

"Okay, if you ask me to leave maybe tomorrow morning I'll just go home." Dae Hyun then stepped out of the greenhouse. He was deliberately threatening his wife but Soo Yin didn't seem to care. Even though Dae Hyun hoped that Soo Yin would forbid him to go.

Soo Yin just shook her head seeing her husband sulking but was reluctant to call him. It was not appropriate for a grown man like Dae Hyun to sulk over trivial matters.

"Why did father leave?" asked Jo Yeon Ho.

"Your father has business outside for a while. If you are tired, let's go back home," said Soo Yin.

"Or do you want to go out? To the supermarket or to the park ... maybe?" Soo Yin continued. Afraid that Jo Yeon Ho will feel bored because they'd always stayed at home this week.

Today Yeon Ho was off from school so he can relax.

"Hmm, I wanna go wherever," said Jo Yeon Ho with a shining face.

Soo Yin then took Yeon Ho's hand to enter the house. They didn't look like mother and daughter because they were only 12 years apart. More like siblings.

Aunt Xia had been watching Soo Yin with Yeon Ho from the kitchen. She thought Soo Yin would be nice to Yeon Ho only when Dae Hyun was around but unexpectedly her attitude didn't change at all.

Aunt Xia was touched that a childish person like Soo Yin could act so mature in front of her stepson.

After getting ready, Soo Yin immediately asked Yeon Ho to say goodbye to Aunt Xia. Soo Yin only wore long pants and a white short t-shirt. Her hair was tied like a ponytail.

"Wouldn't Auntie come with us?" Soo Yin said. Seemed like going out in groups would be fun.

"No, you two should go alone. Auntie has work to do," Aunt Xia said gently. She didn't want to disturb the mother-son togetherness so that they would be more close to each other.

"Okay then we gotta go now," said Soo Yin.

"Be careful at home, Grandma," said Jo Yeon Ho while waving his hand at Aunt Xia as he walked away.

Soo Yin asked Chung Ho to take them according to her husband's orders. Because Dae Hyun didn't allow her to take a taxi.

They first stopped by the supermarket to buy some snacks that they would take to the park. It turned out that Jo Yeon Ho asked to go to Namsan Park.

With Chung Ho, Soo Yin didn't have to worry if there were criminals who wanted to kidnap Yeon Ho like before. They entered the supermarket at the end of the road not far from Namsan Park.

"Buy whatever you want," Soo Yin said to Yeon Ho.

Yeon Ho nodded his head with a sparkling face. He felt very happy with Soo Yin because he could choose the food he wanted at will. Very different from being with Aeri. He must obey and should not eat haphazardly. Yeon Ho can only eat healthy snacks.

Yeon Ho was not allowed by Aeri to eat snacks sold at random places.

Namsan Park,

Soo Yin held Yeon Ho's wrist as they walked to enjoy the beauty of the garden in the not-too-hot weather. They sat under a ginkgo tree on a long bench to rest after a few rounds of touring.

The current atmosphere was quite crowded because many parents brought their children with them. Just to have a picnic together.

Yeon Ho's face had always smiled when he met some of his school friends who happened to be there.

Soo Yin still clearly remembered the first time she came to the park, she didn't accept Yeon Ho as her son at that time and was often jealous that Dae Hyun was closer to her son than her.

Unlike now, Soo Yin had really accepted Yeon Ho.

"Yeon Ho, why do you like this place so much?" Soo Yin asked to open the conversation so that it wouldn't be too quiet.

"I don't know but I really like this place," Yeon Ho said innocently.

Soo Yin continued to invite Yeon Ho to talk about things that can bring them closer. They laughed together when there was something funny.

From a distance there was a girl who immediately clenched her fists when she saw Soo Yin laughing with a small child. Several times failing to teach her made her even more angry. She then approached Soo Yin and Jo Yeon Ho.

"Wow, it turns out there is a child kidnapper here?" quipped Li Sa without further ado. Her eyes looked at Soo Yin with hateful eyes. Last time, she wanted to reply to Soo Yin in college but until now she hadn't had the chance.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes. If Li Sa was there, there would definitely be a commotion.

"Yeon Ho, why are you here with her?" said Li Sa who spoke very sweetly to Yeon Ho.

"Li Sa, if you want to make a fuss you better get out of here and don't disturb us," said Soo Yin fearlessly at Li Sa. She had known Li Sa's rottenness for a long time when she met her.

"It seems that now you are not only serving as a mistress but also a nanny," sneered Li Sa as she looked at her sarcastically.

Soo Yin took a deep breath as she rubbed her chest, trying to calm down.

"Yeon Ho, we should just leave here," said Soo Yin as she stood up and took Jo Yeon Ho's hand. Walked up to a few steps to go.

"Yeon Ho, you shouldn't be with her. She's a very bad woman," Li Sa snapped before Soo Yin fled her sight.

"She's my mother, she's not a bad person," said Jo Yeon Ho who turned coldly to Li Sa. He was standing in front of Soo Yin with both arms outstretched.

"Oh my, it turns out that this child has also poisoned his mind with your rotten mind." Li Sa huffed in annoyance as she spread her arms around her waist.. Didn't think that Soo Yin had deceived so many people.
