

In order to comply with Hae Sok's request, Soo Yin finally agreed to stay a few more nights at the UN Village. Although her heart was a little tormented because she was treated so coldly from her two in-laws. But it didn't matter as long as Hae Sok was willing to accept her.

Soo Yin rolled up her hair in a towel after she finished bathing. Then sat in front of the mirror. There was a feeling of boredom because she can't go anywhere. She just stayed in her room unless Yeon Ho invited her to play outside.

Knock... knock...

There was a soft knock on the door.

"May I come in?" Dae Hyun said.

Soo Yin turned towards the door. She wanted to say 'yes' but she cancelled her intention. Mrs. Park didn't allow Dae Hyun to enter Soo Yin's room with the excuse of protecting Jo Yeon Ho's feelings.

There were silence for a moment until the door creaked open. Dae Hyun came in with a sparkling face.

"What are you coming here for? What if Yeon Ho knows that you're not by his side?" Soo Yin said worriedly.

"No need to be afraid. Yeon Ho is sleeping soundly in his room," said Dae Hyun then stepped his feet closer to Soo Yin.

"Is there something that brought you here?" Soo Yin knitted her brows as she looked at Dae Hyun from the mirror reflection.

"Is there should be something when I wanted to visit my wife?" Dae Hyun then wrapped his arms around Soo Yin's neck. He missed her because these few days he can not touch her.

"No, but it's still dark. Why are you up at this early hour?"

"I can't sleep. That's why I came here." Dae Hyun hid his head in his wife's recess. During this time he slept with Yeon Ho and Aeri in the upstairs room.

"Why is that? Usually you always sleep soundly when you're next to your son?"

"It's different now. Then why did you take a shower so early? It's still so cold." Dae Hyun glanced at the clock which was still showing four in the morning.

"When I'm here I can't sleep. I always woke up very early to take a shower." Soo Yin let out a long sigh, even last night she couldn't sleep.

"Do you want to go home?"

"Wait for grandma to come home first. Isn't grandma back to Busan tomorrow?"

"Sorry, if grandma is too pushy for you to stay here." Dae Hyun tightly wrapped his arms around Soo Yin's neck while leaning his shoulder on her shoulder.

"It's okay. After all, Grandma is very kind to me. Now go back to Yeon Ho's room. Don't let him wake up and looking for you but you weren't there," said Soo Yin. Although there was a little jealousy because Aeri also slept with them. But Soo Yin didn't want to express her jealousy.

"You don't miss me?" Dae Hyun looked into Soo Yin's eyes from the reflection of the mirror that looked shady.

"What do you think?" Soo Yin asked back with a puzzled look.

"Tell me what's bothering you? Did you think about me while I'm sleeping with Yeon Ho?" Dae Hyun insisted, he already knew very well how his wife's face looked when she was jealous.

Soo Yin pursed her lips. It turned out that it was not easy to act in order to act normal and hide her feelings.

Dae Hyun then turned to squat in front of Soo Yin. Then took her hands, kissing them in turn. After that, he lifted her face.

"Do you doubt if I don't touch Aeri at all?"

"A little, after all, you are normal humans who are still married. If you want to touch each other, it doesn't seem like a problem," said Soo Yin nervously.

"I am a normal human being, but I will not betray the trust you have given me. Even though we are still married, I always think that we are divorced. After all, how could I touch another woman when my very sweet wife sleeps alone in this room," said Dae Hyun while chuckling amused. He wasn't angry at all even though Soo Yin had thought badly about him. Because it was very reasonable.

Soo Yin's cheeks immediately turned red. It turned out that what she thought was not true. Even though most of the night she always imagined Dae Hyun doing the same thing with Aeri as when he was with her.

"Don't frown anymore. I don't like seeing you frown like that." Dae Hyun then stood up and lifted Soo Yin's body.

Soo Yin just kept quiet, hiding her head in Dae Hyun's chest because she was embarrassed for thinking something bad about her husband.

Dae Hyun laid Soo Yin's body on the bed and locked her small body. She looked deep into his eyes.

"Go away, if mother found out you were here, she would be very angry." Soo Yin shooed him away.

"Let her be because I still want to be here with you. How can a husband and wife be forced to sleep in different rooms," Dae Hyun whispered right in front of Soo Yin's face.

Soo Yin's heart was racing so fast, feeling the rush of Dae Hyun's breath.

"Are you still nervous? Even though we've done it many times," Dae Hyun said while smiling. Without asking her permission, his hand had pulled the bathrobe that Soo Yin was wearing.

Soo Yin hastily held Dae Hyun's wrist while shaking her head slowly. She was very worried that someone was knocking on the door.

"No need to worry. It's still too early so everyone is still fast asleep."

"But ...."

"Honey, do you really have the heart to torture me like this?" Dae Hyun looked at Soo Yin with already misty eyes. Being around Soo Yin made his desire always unbearable.

Soo Yin let out a long sigh before finally nodding her head. If it was like that even though she refused, Dae Hyun will still force her.

Dae Hyun smiled until his hands untied Soo Yin's bathrobe. Then uncovered her top. He can see two plump objects without being wrapped in anything.

Soo Yin immediately covered her chest with both of her hands. But Dae Hyun gently pushed his hand away to shift.

Dae Hyun then crushed Soo Yin's lips with his hands that kept on touching on the two fruits that had red shoots. Twisted and played it until Soo Yin's body rolled.

The heat immediately spread on Soo Yin's body due to Dae Hyun's hand playing in her sensitive area. Her sigh was muffled because Dae Hyun's lips continued to explore every corner of her mouth. Her hands continued to squeeze the sheet when she reached her first release.

Dae Hyun didn't allow Soo Yin to rest until he immediately stabbed Soo Yin's core until she moaned with her eyes closed.

They continued to do so until six in the morning. Dae Hyun really didn't want to waste the chance like he didn't feel tired at all.

"Honey, thank you for this beautiful morning.." Dae Hyun kissed Soo Yin's forehead before finally lying down beside her.