

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 161 - 161 - Jean

The Silla Seoul Hotel.

Jean couldn't take it anymore. Not because the work was too hard, but the longer she was there her heart was getting tormented. Almost every day Park Soo Hyun came to see her just to tell her about Soo Yin.

She tried to be tough and okay but she was just a woman who was weak about her feelings. She couldn't bear to hear Park Soo Hyun who continued to tell her passionately if his relationship with Soo Yin was now getting closer. The man also told her about their trip to Busan a few days ago.

Jean sometimes felt very jealous of Soo Yin who can get close to Park Soo Hyun's family so easily. Especially when she found out if Mrs. Park supported Park Soo Hyun to make Soo Yin his wife, which made Jean even more determined to leave the hotel.

Even Soo Yin, who initially said that she didn't like Park Soo Hyun, now has no intention of explaining their true relationship. It was certain that what Soo Yin said was just nonsense.

Jean got into the elevator to go to the 10th floor where Dae Hyun's room was. Even though it was very hard, she still had to go far from Park Soo Hyun so that she could slowly forget about him.

After a few minutes finally Jean arrived. Now she was standing in front of Dae Hyun's room holding a brown envelope. She will give it today to her boss. She could have stopped working right away but it felt very rude.

When she was about to knock on the door her hands suddenly felt very heavy as if someone did not allow her.

Jean felt heavy leaving the hotel, but if she stayed there too long her heart could not take it anymore. It cannot be denied that she wanted a more relationship with Park Soo Hyun. But Jean realized that she was nothing. She was just a lowly worker who couldn't possibly be side by side with a prince even in a dream.

After five minutes of standing, Jean finally dared to knock on the door while sighing softly. Hopefully there was no one else inside besides the big boss. She deliberately resign while Soo Yin's absence because she heard from Jae-hwa that Soo Yin was taking the entrance exam for university. If Soo Yin found out about this Jean was sure she wouldn't allow her.

She will try to give up the man she loved for Soo Yin who was her best friend.

Because there was no answer from inside, Jean came back knocking on the door several times but still no answer was heard so Jean ventured to open the door slowly maybe Dae Hyun didn't hear it. Jean didn't know that Dae Hyun was out of town.

After the door opened, it wasn't Dae Hyun who was in the room but someone else. The man seemed oblivious to Jean's presence. Nobody knew what he was looking for, so he was very busy rummaging through the files on the table. The man even dared to open a desk drawer. Some of the papers were even scattered on the floor.

"Manager Han?" Jean murmured while frowning when she saw Manager Han was there.

Jean kept walking to approach him because she was suspicious. Manager Han was completely oblivious as he was squatting under the table.

"Manager Han, what are you doing?" Jean asked with a louder voice that made Han look at Jean.

Han looked surprised when he saw Jean. He immediately stood up and then pretended to tidy up the files that were on the table.

"I... I'm just helping to tidy up the table because this table is very messy. Especially now that Soo Yin is on holiday so the table looks neglected," Manager Han stammered. It's not tidied up the files on the table, but they were getting messier instead.

Jean frowned. She felt something suspicious about Manager Han. She didn't know what he was looking for so that he looked nervous like a thief who was caught.

"Then, what did you come here for?" Manager Han asked in a cold tone.

"I ... of course I'll clean this room," Jean said, trying to stay calm even though she felt nervous. She hid the envelope in her hand behind her back.

"Alright, clean up all that!" Manager Han ordered. Annoyed, he stepped out of the room. If only the girl hadn't been around, he might have found important documents of this hotel.

After Han closed the door, Jean started tidying up Dae Hyun's desk by arranging all the files that were there to their original place. Jean wondered exactly what Manager Han was looking for. The state of the drawers was also almost all open. Jean felt that Manager Han had bad intentions.

"Maybe Manager Han intends to take important documents from this hotel," Jean muttered because the man's gesture was very suspicious. Jean hoped that Han wouldn't find anything he was looking for.

Jean was picking up papers scattered on the floor so that she didn't hear when someone walked in.

"Jean?"

Jean jumped in surprise when she heard a sudden voice echoing in the room. She grabbed her chest which seemed to be falling out. Jean immediately stood up to see who had come.

Her heart immediately fluttered with happiness when she saw the figure of the man she loved. Even though she could only love him in silence. After seeing his beautiful face, Jean suddenly wanted to give up on submitting a resignation letter. Because she was only in that hotel she could continue to see him.

Even though it was very hard she will try to survive for some time to work again at the hotel.

"Jean, what are you doing here?" Park Soo Hyun asked, who was already in front of Jean.

Instead of answering, Jean was stunned by Park Soo Hyun's good looks. Subconsciously Jean took a sip of saliva.

"Jean?" Park Soo Hyun moved his palms in front of Jean's eyes to get out of her reverie.

Chapter 162 - 162 - Resignation Letter

"Sorry," Jean said as she looked away. Her face flushed with embarrassment.

"Why is my brother's table so messy?" Park Soo Hyun asked.

"When I walked in ... it was already a mess," Jean said. Actually she wanted to say that there was Manager Han inside but she was afraid to say the wrong thing. It was better if she met Soo Yin later she wanted to ask her to find out.

"Okay, let me help," Park Soo Hyun said as he picked up some papers scattered on the floor.

"No, sir." Now Jean crouched down and hurriedly grabbed the same paper as Park Soo Hyun until they were holding the same paper. Unconsciously the envelope he was holding fell but Jean didn't realize it.

They face each other for a moment. There was a feeling of happiness and flutter that Jean felt right now. Jean immediately lowered her gaze.

"What is this?" Park Soo Hyun grabbed a brown envelope that Jean had dropped.

Jean's eyes widened to see that her resignation letter was in Park Soo Hyun's hands.

"Sir, don't open it!" Jean exclaimed with cold sweat starting to trickle down her forehead. She hoped that Park Soo Hyun wouldn't open it.

Park Soo Hyun didn't listen to Jean who told him not to. He immediately tore the envelope out of curiosity about its contents. Park Soo Hyun started reading it with furrowed brows.

"Jean, what do you mean by this letter?" Park Soo Hyun looked at Jean while showing the letter.

"I... I want to stop working at this hotel," Jean said softly and her tongue felt heavy when she said it. She surrendered if Park Soo Hyun would fire her right now.

"Why?" Park Soo Hyun asked, who was curious.

"I ... i ...." Jean could not reveal the real reason because the main reason still had something to do with the man.

"Jean, please don't stop working. Are the salaries at this hotel so low that you want to quit? I'll raise your pay right now if that's the reason." Park Soo Hyun took Jean's hand and then held it.

Jean shook her head slowly while lowering her gaze. Even though she only worked as a janitor, her salary at this hotel was quite high. What's more, sometimes hotel guests often gave her more money. It was enough to live for a month with her mother.

"Then, why do you want to stop?" Park Soo Hyun asked once again.

'It's because my feelings are so unnatural that I love a prince like you,' Jean said to herself because she could not possibly dare to reveal the truth. She stared at Park Soo Hyun's face for a few seconds before finally turning her gaze in another direction.

"Jean, keep working at this hotel," Park Soo Hyun said as he looked into Jean's eyes expectantly. If Jean left, it will be difficult for him to find information about Soo Yin from him because he still really needed Jean about it.

Jean's heart seemed to burst at this time. There was a sense of excitement that she wanted to jump because Park Soo Hyun forbade her to resign. But she can guess if Park Soo Hyun forbade her because it must still have something to do with Soo Yin.

Jean finally nodded her head. Even though her heart might hurt more but she will try to hold on for some time at least until she finds a new job.

"Good girl." Park Soo Hyun patted Jean's shoulder lightly then asked her to stand up. He put a smile on his lips.

Jean just replied with a faint smile.

Park Soo Hyun helped Jean tidy up his brother's desk because when he was done he wanted to ask her for help.

Jean didn't allow Park Soo Hyun to help her because it was her job. She felt bad if a man as handsome as Park Soo Hyun helped her work.

Park Soo Hyun obeyed Jean's words so he sat on the sofa reading the newspaper. Actually he wanted to go back to his room but before telling his intention to Jean, his heart didn't feel right because only Jean could help him.

After thirty minutes Jean finished her assignment.

"Excuse me, sir," Jean said to Park Soo Hyun.

"Are you finished?" Park Soo Hyun asked as he looked away from the newspaper.

"Yes," Jean said briefly while looking down. She didn't dare look at Park Soo Hyun's face.

"Have you had breakfast? I want to have breakfast, but I don't have the appetite to eat alone," Park Soo Hyun said. At home earlier he had not had the appetite for breakfast.

"I ... i ...."

"Let's have breakfast together," Park Soo Hyun said while folding the newspaper and then putting it back on the table. He immediately rose from his seat.

"But, sir," Jean said, wanting to refuse the man's invitation.

"Yes, let's have breakfast at the restaurant in this hotel," Park Soo Hyun said, who immediately grabbed Jean's wrist to follow his steps.

Jean continued to look at their interlocked hands. There was a feeling of pounding and sadness in her heart.

Park Soo Hyun continued to hold Jean's wrist until it was in front of the door. Jean tugged at her wrist because she didn't want the other workers to see it. She would have gotten a lot of trouble from the women who worked at the hotel if they saw herself and Park Soo Hyun holding hands.

Park Soo Hyun was the idol of the many female employees who were there. They were blown away by the man's friendliness and good looks.

Ten minutes later Jean and Park Soo Hyun were at the restaurant in the hotel. The restaurant was intended for in-house guests.

The design was very luxurious with a crystal chandelier hanging from it. This was the first time Jean went there because the workers who worked at the hotel were different from those who worked in the restaurant.

"Jean, let's just sit there," Park Soo Hyun asked while pointing at one of the tables on the side.

Jean continued to follow Park Soo Hyun's steps as she looked around.

Chapter 163 - 163 - Lowly Worker

The female workers who saw Jean, looked jealous because she could be invited to breakfast by one of the hotel heirs. They occasionally whispered to talk about if Jean tried to tease Park Soo Hyun. If not, how could Park Soo Hyun wanted to invite a lowly worker to eat at a fancy restaurant.

"Excuse me, sir," a female waitress said while handing him a menu book. She smoothed her hair and clothes hoping Park Soo Hyun glanced at her.

"Jean, what do you want to eat? Here not only Korean food but you can also order food from other countries," Park Soo Hyun said.

"It's up to you," Jean said.

"Sir, a lowly girl like her doesn't deserve to eat in this restaurant," the waiter said with a very sweet smile.

"What do you mean she doesn't deserve to eat here?" Park Soo Hyun asked as he glared at the waiter. He didn't like hearing his statement about Jean as a lowly girl.

"Sorry, Sir." The waiter bowed her head in fear. She was very sorry she had said it.

"Your job here is only to serve guests, not insult them. If you behave like this again to other visitors, get ready to be fired," Park Soo Hyun said with great emphasis.

"I'm sorry, sir. I didn't mean it like that," the waiter said.

"What's the matter, sir?" a man who was none other than the restaurant manager named Fang asked.

"Manager Fang, please teach the waiters in this restaurant manners and politeness. Don't let them insult the visitors," Park Soo Hyun said as he looked at Manager Fang.

"Fine, sir. She just worked here so she doesn't know how to be kind to visitors," Manager Fang said.

"You take care of everything. Don't let this incident happen again because I don't want hotel visitors to feel uncomfortable with the service we provide," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Yes sir." Manager Fang immediately took the waiter behind to give a warning.

Jean didn't expect that Park Soo Hyun would act like that. She thought that Park Soo Hyun would let the waiter insult her.

"Jean, let's just move to another place. I don't have the appetite to eat in this place," Park Soo Hyun said with an annoyed snort.

Jean just nodded her head and followed Park Soo Hyun to another restaurant that was not far from the hotel. They use a car to get there.

"Sir, you shouldn't be angry with the waiter," Jean said.

They were currently sitting while waiting for the order to arrive.

"I don't like her insulting you like that," Park Soo Hyun said.

"But what the servant said was true," Jean said with a smile.

"Please, ladies and gentlemen." A male servant brought their orders both so that their conversation was interrupted.

They ate in silence. Jean occasionally glanced at Park Soo Hyun who was enjoying his meal.

"Jean, I want to ask for your help again," Park Soo Hyun said after taking a sip of his drink.

"What help, sir?" Jean asked.

"This week I will propose to Soo Yin," Park Soo Hyun said.

Cough... cough... cough....

Jean's throat felt choked when she heard the man's words.

"Jean, are you all right?" Park Soo Hyun immediately handed a glass of water to Jean.

Jean immediately gulped it down. It turned out that her guess was true if Park Soo Hyun told her to keep working because there was something else.

"Jean, I want you to invite Soo Yin to come to the restaurant I ordered. I intend to propose there, do you want to help me?" Park Soo Hyun asked hopefully. He wanted to surprise Soo Yin so he didn't want her to ask him right away.

Jean paused with a feeling very tight in her chest. Her chest cavity was now gaping again. It was like being scalded with salt so it was very painful.

"You want to help me, right?" Park Soo Hyun asked once again.

Jean took a deep breath before finally nodding her head. If they really were going out then Jean would still decide to resign.

She would not be able to see the closeness between them every day.

"Thank you, Jean. Later I'll tell you the place and time," Park Soo Hyun said with great pleasure.

Jean only smiled faintly at the look on Park Soo Hyun's face, which looked happy.

"Alright, let's go back to the hotel," Park Soo Hyun asked.

Seoul National University.

Soo Yin just finished her university entrance exam. She wasn't sure she could pass there because so many had applied. Even so, her little heart still hoped that there will be good luck.

Soo Yin decided to take a break first so she sat on one of the chairs on the campus yard. There were still a few things to do so that she was not allowed to go home yet. The day was hot enough to make her throat even drier.

"Drink," Jae-hwa said, he just approached the girl then handed mineral water towards Soo Yin. He was also taking an entrance exam like Soo Yin.

"Thank you." Soo Yin reached out to accept it.

"How about the test? Can you answer it correctly?" Jae-hwa asked, who was already sitting next to Soo Yin.

"I don't know, I feel unsure," Soo Yin said while sighing softly.

"Stay excited, I'm sure you can do it," Jae-hwa said to encourage Soo Yin with gusto. He raised his hand up.

"Thank you, Jae-hwa," Soo Yin said with a smile. On campus, she didn't have any friends, so only Jae-hwa who always asked her to chat because since then she hasn't been able to socialize in a new place. She has to adapt for longer before she can make friends.

"No problem, I want someday we succeed together," Jae-hwa said.

Jae-hwa imagined that being able to marry Soo Yin one day will be great fun. They will make a successful future doctor partner. Later they will build their own hospital in a city.

'Come to your senses Jae-hwa, don't dream too much,' He said to himself as he kept looking at Soo Yin's face. He just realized that Soo Yin looked thinner now. Her cheekbones were more visible.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 164 - 164 - Little Pale

"Soo Yin, are you sick?" Jae-hwa asked as he placed the back of his palm on Soo Yin's forehead.

"No, is there something wrong with me?" Soo Yin asked.

"You now look thin and your face is also a little pale," Jae-hwa said.

Soo Yin rubbed her face with her palm. Was it so pale that people seen it?

"Maybe because in the past week I've been sleeping late at night," Soo Yin said while scratching her head.

"You have to pay attention to your health. Don't you get sick," Jae-hwa said.

"Calm down, the exam is over so I can rest and relax a little while waiting for the announcement," Soo Yin said with a smile. She was happy even though she didn't have many friends, but the people around her always pay attention. It was more than enough than to have a thousand friends but no one cared about her at all.

"I also can't wait to know the announcement soon," Jae-hwa said. He seemed excited because this was his dream since he was a child to become a doctor.

"I'm sure if you will definitely pass," Soo Yin said.

"We will definitely pass!" Jae-hwa screamed while standing up with his clenched fists.

They chat for a while before finally Jae-hwa excused himself for a short matter of business. Soo Yin was now back sitting alone.

It's almost noon now so Soo Yin decided to buy food at the canteen. Perhaps her stomach has now improved so that it can be filled with food.

Soo Yin stepped into the cafeteria while holding a book to her chest. Her gaze continued to wander around the campus area.

Beep... beep....

A message arrived so Soo Yin reached into her bag to retrieve her cell phone. Maybe her father sent a message.

[Good afternoon, Honey ???. It's been a week since I didn't see you, so I couldn't sleep well] Handsome Uncle.

It turned out to be a message from Dae Hyun. She deliberately gave Dae Hyun the name on her contact with Handsome Uncle because that was the name she thought the most suitable.

[Don't brag] Soo Yin replied with a smile. She did not want to admit openly if she also missed her husband.

[Why would I lie. Without you by my side I feel so lonely. If only I could bring you here] Handsome Uncle.

Dae Hyun was currently on Nami Island. Initially, Soo Yin was going to participate, but because there was an entrance exam, Dae Hyun didn't allow her.

[When did you come back to Seoul? ♥□] Soo Yin replied, accompanied with love emoticons.

[I'll come home right now if you ask] Handsome Uncle.

Soo Yin kept on walking while smiling to herself because she was answering messages with her husband.

Brakkkk ...

Too busy texting made Soo Yin not aware that someone was walking in front of her so she bumped into her. Soo Yin lost her balance so she fell to the ground with several books that hit her body.

"Watch your steps! Because of you my book is messy," a curly-haired woman said, who was hit by Soo Yin. She was one of the students there.

Soo Yin immediately picked up the books that were scattered on the ground. She arranged it then stood up to give it to the woman.

"I'm really sorry," Soo Yin said as she bowed her body. Don't let her get into trouble even though she's just been in there.

"What is this?" the girl who had just approached them asked.

"Soo Yin?" She said. That girl was none other than Soo Yin's cousin, Li Sa.

"Li Sa?" Soo Yin was surprised how they met at this campus. Don't let her and Li Sa be in the same campus. Soo Yin felt a little traumatized about that.

"What are you doing here?" Li Sa sneered displeasably by raising one lip upward.

"I... I just applied for college on this campus," Soo Yin said by raising her chin. She didn't want Li Sa to underestimate her again like before.

"Ha ha ha ...." Li Sa laughed loudly when she heard Soo Yin answering her question.

Soo Yin remained silent in her position. She could already guess what Li Sa would say afterward.

"Where did you get the money to enter this campus? Just so you know the fees on this campus are very expensive. Even if you sell your body you will not be able to pay for your college for a year," Li Sa said while smiling lopsidedly disdaining Soo Yin's finances.

Most of the students who go to school there were from the upper classes, although some were from the lower classes because they got scholarships. Meanwhile, Li Sa found out that it was impossible for Soo to get a scholarship.

"That is none of your business!" Soo Yin's replied in a flat tone.

"I really want to know which rich man you managed to seduce that he lectured you in this place," Li Sa said with a chuckle, underestimating Soo Yin's meager finances.

Soo Yin's chest felt hot at the insult from Li Sa. Even though she was not a seducer like Li Sa said, but it was quite stabbing in her heart.

"Why are you silent?" Li Sa asked as she walked around Soo Yin's body with her arms crossed over her chest.

Soo Yin struggled to hold back her mounting emotions. Don't let her be provoked by her cousin's words.

"It has nothing to do with you. You shouldn't have to take care of my life," Soo Yin said in a cold tone. She was about to step her feet to leave but the curly-haired woman suddenly blocked her by putting her feet right in front of Soo Yin. It was lucky that Soo Yin hasn't stepped yet so she didn't fall.

"Looks like we've met," the woman said with a sly smile.

Li Sa looked at her curly-haired best friend with the name Hyo Rin questioningly. How come they have met before?

Soo Yin frowned as she carefully examined Hyo Rin's face. It was like she had seen her before but she forgot.

"Do you remember me?" Hyo Rin asked as she brushed her curly hair right in front of Soo Yin's face

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 165 - 165 - Hyo Rin

Soo Yin widened her eyes when she realized who the woman in front of her was. Soo Yin slowly remembered that she was a woman who had a fight with her a few months ago in the cinema at that time. When she watched with Dae Hyun for the first time.

"You...." Soo Yin was flabbergasted and didn't continue.

"Hyo Rin, have you met him?" Li Sa asked while looking sarcastically at Soo Yin.

"Of course, I even remember when she pulled my hair out so it almost fell out." Hyo Rin glared intently at Soo Yin.

"What do you mean?" Soo Yin asked flatly as if she had never met him.

"Li Sa, of course she can study at this campus because she is a mistress of an uncle," Hyo Rin said while laughing in a loud enough voice.

"Really? How do you know that?" Li Sa who was very curious asked.

Soo Yin's body broke out in cold sweat for fear of having her secret exposed. Hopefully that woman didn't recognize Dae Hyun's face.

"I almost put him in the cell if only her lover didn't give me a lot of money," Hyo Rin said while remembering how they pulled each other's hair. It was very bad because her long hair fell out due to Soo Yin's very strong pull.

"Wow, it means that my guess is correct all this time if you become uncle's mistress," Li Sa sneered with a happy face because she had discovered new facts about Soo Yin.

After returning home, she will tell her extended family so that they hate her cousin even more.

"Tell me do you still remember that man's face?" Li Sa asked to Hyo Rin.

"I don't really remember it. Even though he looks mature, he still looks handsome," Hyo Rin said while laughing.

"You must be the wrong person because I never met you," Soo Yin said. She did not want to be humiliated so she denied her accusations. Besides, the woman didn't have any proof.

"Really? Then why do you look scared?" Hyo Rin said right in front of Soo Yin's face.

Now Soo Yin's face looked even paler. She was not very good at hiding lies.

"Move! I want to pass," Soo Yin said, who then stepped her foot but her foot tripped over Hyo Rin's leg which blocked her.

Soo Yin thought she will fall to the ground but turned out she hit someone's chest instead. There was a man supporting her so that Soo Yin didn't fall.

"Ji Sang, why are you helping her!" Hyo Rin said while glowering at the man who was none other than her lover.

"Never mind, don't make a fuss," Ji Sang said casually as he looked at Hyo Rin.

"Are you okay?" Ji Sang asked as he let go of Soo Yin then helped her to her feet.

"I'm fine, thank you for helping me," Soo Yin said.

"You better get out of here," Ji Sang said. He didn't want Hyo Rin to embarrass Soo Yin.

"Very well, thanks again." Soo Yin hurriedly stepped away from them. She was very grateful that there was a man who helped her otherwise she was sure Li Sa would embarrass her like she had always been.

"Why did you tell her to go? Even though I was making calculations to her," Hyo Rin said irritably.

"Ji Sang, why are you helping her? We should have embarrassed her in front of the students on this campus," Li Sa muttered. She regretted that her efforts to embarrass Soo Yin have failed.

"Aren't you bored of causing trouble? She's just enrolled in this campus, don't you make other prospective students feel uncomfortable because of your actions," Ji Sang said while glaring at Li Sa and Hyo Rin in turn.

"Are you my lover or not? Why are you defending her?" Hyo Rin grumbled as she pursed her lips.

"Whatever!" Ji Sang stepped away leaving Li Sa and Hyo Rin. He really didn't like their attitude which was very pretentious among other students. Even though Hyo Rin was his lover, if she did something bad then he will not hesitate to reprimand her.

"Li Sa, how do you know that girl too?" Hyo Rin asked Li Sa.

"Of course, she is my cousin but I really hate her. Even our extended family doesn't like her," Li Sa said while narrowing his eyes.

"Why is that?" Hyo Rin asked even more curious.

"Her mother is a mistress. That's what I hear," Li Sa whispered.

"Wow, that means she's a descendant," Hyo Rin said while chuckling with amusement.

"Of course, there is a famous saying if the fruit doesn't fall far from the tree. I want to know how you met?" Li Sa said.

"That night we watched in the same cinema. I said that she was uncle's mistress because she watched with a man who was much older than her. It turned out that she was angry and we pulled each other's hair. At first I wanted to sue her because my head felt hurt so bad because of her actions but that man gave me quite a lot of money as long as I didn't report it to the police so of course I agreed....," Hyo Rin said, explaining at length about the incident a few months ago.

It's not that easy for her to forget because of Soo Yin she had to do regular hair care so that it can grow to normal. Her head also felt bruised for a few days because of Soo Yin. It's a shame she didn't have a photo at that time.

"Calm down, we will make more calculations to her. Hopefully she will pass into this campus so that we will easily find her," Li Sa said. Since middle school, she really liked it when someone bullied Soo Yin. There was a certain satisfaction in her heart.

"Well, we better go home. After all, there are no courses," Hyo Rin said.

They both finally left Seoul National University. Next time they will think of a way to prank Soo Yin.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 166 - 166 - Toast

Pyeongchang-dong Villa,

Soo Yin returned to Pyeongchang-dong villa when it was already evening because she first went to the bookstore to buy some more books.

With slow steps Soo Yin entered the house. Her body felt very tired today.

"Miss, you just got home?" Auntie Xia asked, who approached Soo Yin when she was about to climb the stairs. Aunt Xia immediately stretched out her hand to reach for the paper bag containing Soo Yin's books.

"No need, Auntie. Let me carry it," Soo Yin said.

"It's okay, let aunt help. You must be very tired," Auntie Xia said with a smile. She was just worried that if Soo Yin was exhausted it will interfere with her health. Even more so if her allegations have been true. Don't let anything unwanted to happen.

"Thank you, Auntie," Soo Yin said.

She climbed up the stairs slowly but suddenly her head was a little dizzy. Soo Yin paused between the steps to massage her head.

"Are you all right, Miss?" Auntie Xia who saw Soo Yin walking unsteadily asked.

"I'm just a little tired," Soo Yin said as she continued her footsteps up the stairs.

When Soo Yin arrived in the room, she immediately lied down on the bed. It felt very comfortable because this day she hasn't rested at all.

"Did you have dinner?" Aunt Xia asked as she placed the books on the table.

"Not yet," Soo Yin said as she stretched out her hands to stretch her stiff muscles.

"Do you want to eat something?" Aunt Xia asked.

Soo Yin thought for a moment but she didn't think of a single food that crossed her head.

"I don't want anything," Soo Yin said. She didn't even feel hungry at all.

"You have to keep eating dinner. Auntie doesn't want you to be like this morning," Auntie Xia said.

"Okay, then just make me toast with spicy meat and vegetable stuffing," Soo Yin said. Just now she thought of food that seemed delicious.

Aunt Xia frowned. Since when toast was filled with vegetable stuffing accompanied by spicy meat? Isn't jam usually sweet?

"Isn't it delicious if toast filled with sweet-tasting jam?" Aunt Xia asked. So far that's what she knew.

"But I want stuff that tastes spicy," Soo Yin moaned.

"Okay, auntie will make it but auntie have to find some ingredients to the supermarket first," Aunt Xia said. Even though the food sounds very strange, she will still make it. Maybe it was the fetus in Soo Yin's womb so she asked for some strange food.

When a person was pregnant young, she will usually ask for something foreign that sometimes was never eaten before.

Soo Yin nodded her head while still lying.

Auntie Xia immediately went to the kitchen to prepare all the ingredients.

After her body felt lighter, Soo Yin now sat in front of the mirror while observing her body. Some people said she looked pale but seemed like she was quite okay. But Soo Yin realized that now her cheekbones were slightly protruding.

"Maybe it's just their feelings," Soo Yin muttered while holding her cheeks.

Soo Yin decided to cleaned up first before going downstairs for dinner.

Soo Yin walked over to Auntie Xia who was in the kitchen. She smelled the smell of spicy toast. Her nose felt like she was stuck with something.

"Have you finished making them?" Soo Yin asked as she walked over to Aunt Xia.

"It'll be finished soon, miss," Aunt Xia said.

Knock... knock... knock....

There was a knock on the door from the main door. It looked like someone has visited.

"Just let me open the door," Soo Yin said when she saw Aunt Xia who was about to step outside.

Auntie Xia nodded her head as she hasn't finished Soo Yin's order either. Actually she had already cooked another dinner menu because she got the news that Dae Hyun was coming home but the man ordered her not to tell Soo Yin first.

"Who's visiting at night like this?" Soo Yin muttered as she kept walking towards the main door because that person kept knocking on the door.

"Just a second!" Soo Yin exclaimed as she turned the key to open the door.

Check ...

Soo Yin opened the door wide. She immediately put on a happy face when she saw who was coming.

Dae Hyun smiled charmingly as he spread his arms to welcome Soo Yin to hug him.

Soo Yin immediately ran and then rushed into her husband's arms. Really she really missed Dae Hyun's figure even though she was annoying every time.

"Why didn't you tell me you're going home tonight?" Soo Yin whined in a spoiled tone. She hid her face in Dae Hyun's chest.

"I wanted to go home in two days but I couldn't stand wanting to meet my cute little wife," Dae Hyun said as he tightened his hug. He repeatedly kissed the top of his wife's head because he was so homesick.

"Then, let's go inside," Soo Yin said as she broke free from her husband's embrace.

Soo Yin clung around spoiled holding Dae Hyun's arm. She rested her head on her husband's arm. Dae Hyun felt very happy to see Soo Yin welcoming him enthusiastically. He thought Soo Yin will change her mind again after that time.

"How about the exam? Is it difficult?" Dae Hyun asked as he grabbed his wife's waist from the side. They currently go hand in hand.

"Hmm, it's quite difficult. I was very dizzy when filling it up especially during practice," Soo Yin said while pursing her lips.

"I'm sure you will definitely pass," Dae Hyun said as he ruffled Soo Yin's hair.

"Good evening, sir. It turns out that you have already returned, auntie thinks who would visits at nights like this," Auntie Xia said.

"Yes, Auntie. I just wanted to surprise my little wife. As long as I was away my wife didn't do bad things, right, Auntie?" Dae Hyun asked while glancing at Soo Yin.

"Of course not, Miss Soo Yin is always at home. She work too hard to get into university," Auntie Xia said.

Chapter 167 - 167 - Look Different

"Hmmm, what would I do without you?" Soo Yin said with furrowed brows.

"I'm just worried that you will go out with another guy," Dae Hyun teased with a chuckle.

"So you don't believe me?" Soo Yin asked with an annoyance face.

"I'm just kidding. How could my wife turn away from a very handsome husband like myself," Dae Hyun said while pinching Soo Yin's nose.

"You annoying!" Soo Yin hit Dae Hyun's broad chest lightly.

Aunt Xia was happy to see their current closeness. It was unexpected that Soo Yin had changed so much. In the past, when she first came to this house she seemed to really hate Dae Hyun. But after a while, she melted too.

"Miss, the food you ordered is ready." Aunt Xia said.

"Yes, Auntie. Then Auntie can just rest now," Soo Yin said. She knew that she often bothered the middle-aged woman. Even though she had already prepared dinner earlier, Soo Yin wanted to eat something else.

Auntie Xia nodded her head then immediately left them because she didn't want to disturb the romance of the two people who were longing for each other.

Soo Yin invited her husband to have dinner first. It turned out that two portions of toast with a spicy taste of vegetables and meat were already on the table. Although it was strange, but if look at it from the shape it was not too bad.

Auntie Xia had also prepared another meal for Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin pulled the chair back to sit down but Dae Hyun actually grabbed Soo Yin's waist so that she sat on his lap.

"Just sit on my lap," Dae Hyun said while hugging his little wife. He had longed to smell the smell of her body that he imagined every night.

"We won't be able to eat in a position like this," Soo Yin said while leaning slightly to the side to look at her husband.

"I don't want you to be away from me," Dae Hyun said as he placed his cheek on Soo Yin's shoulder.

"Let me sit alone, you must be hungry too," Soo Yin said while trying to get up.

"Stay here." Dae Hyun tightened his arms around his little wife's waist even more. A week of not seeing her felt like a year so Dae Hyun didn't want Soo Yin to be away from him.

It was the deepest longing Dae Hyun had ever felt for a woman. He had never felt that kind of feeling to Aeri before. Even when he didn't see Aeri for almost three months he was fine. However, after not seeing Soo Yin in two days, he almost went crazy and couldn't sleep.

"Then how are you going to eat?" Soo Yin asked while narrowing her eyes.

"I want you to feed me," Dae Hyun said in a relaxed tone.

"Up to you." Finally, Soo Yin gave in to stay on Dae Hyun's lap.

Soo Yin started to get the food on her husband's plate then put it in front of her. Not to forget, she had also cut the toast into several pieces for easy eating.

"What did you eat?" Dae Hyun asked while frowning.

"Toast," Soo Yin said as she chewed a slice of bread that was in her mouth. For her the taste wasn't too bad, in fact it was quite good after tasting a few pieces.

"You should taste it too." Soo Yin handed Dae Hyun a piece of bread with a fork.

Dae Hyun opened his mouth to taste the bread. Just chewing he felt that the bread tasted very strange. 'Since when does toast taste spicy?' Dae Hyun thought.

Dae Hyun stuck his tongue out, shuddering when he swallowed it.

"How does it taste?" Soo Yin asked, wanting to ask her husband's opinion.

"It tastes very strange. You can't eat it anymore. This tastes really bad," Dae Hyun said as he shifted the plate filled with toast a little away to the center.

"What do you mean? It tastes really good." Soo Yin pulled the plate back in front of her.

"Since when do you like weird food like this?" Dae Hyun asked. He felt strange about Soo Yin right now, the tongue of any sane person wouldn't want to eat it.

"I don't know, all of a sudden I wanted it," Soo Yin said. She then fed Dae Hyun another meal.

Soo Yin continued to eat while occasionally feeding Dae Hyun. Somehow her husband became so spoiled like that.

"Honey, a week when we don't see each other, you look different," Dae Hyun said as he slowly realized that his wife's body looked thinner. He even felt like he was holding a small child.

"What makes me different? Do I look ugly now?" Soo Yin got up from her seat. She was standing next to Dae Hyun.

"No," Dae Hyun said quickly. Didn't let his words offend Soo Yin.

"Surely you will say if I'm not as beautiful as Aeri, right?" Soo Yin said while pursing her lips.

"No, you're still pretty," Dae Hyun said softly. Since when did his little wife become this sensitive?

"You must be lying!" Soo Yin said while narrowing her eyes.

"Really, I'm not lying. Although there are much prettier women out there. To me you are the most beautiful." Dae Hyun stood up and grabbed his wife's face with both hands. He wanted Soo Yin to know if there were no lies in his eyes.

"Then, what's different from me?" Soo Yin said, still with her face bent.

"Do you miss me so much that you're much thinner now?" Dae Hyun teased with a smile.

"After you left I had no desire to eat. I also slept late at night because I had to study," Soo Yin said while playing with Dae Hyun's tie by rolling it around her index finger.

"Wow, it looks like my little wife seems more eager to enter university," Dae Hyun said.

"I don't know, I'm not sure about that," Soo Yin said while sighing softly. She thought back to how she had met Li Sa and Hyo Rin. In the future, it seemed that she will not be able to study in peace if she was on campus with them.

"What happened?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Do you remember the woman I fought with at the cinema?" Soo Yin asked as she looked at Dae Hyun.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 168 - 168 - Bad Girl

Dae Hyun thought for a moment to remember what happened several months ago. He could vaguely remember what happened at that time, even though he was still not one hundred percent.

"HmMMM." Dae Hyun nodded his head.

"That woman was studying there too. What's even worse is that she knows Li Sa," Soo Yin said.

"Then?" Dae Hyun couldn't digest what his little wife said.

"Then, what?" Soo Yin asked irritably.

"I mean what does that woman have to do with Li Sa?" Dae Hyun asked.

"That woman still remembers me. Even earlier she and Li Sa almost embarrassed me," Soo Yin said with a sullen face.

"Calm down, if they do anything I will go straight to face it," Dae Hyun said to calm the restlessness in Soo Yin's heart.

"I will not be calm if the same campus with them. They both still say that I am uncle's mistress," Soo Yin said, while staring Dae Hyun with a gaze. There was anxiety on her face. Although when she was a child she was used to hearing people insult her, she was only an ordinary human who could still felt hurt.

"Then you can just move to another place," Dae Hyun said.

"If I move, then I have to do the entrance test again. I can't think anymore," Soo Yin whined as she pursed her lips. She felt hopeless if she had to register elsewhere.

"Come on, calm down. Later I will make calculations if they do something to harm you." Dae Hyun grabbed Soo Yin's shoulder. He felt guilty because of him Soo Yin had to be bullied.

Soo Yin suddenly remembered a man who had helped her.

"Luckily there was someone who helped me when they were about to embarrass me." Soo Yin never thought that someone would help her earlier. If not, she couldn't imagine what would happen next.

"Who is it? Male or female?" Dae Hyun asked, raising an eyebrow. His jaw now looked hard.

"He's a student there, of course a man. He suddenly came right in front of me when my leg tripped. I almost fell to the ground if not him," Soo Yin said.

"Did you fall into his arms? Did he touch you? Tell me, is he handsome too?" Dae Hyun asked, so irritated that he said that, the question he wanted to know right away. His chest felt tight when he heard Soo Yin being close to a man, let alone fell into his arms.

"Of course," Soo Yin said with a smile. She realized that her husband seemed jealous. It can be seen from his face that now looked sullen.

"No need to put on a sour face like that. Even though he is very handsome but still I prefer you," Soo Yin continued while chuckling with amusement. She didn't want to make Dae Hyun's mood, who had just returned home, become worse.

"Besides, he's not as handsome as my husband," Soo Yin continued again.

Dae Hyun, who had a sour face and tightened jaw, immediately smiled when Soo Yin said that.

"You bad girl!" Dae Hyun immediately carried Soo Yin's body, which now felt lighter.

Soo Yin didn't rebel. Instead, she wrapped her arms around Dae Hyun's neck tightly.

Dae Hyun felt Soo Yin's weight had dropped dramatically. Even though a week ago when they went to Busan her body felt quite heavy. But now it's suddenly down. Dae Hyun felt worried about his wife.

"Honey, tomorrow we go to the doctor," Dae Hyun said as he walked upstairs.

"For what? Are you sick?" Soo Yin asked with furrowed brows. She then put the back of her hand on Dae Hyun's forehead.

"Not me but you. I'm worried about your health. Are you sure you're okay?" Dae Hyun said.

"You don't need to worry about me because I'm healthy and nothing will happen," Soo Yin said with a sweet smile on her lips.

"If you don't want to go to a doctor then let Doctor Kang come here," Dae Hyun said with great emphasis. He did not want to be denied by his little wife's stubbornness.

"Alright." Soo Yin relented if she had to be checked by Doctor Kang. It was useless to argue because it seemed like Dae Hyun wouldn't listen to what she said.

Dae Hyun was now in the room with Soo Yin. He lied Soo Yin's body on the bed because he wanted to clean himself first. He needed to refresh his body.

"You want to take a warm bath?" Soo Yin asked who was now sitting on the side of the bed. She watched Dae Hyun who was standing in front of the mirror.

Dae Hyun, who was removing the tie, turned his head to his little wife.

"That seems like a good idea," Dae Hyun said. After traveling, his body needed to soak in order to feel fit.

"Then I'll prepare it," Soo Yin said as she got out of bed.

"No, I can prepare it myself. Aren't you tired?" Dae Hyun said. He didn't want his little wife to do something he could do on his own.

"It's okay. I'm happy to do it for you," Soo Yin said with a smile. She then stepped into the bathroom.

Soo Yin started to fill warm water into the bath. She just realized that there were flowers beside the bath. Maybe Auntie Xia prepared it.

Dae Hyun, who was wrapped in a towel only at his waist, followed Soo Yin into the bathroom. He walked to the bathtub then hugged Soo Yin from behind who was pouring flowers into the water.

"Honey, accompany me to take a bath," Dae Hyun wispey sensually in Soo Yin's ear.

"There are no ghosts here. After all, there will be no ghosts who like to eat human flesh," Soo Yin said innocently.

"You ...." Dae Hyun was annoyed by Soo Yin's answer so he splashed the water from the bath onto Soo Yin's body.

"You made my clothes wet, I took a shower earlier," Soo Yin grumbled while wiping the water that also wet her face.

"It's okay, I'm happy if we get wet," Dae Hyun said with a wink. There waa a certain purpose behind his words.

Dae Hyun removed his wrist from Soo Yin's waist then got into the bath with a size that was quite wide. It felt quite comfortable soaking in warm water when his body felt tired.

Soo Yin sat on the side of the bath while massaging Dae Hyun's shoulders. This was the first time she had done it. She was not very good at massaging.

"I'll just get out of here," Soo Yin said about to get up from her seat but Dae Hyun pulled her wrist so that it made her lose her balance. Soo Yin's body finally plunged into the bath.

Soo Yin tried to stand up but again Dae Hyun grabbed her so she sat on Dae Hyun's lap.

"Didn't I tell you if I already taking a shower," Soo Yin muttered as she pursed her lips.

"Didn't I tell you that I want you to accompany me," Dae Hyun said, not wanting to lose to his little wife.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes. When her mouth was open to protest again Dae Hyun silenced her lips so that Soo Yin can't make a sound. What came out was a restrained sigh.

Dae Hyun broke his kiss for a moment to look at Soo Yin's bright eyes.

"Stay tuned," Dae Hyun whispered right into his wife's ear which gave a swish effect all over Soo Yin's body.

Soo Yin blinked her eyes then subconsciously nodded her head.

"Good girl," Dae Hyun said before returning to the action to crush Soo Yin's pink lips.

Dae Hyun used his left hand to support Soo Yin's weight so he can more freely blend his lips with Soo Yin's lips.

Soo Yin closed her eyes, enjoying as their tongues danced and intertwined with one another. For several days, they did not meet anyone who felt churning in their chest so they needed release to pour out their pent up longing.

Dae Hyun started to unbutton Soo Yin's shirt one by one then took it off without any intention of stopping his tongue which was tracing every inch of Soo Yin's mouth.

Now Dae Hyun had managed to remove all the threads stuck on Soo Yin's body. He stopped the action when he realized Soo Yin's collarbone was more prominent. There was sadness in his eyes.

"What is wrong?" Soo Yin asked with a wistful gaze as Dae Hyun kept looking at her.

Dae Hyun stopped what he had just done. He felt sorry for Soo Yin.

'Is it because I restrained you so much that you were tortured like this?' Dae Hyun said while continuing to look Soo Yin's eyes with pity.

He grabbed Soo Yin's body back into his arms then held her so tightly that it made Soo Yin felt suffocated.

"Dae Hyun, let go! Don't hold me too tight," Soo Yin muttered as she pushed Dae Hyun's body so that there was some distance between them.

"Tell me, are you tormented living with me?" Dae Hyun asked softly.

"What do you mean?" Soo Yin asked.

"Do you really want to leave me so you won't eat?"

"That's not true, I'm happy to live with you," Soo Yin said with a smile.

"If you feel happy with me, from tomorrow eat more, I don't want you to be like this. What if suddenly father appears and then sees his only daughter who got thinner?" Dae Hyun said, who helped Soo Yin to sit with the current position facing each other.

"You're too much. I've told you many times that I'm fine," Soo Yin said with a giggled chuckle.

"Honey, don't joke." Dae Hyun was afraid that Soo Yin was hiding something from him.

"Calm down, I will eat a lot tomorrow," Soo Yin said as she reached out to rub Dae Hyun's chin. She then put his lips for a few seconds on Dae Hyun's lips gently so that the man would not worry about him anymore.

"I will not calm down until we go to the doctor," Dae Hyun said.

"Since when have you been like mothers who nag to their sons," Soo Yin said, chuckled again.

"Since I love you," Dae Hyun said. It did not matter if his little wife said that he was like a mother because he currently felt afraid of losing her.

"Hurry up, if you want to take a shower. I don't want to soak too long here," Soo Yin said. Even though she used warm water, she now felt her body getting cold.

"Let's try it here," Dae Hyun asked. Seeing his wife who was not wearing a thread again aroused his passion.

Soo Yin didn't really digest Dae Hyun's words so she still wanted to stand up. Before she could get up, Dae Hyun had pulled her off and then teased her more aggressively.

Dae Hyun didn't allow Soo Yin to delay what he wanted. Actually Dae Hyun already wanted her when he just got home when Soo Yin greeted him.

Dae Hyun helped Soo Yin out of the bath then took her under the shower. Dae Hyun squeezed Soo Yin's body on the wall so that Soo Yin didn't move at all. She could only enjoy every touch from Dae Hyun which made her body felt the strange familiar feelings that she felt.

Dae Hyun tucked his body into Soo Yin's body under the pouring shower. Doing that in the bathroom created a sensation for Dae Hyun. He really enjoyed Soo Yin's body which he had not seen for several days. He wanted this night not to end quickly.

After finishing in the bathroom, Dae Hyun carried Soo Yin's body which wrapped in a towel to get out. He lied Soo Yin's body on the bed then took the remote control to adjust the room temperature to be warmer.

Soo Yin sat up while tightening the towel back which was about to come off. She wanted to put on her clothes immediately because her body felt cold due to Dae Hyun confining her in the bathroom for too long.

Just when Soo Yin sat on the bedside Dae Hyun had approached her. He pushed Soo Yin body to lie back on the very soft bed.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 170 - 170 - Late

"Watch out, I want to wear my clothes." Soo Yin rebelled from Dae Hyun's body which was now over her.

"Don't you miss me?" Dae Hyun asked while tracing Soo Yin's smooth face with his finger.

"I've said many times that I miss you too," Soo Yin said.

"Then shall we do it again?" Dae Hyun asked with a foggy gaze. He had just finished it but he wanted it to come back to explore his little wife's body.

"Aren't you tired?" Soo Yin frowned.

"I can still do it until morning," Dae Hyun said so closely that Soo Yin can feel her husband's breath on her face.

Soo Yin stared at Dae Hyun for a few moments. She could not bear to see her husband who looked tormented again.

Seeing his wife who was silent without rebelling Dae Hyun returned to put his lips on Soo Yin's lips. He then traced Soo Yin's ear with his lips so that Soo Yin made a sexy voice.

Knowing that now Soo Yin had returned to his game, Dae Hyun felt even more excited because it meant his little wife still wanted him. Doing it in bed allowed Dae Hyun to freely enjoy every inch of his little wife's body.

Dae Hyun started giving red marks around Soo Yin's chest and neck. The girl shook her head again because Dae Hyun continued to play with his hands skillfully in the area that allowed her to soar up to the seventh sky.

Dae Hyun immediately put his belongings in Soo Yin's body gently and slowly so that Soo Yin also enjoyed it. Unlike in the bathroom earlier which was a little more aggressive.

Soo Yin thought Dae Hyun was satisfied with what he just did. It turned out that her estimate was wrong because Dae Hyun did it again several times.

Soo Yin's body was crushed in the face of Dae Hyun's powerful body. It turned out that it was much more aggressive than the first time they did it.

Dae Hyun collapsed beside Soo Yin's body when it was almost morning with sweat that had soaked all over his body. And that's because Soo Yin can't do it anymore otherwise Dae Hyun might do it until it's almost morning. Soo Yin felt that her strength cannot keep up with the strength of her husband's strong body.

Soo Yin was sure that tomorrow she won't be able to wake up and will probably be bedridden all day like when on Jeju Island.

"I can't take it anymore," Soo Yin said softly as she closed her eyes when Dae Hyun hugged her body again. They were currently facing each other.

"Go to sleep, I won't do it again," Dae Hyun said. He then wiped the sweat on Soo Yin's forehead.

"Thank you for tonight," he continued while kissing his wife's forehead.

"Hmmm." Only that sound came from Soo Yin's lips because she was already feeling very tired plus her eyes already felt heavy

Dae Hyun sat down then covered Soo Yin's body using a blanket so as not to get cold. He also closed his eyes and fell asleep on his stomach. Dae Hyun didn't want to disturb his wife's sleep anymore so he put some distance between them.

Bip ... Bip ....

The sound of the cellphone shaking woke Dae Hyun from his beautiful sleep with Soo Yin. He just let it be because his eyes still want to be closed for a moment. But apparently the cellphone didn't stop vibrating either. Feeling lazy, Dae Hyun was forced to let go of his hand which was still wrapped around Soo Yin's waist. He sat back on the side of the bed then reached for his cell phone which was on the nightstand right beside him at this time.

"Who called this early in the morning?" Dae Hyun grumbled with sleepy eyes. He immediately checked it, it turned out to be a call from Chang Yuan. The call has been missed three times.

"What's the matter, Assistant Chang?" Dae Hyun asked in a voice that was still hoarse once connected.

"Sir, today you have a meeting that you must attend as director of the hotel," Chang Yuan said over the phone. As long as Soo Yin didn't enter Chang Yuan who replaced anything.

"That's why you called me in the early morning like this? Isn't there Park Soo Hyun? Just tell him to represent me," Dae Hyun said with a snort.

"Sorry, sir. Did you just wake up? Even though it is almost nine o'clock. Mr. Park Soo Hyun has another meeting with investors. That's why I contacted you so that you come to the hotel immediately," Chang Yuan said calmly. He could already guess where Dae Hyun was right now. If he was in UN Village, it was impossible until this afternoon he won't wake up.

Dae Hyun's eyes widened immediately and his sleepiness also disappeared when he saw the wall clock which was almost nine o'clock.

"All right, I'll be right there." Dae Hyun immediately turned off the telephone line.

Last night, he couldn't stop his wish which had not been conveyed for several days.

Dae Hyun first looked at Soo Yin's face who was still fast asleep. He adjusted the blanket so that Soo Yin's body was completely covered.

"Sorry, you must have been exhausted last night," Dae Hyun said while removing the hair covering Soo Yin's face. He kissed Soo Yin's forehead before finally getting out of bed.

If only Park Soo Hyun didn't bother then Dae Hyun could stay all day at the Pyeongchang-dong villa with his little wife. He actually felt quite tired because he just got home now has to work again. He seemed to have no time to rest. If later Park Soo Hyun was reliable he wanted to stop and chose to live in peace with Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun immediately cleaned up so he could get ready because he didn't have much time.

Until Dae Hyun has finished dressing neatly, it turned out that Soo Yin hasn't woken up yet. Soo Yin was still sleeping on his side while hugging the bolster pillow. Dae Hyun kept her asleep and didn't intend to wake her up at all. He smiled as he looked at Soo Yin for a moment then kissed her forehead. The man didn't seem bored at all.

Dae Hyun hurriedly stepped outside and carefully closed the door. When finished going down the stairs Dae Hyun saw Aunt Xia, who was busy cleaning.

"Auntie, if my wife wakes up tell her when I've gone to work," Dae Hyun said as he put a watch on his wrist.

"Yes, sir," Aunt Xia said. "Don't you want to have breakfast first?" Aunt Xia continued.

"No, Auntie, because I'm in a hurry," Dae Hyun said as he stepped out of the Pyeongchang-dong villa.

His family will not be suspicious if he did not return to UN Village because Dae Hyun said that this morning he just arrived in Seoul.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 171 - 171 - Young Miss Is Sick

The sun was now in the middle of the horizon but Soo Yin hasn't woken up yet. Auntie Xia has checked several times but it's all the same Soo Yin was still fast asleep.

It was past noon now when Soo Yin blinked her eyes while holding her head which felt like it was spinning. She tried to get up to sit leaning on the side of the bed. She observed the condition of her body that was not wearing a single thread. Only then did Soo Yin remember that Dae Hyun came home last night.

"Where is he going?" Soo Yin muttered as she looked at her empty bedside. In the bathroom there also seemed to be no sign of her husband's presence because there was no sound of running water.

Soo Yin immediately widened her pupils about to go outside when she saw the wall clock that was already showing almost one o'clock in the afternoon. Soo Yin's gaze immediately turned to the window which was still covered by the curtain. It turned out that the sun was shining brightly. At first she had thought if it was still early morning.

Soo Yin massaged her shoulders for a bit. Her body felt crushed because of her husband last night. Somehow her husband always did it without feeling very tired.

Soo Yin shifted her body to the side of the bed to get down. She wrapped the blanket around her body then stepped into the bathroom.

Soo Yin slowly dragged her feet as her sensitive area ached. If someday they live together, Soo Yin can't imagine having to serve him every night.

"Ouch," Soo Yin moaned because suddenly her stomach felt a little sore. There was a sense of something twisting. She kept going into the bathroom, bending over to endure the pain she had never felt before. But the feeling didn't last long so Soo Yin can clean up.

After she finished changing, Soo Yin sat in front of the dressing table while drying her hair with a small towel. She saw so many red marks on her neck and cleavage.

"Geez, he's just like a vampire," Soo Yin muttered as she rubbed her long neck.

Seeing the messy condition of the bed, Soo Yin got up from her seat and picked up the scattered pillows and clothes. Her gaze was fixed on the red stain on the sheet. The stain was obvious because the sheets were white.

'Soo Yin frowned. Isn't virgin blood only there when first do it?' Soo Yin thought.

Soo Yin thought maybe it's her dirty blood. She just remembered that the last month she hasn't menstruating, even this month has not.

She can breathe a little relieved because maybe if she was menstruating even though it was a bit late. It never occurred to her that she should have children in the near time.

Knock ... knock ... knock ...

A knock on the door interrupted Soo Yin from her reverie. She turned toward the door.

"Enter!" Soo Yin exclaimed.

The door slowly opened, it turned out that Auntie Xia had entered carrying a tray of food.

"It turns out that Miss is awake. Aunt has brought soup for you," Auntie Xia said with a smile. She entered Soo Yin's room for the fifth time.

"You shouldn't have bothered bringing her here because I'll be down soon too," Soo Yin said.

"No bother, aunt also wanted to make sure you are up or not."

Soo Yin stretched out her hand to accept the tray Auntie Xia brought. The food looked good so Soo Yin wanted to taste it. Just one bite Soo Yin suddenly felt a pain like earlier in her stomach.

"Ouch, my stomach hurts," Soo Yin moaned while holding her stomach. She immediately put the bowl of soup on the nightstand.

"Miss what's wrong?" Aunt Xia panicked seeing Soo Yin grimacing in pain.

The Silla Seoul Hotel.

Dae Hyun just finished his meeting with his subordinates because it was the end of the month. Currently he was checking the financial statements that have just been obtained. There was something odd about the financial reports Manager Han has prepared. Hotel visitors have increased but why did their income decrease?

Dae Hyun clicked while lifting one lip up. He knew that Manager Han was definitely cheating.

"Looks like he wants to play with me," Dae Hyun muttered.

If his guess was proven then it will easily kick him out of this hotel. Han worked at his hotel also because of Aeri's recommendation. He almost forgot that Aeri had a special relationship with Han. It was not that he didn't want to fire Han from his job, but Dae Hyun still needed him.

"Assistant Chang, please investigate Manager Han so that we have solid evidence if he committed embezzlement of funds," Dae Hyun said.

"Very well, sir. Why don't we just stop him now?" Chang Yuan asked.

"Leave it for a while, because I suspect that Aeri is behind all this," Dae Hyun said.

"Yes, sir," Chang Yuan said quickly. After being an assistant for quite a while, Chang Yuan already understood what his boss's sometimes surprising plans were.

Derttt... derrtt... derttt....

Dae Hyun's cell phone vibrated again. He glanced at it briefly if it was not someone important then he would not answer it. It turned out to be a call from Aunt Xia, so Dae Hyun quickly answered.

"What's the matter, Auntie?" Dae Hyun asked, not taking his eyes off the piling up files.

"Young Miss is sick, sir," Aunt Xia said, stammered.

"What? What happened to my wife?" Dae Hyun immediately got up from his seat to hear that Soo Yin was sick even though she was fine before.

"Miss Soo Yin said her stomach hurts," Aunt Xia said.

"Wait a minute, because right now I'm going home." Dae Hyun immediately turned off the telephone line.

He thought for a moment before finally contacting someone. If taking Soo Yin to the hospital had to waiting for him it will take a long time. He needed someone to check her condition immediately.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 172 - 172 - Stomach Ache

Dae Hyun then called Doctor Kang.

"Why didn't it answer for so long!" Dae Hyun cursed with great annoyance. He had to call Doctor Kang to come to his villa.

After a few minutes the call was answered.

"Why did it take so long to answer?" Dae Hyun shouted, who was impatient so he immediately became angry when the line was connected.

"What is going on?" Doctor Kang asked while moving the cell phone away from his ear.

"Right now you come to my house. My wife is sick right now," Dae Hyun said in a cold tone.

"Which is your wife? I still have a patient today," Doctor Kang said.

"Anyway right now you have to come to Pyeongchang-dong Villa! I don't care about your patient!" Dae Hyun shouted.

"But...."

Dae Hyun unilaterally turned off the phone because there was no time. He hurriedly turned off his laptop, then put it in his bag.

"Did something happen to Miss Soo Yin, sir?" Chang Yuan asked. He could already guess that his boss must be worried about his young wife.

"I don't know, Aunt Xia said she was sick. Even though last night she was fine." Dae Hyun rubbed his face in a huff.

"If someone is looking for me, say I'm out of town," Dae Hyun said.

"Yes, sir," Chang Yuan said.

Dae Hyun immediately stepped out with wide strides. Just closed the door he had already met his brother there.

"Hyeong, I thought you weren't home yet," Park Soo Hyun said, who was a little surprised to see that his brother was already in his room.

"Please take care of everything with Assistant Chang," Dae Hyun said, who immediately stepped away from Park Soo Hyun because there was no more time to explain everything. What was on his mind right now was only Soo Yin.

"Where are you going?" Park Soo Hyun exclaimed but Dae Hyun had already gotten into the elevator so he wouldn't hear him.

"Geez, why does he seem in such a hurry?" Park Soo Hyun muttered but immediately ignored his curiosity. It sure didn't matter to him.

Park Soo Hyun, who was at the door poking his head into the room, turned out that there was still Chang Yuan there so he stepped into the room.

"Assistant Chang, where is my brother actually going? Why does he seem in such a hurry?" Park Soo Hyun asked while knitting his eyebrows.

"Mr. Dae Hyun is about to go out of town again," Chang Yuan said, who had already stood up holding his laptop. Having no boss made his work pile up even more because Dae Hyun always delegated his work to Chang Yuan when he was busy with other matters.

"Out of town again? Didn't he just come back?" Park Soo Hyun was quite surprised to hear that because his brother hadn't even set foot in UN Village yet. Even though Jo Yeon Ho kept asking when his father will coming home.

In a few days, Jo Yeon Ho's school would holding a graduation ceremony which his parents must attend. The child really hoped that his parents can attend like the other friends.

"That's all Mr. Dae Hyun had said," Chang Yuan said simply.

"Then, didn't Soo Yin come in today?" Park Soo Hyun asked as he looked at the table Soo Yin occupied was still neat as before. It's been a week since he hasn't seen his idol.

"Looks like Miss Soo Yin is still busy with her studies," Chang Yuan lied. There was no way he could tell the truth if Soo Yin was sick.

"Too bad," Park Soo Hyun muttered. Looked like he has to delay a few more days until Soo Yin came back to work because he didn't want to bother Soo Yin.

"Excuse me, sir, I have a lot of work to do," Chang Yuan said, who withdrew to return to his office.

Park Soo Hyun nodded his head approving Chang Yuan to leave. Before leaving, Park Soo Hyun approached Soo Yin's desk first. He stretched out his hand to pick up a small frame containing a photo of Soo Yin. In the photo she was smiling so sweetly. Without thinking Park Soo Hyun took a picture using his cellphone then made it the wallpaper on his cellphone.

"Turns out you are really cute," Park Soo Hyun muttered while kissing his cellphone screen over and over.

Dae Hyun was now on his way to Pyeongchang-dong Villa. He drove his car like a person who was possessed. Every time there was a red light, he would always hit the steering wheel because he was very upset.

In fact, several times he almost collided with other drivers. Luckily nothing happened because luck was still on his side.

Dae Hyun was very worried about Soo Yin. While driving Dae Hyun called Aunt Xia again but she didn't answer. He also tried to call Soo Yin's cellphone but the results were the same.

"Honey, hold on. I'll be there soon," Dae Hyun said.

The man seemed to have lost his mind and was driving the car at full speed.

As soon as he reached the courtyard of the Pyeongchang-dong villa, Dae Hyun immediately stopped the car. With half running steps he entered the house. He immediately opened the room door to see Soo Yin's current state.

Dae Hyun pushed against the bedroom door so hard, it startled Soo Yin and Auntie Xia. They immediately looked at Dae Hyun.

Now Soo Yin was leaning on the side of the bed accompanied by Aunt Xia who was massaging her legs. Actually she had forbidden Auntie Xia not to contact her husband, but the middle-aged woman didn't listen to her.

Now Soo Yin's stomach didn't hurt anymore.

"Honey, what happened to you?" Dae Hyun sat on the side of his bed and then gripped Soo Yin's fingers tightly.

"I'm fine, I just had a little stomach ache," Soo Yin said with a smile. She didn't want to make her husband worry about her at all.

"Auntie, where is Doctor Kang?" Dae Hyun asked as he looked at Aunt Xia, who was now standing.

"Doctor Kang isn't here yet, sir," Auntie Xia said.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

"Honey, be patient a little bit maybe he's on the way," Soo Yin said with teary eyes. She did not think that her husband was so worried about her. Unconsciously, clear beads trickled down her cheek.

"Are you in pain again? Tell me which one hurts?" Dae Hyun asked with trembling hands feeling Soo Yin's stomach.

Soo Yin grabbed his wrist then looked into Dae Hyun's eagle eyes with a smile on his lips.

"Calm down, nothing's hurt," Soo Yin said.

"Honey, don't ever lie to me. Say whatever you feel right now," Dae Hyun said with a wistful gaze.

Suddenly Soo Yin felt like her stomach was being squeezed again. She tried to hold it back by biting her lower lip.

"Ouch, my stomach hurts again!" Soo Yin moaned.

"Come on, let's go to the hospital right now," Dae Hyun said. He couldn't bear to see Soo Yin grimacing.

"No need, later it will heal itself because it's been like this," Soo Yin said. She was afraid that after being examined it turned out that she was only about to have her period. That would be very embarrassing because she had experienced it so many times.

"Then, I'll call Doctor Kang again." Dae Hyun gave Soo Yin a quick glance before getting up to make a call. Just about to reach into his cellphone in his pants pocket, suddenly there was a knock on the door that was heard.

Auntie Xia moved from Soo Yin's bedside then hurriedly opened the door.

A tall man in white clothes was standing at the door. His hands were carrying what appeared to be medical equipment.

"Why did it take you so long?" Dae Hyun grumbled while sharply staring at Doctor Kang.

"Didn't I say that I had a patient," Doctor Kang said casually. He stepped onto the bed without paying attention to Dae Hyun who kept staring at him angrily.

"Miss, lie down. Let me check your condition," the doctor said with a smile. He helped Soo Yin to lie back down.

Soo Yin obeyed Doctor Kang's words to lie down as the pain slowly disappeared. Since earlier the pain has indeed disappeared and came up erratically.

Doctor Kang uncovered Soo Yin's shirt to check her stomach. Just about to grab the tip of it Dae Hyun grabbed his wrist.

Doctor Kang turned his head at Dae Hyun questioningly.

"Don't touch her!" Dae Hyun said with sharp eyes.

Doctor Kang sighed softly. He really wanted to punch the man who was beside him at this time.

"If I can't touch her, you better check the condition yourself," Doctor Kang said with an irritated snort. He pulled his hand which had not touched Soo Yin's skin.

"Honey, what are you doing?" Soo Yin can't stop thinking about Dae Hyun's exaggerated attitude. How could Doctor Kang check her condition if he was not allowed to touch her. Was her husband out of his mind?

"Okay, you can check it but don't do anything!" Dae Hyun threatened while releasing Doctor Kang's wrist. He just didn't want to see Soo Yin being touched by other men because only him who can touch her.

Doctor Kang continued his work to check on Soo Yin. The results were quite surprising because in Soo Yin's stomach it looked like a fetus was developing but her condition was now weak for some reason. He immediately gave a prescription for medicine so that Soo Yin would drink it before it was too late.

Before coming here he had taken care to bring medicine that might be needed.

"Do I have to drink it all?" Soo Yin asked when she saw the medicine pellets given by Doctor Kang.

"Of course, this is just a vitamin and a womb booster. Drink it, after this I hope you'll be fine," Doctor Kang said with a smile. Behind his smile he held back the anger he wanted to hurry. He wanted to immediately tear the man beside him.

"Womb booster? What for?" Soo Yin asked innocently. She didn't understand what Doctor Kang said at all.

'Doesn't this girl know if she's pregnant?' Doctor Kang thought as he massaged his temples.

"Just drink, after that you have to rest," Doctor Kang said.

"Honey, drink it so you'll stay healthy," Dae Hyun said who sat beside Soo Yin. He handed a glass of water to Soo Yin to immediately drink the medicine.

Soo Yin let out a long sigh before finally obediently drinking the whole thing even though she had a lump in her throat when she took one of the rather large shaped pills.

"Now go to sleep." Dae Hyun stretched out his hand to cover Soo Yin's body with a blanket. He rubbed the top of Soo Yin's head so she fell asleep. It turned out that it didn't take long, only a few minutes Soo Yin was asleep. Maybe because of the effects of the drugs she drank.

"I want to talk to you," Doctor Kang said. He glanced at Dae Hyun and then stepped out of the room.

Feeling lazy, Dae Hyun was forced to follow Doctor Kang's steps out of his room.

"How many times did you do it last night?" Doctor Kang asked with an intimidating look.

"Do what?" Dae Hyun asked innocently. His brows were furrowed in confusion. There was no way Doctor Kang could ask about what he did last night with Soo Yin

"You bastard! You must be didn't know if your wife is young pregnant!" Doctor Kang cursed in a high voice and a little harshly because he had been feeling very angry since earlier. He knew it from Soo Yin's red neck. What else if it wasn't because they had been making love last night.

"Young pregnant?" Dae Hyun thought hard to digest Doctor Kang's words.

"You mean my wife is pregnant?" Dae Hyun asked in surprise. He could not believe what he had just heard.

"She was sick like that because of you last night! You act to have two wives but only one you can't take care of it." Doctor Kang sneered while on putting his hands on his hips.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 174 - 174 - Complete Rest

Dae Hyun was stunned to hear the sneer that pierced his chest cavity. So right on target the words made him now speechless at a thousand languages.

The shadows from a few days ago entered back into his memory slowly. Was everything he experienced when he felt nauseous whenever he saw food, one of the signs that Soo Yin was pregnant? He never knew if a man could experience it. Likewise Soo Yin's weight had dropped dramatically.

In the past, when Aeri was pregnant with Jo Yeon Ho, he didn't experience it so Dae Hyun didn't find out. In addition, he didn't really care about Aeri.

Dae Hyun rubbed his face in a huff.

"What kind of husband are you to not know if his wife is pregnant!" Doctor Kang opened his voice again. He didn't care if Dae Hyun would get angry or throw a tantrum with what he said.

Dae Hyun looked at Doctor Kang with a gaze filled with regret. All the sneers deserved so Dae Hyun didn't get mad at all. He lamented his guilt when he forced Soo Yin to obey his will several times.

He almost made Soo Yin lose her baby.

"I'm really sorry," Dae Hyun said softly as he closed his eyes briefly. He hit the wall to vent the emotions raging in his chest.

"From now on, don't tire her out. If you call me again because of this I won't hesitate to beat you up," Doctor Kang threatened.

"All right, then now what should I do?" Dae Hyun asked with a wistful gaze.

"For the time being, she should not do activities that make her tired because her womb is weak. Luckily, nothing fatal has happened to the fetus," Doctor Kang suggested.

"I'll follow what you say," Dae Hyun said in a low tone. He will do whatever was important Soo Yin and his future child will be fine.

"One more thing, after she wakes up, you should take her to the gynecologist to be more accurate at what I said. Later I will make an appointment with one of my female friends who works as an obstetrician because if a male doctor you will definitely not allow him to examine," Doctor Kang said. The man remembered how Dae Hyun's attitude towards him was so exaggerated.

"It's good if you know that," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone and not guilty at all.

After chatting for a bit about Soo Yin Doctor Kang said goodbye because there were still many patients waiting for him at the hospital.

Dae Hyun returned to the room after Doctor Kang left. He sat on the bed next to his little wife. He rubbed Soo Yin's forehead for a moment then kissed her gently.

Why was he so stupid not to notice what was wrong with his wife? Dae Hyun covered his face with his palms. There was a fear of telling Soo Yin that she was pregnant because his little wife once told him that she was too young to take care of a child.

There was a feeling raging in his heart right now. He was very happy to hear the news that his little wife was really pregnant however. On the other hand he worried if Soo Yin didn't want it.

Before telling the news, Dae Hyun should make sure that Soo Yin can accept everything first.

Dae Hyun got out of bed to get his laptop because a lot of work had been delayed. Even though Soo Yin was fine but Dae Hyun didn't have the heart to leave her alone. He won't calm down until he took Soo Yin to the gynecologist. He had to make sure Soo Yin and the fetus were okay.

Dae Hyun did his job on the bed right next to his little wife. It has been almost three hours since she fell asleep, but she hadn't woken up yet. Soo Yin only occasionally stretched her body then went to sleep again.

Knock... knock... knock....

There was a knock on the door so Dae Hyun paused his activities for a moment.

"Enter!" he exclaimed.

Auntie Xia entered with a tray of food in her hand. This was the third time Auntie Xia had come to their room.

"Sir, you better have lunch first. Isn't it since morning you haven't eaten?" Aunt Xia said as she placed the tray on the table.

"I'll eat later with my wife," Dae Hyun said, his eyes still focused on staring at his laptop screen. His guilt kept his stomach from feeling hungry.

Auntie Xia could only sigh softly before finally choosing to leave. She still let her food on the nightstand. Maybe the boss would changed his mind.

Soo Yin tilted her body to the side when she opened her eyes to see Dae Hyun at her side. She looked at Dae Hyun who was still struggling with his laptop. His fingers were busy dancing on the keyboard. Dae Hyun didn't even notice when Soo Yin sat up then moved her body closer to him.

Soo Yin hugged Dae Hyun from behind then pressed her cheek against Dae Hyun's back.

Dae Hyun stopped his job then looked back. Immediately closed his laptop then shifted his body to face Soo Yin.

He hugged Soo Yin into his arms then kissed the top of her head repeatedly with his lips still tightly pressed.

"Are you feeling better?" Dae Hyun finally asked, opened his voice.

Soo Yin nodded her head then raised her face to meet Dae Hyun's gloomy hawk eyes that were unusually gloomy.

"What did Doctor Kang tell you?" Soo Yin asked, who wanted to make sure there wasn't a serious problem.

"Nothing, Doctor Kang said if you have to rest completely first. You should not do any activity."

"Why?" Soo Yin frowned.

"Because of you ...." Dae Hyun did not continue his words.

"From now on you don't do anything that makes you tired. Now eat first." Dae Hyun released Soo Yin's body from his embrace.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 175 - 175 - I Just Want A Son To Be With You

Soo Yin just remembered that her stomach was not filled so she nodded her head.

"I want to go to the bathroom first," Soo Yin said, shifting her body a little about getting out of bed. Just as Soo Yin landed her feet on the floor, Dae Hyun had already lifted her body so that she felt like she was floating in the air.

"What are you doing?" Soo Yin said.

Without answering, Dae Hyun carried Soo Yin's body to the bathroom. Very slowly he lowered her on the floor.

"What are you still standing here for?" Soo Yin frowned because Dae Hyun didn't leave.

"Of course I'm waiting for you," Dae Hyun said.

"Come out, you just embarrass me." Soo Yin pushed Dae Hyun's body out of the bathroom. She did not understand what her husband was thinking. There was no way he wanted it again after one night that made her body crushed.

Dae Hyun was forced to go outside while scratching the back of his head.

Soo Yin almost jumped in surprise, when she opened the door it turned out that Dae Hyun was still standing there. She was holding her chest because her heart was about to fall out.

Without any guilt that shocked his wife, Dae Hyun smiled and then lifted Soo Yin's body back in his hands.

"Let go, I can walk by myself. You think I'm a kid," Soo Yin muttered as she continued to struggle. Dae Hyun's attitude this time was too much. Didn't know what was on his mind so he acted like this.

"Don't rebel. I just want you not to be tired," Dae Hyun said as he continued to walk and then lowered Soo Yin on the side of the bed. He didn't allow Soo Yin to move at all.

Soo Yin could only snort in annoyance at her husband's behavior this time.

Before Soo Yin moved, Dae Hyun rushed to get a bowl of soup for Soo Yin. There were two bowls of Dongtae Jjigae, a soup made of pollock, tofu, white radish, green onions and bean sprouts. The soup is cooked in fish stock served with a sprinkling of chrysanthemum leaves.

"Eat," Dae Hyun said as he thrust the spoon into Soo Yin's mouth.

"I can eat by myself," Soo Yin said with a glare. She grabbed the spoon and bowl from Dae Hyun's hand.

Seeing that his wife now has an appetite for food, Dae Hyun can breathe a sigh of relief. Maybe it was all because of the medical effect that Doctor Kang gave her.

"Have you eaten?" Soo Yin asked. She was too hungry, so she quickly enjoyed it all. Now her appetite has returned to normal.

Dae Hyun nodded his head quickly.

"After finishing eating, let's go to the doctor," Dae Hyun asked with a happy face. He couldn't wait to find out of what Doctor Kang had said.

"For what? I'm fine now," Soo Yin said, who stopped her chewing activity. She looked at Dae Hyun with a frown.

"Later you will find out too," Dae Hyun replied with a warm smile.

"I don't feel the pain anymore. Look, I can even now eat heartily again," Soo Yin said while lifting the spoon in her hand. The soup bowl was nearly empty too.

"Still, I still feel anxious. I want to ask you something," Dae Hyun said doubtfully.

"What is going on?"

"What do you think if one day we have a son?" Dae Hyun said, who wanted to know how Soo Yin reacted. So that he knew whether she wanted it or not.

"Cough... cough... cough...." Soo Yin who was chewing the last bite suddenly felt something stuck in her throat.

Dae Hyun hurriedly grabbed the glass that was above the nightstand then handed it to Soo Yin. Seeing her reaction like this made Dae Hyun feel a little scared.

Soo Yin downed a glass of water. She hadn't chewed it properly so there was a type of vegetable stuck in her throat.

"You don't want it?" Dae Hyun said, repeating his question.

"Actually, it doesn't matter if I get pregnant after graduating from college because I can't afford to have children now. It will definitely interfere with my studies," Soo Yin said, while wiping her mouth with a tissue.

"No problem, you can still go to college even though you already have children because there is Aunt Xia who will help you to raise our son," Dae Hyun said. As much as possible he will persuade Soo Yin to want the child she was carrying at this time.

"That's not the problem. If I'm pregnant then I will find it difficult to study. Maybe even have to postpone my studies when giving birth," Soo Yin said.

"It's okay, you can continue after that," Dae Hyun coaxed while holding Soo Yin's hand.

"I'll think about it later," Soo Yin said.

"You don't intend to get me pregnant right now, do you?" She continued, squinting. She was a little suspicious of her husband.

"So what? If you postpone it then I'll get old," Dae Hyun said.

"Didn't mom tell you to make a brother for Jo Yeon Ho? Why don't you just make it with Aeri?" Soo Yin said without thinking about what she said.

"Are you willing if I sleep with that woman?" Dae Hyun teased. He was reluctant to mention Aeri's name on his lips.

Soo Yin pursed her mouth. The image of Dae Hyun hugging a cunning woman. Touching her like Dae Hyun did to her made her stomach felt sick.

Soo Yin put the bowl back on the table with a bent face.

Dae Hyun chuckled looking at Soo Yin. She ordered him but she also looked annoyed. Dae Hyun turned Soo Yin's body to face him. He lifted Soo Yin's chin so that her face lifted.

"I just want a son to be with you. I don't want him to be with other people. Jo Yeon Ho will have a younger brother but the one from my sweet wife," Dae Hyun said softly. He didn't want to make Soo Yin's mood bad. It is said that a woman who is pregnant should always feel happy. There must be no sadness in his heart so that the child will grow up well.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 176 - 176 - Meeting Ex-girlfriends

Dae Hyun got out of bed and squatted right in front of Soo Yin. He rubbed Soo Yin's stomach gently then kissed it for a few moments.

"But I'm not good at taking care of babies," Soo Yin said.

"Didn't I say many times that later we would find the best nanny to take care of our son." Dae Hyun grabbed Soo Yin's face so he could stare into her beautiful eyes. Trying to persuade her before knowing the truth so that Soo Yin won't be disappointed.

"But you also have to pay attention to him. I don't want my son not to be noticed by his father," Soo Yin said, still with a sullen face.

"You don't need to worry about it. Of course I will pay attention and love it with all my soul," Dae Hyun said who will try hard to convince Soo Yin.

"Then what about Jo Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin asked. She was afraid that her son would not get affection like what happened to Jo Yeon Ho.

"He is my son so I will love him. I will not differentiate between the two." Dae Hyun rubbed Soo Yin's cheek.

"I'm afraid he will hate me if he finds out I am his stepmother," Soo Yin said softly. There was sadness that can be heard from her words.

"Don't think about it. From now on you shouldn't think about things that make you feel sad. Better just think about things that make you happy," Dae Hyun said.

After a little convincing his little wife. Dae Hyun asked Soo Yin to get ready because Doctor Kang had already made an appointment at three in the afternoon. Don't let them be late.

Pyongyang Maternity Hospital.

Dae Hyun just stopped his car in a parking lot at one of the maternity hospitals in Seoul. They came there after receiving Doctor Kang's recommendation. According to Doctor Kang, there was a female obstetrician in the hospital. That's why Dae Hyun agreed to come there.

They arrived at the hospital after traveling for an hour. Even though the distance from Villa Pyeongchang-dong to there was not too far. It was because Dae Hyun was driving very slowly like a person on a bicycle.

Almost all the way, Soo Yin grumbled because she couldn't wait to get there. Too long in the car made her bored.

"Maternity Hospital?" Soo Yin muttered as she read the name of the hospital that was clearly plastered in front of a multi-storey building.

"What did we come here for?" Soo Yin felt a little confused with why her husband brought her here. Who just gave birth? Didn't that man earlier asked her to check her condition.

"Of course to check how you are. Let's go down now, it's time for us to go in to see the doctor soon," Dae Hyun said as he took off the seat belt on Soo Yin's body.

Dae Hyun immediately got out of the car then switched to opening the car door for Soo Yin.

"Let me help." Dae Hyun returned to carry Soo Yin's body.

Soo Yin was about to refuse but retreated her intention because it's useless to refuse if Dae Hyun will never hear her like before. Dae Hyun carried Soo Yin's body into the hospital.

Soo Yin felt very embarrassed when there were so many pairs of eyes looking at them. Maybe they felt strange with Soo Yin. Even though it seemed fine for being carried like that.

"Honey, put me down. Look, they keep watching us," Soo Yin whispered.

"Don't pay attention to them. Think of them as grass plants that grow by the side of the road," Dae Hyun said, ignoring the stares of the people passing by. He continued to walk his long legs in a very relaxed manner.

Soo Yin felt very uncomfortable. But she also couldn't do much. Since earlier, Dae Hyun really didn't allow her to walk.

Dae Hyun walked to the receptionist to ask where the gynecologist's room for the appointment was. He immediately stepped through the hospital corridor to the room indicated by the receptionist.

Along the hallway Soo Yin kept wondering in her heart. What did they come there for.

Only when he was in front of the doctor's room, Dae Hyun dropped Soo Yin because they had arrived.

Knock... knock... knock....

Dae Hyun knocked on the door first.

There was the sound of footsteps approaching the door. Soon a nurse came out of the room.

"Please come in," the nurse said politely.

Dae Hyun walked in while holding Soo Yin's hand. The man even led Soo Yin out of fear that Soo Yin would fall. He had lost his mind because last night almost endangered his future son.

Dae Hyun frowned when he saw the name on the table. He seemed very familiar with the name. Hopefully it's just the same name.

"Wait a moment because Doctor Mi Young is washing her hands. Please sit down," the nurse said.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin sat on the chairs that had been provided.

After a few minutes Mi Young came out of the toilet. Mi Young was a doctor aged 34. Her age was only a little different from Dae Hyun. She had pure white skin and short hair. Nobody would have thought if she was 34 years old because her face looked much younger.

Mi Young was stunned to see a man sitting with a young girl. The man who made her fall in love for the first time. Until now, the image of the good old days had always remained in her mind.

Despite seeing him from the side, Mi Young already recognized the handsome face she always missed. As if she was still dreaming right now so she pinched her arm.

"Ouch," Mi Young groaned softly as she rubbed her own pinch marks.

Mi Young took a deep breath to make sure her chest didn't flutter. With slow steps she headed to her desk. She felt bad if she let them wait too long.

"Sorry, you've been waiting," Mi Young said with a friendly smile. As a doctor she must be professional.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 177 - 177 - Is She Your Sister?

Dae Hyun looked at Mi Young for a moment. The face of the woman he had loved for the first time was now in sight. That was quite a shock for Dae Hyun. He thought the name was just the same. Unexpectedly it turned out to be the same person.

"It's okay, we just came," Soo Yin said with a sweet smile on her lips.

Dae Hyun turned his gaze in another direction, not wanting to stare at Mi Young. For him Mi Young was the past and his current future was Soo Yin.

"Dae Hyun, is she your sister?" Mi Young asked courageously. She immediately closed her mouth because she had missed. After remembering that Dae Hyun did not have a younger sister, Mi Young felt that she was wrong to speak.

"She's my wife," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone.

"You know each other?" Soo Yin asked with a frown.

"We were only from the same high school," Dae Hyun said quickly. Didn't want Mi Young to say strange things to his little wife.

"Are you here because Doctor Kang made an appointment?" Mi Young asked, changing the conversation to just confirm it. Even though she actually knew about it beforehand because Doctor Kang had already said it.

"Yes," Dae Hyun said with an expressionless face.

"Honey, didn't we enter the wrong room?" Soo Yin whispered. They should have went to a general practitioner not a gynecologist.

"No," Dae Hyun said deliberately bringing his lips closer to Soo Yin's face.

"Hmmm," Mi Young said.

"Miss, come with me in," Mi Young said as she stood up. The atmosphere in the room felt so awkward. She did not expect that after not seeing him for so long, they were now reunited with an unexpected thing.

Soo Yin followed Mi Young's steps into a room used for ultrasound. Dae Hyun of course continued to follow her with a flat face.

Soo Yin was now lying on a bed. In front of her was a monitor screen that will show the results of the ultrasound.

A nurse came in then applied a special gel on Soo Yin's stomach to prevent friction between the skin and the transducer. The gel also made it easier to transmit sound waves into the body.

After that, Mi Young attached a tool called a transducer to Soo Yin's stomach.

Dae Hyun sat beside Soo Yin while looking at the monitor screen in front of them without saying a word. If only he knew that the female doctor that Doctor Kang was referring to was Mi Young, he'd better go find another hospital.

"Look, that on the screen is the fetus in your womb. It turns out that it is already 7 weeks or almost two months old. However, your womb is a bit weak, so you aren't allowed to do physical activities that are too heavy ...." Mi Young explained how Soo Yin's fetus was doing in detail while continuing to move the transducer in Soo Yin's stomach.

"What do you mean Doctor?" Soo Yin asked with an innocent face as soon as Mi Young finished examining it. She was still too ordinary to digest Mi Young's words because she was focused on the monitor screen instead of listening to Mi Young's explanation.

"It means that your current womb has been running for almost two months," Mi Young said, repeating her words with a smile. She glanced at Dae Hyun who seemed to have a flat face.

"So Doctor mean I'm pregnant?" Soo Yin hurriedly sat down. She felt like she dreamed of hearing Mi Young's words just now.

"Dae Hyun, doesn't your wife know about this?" Mi Young asked.

"No, because we haven't checked it," Dae Hyun said while massaging his temples.

"Honey, tell me if I'm not dreaming," Soo Yin said with a glowing face. Soo Yin loudly patted her cheek with her palm. Even though at first she didn't want it, but knowing that she was pregnant made her heart happy.

"You don't dream, we will soon have a baby." Dae Hyun now had a smile on his lips. He didn't expect Soo Yin to look that happy even though he was already worried if Soo Yin didn't want it.

"Congratulations, is this your first child?" Mi Young asked while glancing at Dae Hyun.

"Yes, Doctor. This is my first child," Soo Yin said as she rubbed her stomach. She did not think that soon she would have a baby.

"If I may know how old you are now?" Mi Young was very curious to know Soo Yin's age because her face looked much younger than Dae Hyun.

"I'm only 18 years old," Soo Yin said.

"Dae Hyun, you better take care of her properly because she's too young to be pregnant," Mi Young suggested. Her heart felt jealous to see Soo Yin, who at such a young age, could become pregnant. It was very different from her, who already has a fairly mature age but has not been gifted with offspring. Her husband even had the heart to leave her with another woman.

"Is it too risky?" Dae Hyun asked. At least he had to know all the possibilities in order to make him even more careful.

"Actually not really. It's just that your wife's womb is rather weak. I also suggest that you reduce your activities at night," Mi Young said. She didn't dare to say it clearly because it was a very sensitive matter.

"I already know," Dae Hyun said curtly. Without Mi Young teaching it, he would know about it.

"Okay, let's go outside. Later I'll give you a prescription for the medicine," Mi Young said while looking at Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun helped Soo Yin to get out of bed then led her outside. Shamelessly Soo Yin walked on while clinging to Dae Hyun's arm. Soo Yin didn't feel embarrassed at all despite being in front of Mi Young who kept glancing at her.

Mi Young just sighed softly when she saw Dae Hyun so attentive to Soo Yin. There was a hint of regret to remember that she had preferred another man a few years ago.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 178 - 178 - I'm Pregnant, Not Sick

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin were now sitting at Mi Young's table.

"Okay, I'll give you vitamins and medicine. You have to drink regularly so that your pregnancy is fine," Mi Young said while writing a prescription for the medicine they had to redeem at the hospital pharmacy.

"One more thing, you have to come regularly every month to see a doctor," Mi Young continued.

"Thank you, Doctor," Soo Yin said with a smile that didn't fade away.

"Honey, you have to take care of our future baby." Dae Hyun shamelessly grabbed Soo Yin's waist in front of Mi Young.

"Of course I will take care of it," Soo Yin said, who leaned her head on Dae Hyun's arm.

Mi Young massaged her temples, feeling uncomfortable and embarrassed to see the intimacy of her ex-lover with his young wife. Mi Young was Dae Hyun's only ex-lover. They dated when they were in high school long enough that the image of the good times still remained in Mi Young's heart.

'If this young girl is his wife then where is Aeri? Have they separated?' Mind full of question marks but immediately got rid of her curiosity.

Mi Young used to know the news that Dae Hyun was married to a top model who was quite famous. Of course he knew that the woman was Aeri.

"Then excuse us," Dae Hyun said.

Mi Young's tongue felt so sore that she just nodded her head. She kept staring at Dae Hyun's back, who had not been seen for a long time.

oooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo

Dae Hyun drove his car back to the villa after the first dinner at the restaurant.

Soo Yin continued to cling to her husband's arm, even though Dae Hyun was focused on driving.

"Honey, so you already know if I'm pregnant from Doctor Kang? Why didn't you tell me," Soo Yin said while turning her face to the side to look at her husband.

"Yes, but I'm not so sure so I didn't tell you first. How are you feeling right now?" Dae Hyun asked.

"I'm very happy," Soo Yin said with a happy face. She continued to hold her stomach which was still flat.

Dae Hyun was too happy to express his feelings in words. He was happy because soon they will have a very cute baby.

"Honey, haven't you come home to meet Yeon Ho yet?" Soo Yin asked. Even though Yeon Ho was not her real child, Soo Yin didn't want that child to not get attention from his father. Especially after that night when Yeon Ho trusted her so much, she really didn't want to be a selfish and evil woman.

"Not yet," Dae Hyun said with a soft sigh.

"Meet him, don't make him sad because he missed you," Soo Yin said.

"Tomorrow I'll be home," Dae Hyun said because he also missed his son.

Soon they finally arrived at the villa. As usual, Dae Hyun will rushed to open the door for Soo Yin. He was about to carry Soo Yin's body but the girl immediately grabbed his wrist.

"Honey, I'm pregnant, not sick. I don't want you to treat me like a sick person. I'm not that weak," Soo Yin muttered. Dae Hyun's attitude towards her was too much.

"Okay, but be careful," Dae Hyun said as he let her get out of the car by herself.

Dae Hyun walked beside Soo Yin while leading his wife along.

"Didn't I tell you not to make me look like sick?" Soo Yin glared at her husband.

"I'm just afraid you might fall," Dae Hyun said.

"Let me walk by myself!"

Dae Hyun finally pulled himself away from Soo Yin until she was one meter behind him.

Early in the morning Dae Hyun was awake because he was going to UN Village because last night Jo Yeon Ho had also asked him to come home. There was anxiety when he had to leave Soo Yin. His heart was still not calm at the moment because he remembered Mi Young's words about Soo Yin's weak pregnancy.

"Is it okay for me to leave you?" Dae Hyun asked.

They were currently in the dining room for breakfast sitting across from each other.

"It's okay, you don't have to worry." Soo Yin squeezed Dae Hyun's fingers who were on the dining table.

"You should contact me immediately if you feel sick like yesterday," Dae Hyun said. His light brown eyes were now dim with worry.

"I'm sure our baby will be fine." Soo Yin lowered her gaze to see her stomach which was blocked by the cloth. She rubbed her stomach gently.

Dae Hyun let go of Soo Yin's hand, then approached his little wife who was across from him. He sat squatting in front of Soo Yin. Gently, he rubbed the flat stomach.

"Honey, be fine in there. You have to be strong so that we can meet," Dae Hyun said as he uncovered the clothes Soo Yin was wearing and pressed her face against the stomach.

This was the first time Dae Hyun felt happiness because soon he can feel like a father with the girl he loved. In the past, when Aeri was pregnant, he never felt as happy as now. Even when Jo Yeon Ho was born he felt just like nothing special.

Dae Hyun was only able to love Jo Yeon Ho with all his heart when the child was one year old because at that age the child looked very cute.

"Yes, Dad. I'll be fine," Soo Yin said, imitating a child's voice while chuckling with amusement.

"Now I have to go, see you." Dae Hyun kissed Soo Yin's stomach for quite a while before finally releasing her.

"Now go, later Jo Yeon Ho will go to school," Soo Yin said while stroking Dae Hyun's hair.

Dae Hyun sighed softly then got up.

"Take good care of yourself." Dae Hyun kissed Soo Yin's forehead for a moment.

Soo Yin nodded her head with a smile to reassure Dae Hyun.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 179 - 179 - Waiting For Father And Mother

UN Village,

Since it was still dim, Jo Yeon Ho had been sitting on the terrace waiting for his return home accompanied by Eun Hee. Whenever there was a sound of a car passing by, the child rushed off of Eun Hee's lap. Wanted to see if it was his father's car or not. Eun Hee was even touched by the deep longing in Jo Yeon Ho's heart.

"Yeon Ho, Mr. Dae Hyun will arrive soon. Let's go to the room first to get ready," Eun Hee invited as she stepped toward Jo Yeon Ho who was standing near one of the pillars.

"I want to wait for father and mother first," Jo Yeon Ho said with a sad face that looked visible. His heart will not be calm if his parents have not returned home.

Eun Hee felt sorry for her foster child who looked gloomy. Jo Yeon Ho really hoped that her parents will come home soon because today was the day of his graduation party. There was a small hope that his parents can come like the others.

A silver Maybach finally entered the yard.

Jo Yeon Ho's face immediately lit up when he saw the car he was so familiar with. With a little jog, the boy headed to the place where the car stopped. He couldn't wait to hug his father tightly.

"Father!" Jo Yeon Ho exclaimed as he tapped the windshield. His face looks very cheerful after knowing his father's arrival.

Dae Hyun immediately opened the car door. His chest touched when he saw his son was so eagerly waiting for his to come home.

"Wow, father's son was awake." Dae Hyun crouched down to align himself with Jo Yeon Ho so that the boy rushed into his arms. Immediately break away after a while.

"Dad, why are you just coming home now? Didn't you say you came back to Seoul yesterday morning?" Jo Yeon Ho asked with a sullen face. He wanted to know why his father didn't see him right away.

"Sorry, dad is a bit busy. There were some work to taken care of," Dae Hyun said. His chest ached because he often told a lie to his son.

"Father must replace it by inviting me to go on vacation," Jo Yeon Ho said with pursed lips.

"Where do you want to vacation?" Dae Hyun asked as he ruffled his son's hair.

"Hmmm, I want to go to Japan to follow my grandfather," Jo Yeon Ho said after thinking hard. He really liked the cherry blossom country.

"All right, later when you are on vacation we will go there," Dae Hyun said as he patted his son's shoulder softly.

"Hooray!" Jo Yeon Ho jumped with joy.

"Father today is my graduation ceremony. You can come right?" Jo Yeon Ho asked hopefully.

"Is it true today? Dad almost forgot if you didn't remind me." Dae Hyun patted his forehead lightly. He didn't remember at all. Lucky Soo Yin sent him home early in the morning.

"Why did you forget that? Am I not important anymore?" Jo Yeon Ho asked as he lowered his gaze to the ground. There is a little bit of disappointment that his father forgot something very important to him.

"What did you say? You've always been important in father's life. Who told you that?" Dae Hyun said. He suspected that Aeri was trying to incite Jo Yeon Ho.

"Mom said dad has changed unlike before and may not love me," Jo Yeon Ho said by playing with his fingers.

Dae Hyun was furious. How could Aeri say that to his son? He had to speak to her immediately to ask for an explanation.

"Your mother is lying. Don't ever listen to what she has said," Dae Hyun said irritably. When Aeri was still a model and was busy he never talked about her in front of his son. He always told Jo Yeon Ho to stay calm. But after gaining trust, she tried to keep him away from Jo Yeon Ho.

"Mother also said that you don't pay attention to mother anymore," Jo Yeon Ho said honestly. For this matter, Jo Yeon Ho didn't hear it from Aeri directly. He heard it when Aeri called someone, Jo Yeon Ho overheard her accidentally.

"Where is your mother now?" Dae Hyun said while tightly clenching his fists. His jaw now seemed tense.

"Mother is returning to my grandmother's house until now. It seems that mother don't remember my graduation today," Jo Yeon Ho said sadly.

'Geez, that woman!' Dae Hyun thought angrily.

"Calm down, maybe soon mom will be home too." Dae Hyun tried to calm his son down. Can't bear to see him sad like that

"We'd better be prepared so as not to arrive late," he continued. Dae Hyun lifted Jo Yeon Ho's body and then went into the house.

While waiting for his son who was getting ready, Dae Hyun sat on the sofa while repeatedly calling Aeri. Her number had been inactive so he suspected Aeri was not at her mother's place. If only now wasn't Jo Yeon Ho's graduation ceremony, it was certain that Dae Hyun would have gone there alone to confront her. That way Aeri will not be able to dodge it again.

"Dae Hyun, can Aeri be contacted?" Mrs. Park asked while sitting next to his son.

"Not yet, Mom. Her cell phone number is not active," Dae Hyun said, still with the cellphone beside his ear.

"Geez, where is she actually? Already know that her son has an event but hasn't even returned until now," Mrs. Park grumbled who felt quite annoyed with her daughter-in-law.

"Try to contact her mother," Mrs. Park suggested.

Dae Hyun obeyed his mother's words to contact his mother-in-law but the results were to no avail because there was no answer at all.

Dae Hyun was curious about why his wife and mother-in-law were so difficult to contact.

Chapter 180 - 180 - Could Not Be Contacted

After a while Jo Yeon Ho had finished wearing his clothes neatly. Accompanied by Eun Hee, the boy walked down the stairs.

"Father, Grandma, I'm ready," Jo Yeon Ho said with a happy face. He was currently wearing his school uniform neatly with a bow tie hanging around his neck.

"Wow, grandmother's grandson is very handsome," Mrs. Park said enthusiastically got up from his seat to approach his favorite grandson.

"Of course, it's because I'm like my handsome dad," Jo Yeon Ho said cheerfully.

"Yeon Ho, your father is not handsome. Still much more handsome uncle than your father," Park Soo Hyun said confidently while glancing at his brother. Didn't know since when he was standing with them.

"Of course father is more handsome, because father already have me. Meanwhile, you don't even have a lover," Jo Yeon Ho said while sticking out his tongue.

"You are very naughty huh." Park Soo Hyun chased after Jo Yeon Ho wanting to pinch his cheeks that were like buns. But Jo Yeon Ho hide behind her grandmother's back.

"Park Soo Hyun, stop it! Later you can make my grandson's neat hair a mess," Mrs. Park said while glaring at her son.

Dae Hyun didn't really listen to their conversation because he was still busy trying to contact Aeri. If it weren't for his son he wouldn't have bothered to contact her.

"Park Soo Hyun, but it's true what Jo Yeon Ho said. When are you going to tell Soo Yin your feelings?" Mrs. Park couldn't wait because Park Soo Hyun put it off for too long.

Dae Hyun, who was fiddling with his cellphone, stopped his activities when he heard his mother's statement. Now his expression was flat with a stiff jaw.

"Mother, be patient for a moment. Right now Soo Yin is busy with her college affairs. I don't want to disturb her concentration on studying because entering medical school must be very hard," Park Soo Hyun said while sighing softly. Actually, his heart was also impatient to wait, but whatever his power could not do much.

"Really, she entered medical school?" Mrs. Park asked, she was flabbergasted.

"Yes, Mom. So don't bother her first," Dae Hyun said quickly to blocked Park Soo Hyun who was just about to open his mouth.

"If she goes to college, will she still work at our hotel?" Mrs. Park asked curiously.

"Of course, she will work if there is no class schedule," Dae Hyun said. He can already guess that if the answer was no then it was likely that his mother will tell Park Soo Hyun to appoint Soo Yin as his secretary.

"Why don't you just find a new one? Let Soo Yin help your brother so that their relationship becomes closer," Mrs. Park persuaded with great hope.

"No." That was the short answer that Dae Hyun's lips uttered with great emphasis. It turned out to be just as he thought.

Mrs. Park snorted at Dae Hyun's undeniable answer because it was very difficult to persuade her first child who was very stubborn.

"Jo Yeon Ho, let's go now," Dae Hyun asked while looking at the watch on his wrist which was already nine o'clock.

"Then, what about mother?" Jo Yeon Ho said as he pursed his lips forward.

"Let your mother catch up later," Dae Hyun said as he took his son's hand.

"Park Soo Hyun, you should go to work right now. As the leader you have to come early. Don't teach employees something that is not good." Dae Hyun glared at his younger brother. Based on information from Chang Yuan, Park Soo Hyun often came late since Soo Yin didn't come to work.

"I'll be leaving soon," Park Soo Hyun said defensively.

"Your brother was right. You have to work hard so that Soo Yin will be more attracted to you because a hardworking girl will choose a hard worker too to be her life companion," Mrs. Park suggested.

"But I'm really not excited if there is no Soo Yin," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Hurry up and go, now it's daytime! Don't let the work I gave you neglect," Dae Hyun said with a slightly raised tone.

"All right, you are very talkative," Park Soo Hyun grumbled.

After saying goodbye, Dae Hyun immediately took Jo Yeon Ho to go to school.

The atmosphere of the school where Jo Yeon Ho studied was getting busy with the arrival of parents and students. As far as the eye can see, most of the students have come together with their father and mother. This made Jo Yeon Ho felt insecure when he saw his friends come hand in hand with their father and mother by their side.

"Dad, when are mother coming?" Jo Yeon Ho said while looking up at his father. This has been the umpteenth time Jo Yeon Ho has asked his mother since his trip. Until Dae Hyun was at a loss for words to answer.

"Maybe in a moment. Maybe your mother wanted to surprise you." Dae Hyun was still trying to convince Jo Yeon Ho that Aeri will come even though he was not sure about it either.

"Look, my friends are taking pictures with their families," Jo Yeon Ho said while pointing at the photo taking area. There were many of his friends who took turns taking photos with them.

Dae Hyun looked at the area his son was pointing at. In half an hour the program will start so there may still be some time. Dae Hyun suddenly thought of something.

"What if daddy asks someone to replace your mother?" Dae Hyun said while squatting down.

"Who is it?" Jo Yeon Ho asked with a frown.

"I'm sure you like her too because you've met so many times," Dae Hyun said with a smile.

"But I want my mother here." Jo Yeon Ho lowered his head, his face dimmed again.

"This is just in case if your mother doesn't come," Dae Hyun persuaded.

"Alright," Jo Yeon Ho said with his face still bent.
