Yin said quickly.

Dae Hyun clutched his aching stomach and his chest also feels tight.

"Dae Hyun, what's wrong with you?" Hae Sok said, who began to panic seeing her grandson who seemed to be holding back the pain.

"Grandma, we should take him to the hospital," Aeri said. She immediately rushed outside to call the driver to help carry Dae Hyun.

=====

Seoho Hospital

Now Dae Hyun was in the care of doctors at the Emergency Room. Everyone was waiting at the door. Soo Yin's body was completely limp this time. She couldn't help to hold her tears anymore.

"Soo Yin, if something happens to my husband then you are the first to take responsibility," Aeri said as she glared at Soo Yin who sat limply on the floor.

"No, don't argue. You'd better pray if nothing will happen to Dae Hyun," Hae Sok said, trying to calm down even though she was currently worried.

"Mother, how is father?" Jo Yeon Ho said. He was afraid something happened to his father.

"Yeon Ho, your father is fine. Don't worry," Hae Sok said to comfort his grandson.

The first time the family found out that Dae Hyun was suffering from a Capsaicin allergy was when Dae Hyun was a teenager. At that time he almost took his life because Dae Hyun was experiencing shortness of breath. After that there was no such incident again because they always forbade Dae Hyun to eat chillies in any form.

Today's incident was truly unexpected. Hae Sok didn't think that for Soo Yin's sake he will eat a menu that will endanger his life.

Soo Yin kept on sobbing even though she didn't make a sound. She tried to hold back her voice because Aeri kept blaming her.

Hae Sok who saw Soo Yin crying since earlier couldn't bear to see her. She walked over to Soo Yin who was still lying on the floor.

"Soo Yin, get up," Hae Sok said as she bent over to pull Soo Yin's hand to her feet.

"Grandmother?" Soo Yin looked up with tears running down her cheeks.

"Get up, don't be like this," Hae Sok said. Although at first she was shocked to find out that the girl was Dae Hyun's second wife, but because of the incident it seemed like Dae Hyun really loved her.

"Grandma, it's all my fault," Soo Yin said, who hugged Hae Sok while sobbing.

"Well, this is just an accident. Don't blame yourself too much. Sit on the chair, it's not nice to see," Hae Sok said as she let go of the hug.

After being seduced for a while, Soo Yin finally sat on the bench with Jo Yeon Ho. Now she can calm herself down.

"Eunnie, how poor my father is," Jo Yeon Ho said with a sad face. He could not bear to see his father who looked in pain.

"Let's pray that your father is okay," Soo Yin said.

Jo Yeon Ho nodded his head. He immediately followed what Soo Yin was doing by closing his eyes with both connected hands then placing them on his lips.

When Soo Yin opened her eyes Jo Yeon Ho's eyes were still closed. He seemed still earnestly praying for his father.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 145 - 145 - Still Strong

After a while the doctor finally came out. Hae Sok who was sitting near the door immediately stood up wanting to know the condition of his grandson. Likewise with Soo Yin, she immediately stood up reflexively then immediately approached the doctor while holding Jo Yeon Ho.

"Doc, how is my grandson?" Hae Sok asked the doctor who had just come out.

"His condition is much better but it is recommended that patients not eat chilies in any form," the young woman doctor advised.

"Can we take a look?" Hae Sok asked.

"Please, Grandma," the doctor said before he finally left the emergency room.

Hae Sok entered first with Jo Yeon Ho.

"Soo Yin, you don't have to come in! Because my husband doesn't need you," Aeri said, who just appeared out of nowhere. She gave Soo Yin a quick glance before finally going into the room to see Dae Hyun's condition.

Sadly and disappointedly, Soo Yin can only see through the small glass located at the door. She was grateful that Dae Hyun was doing well. Soo Yin felt very guilty because ever since he was with her, Dae Hyun was always close to getting hurt.

Soo Yin just felt the small glass located on the door slowly with a smile. She decided to get out of the hospital and then sat on a long bench under a tree. It was useless begging because Aeri won't let her in.

Dae Hyun tried to sit up. He really didn't like the smell of the hospital.

"You better lie down," Hae Sok said.

"I'm not that weak, Grandma. Where's Soo Yin? Why isn't she here?" Dae Hyun looked around the room but couldn't find his little wife.

"Honey, you don't need to look for her because you definitely don't need her. It's also her fault that you're like this," Aeri said.

"Let the grandmother call her," Hae Sok said, who immediately opened the door but the waiting bench in front of the room was empty. She looked at the corridor but there was no sign of Soo Yin. Even though Soo Yin was there earlier so Hae Sok went back inside.

"Where's Soo Yin, Grandma?" Dae Hyun asked when his grandmother returned alone.

"Soo Yin isn't outside. Maybe she's going to the toilet," Hae Sok said.

Without thinking, Dae Hyun immediately let go of the IV needle stuck in his hand. He even wanted to remove the breathing apparatus stuck to his nose. He had experienced shortness of breath, so the doctor gave him a breathing apparatus.

"Dae Hyun, what are you doing?" Aeri said as she widened her eyes. She couldn't believe what Dae Hyun was doing.

"I'll go find Soo Yin," Dae Hyun said. He was very worried that his little wife would do something bad.

Check ...

Just about to get out of bed Mrs. Park who just arrived in Busan came in. She and Park Soo Hyun immediately left after Aeri called if something happened to Dae Hyun. Meanwhile, Park Ji Hoon cannot come because he has some business.

"Who called mother?" Dae Hyun asked as he glared at Aeri. For him this was too much to have to call his family even though his condition was fine.

"I'm just afraid that something will happen to you," Aeri said.

"Really you are too much!" Dae Hyun said. It was not that he didn't like it when his parents come, but Dae Hyun felt that it was unnecessary.

"Dae Hyun, why did you eat something that would endanger your life?" Mrs Park said. The look on her face conveyed a deep sense of anxiety because she was afraid that what happened in the past would happen again.

"I'm fine, Mom," Dae Hyun said casually as if nothing had happened to his body. Even though earlier his neck was choked and his chest was having trouble breathing. But if he seemed to be suffering then Soo Yin will likely to be blamed. He didn't want to make Soo Yin sad.

"Aeri said you ate what Soo Yin cooked? Didn't that girl know if you can't eat spicy?" Mrs Park said.

"Don't blame her, Mom," Dae Hyun said as he pulled the blanket covering his body.

"Then, where are you going? Why take all this equipment off?" Mrs Park said.

"I'm going to find Soo Yin, I'm afraid something will happen to her." Dae Hyun still insisted on knowing Soo Yin's whereabouts.

"Well, you better sleep and rest. Mother will tell Park Soo Hyun to look for her," Mrs. Park said.

"But, Mom...." Dae Hyun said.

"It's true what mother said. She might just go out for a while to find a breeze," Aeri said. She started to be suspicious of her husband who always exaggerates his attitude towards Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun was forced to obey his mother's words because the doctor who was examining him suddenly came.

=====

Park Soo Hyun was just getting out of the car when his cell phone rang. He immediately answered the call which turned out to be from his mother.

"What's the matter, Mom?" Park Soo Hyun asked after the telephone connection was connected.

"Where are you now?" Mrs. Park asked.

"I'm still in the parking lot," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Please find Soo Yin first because it looks like she went outside," Mrs. Park said.

"Soo Yin disappeared?" Park Soo Hyun was worried about what his mother said.

"No, maybe she just came out for a moment. Then you better look for her," Mrs. Park said.

"Okay." Park Soo Hyun immediately followed what his mother ordered. After all, the purpose of coming to Busan was one of them to meet Soo Yin. If only his brother hadn't brought with her then the plan would have been going smoothly.

Park Soo Hyun scoured every hospital compound to find out where Soo Yin was. Many times he had tried to contact her cellphone but there was no answer. Suddenly his gaze fell on a figure who was standing on the edge of the pool.

A woman wearing a maroon colored dress. The clothes were very familiar because he had seen them several times. There was no mistaking it that the woman he had been looking for had been standing by the fish pond and even close.

"Maybe she's going to kill herself," Park Soo Hyun muttered. He immediately ran, scared that Soo Yin would do something bad.

"Soo Yin, don't do it!" Park Soo Hyun pulled Soo Yin's wrist from behind.

Soo Yin, who was standing, lost her balance so she immediately fell in the arms of Park Soo Hyun who had fallen to the ground first. Now Soo Yin was on top of Kim Soo Hyun's body.

The sloping ground conditions caused them to roll for a while before finally their bodies stopped on the level ground.

'If this was all a dream then I'd like to be in a position like this in a few hours,' Park Soo Hyun who kept staring at such a beautiful face thought. Park Soo Hyun was completely lulled by the simple beauty of the woman who was now over him.

"Sir, please let me go." Soo Yin repeatedly said that but Park Soo Hyun hugged her body tightly.

"Ah, sorry." Park Soo Hyun immediately woke up from his reverie so that he immediately let go of Soo Yin's body. He currently felt his heart beating wildly.

Soo Yin slowly got up to her feet then rubbed the dry grass stuck to her clothes.

"Let me help." After Park Soo Hyun managed to stand up he helped clean the dry grass stuck to Soo Yin's hair.

"Thank you," Soo Yin said.

"Were you about to end your life? Why did you do something crazy like that?" Park Soo Hyun grumbled. He couldn't stop thinking that Soo Yin was that weak mentally. Just because she nearly injured his brother, did she have to end her life?

"Ending life?" Soo Yin frowned. She didn't understand what Park Soo Hyun meant.

"Weren't you about to kill yourself?" Park Soo Hyun asked.

"Why should I do something like that," Soo Yin said while rolling her eyes.

"Then why are you standing too close to the edge of the pool?" Park Soo Hyun asked.

"I just want to take my scarf that fell in the wind," Soo Yin said. Park Soo Hyun's reaction was too much. The pool was even only knee deep. Young children also won't drown if they fall there.

"Are you crying?" Park Soo Hyun just realized that Soo Yin's eyes were a little puffy. Her eyelids were also swollen.

"No," Soo Yin said while rubbing her eyes.

"Never mind you don't have to worry because my brother is now fine. You don't need to blame yourself for doing it accidentally. It's also my brother's fault why he still eats spicy food even though he knows it could threaten his life," Park Soo Hyun explained. He wanted to calm Soo Yin's heart if it wasn't her fault.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 146 - 146 - Want Both

"Is Mr. Dae Hyun okay?" She wanted to know if her husband was doing well and there were no serious problems.

"Of course, don't worry about it."

"Can I meet him?" Soo Yin asked. She hasn't calmed down if she hasn't confirmed it herself.

"Of course you can. Who will forbid you?" Park Soo Hyun said.

"Miss Aeri didn't let me in," Soo Yin said with a sad face.

"Don't worry. Let's go in," Park Soo Hyun asked, who immediately took Soo Yin's wrist. It was true, just touched her hand his heart was pounding again. He never felt this kind of thing even though he was close to so many women. Park Soo Hyun was increasingly convinced that Soo Yin was his true love.

"Sir, please let go of my hand," Soo Yin said. She felt very uncomfortable with Park Soo Hyun holding her. She also didn't want Park Soo Hyun to think of anything else.

"Sorry, I was too excited to see my brother immediately." With a heavy heart, Park Soo Hyun let Soo Yin's hand go.

'Be patient in a little bit, Park Soo Hyun. If she has accepted you then you can hold her hand any time,' Park Soo Hyun thought. He talked to himself to be patient any minute. He firmly believed that Soo Yin will be willing to be his future wife.

Soo Yin walked first to enter the hospital building followed by Park Soo Hyun behind her because suddenly someone had called him.

Soo Yin was now standing at the door of the room where Dae Hyun was being treated. Just about to hold the door knob Aeri went outside while glaring at her.

"What a pain!" Aeri cursed. Looked like she must have a way to get Soo Yin out of Dae Hyun's family because she has a bad feeling. Whenever there was Soo Yin near her husband's family, everyone always puts her first.

"Sorry miss, can I come in?" Soo Yin asked while biting her lower lip.

"Why don't you just go back to Seoul? You're not needed here at all. It's all your fault too," Aeri said curtly.

"Aeri, who are you talking to?" Mrs. Park exclaimed from indoors.

"I am" Aeri was about to say that she was talking to a hospital cleaner but Park Soo Hyun suddenly appeared.

"I chatted with Soo Yin, Mom," Aeri continued. Then she opened the door wider for Soo Yin to come in even though she had almost kicked her out earlier.

"Soo Yin, come in. My husband has been waiting for you since earlier," Aeri said with a fake smile.

Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun finally entered together.

Dae Hyun felt relieved after seeing that his little wife was doing well, but he also felt guilty when he looked at her swollen eyelids.

"Soo Yin, where have you been?" Mrs. Park asked. Somehow she always liked seeing Soo Yin especially after knowing Park Soo Hyun liked her. She was increasingly impatient to want to make her daughter-in-law.

"I just went to the back of this building to get a breeze. Sorry if I bothered you," Soo Yin said as she bent her body.

"Not at all," Mrs. Park said as she gripped Soo Yin's fingers.

Soo Yin was really touched by Mrs. Park who smiles warmly at her because since childhood she has never felt a mother's love. She really hoped that Mrs. Park's attitude will not change if she found out about everything.

"Where are Grandma and Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin asked, who looked around the room but there was no Jo Yeon Ho and grandmother Hyun Bin.

"They have been sent home because it is not good for a child to be in the hospital," Mrs Park said.

Soo Yin nodded her head knowing about it.

"Hyeong, why are you acting stupid like that?" Park Soo Hyun grumbled as he looked at Dae Hyun who was sitting on the bed.

Dae Hyun only glanced at Park Soo Hyun while snorting. Even though he almost risked his life, he did not regret doing that. He didn't want Aeri to insult his little wife's cooking because he knew Soo Yin must have worked really hard to make it.

"I just want to go home because I'm cured," Dae Hyun said, who was about to remove the IV needle again. After seeing Soo Yin he didn't need any medicine. After all, the longer he stays here Aeri will definitely blame Soo Yin.

"Honey, stay here until tomorrow morning so that your body condition is completely recovered," Aeri said while holding Dae Hyun's arm.

Dae Hyun threw Aeri's hand roughly so that Aeri's body staggered backwards. Luckily there was Mrs. Park nearby.

"Dae Hyun, why are you rude like that to your wife?" Mrs. Park said, who glared at his son.

"Mom, looks like Dae Hyun really hates me for that photo." Aeri immediately sniffled while wiping the tears that trickled down her cheeks. It turned out that learning crying acting was very beneficial in situations like this.

"I didn't mean to. Never mind, don't exaggerate it," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone without feeling guilty at all.

"Dae Hyun, your jealousy is too much. Hurry and apologize to Aeri right now!" Mrs. Park was furious that Dae Hyun has hurt his wife. She rubbed Aeri's shoulder to calm her down.

"It's true what mother said, Hyeong. You can't be rude to sister-in-law," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Don't get involved!" Dae Hyun said in a high voice.

Soo Yin only watched those who were arguing with each other. Seeing Dae Hyun's attitude towards Aeri was completely inversely proportional to her being so gentle and caring. Soo Yin wondered if her husband had a dual attitude because of his completely changed attitude.

Aeri continued to sob. She wouldn't stop crying until Dae Hyun apologized to her.

"Dae Hyun, apologize right now!" Mrs. Park said one more time.

"What's so hard about apologizing to sister-in-law." Park Soo Hyun stepped down to protest because of his brother's stubborn attitude.

"Okay, I'm sorry," Dae Hyun said lazily and was very disgusted.

"I've forgiven you because I know if you're really jealous it means you love me," Aeri said with a sly smile on her thin lips.

"Never mind, I want to rest. You'd better just go home to grandma. Leave me alone here except for Soo Yin who can't go home. She has to take care of me because I've paid dearly for her," Dae Hyun said. He had absolutely no problem if his family found his words nonsense.

"Hyeong, Soo Yin is your secretary not your servant," Park Soo Hyun protested. He didn't want Soo Yin to take care of Dae Hyun.

"That's my business! You don't need to interfere. Now go home, I want to rest." Dae Hyun pulled the blanket from his feet to the top of his head. Silently he prayed that they would all really leave the hospital.

"Mother, just let me take care of him." Aeri wanted to show her in-laws if she had changed her attitude.

"Aeri, you also come home because I don't want you to be tired looking after me," Dae Hyun said from under the covers. He was forced to say such disgusting words.

"Thank you, darling. Apparently you are very understanding to me." Aeri bent over to hug her husband's body but Dae Hyun struggled a little so she let go.

"Soo Yin, if he's messing around, just call my number," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Yes, sir," Soo Yin said.

Actually, Park Soo Hyun wanted to accompany Soo Yin to the hospital but being in the hospital too long made his stomach churn. He really hated the smell of the drugs that were there.

Soo Yin tailed to the door to escort the three people. She took a deep breath before turning back to Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin walked quickly when she saw Dae Hyun leaning over his chest. He closed his eyes as if holding something tight in his chest.

"Sir, what's wrong with you?" Soo Yin asked in panic. She stood up but didn't know what to do.

"Call Doctor Kang right now," Dae Hyun said while enduring tightness and pain in his chest. He grabbed his neck which felt like it was choked.

"Very well," Soo Yin said. He immediately contacted Doctor Kang to ask for his opinion on what to do. It turned out that Doctor Kang suggested Soo Yin to redeem the medicine at the hospital pharmacy according to the medicine recommended.

Soo Yin immediately ran through the hospital corridor. She didn't care at all about the people who saw her. Not infrequently she even nearly hit other people. Right now she was really panicking afraid that something might happen to Dae Hyun. This situation was like experiencing déjà vu when his father was in the hospital before.

After getting it, Soo Yin immediately returned to the room where Dae Hyun was treated. She immediately rushed to pour water and then opened the medicine from the package.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 147 - 147 - Like Being Pregnant

"Sir, have a drink," Soo Yin said with a trembling body and cold sweat streaming down her body.

Dae Hyun immediately took all the medicine. He swallowed the drug with a total of ten grains. He leaned his head on the side of the bed with a panting breath. He closed his eyes again.

"Honey, what really happened to you?" Soo Yin said with tears streaming down her cheeks. Her hand gripped Dae Hyun's fingers tightly.

"Don't worry, I'm fine," Dae Hyun said, still closing his eyes. He smiled as he squeezed his wife's fingers.

"After marrying me you always almost got hurt," Soo Yin said while sobbing. She lowered her head to kiss Dae Hyun's hand.

"Hey, don't talk like that. It's all not your fault," Dae Hyun said. After taking the medicine prescribed by Doctor Kang, her chest was now getting better.

Dae Hyun sat up then bent over to kiss the top of his little wife's head.

Soo Yin looked up. She felt too sad that she didn't realize Dae Hyun had sat back down.

Dae Hyun stretched out his hand to touch that face full of tears. He grabbed Soo Yin's face then wiped his tears slowly.

"Don't cry, look at your swollen eyelids. Later the doctor will think if I hurt you," Dae Hyun said with a smile.

Soo Yin pursed her lips while puffing her nose. She felt very worried but her husband teased her.

"Come on, let's get out of here," Dae Hyun asked.

"Where are you going? Isn't your current condition not getting better?" Soo Yin said.

"Didn't I already say that being with you could be a medicine for me. I would be very fine around you," Dae Hyun said.

"We're not going anywhere until you recover," Soo Yin refused.

Soo Yin sat on the chair right beside the bed where Dae Hyun was leaning his head. She started feeding her husband the porridge provided by the hospital for her husband, but Dae Hyun had always refused it.

"Honey, I don't want to eat it. It tastes very weird," Dae Hyun said while shaking his head. He was disgusted to see that the porridge looked soft. It didn't make him feel like eating at all.

"You have to eat it," Soo Yin said as she handed him another spoon but Dae Hyun covered his mouth with his palms.

"Please, get the porridge away from me. I feel like my stomach is stirring," Dae Hyun said as he pushed the bowl away from him.

"Why are you being so weird?" Soo Yin grunted while frowning. Since when did her husband become nauseous just seeing the porridge even though it was fine. He was like mother who was young pregnant.

"I don't know either, but these days I don't like soft food," Dae Hyun said. He also felt strange about his body which sometimes got tired easily and his tongue was very picky in the taste of food.

"You better have to ask Doctor Kang about your body condition," Soo Yin said. Doctor Kang has been his personal doctor for a long time so he must know more about her husband's physical condition.

"After returning to Seoul I'll see him," Dae Hyun said because he felt annoyed that his body became weak.

Soo Yin finally put the porridge bowl back on the nightstand. She looked at the clock, which was only seven o'clock in the evening, but her eyes felt sleepy.

"If you get better why don't we go back to Grandma's house?" Soo Yin asked. She couldn't bear if she has to lingering in the hospital.

"I don't want to share a room with Aeri," Dae Hyun said.

"Why?"

"Because I don't want to make you jealous," Dae Hyun said while pinching his little wife's nose.

"I won't be jealous." Soo Yin supported his chin with both hands.

"Really? When Yeon Woo hugged me you were very angry," Dae Hyun teased.

"It's because she seemed to like you and you guys were ever close and you even seem to enjoy it. Huh, you man!" Soo Yin argued while inflating her nose.

"Your jealousy is sometimes unreasonable. Calm down, I will not betray the trust you have given me," Dae Hyun said as he hugged Soo Yin's body in his arms.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes. Dae Hyun held her too tightly that she tried to escape. Besides, Soo Yin was also afraid that someone would suddenly enter.

"Take care of your attitude. I don't want anyone to catch us again," Soo Yin said while pushing Dae Hyun's burly body.

"I just want you to believe in me," Dae Hyun said.

"Never mind, I don't want to discuss it because I want to find food outside," Soo Yin said, who shifted her chair back to make it easier for her to stand up and then stepped outside.

Just closing the door from outside Soo Yin reached into her pants pocket to find money but she found nothing. She forgot not to bring her wallet because she was in a hurry.

Soo Yin turned back into the room again while biting her index finger.

"What's the matter? Don't you want to come out?" Dae Hyun said when he saw his little wife went back in.

"I didn't have any money with me," Soo Yin said as she pursed her lips.

"Have you brought money?" Soo Yin continued with a hint of embarrassment.

Dae Hyun immediately took something from his pants pocket. He took one of his ATM cards from his wallet. Actually, Dae Hyun had intended to give the ATM to his little wife for a long time but Soo Yin always refused. Looked like this was a very good time to give it back.

"Take it, don't ever return it," Dae Hyun said in an orderly tone as he handed the card to Soo Yin.

"I just need a little. Is there no cash?" Soo Yin said. She just wanted to buy roadside food so she didn't need to use an ATM. She also handed the card back to her husband.

"Honey, I told you not to return it. You always refuse every money I give. Just save it for your tuition later," Dae Hyun said while closing Soo Yin's fingers so that she would hold the card.

"But I don't even know I'll continue my education. I haven't really thought about it," Soo Yin said.

"Come on, you have to stay in college. I want to see if one day you succeed," Dae Hyun persuaded.

"Okay, but tomorrow you have to accompany me to register because Jae-hwa registered beforehand yesterday. Is it okay if I study in the medical field because it must cost a lot of money. I don't want to disappoint you with my meager abilities," Soo Yin said while biting his lower lip. She was afraid to disappoint her husband.

"I'm sure you can do it. Didn't you say you wanted to compete with Aeri?" Dae Hyun reminded them of their conversation a while ago. He wanted her to be excited and not despair like that.

"That's right, if later I become the only wife I want to prove to everyone that you don't choose me wrong," Soo Yin said with a thin smile. Can she compete with her husband's first wife who was so perfect? Soo Yin sometimes wanted to laugh at herself who was overconfident.

Marriage that must be hidden and becoming a second wife was not his dream. But everything has happened Soo Yin can surrender to what happens in the future.

"Calm down, tomorrow I will be your guardian," Dae Hyun said.

"You become my father?" Soo Yin asked while winking her eyes. She didn't really listen to what her husband said because her mind wandered for a moment.

"I mean to be your father's representative. Nobody will believe if a man as handsome as me already has a teen daughter," Dae Hyun said with a chuckle.

"You are too confident," Soo Yin sneered.

"If you I am not handsome, then will you fall in love with me," Dae Hyun said while glancing to tease his wife.

"It's because you forced me," Soo Yin argued, her cheeks started to turn red.

"I'm hungry, I'll buy food first," Soo Yin continued to change the subject, after all, her stomach already asked to be filled.

"Wait, I also want to go outside. In this room makes me really like a weak person," Dae Hyun said while removing the blanket. He hurried out of bed. He stepped his feet to grab his coat which was on the hanger.

Dae Hyun didn't wear the clothes provided by the hospital because he really didn't like wearing them. With normal clothes it will be easier to get out of the hospital area because the doctor will think if it was a family member of one of the patients.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 148 - 148 - Don't Want To Eat It

Soo Yin continued to stand by the door while looking at her husband who was wearing his coat.

"You better just stay here. Later I'll buy food for you," Soo Yin said. She didn't want to get into trouble if he was caught going out of the hospital because the restaurant she was going to visit was quite far from the hospital area.

"I'll come!" Dae Hyun said quickly and didn't want any arguments from Soo Yin. He will not rest easy letting her go out alone in a strange place.

"Up to you." Soo Yin gave up on persuading Dae Hyun to stay because it was useless.

Soo Yin and Dae Hyun walked sneakily afraid of being caught by the doctor who treated them. While walking in the hospital hallway, Dae Hyun continued to grip his wife's wrist tightly. As if not willing to let go even if only for a moment.

After 10 minutes, they managed to get out of the hospital building.

"Honey, I want food that is on the side of the road over there," Soo Yin said, pointing to a fairly busy street. When leaving earlier she accidentally saw several kinds of food that suddenly wanted to be eaten.

"We'll order a taxi first," Dae Hyun said. Even though it was not far away, Dae Hyun did not want his wife to be exhausted, especially since she would have been shaken because Aeri kept blaming her.

"I don't want to take a taxi. I want you to carry me," Soo Yin whined like a child.

Without thinking, Dae Hyun squatted down so that it would be easier for Soo Yin to get on his back. His wife's small body wouldn't feel heavy at all.

Soo Yin immediately got on Dae Hyun's back then put her hand around his neck. Dae Hyun propped Soo Yin's legs with his wrists so she wouldn't fall.

Dae Hyun continued to walk nearly 100 meters. Last time he carried Soo Yin her body was light but this time it felt heavier so Dae Hyun was a little breathless. Or because his body is weakened so Soo Yin felt heavier.

"You're a little heavier now," Dae Hyun said as he kept walking. He walked on the sidewalk, which was rather quiet.

"So now I'm fat?" Soo Yin asked who was offended by her husband's words.

"No, honey. You're just a little fuller instead of fat but I like you even more. You look prettier now," Dae Hyun said to restore the mood of his little wife. Looked like Soo Yin was menstruating so she's more sensitive.

"Don't lie," Soo Yin said with a sullen face.

"Why would I lie? For me you are always beautiful no matter what your circumstances," Dae Hyun said softly as he tilted his face a little to see his wife's face.

Soo Yin snorted while resting her cheek against Dae Hyun's back without responding to her husband's words back.

"If Aeri says anything that hurts you. I want you not to think about it," Dae Hyun said as he kept walking.

"Why?" Soo Yin asked.

"I don't want her to poison your mind which will make you doubt. So whatever she says that hurts your heart, you don't need to listen to it," Dae Hyun said.

"Calm down, I never thought of anything she said," Soo Yin said. Since childhood, Soo Yin was used to hearing insulting words, so now she has started to become immune.

Soo Yin leaned her head on Dae Hyun's back. It felt so comfortable that it made her eyes sleepy.

Not long after, they finally arrived at their destination. The streets were already very crowded with visitors.

"Honey, we've arrived," Dae Hyun said, but there was no answer from his little wife. The man tilted his head to the side to see Soo Yin who was asleep. No wonder it felt heavier.

Dae Hyun stepped into one of the long chairs under the tree. He put Soo Yin down on the chair because she hasn't gotten up yet Dae Hyun moved his waist twisting to the right and left to get rid of a little soreness.

"Honey, wake up." Dae Hyun shook his little wife's body slowly for fear of startling him.

Soo Yin yawned then covered her mouth with her hand.

"We have arrived?" She said while rubbing her eyes.

"If you're sleepy we should just go back," Dae Hyun said.

It has been a few days that Soo Yin has experienced excessive drowsiness so that when her head touches something that felt good, her eyes will quickly close.

"No, I want all the food I saw." Soo Yin hurriedly stood up to get rid of the drowsiness. She didn't want to go home until she got what she saw this afternoon.

"Buy everything you want," Dae Hyun said who also stood up and then ruffled Soo Yin's hair.

Dae Hyun always followed Soo Yin's steps wherever she wants. Now his hands were carrying several kinds of food that his little wife has bought. Dae Hyun can only shake his head to see Soo Yin who was not over even though they have been around.

There were Odeng or fish cake, tokkebi hot dog, twigim or tempura, bungeoppang, gyeranppang, octopus and dried squid.

"Are you sure you're going to finish all this?" Dae Hyun asked as he raised his hand which was already struggling to carry a plastic bag.

"Of course," Soo Yin said with sparkling eyes.

Dae Hyun invited Soo Yin to sit on a long bench located not far from the place.

Soo Yin felt her saliva dripping when she saw the food in front of her that looked very tempting. She started tasting the food with gusto but had just tasted dried squid now she has no appetite to eat it.

"I don't want to eat it," Soo Yin said as she handed it all to Dae Hyun.

"Didn't you ask for it earlier. Then what is all this for?" Dae Hyun asked.

"I want you to eat it," Soo Yin said.

"My stomach won't fit eating all this," Dae Hyun while said massaging his temples.

Soo Yin looked around until she found some homeless people sitting on the side of the road.

"Come on, just give it to them instead of being wasted," Soo Yin said, who immediately took the plastic bag containing the food. She walked towards the homeless then gave them all the food. Seeing their trapped state without any place to take shelter made Soo Yin's heart touched. If Dae Hyun didn't help her family, maybe now she will have the same fate as them.

Soo Yin kept giving it to several people until there was nothing left. It turned out that she had a lot to be grateful for because her life was much more worthy. She never imagined what would happen if she didn't marry Dae Hyun. Patient and affectionate man.

Seeing the homeless people who looked happy to get their food, unconsciously tears rolled down her cheeks.

"What is wrong?" Dae Hyun asked, who was standing beside Soo Yin. He was confused when his wife suddenly became sad.

"Nothing, let's go home," Soo Yin said while smiling as she wiped the tears pooling on her eyelids.

Soo Yin continued to hold Dae Hyun's wrist. She leaned her head on her husband's shoulder on the way back to the hospital.

After returning to the hospital, Soo Yin first washed her face in the bathroom. The room that Dae Hyun occupies was a VIP room so it has quite a large room and its own bathroom. But no matter how comfortable the room in the hospital was, there will still be no one who felt comfortable living there.

"Honey, come here," Dae Hyun called when Soo Yin just came out of the bathroom. He patted the bed beside him which was still empty.

"What is wrong?" Soo Yin asked while drying her face with a small towel.

"Sleep here," Dae Hyun said, who was lying down first. The bed could fit two people but if they moved a little then one would fall over.

"I'll just sleep on the sofa," Soo Yin said. She stepped her feet towards the sofa. It was more comfortable there than sleeping in a narrow bed.

Soo Yin immediately lay down on the sofa because it was almost midnight so her eyes were sleepy heavily.

Dae Hyun immediately got out of bed and rushed to his stubborn little wife. He immediately lifted Soo Yin's body who had almost closed her eyes. Immediately Soo Yin felt her body floating in the air so she immediately grabbed Dae Hyun's arm.

Dae Hyun lay Soo Yin's body on the bed. He couldn't bear to let his wife sleep on the sofa because it must be so uncomfortable.

"Honey, go to sleep." Dae Hyun kissed the top of Soo Yin's head gently.

"Where are you going?" Soo Yin said while holding Dae Hyun's arm.

"Let me sleep on the sofa," Dae Hyun said with a smile.

"Sleep here with me. Looks like this bed fits both of us which is important not to move too much," Soo Yin said.

"Fine, if you ask." Dae Hyun happily climbed straight into bed because this was what he expected. He turned off the light first because it was too dazzling.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 149 - 149 - Sleep On A Narrow Bed

Dae Hyun put his hand on Soo Yin's stomach as he stared hard at her face. He stretched out his hand to touch Soo Yin's seductive soft lips.

"Honey, go to sleep," Soo Yin said, who slowly opened her eyes. She saw Dae Hyun who was smiling at her and it turned out that their faces were now only a few centimeters away.

Seeing Soo Yin who opened her eyes, Dae Hyun couldn't help but want to devour those pink lips. He immediately landed a soft kiss on his wife's lips. The kiss was getting hotter and hotter until Soo Yin wanted to let go because her breath was already gasping.

Soo Yin kissed Dae Hyun back so that their tongues join together. She immediately realized that she was in the hospital now so Soo Yin stopped him. Don't let them do anything in the hospital.

"Stop it! Remember, we are now in the hospital," Soo Yin said as she covered her mouth with her palms so that Dae Hyun wouldn't kiss her again.

"So what?" Dae Hyun asked with wistful eyes.

"Never mind, we better sleep or I'll just sleep on the sofa," Soo Yin threatened.

"Okay." Dae Hyun only took a deep breath at his wife's threat.

Soo Yin turned her back to Dae Hyun.

=====

Knock... knock... knock....

Outside Park Soo Hyun knocked very hard on the door. All night he couldn't sleep because he thought that Dae Hyun must have treated Soo Yin badly so that early in the morning he rushed to the hospital.

"Why should it be locked?" Park Soo Hyun cursed while turning the doorknob firmly but wouldn't open.

Park Soo Hyun knocked hard on the door again. He didn't care if the other occupants of the room will be disturbed.

Soo Yin, who heard a loud knock on the door, immediately woke up. She unconsciously pushed Dae Hyun's body who was hugging her.

Brakk....

Dae Hyun, who was fast asleep, now fell to the floor on his back.

"Ouch!" Dae Hyun exclaimed when he felt his back touch the floor quite hard.

Soo Yin turned her head towards the source of the voice. She widened her eyes when she realized she was pushing Dae Hyun's body.

"Honey, how come did you fall?" Soo Yin immediately rushed out of bed. She helped Dae Hyun to her feet.

"Why are you pushing me? Didn't I tell you not to move too much?" Dae Hyun said while holding his waist.

"Sorry, I was surprised because there was a knock on the door," Soo Yin said.

"Damn! Who knocked on the door in the early morning like this," Dae Hyun said irritably. Even though it was still six in the morning.

Soo Yin tidied her hair and clothes first before stepping into the door.

"Mr. Park Soo Hyun?" Soo Yin said. Instantly her sleepiness disappeared when she saw the man.

"Soo Yin, how was last night? Did you sleep well? Your body must be sore because my brother told you to sleep on the sofa," Park Soo Hyun said, who stretched out his hand to hold Soo Yin's shoulder for a moment.

"Look at your hair is very messy and your eyes are like a panda," Park Soo Hyun continued, holding Soo Yin's face with both hands.

"Sir, I'm fine," Soo Yin said. She grabbed Park Soo Hyun's hand then pushed it off her face.

"Park Soo Hyun, why did you come in the early morning like this?" Dae Hyun said with his hands on his hips. He was angry because at a glance he saw his younger brother touch his wife's face.

"I just want to see my future wife. Look, Soo Yin even waited all night for a man who pretended to be sick," Park Soo Hyun said in a high tone when he saw Dae Hyun had not used the IV in his hand.

"What do you mean pretended to be sick?" Dae Hyun said in a higher tone.

"Stop!" Soo Yin shouted, who was standing in the middle while covering her throbbing ears hearing the two men arguing. Why do they always use muscles when talking.

"Hey, this is a hospital. Can't you talk slowly!" A middle-aged man snapped, who suddenly appeared at the door. Since earlier he had tried to hold back his patience not to get angry but their very loud chat was too much.

"Forgive us, Uncle," Soo Yin said as she bowed. She felt bad because in the morning had made him uncomfortable.

"If you guys continue to argue, I will call the security personnel to expel you," The middle-aged man threatened. He immediately left the three of them and then entered the room next to him.

"If you still want to argue go ahead. I'll go back to grandma's house," Soo Yin said. She went back inside to get her coat and cellphone. She passed two men who were staring at each other.

"This is all your fault," Park Soo Hyun said, who immediately followed Soo Yin's steps who had left first.

"You intruder!" Dae Hyun said. He also hurried after his little wife. He was not willing to give Park Soo Hyun the opportunity to be alone with Soo Yin.

It turned out that Soo Yin was walking very fast. When Park Soo Hyun exited the building, it turned out that Soo Yin had already taken a taxi.

"Where's Soo Yin?" Dae Hyun asked he did not see his wife was with Park Soo Hyun.

"She already took a taxi," Park Soo Hyun said briefly then he got into the car.

Dae Hyun also got into Park Soo Hyun's car.

"Can you drive or not? You can't even chase a taxi," Dae Hyun sneered. He kept looking ahead but the taxi was out of sight.

"Hyeong, can you be quiet?" Park Soo Hyun got emotional because Dae Hyun kept talking. If only Dae Hyun wasn't his brother he'd love to hit him.

During the trip they kept on arguing.

=====

Soo Yin immediately got out of the taxi. Luckily she remembered Hae Sok's home address. If not, she might get lost.

Soo Yin walked through the unlocked gate. The house looked still deserted maybe they haven't woken up yet. Just when Soo Yin was about to knock on the door it turned out that Mrs. Park opened it.

"Soo Yin?" Mrs. Park said while linking her eyebrows. He spread a smile full of warmth.

"Are you alone? Where are Dae Hyun and Park Soo Hyun?" Mrs. Park continued, who did not see the whereabouts of her two sons.

"Yes, Mrs. Maybe they'll arrive soon too," Soo Yin said.

"Didn't I tell you not to call me that. Just call me mother," Mrs. Park said. She wanted Soo Yin to be closer to her.

"But...." Soo Yin said. She is not used to calling her mother-in-law 'mother'.

"From now on you have to call me mother!" Mrs Park said emphatically. She didn't want Soo Yin to refuse her wish.

"Okay, Mom," Soo Yin said with a faint smile.

"Did you take a taxi home? Where exactly are they to let you go home alone?" Mrs. Park said.

"They... they...." Soo Yin was confused about what to say.

"Well, let's just go inside," Mrs. Park said while leading Soo Yin into the house. She will later make calculations to her sons.

Mrs. Park invited Soo Yin in and told her to clean up first. Even though according to Aeri it was Soo Yin who almost put Dae Hyun's life in danger, but she was very sure that Soo Yin did it accidentally so she wasn't angry at all with the girl.

Soo Yin went to her room then cleaned herself and changed her clothes. From yesterday she hadn't even changed her clothes. Soo Yin lay down for a while on the bed while stretching out her arms. All night she was very uncomfortable because she could not move freely.

After finishing Soo Yin went to the kitchen. It turned out that Aeri and Hae Sok were already there with several servants who were cooking.

"Good morning, everyone," Soo Yin said with a smile on her lips. She walked towards the kitchen table near the sink.

"Apparently you came home?" Hae Sok said.

"Yes, Grandma," Soo Yin said

"Soo Yin, don't touch anything here. I don't want everyone in this house to be poisoned because of you," Aeri sneered when she saw Soo Yin was about to help clean the vegetables.

"Aeri, you shouldn't talk like that," Hae Sok said in a cold tone. She didn't like Aeri who spoke a little harshly to Soo Yin.

"Grandma, I'm just telling the truth. After all, my cooking is much better than Soo Yin," Aeri said confidently.

"Is it true that yesterday you cooked it?" Hae Sok asked while looking at Aeri. At first she wanted to shut up but because Aeri she had to open it. Now she had to get things straight.

"Of ... of course, Grandma. I've studied the recipe well," Aeri said, stammered.

"I think yesterday the food was cooked by this house maid," Hae Sok said with a lopsided smile.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 150 - 150 - Cunning Woman

Without Soo Yin and Aeri knowing Hae Sok has tasted their food before they served it at the dining table. The taste was inversely opposite to when she tasted it at the dining table.

Soo Yin's food, which was not spicy at first, suddenly tasted very spicy and Aeri's food, which had a very strange taste, suddenly became very delicious.

Hae Sok realized that what Aeri was serving was the food made by her servants. She had memorized every recipe that was taught to his servants and that was indeed the recipe.

"How could it be, Grandma. That's all I made it," Aeri argued.

"Then Grandma wants you to make the same menu as yesterday," Hae Sok challenged. She wanted to prove that her words were never wrong.

"But I've forgotten the recipe yesterday because I just tried it," Aeri said with trembling hands.

"Didn't you say that you studied the recipe?" Hae Sok urged. She was very sure that Aeri was lying.

"But I really forgot the recipe yesterday, Grandma," Aeri said. She's still trying to find an excuse so that Hae Sok didn't pressure her to do it again.

Soo Yin just listened without any intention to interfere because she didn't understand what Hae Sok was saying.

"You also put a good amount of chili powder into Soo Yin's cooking. Do you think I don't know it?" Hae Sok said with a crooked smile.

"No wonder my cooking is so spicy," Soo Yin said with furrowed brows.

"It's all your fault. Why am I being blamed?" Aeri grumbled as she looked at Soo Yin with a look of dislike.

"It turns out that your character as a public figure is very bad. Your face and heart don't match," Hae Sok sneered.

"What's the matter, Mom?" Mrs. Park asked, who entered the kitchen holding Jo Yeon Ho's hand. She accidentally heard a commotion.

"Just ask your daughter-in-law. Why would she lie if she just wanted to be praised?" Hae Sok said in a flat tone.

"Aeri, please explain," Mrs. Park said while staring at her daughter-in-law. Of course her mind immediately fell on Aeri because she was the only one who was her daughter-in-law.

"Mother, I'm sorry. I served the wrong menu yesterday which turned out to be made by the maid in this house. I also put a little chili powder into Soo Yin's cooking. That's ... that's because I tasted Soo Yin's cooking so bad if there was no spicy taste but I actually put too much into it," Aeri said at length. Initially she wanted to dodge Hae Sok's accusation but it turned out that Hae Sok already knew it.

"So you mean you made Soo Yin's food spicy?" Mrs. Park said.

"Sorry, I didn't do it on purpose. I just wanted to help Soo Yin's cooking be much better," Aeri said while bowing her head.

"Yes, but all of that almost made Dae Hyun hurt," Mrs. Park said. She can't stop thinking if Aeri did all that.

"I'm really sorry, Mom," Aeri said, who sobbed as she sat on her knees.

"Mother, why are you crying?" Jo Yeon Ho said, who approached Aeri. He hugged Aeri's body with his tiny hands.

"Please forgive my mistake," Aeri said with tears in her eyes.

"Grandma, please forgive my mother because she is innocent." Jo Yeon Ho was just a child who didn't know anything. But he was very sad when he saw his mother crying.

Mrs. Park and Hae Sok looked at each other for a moment.

"Okay, but don't repeat your mistakes. If you do stupid things like that again, mom will not forgive your mistakes," Mrs. Park said while sighing. She just couldn't bear to see her favorite grandson who was sad.

"Thank you, Mom," Aeri said, who immediately got up.

"I'm sorry, Grandma. I'm also sorry for blaming you, Soo Yin." Aeri walked over to Soo Yin and then hugged her. Fortunately, her mother-in-law still believed everything she said.

Soo Yin chose to remain silent. She knew that this apology was just a trick from Aeri. Soo Yin was sure that Aeri did it so that she wouldn't be blamed by Dae Hyun's family. Soo Yin was grateful that Hae Sok can reveal everything.

"Aeri, I don't want you to do something stupid like that anymore. You know if my husband finds out then he will be very angry," Mrs. Park said.

"Mother, I promise I won't do it again," Aeri said earnestly. She felt very unlucky that her attempt to win over Hae Sok failed. Even now, she almost lost the trust of Mrs. Park. Looked like she should be more careful in her actions.

"Soo Yin, it turns out you've arrived home. We were around looking for you because we were afraid you might get lost," Park Soo Hyun said, who had just arrived home.

"Yes sir, sorry I was going first," Soo Yin said.

"Don't be like that anymore because you make me worry," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Park Soo Hyun, where is your brother? Is he really recovering so he's come home?" Mrs. Park asked.

"Yes, Mom. Currently he was meeting a woman in the yard," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Who?" Hae Sok asked.

"I don't know," Park Soo Hyun said as he raised his hand.

oooooooooooooooooooo

Dae Hyun and Park Soo Hyun just arrived at Hae Sok's place because their car had a problem on the road. Dae Hyun was still on the terrace when Yeon Woo arrived. Actually he wanted to leave her on the yard but there was a bad feeling. After all she was a guest to be respected.

"There are guests, apparently," Hae Sok said, who had just gone to the terrace. He already knew Yeon Woo. It was also that woman who helped him organize some things in this house.

"Who is he, Mom?" Mrs. Park asked, who stood behind her in-laws.

"Don't you remember? She is Yeon Woo who used to play with Dae Hyun," Hae Sok said.

"I just remember now. Turns out you've grown up, Yeon Woo," Mrs. Park said with sparkling eyes.

"I'll go inside first," Dae Hyun said, who wanted to clean up. He also wanted to see if Soo Yin was really home so he can calm down.

"Yeon Woo, come on in," Hae Sok asked.

"No, Grandma. I just stopped by for a while because I heard from the maid at this house that Dae Hyun was hospitalized so that when I passed this house I wanted to stop by," Yeon Woo said with a friendly smile.

"Have you met Dae Hyun before?" Mrs. Park asked, she was curious.

"About two days ago I met Dae Hyun and his wife. It turns out that his wife is still young, I don't think Dae Hyun likes young girls even though I thought that girl was his younger sister," Yeon Woo said with a chuckle. If Dae Hyun and Soo Yin didn't come back, she wouldn't know that Soo Yin was his wife.

"Young girl? Two days ago?" Mrs. Park asked with furrowed brows even though Aeri just arrived yesterday. Who was Yeon Woo referring to?

"I also want to return this handkerchief. Yesterday Dae Hyun's wife accidentally dropped it in front of our house," Yeon Woo said while handing the handkerchief to Mrs. Park.

Hae Sok widened her pupils when she saw that the handkerchief was Soo Yin's embroidered. That kid was clumsy. If Mrs. Park knew what will happen because she really hates a woman who flirts with a married man. Whoever it was even if it was her own family.

"Where's Sehun? Why don't you invite him over?" Hae Sok said to change the subject. Looked like her daughter-in-law was getting suspicious. She was very annoyed by Dae Hyun's careless negligence.

"He was playing. Well, I'll go home afraid that Sehun was looking for me," Yeon Woo said while bowing her body.

"Thank you, Yeon Woo. Be careful on the road," Mrs. Park said while waving her hand.

"Mom, is this Aeri's but she just arrived yesterday?" Mrs. Park said. She felt something was strange.

"This is Soo Yin's. Yesterday when they just arrived I taught her to embroider," Hae Sok said while thinking of finding the right excuse.

"But why did Yeon Woo say that this belongs to Dae Hyun's wife?" Mrs. Park asked while linking her eyebrows.

"Maybe Yeon Woo misunderstood it. That's because at that time Dae Hyun was alone with Soo Yin so that's why she must have thought Soo Yin was his wife," Hae Sok said.

"Oh, I see." Finally Mrs. Park believed Hae Sok's words.

=====

Before her grandson and daughter-in-law travel back to Seoul, Hae Sok wanted to have a private talk with Dae Hyun because she has something to talk about. Indeed, Soo Yin's character was much better than Aeri, but Dae Hyun's actions to marry her secretly were still wrong and will definitely become a big problem.

"What did you call me for?" Dae Hyun said, who was already sitting in front of Hae Sok.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 151 - 151 - Return To Seoul

Hae Sok looked at Dae Hyun with an unpredictable expression. For a moment she didn't say anything.

"Dae Hyun, did you tell Yeon Woo that Soo Yin is your wife?" Hae Sok asked calmly.

"Yes, Grandma," Dae Hyun said casually.

"Do you know the consequences of your carelessness? Your mother almost found out," Hae Sok said with a slightly raised tone.

"It doesn't matter to me if mother find out."

"You stupid kid! Why are you being so reckless? Your mother really wants Soo Yin to be her daughter-in-law but not to you. She wants Soo Yin to marry Park Soo Hyun," Hae Sok said with an even higher tone. Hae Sok just found out last night that Park Soo Hyun liked Soo Yin.

"I know that, Grandma. I will keep our relationship hidden from Park Soo Hyun for a while," Dae Hyun said with a sigh.

"You have to know if you are caught having two wives then your position as director will be threatened," Hae Sok said so that his grandson would not careless.

"I have no problem at all if I have to step down from my position. For me Soo Yin means a lot in my life," Dae Hyun said sincerely. He will not repeat his mistake for a second time. He will fight for the girl he loved.

"Do you want the hotel to fall to the children of your uncle and other aunts? Do you want the business that your grandfather built to slowly destroy?" Hae Sok asked with sharp eyes.

The Silla Seoul Hotel was the first hotel built by Dae Hyun's grandfather. In the past, the hotel was just an ordinary hotel before finally becoming a five-star hotel like it was now all because of Park Ji Hoon's hard work which was then continued by Dae Hyun.

Hae Sok has one son and two daughters, but her husband chose Park Ji Hoon who ran the hotel because he didn't trust his daughters-in-law even though they will get the same benefits but can't have them. His two daughters were of course against it until one day an agreement was made if the hotel leader cheated on his wife he would lose his position and a meeting would be held to determine a new leader.

"You have to know if your two uncles really want the position of director of the hotel. Your grandfather would definitely not be willing if the hotel fell into their hands," Hae Sok said while looking backwards remembering how her two daughters-in-law were very greedy.

"I'm sorry, Grandma. From now on I'll be careful," Dae Hyun said. He forgot about the agreement. It turned out that love has blinded everything.

"Remember not to let your grandfather who was up there be disappointed. You can only reveal your relationship if you are divorced from Aeri. Or you can hand over Soo Yin to your brother," Hae Sok suggested.

"I will never!" Dae Hyun said in a cold tone. He won't let Soo Yin go even though a storm will come over their relationship.

=====

After lunch they decided to return to Seoul. After all, Park Soo Hyun and Dae Hyun had to get back to work immediately after leaving the hotel for a few days.

"Grandma, come with us to Seoul," Aeri said. She still tried even harder to get Hae Sok's attention.

"Yeon Ho, be careful on the road. Until meet you again, cute boy," Hae Sok said while embracing Jo Yeon Ho's cheek who was so adorable. She completely ignored Aeri's words. She no longer believed in that woman.

Aeri could only hold back her anger by clenching her fists tightly. If Hae Sok wasn't Dae Hyun's grandmother, she wouldn't be willing to be nice to her.

"Why don't you just come with us to Seoul. Here you are alone away from your children and grandchildren," Mrs. Park said while holding Hae Sok's wrist which has wrinkled with age. She wanted her in-laws to join them.

"I just want to live quietly and comfortably," Hae Sok said.

"Then we'll go first, Mom." Mrs. Park hugged Hae Sok's body for a moment.

"Grandma, I'm sorry if I always been a bother while I'm here," Soo Yin said. She didn't dare look at the old woman.

"I know you're a good girl. I want you to be more patient," Hae Sok whispered with a certain meaning as she hugged Soo Yin. Somehow Hae Sok felt that Soo Yin was a lot more compatible with her grandson than Aeri. It seemed like she had to immediately go to the temple to ask her teacher.

"Thank you, Grandma." Soo Yin was touched by Hae Sok's words. She was happy because she didn't hate her.

"I will pray for both of you that God will give you the best way," Hae Sok whispered as she patted Soo Yin's back. The others have left so no one will listen to what they say.

After everyone said goodbye they finally left. Dae Hyun had to give up Soo Yin in a car with Park Soo Hyun. At first he insisted on refusing but Hae Sok continued to glare at him so that Dae Hyun couldn't help but give up.

Dae Hyun felt a little relieved to find out that his mother was with them so there was no need to worry if Park Soo Hyun would do something bad.

Dae Hyun slammed the car door hard with a sullen face. He didn't like it when he shared a car with Aeri.

If Dae Hyun was very angry then it was different from Park Soo Hyun who always developed a smile. He looked happy because he was in a car with Soo Yin. For him it didn't matter to have a mother because he already knew that her mother really supported Soo Yin to be his wife.

=====

Soo Yin continued to look ahead in silence. She felt stiff because she was in the front passenger seat right next to Park Soo Hyun. Moreover, Park Soo Hyun kept glancing at her, which made her feel very uncomfortable.

"Soo Yin, what are the criteria for your ideal man?" Mrs. Park asked, suddenly broke the silence. At first she intended to keep quiet and would let Park Soo Hyun to ask her but her son seemed shy.

"Yes, Mom?" Soo Yin, who was daydreaming, didn't really listen to Mrs. Park. She tilted her body to look back.

"I want to know what your ideal man is like?" Mrs. Park said, repeated her question once again.

"I... I don't have any criteria," Soo Yin said, a little stuttered.

"Do you like men like Park Soo Hyun?" Mrs. Park asked while glancing at her son who was focused on driving.

"Mother!" Park Soo Hyun said. He can't stop thinking that his mother will ask Soo Yin that. Park Soo Hyun's face turned red with embarrassment.

"Park Soo Hyun, you have to act fast because a girl as beautiful as Soo Yin must being chased a lot," Mrs. Park said, was completely shameless.

Soo Yin only smiled faintly in response to her mother-in-law's statement. She couldn't imagine that it would all be uncovered one day. Still Mrs. Park wants her to be daughter-in-law?

"Soo Yin, quickly answer your question?" Mrs. Park said, who can't wait to hear the answer.

Soo Yin scratched her head which didn't feel itchy. She did not know what to answer about this.

"I don't have any criteria. The most important thing is that man loves me," Soo Yin said while massaging her head. She no longer has the criteria of a dream man because she already got it.

"Really? Then what about Park Soo Hyun?" Mrs. Park asked with sparkling eyes.

"Never mind, Mom. Don't make Soo Yin feel uncomfortable," Park Soo Hyun protested. He didn't want Soo Yin to think that he wasn't brave enough to tell his own feelings.

Soo Yin can breathe a sigh of relief because Park Soo Hyun said that so she didn't have to answer her mother-in-law's question.

"Park Soo Hyun, after arriving in Seoul you have to take Soo Yin to a jewelry shop," Mrs. Park said.

"What for, Mom?" Park Soo Hyun asked while massaging his temples. Looked like her mother was impatient because at that time Park Soo Hyun had promised her to tell his love as soon as possible to Soo Yin. How could he do it if he never had the chance. This was all because of his brother who always made his plans failed.

"To buy your engagement ring," Mrs. Park said while chuckling.

"Cough... cough... cough...." Soo Yin, who was drinking mineral water, immediately choked until the water gushed out of her mouth.

"Soo Yin, are you okay?" Park Soo Hyun immediately held out a tissue with one hand.

Soo Yin shook her head then dried her wet pants with tissue.

"Be careful when you drink, Soo Yin," Mrs. Park said, who sat in the rear passenger seat.

"I'm fine, Mom," Soo Yin said. It seemed that she could not bear to hear the statement from her mother-in-law. It turned out that her mother-in-law made her even more uncomfortable. If it were just the two of them with Park Soo Hyun it certainly wouldn't be like this.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 152 - 152 - Drive Like A Snail

Soo Yin felt that there was something a little strange about Park Soo Hyun's attitude today, which was unusually quiet today. Could it be because there was his mother.

"Soo Yin, just sleep if you're sleepy," Park Soo Hyun said so that his mother didn't say strange things before him again. He didn't want Soo Yin to dislike him.

According to a book he just read yesterday a girl didn't really like men who chase her too much. Therefore, Park Soo Hyun was now trying to maintain his attitude. Although he will continue to approach Soo Yin but he will not be as aggressive as in the past. He will approach Soo Yin slowly.

"Then I'll just sleep," Soo Yin said. By sleeping, he will be free from questions from his mother-in-law.

Mrs. Park also chose to sleep because there were no friends to chat with. Although she really wanted to chat with Soo Yin.

Along the way, Park Soo Hyun glanced at Soo Yin several times. Even when the light went red he always observed Soo Yin's face closely. Each of these also made his heart race faster. He was getting impatient to make Soo Yin his wife but Park Soo Hyun didn't want to rush it. He will slowly approach Soo Yin according to his new plan.

=====

After a long journey they finally arrived in Seoul when the sun was setting.

Dae Hyun, who arrived earlier, was standing on the terrace since this afternoon. He was waiting for Park Soo Hyun's car that didn't show up. He walked here and there without caring about the servants who were confused by their master.

"Honey, just wait inside. They will definitely arrive soon," Aeri said while sitting on one of the chairs on the terrace.

Dae Hyun did not respond to Aeri's words at all. He no longer believed Aeri, who turned out to slander Soo Yin. Luckily her grandmother found out about it so she stopped blaming Soo Yin. Which made Dae Hyun even more furious because the woman did not regret what she had done.

"Park Soo Hyun wouldn't do anything to that poor girl," Aeri sneered. She got even more annoyed that Dae Hyun was more concerned with Soo Yin. Looked like she has to think of a way to get rid of her especially it seemed that her mother-in-law also really liked her.

A black car pulled into the yard. Dae Hyun sighed with relief when he saw that it was Park Soo Hyun's car. Dae Hyun immediately ran over to Park Soo Hyun's car to see if his wife was okay.

"You arrived in Seoul for a long time. It's like driving a snail," Dae Hyun muttered when Park Soo Hyun got out of the car.

As soon as the car stopped Mrs. Park immediately got out of the car because she could not stand to pee.

"What's the point of arriving quickly if I can linger with my future wife," Park Soo Hyun said casually.

Dae Hyun's head felt hot and his brain felt like it was boiling over to hear Park Soo Yin calling his wife his future wife. He wanted to tell the world right now that Soo Yin was his wife and no one should touch her.

Dae Hyun, who was annoyed, immediately opened the car door to see Soo Yin, who was still asleep. Without thinking he immediately lifted Soo Yin's body then took her out of the car.

"Hyeong, what are you doing?" Park Soo Hyun widened his eyes and almost fell to see his brother carrying Soo Yin's body. Although he will take her inside.

"Get off!" Dae Hyun said in a cold tone.

Park Soo Hyun, who tried to block Dae Hyun, was forced to step aside for fear that his idol girl would wake up.

"Dae Hyun, what are you doing?" Aeri was flabbergasted to see Dae Hyun carrying Soo Yin's body even though she was still asleep when she arrived Dae Hyun had no intention of waking her up. Dae Hyun only took Jo Yeon Ho inside while she was left in the car until she woke up on her own.

Dae Hyun walked past Aeri without even glancing at her. As per the advice of his grandmother if he should divorce before announcing their relationship. Dae Hyun will act indifferently until Aeri gives up on trying to survive.

Dae Hyun lied Soo Yin's body in the guest room. Her reached out to grab the blanket, which was still folded neatly by the side of the bed. Dae Hyun slowly covered Soo Yin's body with a blanket for fear that she will wake up.

He immediately went out and closed the door tightly.

"Don't bother her!" Dae Hyun said when he met Park Soo Hyun at the door.

Park Soo Hyun wanted to punch his brother's head. He was very upset because Dae Hyun had preceded what should have been his job.

The two men finally went to their respective rooms to clean themselves first.

=====

Soo Yin rolled back and forth feeling her body achy. With her eyes still closed she fumbled over the soft and very comfortable bed.

'Am I still on my way? Why can I roll like this?' Soo Yin thought with still very sleepy eyes.

Soo Yin still felt that she must be dreaming. She opened her eyes as her stomach growled.

"Why am I here?" Soo Yin muttered as she looked around the room that looked familiar but because she just woke up with hungry condition made her brain work slowly.

Soo Yin looked at the clock stuck on the wall which turns out to be seven in the evening.

"Is this morning or evening?" Soo Yin who wasn't fully conscious muttered. She massaged her head which suddenly felt dizzy and her stomach was stirring.

Soo Yin rushed out of bed hurriedly ran to the bathroom. She couldn't stand wanting to throw it all up.

"Ugh, why does my stomach suddenly feel bad like this?" Soo Yin grumbled while holding her stomach. She leaned against the wall because she felt weak.

This may be due to an ulcer that she has. If he ate a little too late, she will experienced nausea and pain in her gut. Soo Yin washed her face after her stomach had started to improve. She needed food if she didn't want her pain to get worse.

After she finished washing her face and her mind was clear, Soo Yin began to recognize that the room she was currently occupying was in the UN Village. There's no mistaking it because Soo Yin slept there at that time.

Soo Yin came out of her room sneaking around while carrying her bag. She looked around to make sure there were no people so that it was safe to sneak off. It's not that she wasn't wanting to meet her husband but remembering the conversation on the way home made her head throb.

"Soo Yin, you were awake."

A sudden sound made Soo Yin jump up in shock until she grabbed her chest. Soo Yin who was about to step outside immediately turned around.

"Yes ... yes, Mom," Soo Yin said while scratching her messy hair. She just wanted to leave the house as soon as she found out she was in UN Village. There's no time to straighten her hair.

"Where are you going?" Mrs. Park asked, frowned when she saw Soo Yin carrying a bag containing her clothes.

"I want to go home, Mom," Soo Yin honestly.

"You better stay here. You can come back tomorrow morning," Mrs. Park said.

"Is it still seven in the evening?" Soo Yin asked. She thought she had slept all night.

"Of course, now put your bag back in the room. You have to have dinner with us," Mrs. Park said.

Actually, Soo Yin wanted to refuse, but her stomach kept ringing so that she can't help but followed to her mother-in-law's request. She can only hope that there won't be a fuss caused by Dae Hyun and Park Soo Hyun as there has been.

Soo Yin returned to the room to put her bag on the bed and tidy up her hair in a ponytail. When she finished she hurried out of the room.

oooooooooooo

Dinner this time was very peaceful and comfortable. There was no fuss caused by the two men. But there was something strange about Dae Hyun's attitude this time, whose expression remained tense.

Soo Yin only glanced at him briefly because her mother-in-law always asked her to chat. Soo Yin didn't pay attention to her mother-in-law who was talking so their conversation sometimes didn't get along. Even so, Mrs. Park just chuckled in amusement when she heard Soo Yin's answer that didn't match the question she asked.

Aeri, who sat next to Dae Hyun, was jealous of Soo Yin's closeness to her mother-in-law. Although she should be in that position today.

Park Soo Hyun who sat across from Soo Yin kept looking at her without feeling bored at all. He smiled to himself when occasionally accidentally met his gaze with his idol.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 153 - 153 - Little Brother For Yeon Ho

Park Ji Hoon wasn't home. He was currently traveling to Japan for several days. Initially Mrs. Park wanted to come but because she heard the news that Dae Hyun was hospitalized, she chose to go to Busan instead.

Soo Yin continued to spoon the food into her mouth. She sat next to Jo Yeon Ho so that occasionally she fed the boy food. It was unimaginable if now she already has children. Even though Jo Yeon Ho was not her real child, she can still be called her son because Jo Yeon Ho was her husband's flesh and blood.

Dae Hyun has no appetite for food, so he only ate a little. He only watched Soo Yin who was feeding his son. It was unexpected that Soo Yin has changed a lot even though her childish nature sometimes still exists.

"Aeri, don't you guys have any intention of giving a younger brother to Yeon Ho?" Mrs. Park said, opened the conversation to make the atmosphere more lively. She's done eating.

Everyone who was there immediately looked at Mrs. Park. Especially Dae Hyun who looked at her with a look of displeased.

"Dae Hyun, why do you seem displeased like that?" Mrs. Park asked. She was surprised by this if her eldest son always avoided being asked about having another child. Even though it's time for them to have a younger brother for Jo Yeon Ho.

Dae Hyun turned his face the other way. He really didn't like his mother's idea. Later he will give many grandchildren to his mother but not with Aeri.

"You should have more children so that your relationship becomes more harmonious because children will bring good luck," Mrs. Park said while looking at her daughter-in-law.

Aeri only smiled faintly at her mother-in-law's request. How could they have another child if Dae Hyun never touched her again. Aeri suddenly had the idea about it.

"We'll think about it later, Mom," Aeri said.

"Good, don't be late because you will get old," Mrs. Park said.

"Soo Yin, if one day you marry Park Soo Hyun you have to give lots of grandchildren to mother," She continued while looking at Soo Yin.

Soo Yin gave a quick glance at Dae Hyun, who had a sour face.

"Of course, Mom," Park Soo Hyun said. With pleasure he will provide many grandchildren for his mother.

Soo Yin just kept quiet. Too long in the house made her head felt dizzy. She wanted to just go home to Pyeongchang-dong villa.

"Mother, don't get your hopes up. It's not necessarily that Soo Yin wants to marry Park Soo Hyun," Dae Hyun quipped with an irritated snort.

"Mother, look at brother. He doesn't seem like it when I approach Soo Yin," Park Soo Hyun said, who raised his voice.

"Never mind, don't listen to your brother," Mrs. Park said.

"Soo Yin, I better take you home tonight," Dae Hyun said while looking at his little wife.

"Yes, sir," Soo Yin said curtly. Looked like Dae Hyun can read her thoughts of wanting to go home soon.

"No, tonight Soo Yin just stay here. You have so much heart with your secretary that you told her to come home," Mrs. Park argued while glaring at Dae Hyun.

"It's not like that, Mom," Dae Hyun said.

"Don't worry, tomorrow Park Soo Hyun will take her home if you don't want to," Mrs. Park said.

"Of course, Mom," Park Soo Hyun said with a happy face. He didn't mind driving Soo Yin home at all.

Dae Hyun chose to get up from his seat. It was useless to argue with his mother's words because he would never win. He immediately left the dining room.

Aeri also followed her husband's steps. She must be able to have children if she wanted to survive in this house. A sneaky way crossed her mind but not now that she didn't have it.

As soon as she entered the room, Dae Hyun was in the bathroom because there was a sound of gurgling water that was heard there.

Aeri locked the door then changed her clothes with a very sexy lingerie. Her cleavage was wide open, almost revealing her two plump objects. Aeri stared at her body in the mirror confidently. So far, no man has refused to see the beauty of her body.

Aeri immediately sat on the side of the bed while crossing her legs so that her smooth thighs looked seductive. Her legs that were white as smooth as porcelain would definitely make a man who saw her be enchanted. The expensive skin care that she has been done once a week was not in vain.

Dae Hyun has finished cleaning up. He glanced at Aeri's appearance with furrowed brows and then nonchalantly stood in front of the mirror while drying his hair.

Aeri remained patient while counting silently. She was very sure that soon Dae Hyun would approach her. It's been a long time that Aeri missed every touch from Dae Hyun because he hasn't touched her for so long so she often chose Han as an outlet.

Now Dae Hyun has finished drying his hair without even glancing at Aeri. He pretended not to see her.

Aeri began to lose her temper so she stood up to approach Dae Hyun waddling so that her exposed body looked very sexy. She put her arms around Dae Hyun's waist behind him. Not getting the response she expected, her right hand gently stroked Dae Hyun's muscular stomach with a chest covered with fine hairs.

Dae Hyun remained in his position pretending not to notice Aeri's presence. Even though there was something tickling in his body but he will endure it.

"Honey, what mother said was right. We should plan to make a younger brother for Yeon Ho," Aeri said sensually in Dae Hyun's ear. Her hands continued to wriggle slowly releasing the towel wrapped around Dae Hyun's waist.

Dae Hyun realized that Aeri's hand was about to touch something sensitive on his body. Deftly he grabbed Aeri's hand then threw it roughly before Aeri managed to remove the towel wrapped around his waist.

"Don't dream! You can find another man if you want to have more children," Dae Hyun sneered by lifting one lip up.

"Why do you always disrespect me as a wife?" Aeri shouted with high emotions because she had been holding it for so long.

"Is it true?" Dae Hyun turned around while smiling lopsidedly at Aeri.

"Then look for other men who can respect you, for example Han. He must really appreciate you," Dae Hyun whispered sensually right on Aeri's earlobe. He didn't want to be lied to by that sly woman again.

"Why do you always accuse me of being with him?" Aeri said in a rising voice.

"Never mind, don't be evasive. Go with him, let Jo Yeon Ho be with me. I will find my son's mother who is much better than you," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone.

"I won't let that happen!" Aeri said with trembling lips.

"Give it up, Aeri! Aren't you tired of this pretense?" Dae Hyun said.

"Of course not, I will never give up until you love me," Aeri said.

"Oh, or do you already have women out there that you say that? I wonder which woman can compete with me," she continued with a sly smile.

"Whether there is or not is none of your business. Even though there is another woman in my heart it will definitely be much better than you," Dae Hyun said with a snort. He chose to step into the dressing room because he didn't want to argue with Aeri anymore.

Without them knowing, Jo Yeon Ho was eavesdropping on their conversation. He didn't really know what they were saying, but from the way they spoke, Jo Yeon Ho concluded that his mother and father were fighting again.

Jo Yeon Ho felt very sad if his parents separate as Aeri said a few days ago if they separate then he will have a cruel stepmother. Jo Yeon Ho immediately ran down the stairs to hide himself. He didn't want to see his parents until they promise not to separate.

As soon as he finished changing, Dae Hyun immediately walked out of the changing room without glancing at Aeri. He stepped out of the room. As usual he would sleep in his study even though sometimes until late he wouldn't be able to close his eyes.

Aeri felt very emotional by Dae Hyun's statement. She will find out who was the woman who seduced her husband so that he wanted to separate. Even though during her seven years of marriage, Dae Hyun had never said that. Even though they pretended to be nice, Dae Hyun never said goodbye. The man also didn't matter if she rarely came home.

Aeri pulled the attached sheets neatly and threw them on the floor. She also grabbed her cell phone which was on the dresser. Throw it on the floor into small pieces.

"Until whenever I will not let you go!" Aeri said, throwing the perfume bottle into the mirror until it broke. She grabbed one of the sharp glass shards and squeezed it until her palms bled. She did not feel the pain at all.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 154 - 154 - Yeon Ho Disappeared

One of the servants named Eun Hee entered Jo Yeon Ho's room because she promised to read a new story to him earlier. She was the caregiver who often accompanied Jo Yeon Ho to sleep.

"Yeon Ho, where are you?" Eun Hee said as she knocked on the bathroom door but the door was not locked.

The bed was also still neat like when she tidied it this afternoon. Eun Hee decided to leave the room. Maybe Jo Yeon Ho was watching television downstairs with her grandmother. She didn't notice when she passed the living room whether Jo Yeon Ho was there or not.

As soon as Eun Hee got downstairs she checked the living room until there was no one in the family room, so Eun Hee kept looking for him to the kitchen. She also asked other servants for help in looking for Jo Yeon Ho. After half an hour of searching the child was still missing, so Eun Hee was very scared.

If she had not gone to her room first she would have known the whereabouts of her foster children.

"Eun Hee, what's wrong?" Mrs. Park asked. She had just descended the stairs going to the kitchen to get drinking water because she felt her throat was dry.

"Madame, little master... little master disappeared," Eun Hee said, stammering her trembling body. She was currently really scared.

"What do you mean Yeon Ho disappeared?" Mrs. Park asked, widened her eyes.

"The little master is not in his room. I've also checked all corners of this house but he could not be found," Eun Hee said while looking down. She was afraid if the child she was caring for was not found.

"Have you correctly looked for Jo Yeon Ho in his room? Usually he never goes anywhere," Mrs. Park said.

"That's right, Madame. I and other servants have been looking for him," Eun Hee said. She can only surrender if she will soon be fired.

Mrs. Park immediately climbed the stairs leading to Dae Hyun's room. She immediately knocked on the door to immediately tell this because they both seemed not to know it.

"Aeri, wake up," Mrs. Park called while continuing to knock on the door.

Hearing her mother-in-law calling from outside, Aeri immediately got up from her seat which was still on the floor. Hurriedly she changed her clothes that were more closed. She walked through the scattered glass fragments. Her injured hand still had dried blood stains on it.

"What's the matter, Mom?" Aeri asked as she closed the door tightly. She did not want her mother-in-law to see the condition of her room, which was very messy.

"Where is Dae Hyun? Tell him that Yeon Ho is not in his room," Mrs. Park said.

"What's wrong with Yeon Ho, Mom?" Dae Hyun, who heard his mother's voice, came out of his study.

"Yeon Ho disappeared. Quickly find him right now," Mrs. Park said.

"Wasn't he in his room earlier?" Dae Hyun massaged his head. Without listening to his mother's answer, Dae Hyun immediately checked Jo Yeon Ho's whereabouts in his room. It turned out to be empty, which made Dae Hyun panic.

Dae Hyun immediately descended the stairs followed by the others. He ordered all the servants and guards to gather. He wanted everyone to find where Jo Yeon Ho was. As a father he was worried that something might happen to his son.

Everyone in the house went back to every corner of the room until the courtyard was dark. The servants searched for Jo Yeon Ho using a flashlight as light. Maybe he was in a dark place but still nothing.

"Yeon Ho, where are you?" Dae Hyun said who rubbed his face irritably. Even though after dinner the boy returned to his room why now he suddenly disappeared.

Dae Hyun forgot to check the CCTV so he rushed to the security room. He checked the footage that occurred some time ago in several rooms because not all corners of the house had CCTV installed.

Dae Hyun's eyes were on the tape a while ago. A little boy ran down the stairs then silently entered the guest room. It was right after they finished dinner and when he was fighting with Aeri.

"Did Yeon Ho listen to our fight earlier?" Dae Hyun muttered while massaging his temples. Although he was relieved to know his son's whereabouts, Dae Hyun felt weak. Hopefully the kid didn't listen to their conversation last night.

A child as young as Jo Yeon Ho didn't deserve to know the problems that occur between them. During this time Dae Hyun tried to cover everything from Jo Yeon Ho. All this time, Dae Hyun tried to survive because he didn't want to hurt his son.

After finishing checking cctv, Dae Hyun rushed outside wanting to immediately check the guest room. He stood for a long time in front of the door, but he immediately discouraged knocking for fear of disturbing his little wife's sleep. The most important thing was now that he knew that Jo Yeon Ho was already in and he was fine.

Dae Hyun finally chose to leave the guest room. He stepped into the living room where everyone was gathered.

"Jo Yeon Ho has been found. Now go back to rest to our respective rooms," Dae Hyun said to all the servants who had come looking for his son.

"Where's Jo Yeon Ho?" Aeri said. She did not act as if nothing had happened between them.

"Don't bother him because he's asleep," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone.

"Dae Hyun, where is my grandson?" Mrs. Park asked who was also very worried.

"Don't worry, Mom. He's fine, now go back to sleep to our respective rooms," Dae Hyun said who then climbed the stairs.

"Hyeong, we haven't even seen him yet," Park Soo Hyun said, half screaming. He was annoyed by his brother who looked relaxed even though his son had not been found.

"Didn't I tell you he's all right?" Dae Hyun stopped his steps up the stairs. He turned around briefly before continuing his steps again.

"Mother, look at Brother who doesn't care about Yeon Ho," Park Soo Hyun said with his hands on his hips.

"Yeon Ho may have really been found. Let's just sleep," Mrs. Park said while holding Aeri's hand.

Park Soo Hyun chose to return to his room, snorting irritably with his relaxed-looking brother.

"Awhhh!" Aeri shrieked as her injured hand was gripped firmly by Mrs. Park.

"Aeri, what happened to your hand?" Mrs. Park asked who realized Aeri's hand was injured. The wound was bleeding again because of Mrs. Park accidentally squeezed it hard enough.

"It's okay, Mom," Aeri said as she hid her hand.

"Let mother treat it."

"No, Mom. Let me treat it myself. You better rest." Aeri didn't want her mother to know about the argument.

Finally Mrs. Park agreed to go to her room because it was late at night.

All of them finally returned to their respective rooms even though they didn't know where Jo Yeon Ho was.

=====

After hearing his parents quarrel, Jo Yeon Ho secretly turned the knob of the door of the room occupied by Soo Yin, which was not locked. He needed someone's help to calm down because he heard the dispute between his father and mother.

He was about to wake Soo Yin but was afraid to disturb her so he chose to lie curled up beside Soo Yin. Didn't know what the boy was thinking right now. He kept sobbing silently until his eyes felt sleepy for a long time.

Since entering the room, Soo Yin listened to music using earphones because she wanted to sleep well and no one disturbed her. She did not realize that someone was sleeping beside her.

When Soo Yin stretched out her hands then she realized. Soo Yin immediately woke up to see who was on her side.

"Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin said as she removed the earphones from her ears. She supported herself with her hands to sit up.

Jo Yeon Ho slept curled up, his hands squeezed between his legs. The boy looked cold because the weather was bad outside. Soo Yin immediately removed the blanket covering her body then shifted it to Jo Yeon Ho's body.

Soo Yin stretched out her hand to caress that adorable little face. His face was so peaceful when he fell asleep. With tiny lips that were pink. His eyebrows occasionally appear wrinkled. Didn't know what the boy was dreaming about.

Jo Yeon Ho blinked when he realized that a large hand was tracing his skin. He opened his eyes which were shining so bright.

"Sorry, I woke you up," Soo Yin said. She took her hand away from Jo Yeon Ho's face.

Jo Yeon Ho shook his head lightly with sad eyes. There was sadness in those clear eyes.

"Why can you sleep here? Did something happen?" Soo Yin asked while frowning.

Jo Yeon Ho sat while hugging a bolster pillow. He looked at Soo Yin with teary eyes.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 155 - 155 - Hesitating

"Eunnie, will Mother and Father separate?" Jo Yeon Ho said suddenly without answering the question Soo Yin had asked.

"Huh? What do you think?" Soo Yin stared at Jo Yeon Ho who said that.

"Last night I heard them fight again," Jo Yeon Ho said, who burst into sobs.

Soo Yin's heart trembled at Jo Yeon Ho's cry which sounded very sad. She immediately embraced Jo Yeon Ho's body in her arms.

"Eunnie, please help me so they don't fight again." Last night Jo Yeon Ho was afraid to hear his parents shouting at each other even though it was unclear what they were saying.

Jo Yeon Ho, who was almost seven years old, had now begun to understand that his parents who never get along, like the parents of his friends who always took them to school together.

He sometimes felt jealous of his friends. In the past, his father always took him but now when his mother has changed a little, Jo Yeon Ho felt that his father didn't care anymore.

Jo Yeon Ho wanted to be like his friends who always went on vacation with their parents. But it seemed to his family that it was very rare.

Soo Yin tightened Jo Yeon Ho's body into her arms. She felt the sadness he felt.

"Never mind, don't think about it. I'm sure your father and mother just misunderstood," Soo Yin said to change the conversation as well as calm him. She didn't know what to say to the boy.

Soo Yin did not think that a child as young as Jo Yeon Ho could think like that about his parents. Was it possible because all this time he often knew about the quarrels that have occurred between his father and mother? Dae Hyun once said that his relationship with Aeri was never good. They were only good in front of Jo Yeon Ho.

"Eunnie, please tell them if I don't want them to separate," Jo Yeon Ho said between his sobs.

Soo Yin's heart was cut by hearing Jo Yeon Ho's words, which were so stifling her heart and feelings. Would he still want to hug her like this if one day he found out if she was the reason his father would leave his mother.

Unconsciously Soo Yin shed tears until it flowed on the top of Jo Yeon Ho's head. She really had no intention of hurting anyone. Never thought that her love story would be like this.

"I don't want to have a cruel stepmother like my mother said," Jo Yeon Ho said.

"Calm down, nothing will happen to your father and mother." Only those words Soo Yin could say. She felt a dilemma at this time. It's a shame that Jo Yeon Ho was born from the womb of an evil mother.

Soo Yin remembered how Aeri was making out in the hotel. It really made her very sick.

"Eunnie, promise to persuade my mother and father?" Jo Yeon Ho broke free from Soo Yin's embrace. He then raised his little finger.

Soo Yin bit her lower lip when she saw Jo Yeon Ho's hopeful gaze. She sighed softly as she hooked her pinky around Jo Yeon Ho's little finger.

"Please rest again, it's still very dark," Soo Yin said while stroking Jo Yeon Ho's hair.

"Okay, I'll sleep." Jo Yeon Ho lay back on his pillow and closed his eyes.

Soo Yin covered Jo Yeon Ho's body back with a blanket. She also lay beside the boy. It's still three o'clock in the morning but Soo Yin couldn't close her eyes. She kept thinking about what Jo Yeon Ho had said earlier.

Tired of rolling around here and there, Soo Yin finally decided to just get up. She cleaned up first before finally leaving the room.

=====

Soo Yin stepped through the side door. She walked towards the backyard under the still dim light. It's still half past six in the morning. She wanted to breathe the fresh morning air. The air outside turned out to be so cold that Soo Yin crossed her hands to rub her arms to reduce the chill she felt.

Soo Yin continued to wander around in a small garden while observing the still faint flower buds. She needed to calm her mind for a moment.

"Why are you here in the morning like this?"

A familiar voice in Soo Yin's ears echoed through the crickets shouting to each other. Soo Yin turned her body to look at the man she had fallen in love with but right now she was in a dilemma.

"It's very cold outside, come back inside," Dae Hyun said as he walked closer to Soo Yin. He put his hand in his pants pocket.

"Then why did you come out too?" Soo Yin asked back while raising an eyebrow.

"I want to know what my little wife is doing here even though it's still dark," Dae Hyun said with a very charming smile.

"I couldn't sleep anymore after waking up," Soo Yin said briefly.

"Why? Is there something on your mind?" Dae Hyun kept stepping closer to Soo Yin until they were now only one meter away.

Soo Yin looked at Dae Hyun with a gaze but immediately turned her face away. There was a feeling raging in her chest at this moment. Why was it when she already loved Dae Hyun the obstacles were getting bigger. It was as if there was a wall towering between them.

Dae Hyun turned Soo Yin around to face him. He felt something was up with the way Soo Yin was looking at him earlier.

"What are you doing? Get away from me!" Soo Yin shuffled backward while looking around in fear that a servant would suddenly catch them.

"Honey, tell me what you think? You're not like usual," Dae Hyun said while narrowing his eyes without caring at Soo Yin's words asking him to go away.

"Keep your attitude, look at Park Soo Hyun walking this way," Soo Yin said when she saw the silhouette of Park Soo Hyun who was not far away. Soo Yin immediately shuffled backwards, at this point she wasn't ready for their relationship to be discovered.

Dae Hyun turned back to confirm Soo Yin's words. He snorted in annoyance when he saw his younger brother who was walking was getting closer.

"Good morning, Soo Yin," Park Soo Hyun said as he smiled a smile on his lips. Seeing his idol in the morning made him even more excited.

"Morning, sir," Soo Yin said with a faint smile.

Dae Hyun just put on a sour face without a word spoken on his lips.

"What are you doing here so early in the morning?" Park Soo Hyun said while looking at Dae Hyun and Soo Yin alternately.

"Can't you see we're standing?" Dae Hyun said curtly.

"Hyeong, what's wrong with you? Why are you so sensitive these days?" Park Soo Hyun grumbled.

Dae Hyun was silent, reluctant to respond to what his brother said.

'You have to know if I'm acting like this because of you,' Dae Hyun muttered to himself.

"You should look for Jo Yeon Ho instead of relaxing like this," Park Soo Hyun continued. Everyone in the house was now wondering where Jo Yeon Ho was right now.

"Looking for Jo Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin knitted her brows together trying to digest what Park Soo Hyun said.

"Last night Jo Yeon Ho disappeared. We were all confused looking for his whereabouts," Park Soo Hyun said.

Soo Yin scratched her head which didn't feel itchy. She didn't hear anything at all when people were looking for Jo Yeon Ho. Even though the child slept with her all night.

"Sorry, I don't know if you guys were looking for Jo Yeon Ho last night. He slept with me last night, I also don't know if you all were looking for him. I'm really sorry," Soo Yin said while looking down.

"Soo Yin, you don't need to apologize because this is not your fault," Dae Hyun said.

"He last night...." Soo Yin was about to say something but was discouraged because Park Soo Hyun was there.

"Thankfully, the important thing is he's fine," Park Soo Hyun said.

Soo Yin nodded her head despite the guilt she felt.

"Soo Yin, later I want to take you somewhere," Park Soo Hyun said. His more polite speaking style made him uncomfortable. It's not like he was more aggressive towards women. It was true that his mother said that he should move quickly before it's too late. Following the directions of the book he was reading made him dizzy.

"She's tired because she has to work tomorrow! You don't have to take her anywhere," Dae Hyun said with an annoyed snort.

"Right, another time," Soo Yin said agreeing to Dae Hyun's words. She wasn't ready for Park Soo Hyun to say something sensitive. She had to think of an appropriate answer so as not to hurt Park Soo Hyun's feelings.

"Too bad, but next week you have to want to go with me." Despite feelings of disappointment, Park Soo Hyun can't possibly force Soo Yin. He will be patient to put it off for another week and it must not fail.

"Never mind, don't force her!" Dae Hyun argued. He knew what his younger brother was thinking.

"I'd better go back to the room afraid that Yeon Ho might wake up and look for me." Soo Yin hurriedly stepped into the house. If she continued there then there was a high probability that there would have been an argument like the old ones.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 156 - 156 - I'm Sorry

Soo Yin pushed the door slowly so as not to wake Jo Yeon Ho. Once at the bedside she smiled at Jo Yeon Ho who was still sleeping peacefully. She stretched out her hand to fix the messy blanket.

"I'm sorry, Yeon Ho," Soo Yin said softly as she rubbed the boy's hair for a while. She felt very guilty if she hurt the child's feelings.

"Sorry, if someday I'll hurt you," Soo Yin muttered while sighing softly.

'God what should I do?' Soo Yin said to herself.

Soo Yin then packed her things back into the bag. She really wanted to go back to Pyeongchang-dong villa. It's better that before breakfast she should've go home. She also felt bad if she stayed in this house too long. Moreover, Aeri seemed to dislike her even more after returning from Busan. She didn't know, Soo Yin felt that Aeri was getting suspicious of her.

Knock... knock... knock....

The sound of knocking on the door interrupted Soo Yin from her reverie. She immediately stepped toward the door to open it. It turned out that there was already Mrs. Park together with Aeri. Soo Yin frowned at the two women standing in front of her.

"Where's Yeon Ho?" Aeri asked, who immediately pushed Soo Yin's body who was standing in front of the door. Soo Yin almost fell on her knees if she didn't hold on to the knob. She barged in to see how her son was doing. She could breathe a sigh of relief that her son was fine so she turned toward the door again.

"All night we were busy looking for Jo Yeon Ho but you just hid him here. Or did you make us feel anxious on purpose?" Aeri said with emotion. Whenever she saw the girl, her anger immediately wanted to explode, especially last night, she was so annoyed with Dae Hyun that she needed an outlet.

"Aeri, lower your voice. Don't wake Jo Yeon Ho. I'm sure that it wasn't Soo Yin's fault," Mrs. Park said, who defended her future daughter-in-law.

"Mother, I'm pretty sure if she did it on purpose. If not, why didn't she come out of her room when everyone was busy looking for Yeon Ho's whereabouts. Is she deaf so she didn't hear the commotion," Aeri said, who smiled crookedly as she lifted a lip to the top.

"Aeri, watch your words. I don't like you always blaming Soo Yin. As a mother you should know where your son is," Mrs. Park said with a displeasure look on her face.

"Mother, if she had been honest last night everyone would not have bothered. It's all because of her mistake," Aeri said with a look full of hatred towards Soo Yin.

"Never mind, the most important thing is Jo Yeon Ho is fine now. Stop blaming Soo Yin," Mrs. Park said.

"But, Mom...." Aeri was about to argue but it seemed useless. She didn't know what kind of magic that Soo Yin's got so that everyone seemed to like her.

"Soo Yin, did Yeon Ho disturb your sleep last night?" Mrs. Park asked, she smiled warmly. She wanted to make her prospective daughter-in-law not feel pressured so that the way she spoke when she was with Aeri was very inversely related. She spoke softly to Soo Yin.

Aeri rolled her eyes when she heard her mother-in-law speak softly.

'Look at you later, damn girl, I will make this family don't like you anymore,' Aeri thought as she clenched her fists. Every time Soo Yin was around, her mother-in-law ignored her.

"No, Mom," Soo Yin said with a faint smile.

"Thank God, I'm afraid that Yeon Ho will bother you so you can't sleep well," Mrs. Park said.

"Not at all, he's a very good boy." Soo Yin repeated her answer to convince Mrs. Park.

"Are you coming home this morning? How about this afternoon?" Mrs. Park asked with great hope.

"Mother, she also has to go home to rest. Soo Yin also has a job at home," Dae Hyun said, who has been standing with them since sometime.

Jo Yeon Ho, who was asleep, finally woke up because the sound of the chatter at the door disturbed his sense of hearing. He rushed out of bed when he heard that Soo Yin was coming home soon.

"Eunnie, don't come home," Jo Yeon Ho said, who had a sour face. He was holding Soo Yin's shirt.

"Yeon Ho, just let her go home. There's still a mother here," Aeri said as she reached out her hand to grab Jo Yeon Ho's shoulder but the child was hiding behind Soo Yin's body.

Jo Yeon Ho was still scared and sad, remembered last night hearing the fight between her father and mother.

"Yeon Ho, Soo Yin also has business so she has to go home first," Dae Hyun persuaded.

Jo Yeon Ho lowered his head. He felt very sad that there was no place to pour his heart out if Soo Yin came home.

"I want to come with you, I don't want to be with mom and dad," Jo Yeon Ho said while hiding his face in Soo Yin's shirt.

Dae Hyun crouched down to persuade his son. It seemed that his guess was correct, last night if Jo Yeon Ho listened to the commotion between himself and Aeri.

"Yeon Ho, you can be with Grandma if you don't want to be with mom and dad," Dae Hyun persuaded. He stretched out his hand to grab his wrist.

"Soo Yin, apparently you have poisoned my son's mind so that he doesn't want to be with us," Aeri said with her hands on her hips.

"Aeri, shut up!" Dae Hyun said in a cold tone.

Aeri clenched her fists at Dae Hyun's yell.

"Yeon Ho, why don't you want to be with mom and dad?" Now Mrs. Park crouched too. She seemed to smell something was wrong with her son and daughter-in-law. Dae Hyun also acted like this a few months ago

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 157 - 157 -Met Already Married

Jo Yeon Ho looked at his father and mother alternately then shook his head slowly. He just felt angry with his parents so he didn't want to be with them. He was also afraid to hear his mother's voice screaming.

"Little Master, I looked for you all night," Eun Hee said, who suddenly came. She was very grateful to see that her foster child were doing well.

Jo Yeon Ho immediately ran to Eun Hee and hugged her legs. So far, the child was closer to his caregiver than his parents.

"Let's take a shower first. Later auntie will invite you to go for a walk to the park," Eun Hee persuaded gently.

Jo Yeon Ho seemed to think for a moment before finally nodding his head.

After Eun Hee managed to persuade Jo Yeon Ho to play with her, Soo Yin was finally able to go home. No need to wait long because Dae Hyun immediately volunteered to drove her.

=====

Dae Hyun who drove Soo Yin home. At first Mrs. Park had sent Park Soo Hyun to deliver her but it just so happened that Park Soo Hyun was taking a shower so Dae Hyun immediately took her away. He won't be willing if Soo Yin comes home with his brother like from Busan yesterday.

"Did you guys fight again last night?" Soo Yin asked when the car had left the UN Village area.

"Hmmm," Dae Hyun said while sighing softly.

"Don't you know if Jo Yeon Ho knows about it? Can't you hide it from Jo Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin said with a little emotion.

"How do you know that?" Dae Hyun asked with furrowed brows.

"Jo Yeon Ho said it last night. He thought that if you were going to separate," Soo Yin said with a focus on looking at the road they were passing. There was a deep sense of guilt in her heart at this moment. She didn't have the heart if one day Jo Yeon Ho found out that his parents were separated.

"You'd better think carefully if you want to part," Soo Yin said with a tight feeling in her chest. Unconsciously crystals flowed from her eyelids.

Dae Hyun looked at Soo Yin when he heard a statement that he didn't want to be heard at all.

"What do you mean?" Dae Hyun stopped his car on a side street which was quite quiet. He was quite surprised to hear the statement of his little wife.

"Isn't this what we are waiting for so long that I will part with Aeri. Why do you say that? Have you changed your mind?" Dae Hyun asked repeatedly with sharp eyes. He was carried away with emotion when Soo Yin suddenly said that.

"I don't want to hurt Jo Yeon Ho," Soo Yin said while looking at Dae Hyun with a face that was already in tears.

"Precisely if I stay with Aeri then Jo Yeon Ho will be hurt even more," Dae Hyun said in a slightly high tone. Last night's fight between him and Aeri and just finding out that his mother intended to propose to Soo Yin for Park Soo Hyun made his emotions rise.

"You know last night he asked me to tell you if he didn't want his parents to separate. If he finds out later that I was the cause of his parents' divorce, can he still accept me?" Soo Yin shouted with a tight feeling in her chest. The tears that were held back now could not be stopped anymore so that they were pouring down the cheeks.

Dae Hyun held Soo Yin's body in his arms. Now there was guilt running in his blood.

"Why should I meet you when you already have a wife? Why is God unfair with my life?" Soo Yin's cry now breaks. She roared as she hit Dae Hyun's chest to vent the anger raging in her heart.

"Forgive me." Only that sentence was spoken from Dae Hyun's lips. He kept holding Soo Yin even though his wife continued to struggle.

"Why do I have to meet you?" Soo Yin said with trembling lips between sobs. She was now beating her husband's chest lightly because her body felt weak.

Dae Hyun let go of his embrace. He held Soo Yin's shoulders with both hands. With a teary face, Soo Yin lifted her head to look Dae Hyun's eyes.

"Honey, I beg you not to be influenced by Yeon Ho. He's just a kid who doesn't understand the nature of his mother. You should know that Yeon Ho didn't like Aeri because she was always busy. He was close to his mother only recently," he said. Dae Hyun tried to explain that his relationship with Aeri will no longer last. If Aeri changed her attitude before meeting Soo Yin, maybe he could still be considered to forgive her. But now it was too late also if he has evidence of Aeri having an affair with Han, one of his trusted people.

"Do you want to see me always lied to by that sly woman?" Dae Hyun held Soo Yin's chin to look at her in the eye.

Soo Yin lowered her gaze while shaking her head lightly. She almost forgot if some time ago she caught Aeri making out with Han. She was not willing if Dae Hyun continued with that cunning woman. Then, what about Jo Yeon Ho who already believed in her?

"Soo Yin, I really love you. I don't want to be apart from you, let alone have to let you go with Park Soo Hyun," Dae Hyun said with a heavy sigh. He stretched out his hand to wipe the tears on Soo Yin's cheeks.

"I love you too," Soo Yin said softly as she lowered her head.

The choice now felt very heavy. She just hoped that someday Jo Yeon Ho won't hate her.

"I beg to be patient or right now we tell the truth to mother?" Dae Hyun didn't care if the hotel falls into his uncle's hands. For the sake of the hotel he had sacrificed too much of his feelings.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 158 - 158 - New Atmosphere

Soo Yin shook his head when Dae Hyun was about to drive the car back. She held Dae Hyun's arm so he wouldn't drive the car.

"I will try to survive," Soo Yin said as she closed her eyes for a moment.

"I've already filed for divorce but the letter hasn't come out yet. After the letter comes out I will immediately ask Aeri to sign it," Dae Hyun said while wiping Soo Yin's tears with his thumb. Seeing his wife crying made the wound on his chest even more open.

"I'm sure if Aeri won't sign it. Besides, your parents will definitely not agree," Soo Yin said while holding Dae Hyun's fingers which were still on her cheeks.

"I don't care about it. I'll force him to sign it. You don't need to worry, I just need your trust so I can do it," Dae Hyun said.

"I trust you," Soo Yin said with a smile on her thin lips. She was now feeling calm.

"I'll take you tomorrow to enroll in university."

"No need, I'll just go there myself. I don't want to bother you because you must be very busy tomorrow," Soo Yin said.

"I can get Chang Yuan to replace me," Dae Hyun said.

"I'm really okay to go alone. You better work because I've been bothering you too much." Soo Yin insisted on refusing. Dae Hyun was a fairly well-known person plus his first wife was an artist. The students there would be suspicious if she went out with Dae Hyun.

"I'll still take you," Dae Hyun said with determination.

Cup....

Soo Yin kissed her husband's cheek.

"I want to go alone tomorrow," Soo Yin said with a look full of hope so that Dae Hyun would comply with her request. She smiled so seductively that Dae Hyun wanted to eat those lips.

Instead of answering, Dae Hyun put his lips on Soo Yin's lips. He crushed those thin lips filled with tenderness.

Dae Hyun used his left hand to grab Soo Yin's nape to hold her back. Meanwhile, his right hand began to wriggle along her back until he slipped into the loose clothes his wife was wearing so that he was more free to enter.

Soo Yin's heart wanted to reject what Dae Hyun did. Moreover, they were currently on the side of the road. But Dae Hyun's intoxicating touch ability made her body respond differently and want more.

Her heart and body were very uncompromising at this time.

Soo Yin's body bounced when her naughty husband's hand touched one of the hills which was still blocked by the cloth. Dae Hyun smiled happily to see his little wife who seemed to enjoy his every touch.

Dae Hyun remembered last night when he saw Aeri's body that was so seductive. If last night Soo Yin dressed like that would have been very nice. Too bad it was Aeri, which made him dislike her even more.

Dae Hyun stopped the kiss. His lips now traced the neck to the collarbone of his little wife. He can't stand anymore wanting to enjoy every curve of Soo Yin's body that he hasn't felt for several days.

Soo Yin grabbed Dae Hyun's wrist as she remembered that they were still on their way. There's no way they did something in the car.

"What is wrong?" Dae Hyun asked with foggy eyes because he had been trying hard all night to endure it. He's just a guy who's weak at that sometimes.

"Remember we are currently in the car," Soo Yin said as she reattached the button of her shirt that had been removed.

"So what if we are in the car?" Dae Hyun whispered sensually in Soo Yin's ear. His eyes were gloomy and sad because he had been holding something he wanted to channel.

"Later someone will see us," Soo Yin said, who had finished buttoning her shirt.

"Nobody will see us. This car glass can't be seen through," Dae Hyun said casually. He knew what his wife was afraid of.

"But...."

Dae Hyun didn't give Soo Yin a chance to protest. He silenced Soo Yin's mouth even more aggressively. He used his right hand to adjust the seat so that it can be used to lie down. Now Soo Yin was on her back so Dae Hyun immediately got up from his seat.

Dae Hyun was now on top of Soo Yin's body with a foggy look. Soo Yin can only surrender when Dae Hyun has taken off all of her clothes. Although her common sense tried to resist, her body responded differently by wanting further touches. Indeed, she now felt very weak.

Without realizing it, Soo Yin even made a muffled sigh that sounded very sexy in Dae Hyun's ears. Making Dae Hyun even more excited. He studied every inch of Soo Yin's body which was fuller at this time.

Indeed, Soo Yin's body was still inferior to Aeri's body which always carried out expensive treatments. Dae Hyun didn't need that. He has already fallen in love with Soo Yin unconditionally so that no matter what situation Soo Yin he will always love her until the end of his life.

After both flying up in the sky to the seven heaven, Dae Hyun let go of Soo Yin's body and returned to his seat.

Soo Yin who felt weak still lied in her position. She felt that Dae Hyun was out of his mind. How could they still do it in the car? Really very uncomfortable.

Dae Hyun buttoned his shirt back. As usual, his back would feel sore because Soo Yin kept scratching him so hard.

"My back feels hot," Dae Hyun said with a grimace. Dae Hyun arranged Soo Yin's seat back to normal. He also helped button up Soo Yin's shirt, which was messy because of his actions.

"It's your fault you can't wait until we get home," Soo Yin muttered as she smoothed her hair which was very disheveled.

"We have to try several places to have a new atmosphere," Dae Hyun said with a wicked smile.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 159 - 159 - Normal Man

"I don't want any more. What a shameless! It's even on the road but you still do it." Soo Yin pursed her lips.

"I can't stand it because I've been holding it all night," Dae Hyun said honestly.

"Why?"

"Aeri tried to seduce me last night because I'm a normal man. Of course I almost was tempted but for the sake of you, I can endure it," Dae Hyun said.

"Why didn't you just do it with Aeri last night?" Soo Yin rolled her eyes.

"How could I do with her. I only want you." Dae Hyun grabbed Soo Yin's fingers then kissed them.

"But I don't like us doing it in the car," Soo Yin said, who was still upset with her husband.

"Never mind, don't you enjoy it too? It's also because you started it so I was tempted," Dae Hyun teased while chuckling amusedly.

"You're so annoying!" Soo Yin was about to hit Dae Hyun's chest but her hand was blocked.

Dae Hyun pulled Soo Yin's body into his arms. Really there was no intention to hurt the feelings of the woman he loved so much.

"If you are busy with your college business you should not have to go to work first. You just focus on passing various tests and interviews because it will definitely drain your mind," Dae Hyun said. He didn't want Soo Yin to be exhausted having to work back and forth.

"Honey, is it okay if I don't work?" Soo Yin asked while looking up.

"Of course," Dae Hyun said with a smile full of warmth.

"What if people get suspicious?"

"Don't think about it because I will think about it. You just need to study hard to pass the test. But remember"

"What?" Soo Yin asked.

"You can't be too close to any man. I don't like that," Dae Hyun said. He didn't want to have his love rival anymore especially if his rival was younger than him.

"Then what about Park Soo Hyun? Your mother even told Park Soo Hyun to propose to me immediately," Soo Yin said with a seductive smile.

"I'll fail him, if necessary I'll teach him a lesson so that he doesn't dare approach you again," Dae Hyun said.

"You can't be rude to him. I don't want you guys to fight just because I who don't important at all." Soo Yin stretched out her hand to stroke the fine hairs growing on her chin.

"You are very important to me." Dae Hyun kissed the top of Soo Yin's head as he rubbed her back.

"I wonder, why did you guys fight last night?" Soo Yin asked.

"No need to discuss it, from now on don't be influenced by whatever Jo Yeon Ho says. He's just a kid who doesn't know adult affairs yet," Dae Hyun said.

"Hmmm, alright. I just felt like a bad person for trying to separate you," Soo Yin said while tilting her head to look at her husband.

"That's not true, even though we haven't met I will still want to part with her," Dae Hyun said.

"If only we met when you were alone," Soo Yin said with a little dreaming of imagining that if they met when Dae Hyun was alone she would have been happier.

"Don't regret about everything that happened." Dae Hyun tightened his hug.

Knock ... knock ...

Soo Yin hurriedly adjusted her seat when suddenly someone knocked on the car window. Dae Hyun lowered the glass to find out what happened.

"Good afternoon, please don't park the car on the side of the road because it will disturb other drivers," A man wearing a police uniform said.

"All right, we will also leave here soon," Dae Hyun said casually.

"Please continue your journey," the man said while bending his body.

Dae Hyun immediately raised the windshield and then continued the journey which had been delayed for some time.

"What a shame!" Soo Yin grumbled as she pursed her lips. Luckily the police didn't come a few minutes ago.

Dae Hyun only smiled when he saw his little wife who looked annoyed.

=={=====

It's been a week Soo Yin has been busy enrolling in university. It turned out that enrolling in medicine was not as easy as he had imagined. Soo Yin has to work hard by reading a lot and studying even harder. There was no time to go to work because it took a lot of time and thought. She had to relearn biology, physics, chemistry and even mathematics. The subjects that are less preferred by her.

Soo Yin felt like giving up when she saw the formulas which made her very dizzy. Although not the best, Soo Yin was a little lucky that she graduated from the science major in high school with satisfactory grad

Soo Yin leaned her head on the chair after reading a stack of books. She reached for her cell phone which was on the table. A week without seeing her husband made her feel homesick. They didn't have time to meet because Dae Hyun was busy too. The man had even been out of town for several days.

Even though they can still make video calls, they still can't replace it if they meet in person.

Knock ... knock ... knock

There was a knock on the door from outside.

"Enter!" Soo Yin exclaimed, still in a sitting position. She was currently in the office used by Dae Hyun. A comfortable place to study.

Auntie Xia turned the doorknob. She entered while carrying a tray containing a cup of warm tea. The woman felt sorry because Soo Yin now looked thinner since she was about to enter university. She also now appears to have no appetite for food.

"Miss, you better rest because it's late at night," Aunt Xia said as she placed a cup of tea in front of Soo Yin.

"Thank you, Auntie. Tomorrow is the entrance test so I have to study harder if I want to pass," Soo Yin said while sighing softly.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 160 - 160 - Thin Body

"You also have to eat. Look at your now very thin body. Mr. Dae Hyun will surely be sad when he meets you, Miss." Aunt Xia studied Soo Yin's face which was currently looking unusually pale.

"I'm really not in the mood to eat now, Auntie. My tongue is tasteless when I eat something," Soo Yin said. Even though a week ago her appetite was still fine.

"Are you not feeling well, Miss?" Aunt Xia asked.

"No, I'm just a little limp maybe because I slept too much so late." During this week Soo Yin always slept late at night. She read too much, so sometimes she forgot the time.

"Then go back to the room. It's nine o'clock in the evening," Aunt Xia said.

"Soon, I have to read one more book," Soo Yin said while sipping hot tea. The aroma of jasmine in the tea revived her spirit.

"Alright, aunt will leave. Remember not to be too late," Auntie Xia said before turning to walk towards the door. Aunt Xia slowly closed the door.

Soo Yin was very grateful that in this house Auntie Xia was always watching her. She remembered that when she first came to this house her attitude was really rude to her.

Soo Yin also felt like she has a mother she has been missing for a long time. Reminded about Soo Yin's mother taking her cell phone back. She looked for the name of his father who had not been contacted for a while. As usual the number was inactive. Several times tried to connect but still not active.

Soo Yin finally gave up. She put her cell phone back on the table. She began to open the thick book in front of her because she had to understand every word in it. Initially she was going to give up before fighting because she felt inadequate but Soo Yin didn't want to disappoint her husband. This was the only way that one day people won't insult her again.

Now it's one o'clock in the evening so Soo Yin decided to go to her room. She walked unsteadily because her eyes already felt sticky. She almost hit the door

oooooooooooo

Auntie Xia had knocked on the door several times but there was no answer. She was worried about Soo Yin's situation because she hasn't answered her calls since earlier.

When Aunt Xia turned the knob it was not locked so she immediately rushed in to see Soo Yin's condition.

She can breathe easily because Soo Yin was still asleep and was fine. Now it was almost eight o'clock in the morning. Though Soo Yin said yesterday she would wake up early so as not to be late.

"Miss, get up it's already noon," Aunt Xia said as she shook Soo Yin's body slowly for fear of making her startled.

Soo Yin slowly opened her eyes. The morning sun made her so dazzling that she narrowed her eyes.

"What time is it, Auntie?" Soo Yin asked in a hoarse voice of waking up.

"It's eight o'clock, miss," Aunt Xia said.

"What?" Soo Yin immediately sat up and then looked at the alarm on the dresser. Actually she heard several times the alarm rings but she always turned it off.

Soo Yin removed the blanket covering her body. She immediately stepped into the bathroom. Just one step suddenly she felt so nauseous that Soo Yin immediately ran while covering her mouth.

"Be careful, miss!" Aunt Xia exclaimed, afraid that Soo Yin would fall.

Soo Yin vomited up all the food she ate last night. Even now her throat felt very bitter. Soo Yin came outside while wiping the sweat on her forehead using a small towel. She then sat on the edge of the bed limply.

"Isn't it true that you are not sick? You should contact Mr. Dae Hyun right now," Auntie Xia said to confirm Soo Yin. She just finished tidying the bed Soo Yin slept with.

"No need, Auntie. Looks like my stomach is having a little problem because I often eat late," Soo Yin said while holding her stomach.

"You better have breakfast first now. Auntie does not want you anything," Auntie Xia said.

"Yes, Auntie," Soo Yin said.

Soo Yin cleaned up first before following Aunt Xia to the kitchen. Not to forget that she had already taken the stomach medicine she had bought at the pharmacy a few days ago.

Auntie Xia cooked eomuk tang, which is a soup with fish balls that resemble intestines satay combined with beef broth and spring onions. The taste was tasty and refreshing.

Aunt Xia deliberately made it so Soo Yin would eat it because it was not spicy so it was suitable for those who suffer from stomach ailments.

"Auntie, it looks really good," Soo Yin said as she sat on the chair. She put her bag on the other chair because after this she will immediately leave. Hopefully today will be what she wanted.

"Enjoy it, miss. It is very good for your stomach that is still empty," Aunt Xia said.

"Thank you, Auntie." Soo Yin smelled the smell of cooking which was actually very good but her stomach felt a churn again so she immediately ran to the sink.

Aunt Xia who saw Soo Yin vomiting like that immediately offered warm water.

"You'd better call Doctor Kang to check on you," Aunt Xia said anxiously. She felt suspicious that Soo Yin is pregnant but Auntie Xia didn't want to rush to the conclusion. Although she was very happy if what she thought really happened.

"I'm fine, no need to call Doctor Kang. Later I'll go to the clinic to check my condition," Soo Yin said.

Aunt Xia complied with Soo Yin's request because there was no way to argue with her either.

Soo Yin skipped breakfast because she kept feeling nauseous when she smelled the cooking smell. She immediately rushed to the university to do some entrance tests.