

She Got A Better Man 201-210

"I'll listen to you. It's almost time. I'll leave the Miles family a way out Zach would listen to his wife. He believed his wife had her reasons for doing it.

"Thank you. Honey. You're so nice." Elvira happily leaned over and kissed him.

"Just have more." Zach fed her a freshly peeled prawn.

The couple finished their meal lovingly. Elvira loved her current life so much. She looked at the handsome man beside her and swore she would do her best to protect her current happy life.

Liam didn't dare to stay in the hospital. Many things were waiting for him to deal with in the company. After he called Elvira, he finally received no more calls from clients requesting to terminate the contract in the afternoon. He finally heaved a sigh of relief. He asked his secretary to check how many clients were left. The secretary checked and said that there was still 20% left.

When Liam heard this, he felt his heart ache. He was a workaholic, and work was his life. Now that his career, which he cared about the most, had suddenly become like this, he could not accept it.

However, he had to accept it even if he couldn't. He had to quickly adjust the company's business section and run his existing business.

After this incident, the Miles family could no longer return to the glorious era of the past. He deducted Rowena and Sandy's allowance from 20 thousand dollars to 4,000 dollars a month as a punishment. He even stopped the unlimited credit cards he gave them.

Rowena and Sandy were used to spending money extravagantly. Now that they only had 4,000 dollars a month, they felt very uncomfortable, especially Sandy.

Rowena could only give Sandy all her money and leave only 500 to 600 dollars for her living expenses. She couldn't afford to go to the beauty salon anymore, so she could only stay home.

Sandy also felt embarrassed and unwilling to go out now. She pushed all the responsibility to Elvira and kept saying bad things about Elvira to Rowena, saying it was Elvira's fault that they were in such a miserable state.

She said Elvira caused them to have no money to spend and her father's company to plummet, causing her father to be so angry that he fell sick.

Rowena felt that she was not in the wrong, to begin with. Now that Sandy had been fanning the flames, she thought it was all Elvira's fault. The resentment in her heart toward Elvira deepened.

Before Morris started his work, he asked Elvira to help look after Vivian. Elvira had also been paying attention to Vivian's situation.

Her bodyguards also reported to her at all times. Vivian was very quiet. She rarely went out. Whenever she needed something, she would also buy it online.

Elvira took the opportunity to visit Vivian. When Vivian saw it was her, she opened the door. When Elvira saw Vivian, Elvira was shocked. Vivian was thin, to begin with, and now that she had lost more weight, she looked haggard.

"Are you sick? How did you lose so much weight?" Elvira regretted she was so busy that she did not even visit Vivian after sending her here.

"No, I just don't feel like eating. I'm full after eating some vegetables every day. I'm fine," Vivian said with a smile. She didn't want others to worry about her.

Elvira frowned at her and felt that something was wrong. She said, "Go wash up. I'll take you out."

"Where are we going?" Vivian asked.

"Hospital." Elvira felt that Vivian was sick and that it was a severe illness. Thinking about her previous encounters, Elvira thought a regular person couldn't last until now.

She felt she was so careless that she thought Vivian would be fine

Vivian wanted to refuse, but looking at Elvira's determined expression, she didn't want to trouble Elvira anymore. So she obediently changed her clothes and followed Elvira to the hospital.

Elvira found Olivia and cut the line to find the best psychiatrist in the hospital to treat Vivian.

After she lost her child, Olivia had been working even harder. She wished she could stay in the hospital 24/7 and not go home.

Elvira repeatedly advised her to move on because her health was the most important. Olivia said that she had already thought it through. She just wanted a divorce.

No matter what, Samson did not agree to a divorce. Now, he was also treating her well in various ways. Olivia was a soft-hearted person. After this time, her thoughts of a divorce had wavered, and she had not mentioned a divorce for the time being. Samson was also quite ruthless. As long as Olivia did not go home at night, he would come to the hospital to accompany her. His persistent and pitiful look made Olivia feel a little sorry.

The psychiatrist chatted with Vivian for two hours and even hypnotized her. In the end, the doctor confirmed that Vivian was suffering from severe depression.

Elvira was not surprised to know this result. Vivian's encounter was too tragic. She probably only lived until now because of Morris.

In the past, Morris could only live if she was alive. Now, it was the moment when she wanted to see Morris reach the peak, so she did not have the thought of committing suicide for the time being.

If Morris were successful now, she would probably choose to leave this world.

Elvira set a strict treatment procedure for Vivian and asked the doctor to bring her medicine. She reminded Vivian to take it on time and come for treatment on time.

Vivian knew that Elvira was concerned about her. She smiled gently and said that she would.

After informing Olivia, Elvira left the hospital with Vivian. When she reached the entrance, she bumped into Rowena, who had just walked in.

Rowena was here for a prenatal checkup today. At her age, she was already considered an elderly parturient woman. The doctor instructed her to be very careful and, most importantly, to have a scheduled prenatal checkup.

When Rowena saw Elvira, her eyes lit up. She had been worried that she would not see Elvira. She did not expect to meet Elvira here.

She immediately shouted, "Elvira, stop right there. I have something to tell you."

Elvira could not be bothered with her. She continued to walk out with Vivian, pretending not to see Rowena.

"Elvira, you're my biological daughter. How can you pretend you can't hear me when I'm calling you now? Do you still have me in your eyes?

Averna people value filial piety the most, you unfilial thing!" Rowena saw that Elvira was ignoring her, which provoked her fragile nerves. She pointed at Elvira and scolded her at the entrance of the hospital.

Elvira glanced at her sharply. Her eyes were filled with disgust and coldness. She told Vivian to go back to the car and wait for her.

Vivian held Elvira's hand worriedly. She said, "I'll stay with you."

"No need. Go and wait for me in the car. I'll be right there." Elvira did not intend to waste any more time with Rowena. However, since Rowena was determined to get herself into trouble, she did not want to let her off just like that. Otherwise, Rowena wouldn't take her words seriously.

Elvira walked toward Rowena. Her eyes were full of bone-chilling coldness and disgust. Rowena trembled in fear. She couldn't believe Elvira, her daughter, would look at her like this one day.

Elvira stood in front of Rowena. Then, she leaned forward and said something coldly in Rowena's ear.

She Got A Better Man

"Looks like you don't even want the remaining 20% of the Miles family's business. Since that's the case, I can fulfill your wish and make the Miles family go bankrupt." Elvira's voice was cold and heartless. It sounded like a ghost in Rowena's ears. "You..." Rowena's eyes widened in shock as she looked in disbelief at her familiar yet unfamiliar daughter,

Elvira grabbed her and sneered. "If you don't keep your promise in the future and try to make your presence known in front of me again, I'll make the Miles family bankrupt in a day. If you don't believe me, you can try"

When Rowena heard Elvira's threat, her heart beat faster, and her expression turned exceptionally dark. Seeing that her threat had worked, Elvira didn't want to be bothered with her anymore. She turned around and was about to leave.

Rowena suddenly felt a pain in her stomach. She held her abdomen and slowly lowered her body. "My child, my child, Elvira, my child."

Elvira wanted to ignore Rowena, but someone suddenly said something about a miscarriage. She turned around and saw Rowena clutching her stomach in pain. Her pupils constricted slightly. Elvira walked backward in disbelief and asked, "Don't tell me you're pregnant." "I'm pregnant. Please save my baby. Save him." Rowena clutched her abdomen tightly.

Elvira didn't dare to be careless anymore. She quickly got the bodyguards to carry Rowena to the emergency room. She called Olivia and asked her to help find someone to give Rowena first aid.

She had severed her mother-daughter relationship with Rowena. She did not want to have anything to do with that idiotic woman anymore, but she did not want to see a life disappear in front of her. Olivia pulled their director over and they rushed into the emergency room.

After more than an hour of various resuscitation, Rowena's child still could not be saved.

When Elvira learned of this result, she was also very regretful. When Rowena woke up, she began to go crazy. She pointed at Elvira and scolded her for causing the death of her child.

Elvira frowned and looked at the woman who had gone crazy because of the loss of her child. She was speechless. 'If she lost her child just because I said a few harsh words, could she keep her child until the birth?'

No matter what Elvira thought, Rowena blamed Elvira for the miscarriage. She felt that if Elvira had not deliberately provoked her and agitated her, she would not have miscarried and lost her child.

She felt everything was Elvira's fault.

Rowena was cursing Elvira, her biological daughter, like a lunatic. Her words were as vicious as they could be.

After the Miles family people arrived, Liam and Sandy finally calmed Rowena down with some effort. Liam hugged her and patiently comforted her. Sandy walked to Elvira and said coldly, "You're a jinx. Rowena only met you once, and you caused her child to die. Tell me, how do you plan to compensate?" Elvira frowned at her

"You killed someone else's child. Don't tell me you want to let it go just like that. Besides, haven't you already cut ties with Rowena?"

"Since you're not related anymore, you have to compensate for killing someone else's child." Sandy crossed her arms and looked arrogant. 10:02 Mon, Dec 9

"Sandy, stop talking. Ms. Willis, hurry up and leave." Liam also chased Elvira away with a cold expression.

Elvira and Rowena had already cut ties. She did not want to take the blame. Just as she was about to say something, Olivia gestured for her to leave.

Only then did Elvira leave. Olivia brought Elvira to see the director of her department. The director held Rowena's examination report and said, "Her miscarriage was caused by medicine. She probably used the abortion medicine. Does she not want this child?" Elvira thought about it and said, "I think Rowena doesn't seem like she doesn't want this child."

"Then what's going on? I've already sent someone to do a test. In my experience, she used abortion medicine," the director said seriously.

Elvira thanked the director. The director had something to do, so she left first. She only performed surgery on Rowena because Olivia had asked her to help. Otherwise, she wouldn't have the time to come to the emergency department.

"What do you think is going on? Is your mother using her child to frame you? Or is she like Judy, who knew that the child was not going to survive and deliberately framed you for the miscarriage?" Olivia asked with a frown.

Elvira carefully recalled Rowena's reaction and said, "I think Rowena wants this child. From the way she's in pain, it doesn't seem fake. Moreover, Rowena has a love-struck mind. She loves her first love very much. She won't want to abort this child herself."

"Now that you've put it this way, things are getting interesting. She did not take it on her own accord, and her body does contain the ingredients of the abortion drug.

"Who did not want her child to be born?" Olivia suddenly gloated. She had seen how Rowena treated Elvira and her brother, so she did not have a good impression of Rowena.

She now believed in retribution. 'Rowena has abandoned her biological children and treated other people's children as if they were her biological kids.

'She has done such a thing that went against nature. Now, she finally got her retribution. Oh, it's so satisfying,' Olivia thought. "We'll know after we check it out. Please help me do the test. I want the results." Elvira was also looking forward to it. She wanted to know who didn't want Rowena to give birth to this child.

"No problem. Wait for my good news." Olivia gestured to her and happily went to do it.

Elvira didn't want to go back and see Rowena go crazy again. She had a clear conscience, so she returned to the company first.

The test results came out quickly, and it was determined that Rowena's pregnancy contained abortion drugs, which was the main cause of Rowena's miscarriage.

After Elvira received this result, she immediately went to look for Zach. Zach was marking documents. When he saw her come in, he put down the pen in his hand and stood up to walk toward her, hugging her in his arms.

Zach kissed his wife and sat on the sofa with her in his arms. He felt that his decision to move his wife's company to his company building was wise. Now, he could see his wife immediately if he wanted to, and she could also find him immediately.

Elvira told him what had happened that day. At the same time, she showed the test report to Zach. She said, "Help me check Liam and Sandy's recent whereabouts. Find out which of them bought abortion medicine."

"Alright, leave it to me." Zach was naturally duty-bound to his wife's orders. Moreover, he was very willing to work for his wife.

Elvira kissed Zach's sexy lips as a reward. "Thank you. Honey."

"If you want to thank me, do it practically. A kiss is not enough, Zach said as he carried Elvira to the lounge.

Zach was very efficient. He found out that a servant of the Miles family had prescribed abortion medicine in the hospital the day after Rowena found out that she was pregnant.

He handed over the surveillance footage and purchase receipt to Elvira.

Elvira's phone rang. She picked it up and it was the crazy Rower. Her sharp voice made one's head hurt. Elvira quickly moved the phone away to prevent her ears from suffering.

"Elvira, you vicious woman. You killed your brother. You're simply inhumane. I'll make you pay with your life. I'll make you pay with your life for my child," Rowena screamed.

Elvira was a little speechless. After Rowena screamed, Liam snatched the phone and apologized to Elvira. He said that Rowena had been seriously agitated this time and asked her to forgive them. "The three of you are at home, right? I have something to tell you guys." Elvira felt she'd better resolve the matter as soon as possible. She was not interested in being the scapegoat. "We're at home. What are you talking to us about?" Liam asked in confusion.

"You'll know when I get there. Don't let your daughter go out," said Elvira as she brought her bodyguards to the Miles family's residence.

After Liam put down the phone, Rowena questioned him agitatedly, "Why didn't you let me scold her? She killed our child. It's her. She's the murderer."

"Elvira said that she would come over in a while. Let's see what she has to say when she comes." Liam comforted Rowena's uncontrollable emotions.

The company's business had plummeted recently, so he didn't have many things to do at the company. In addition, Rowena was traumatized because of the miscarriage.

It caused her to have a mental breakdown. As her husband, he could only accompany her more at this time.

No matter how noisy Rowena was, Sandy stayed in her room and did not show her face.

Half an hour later, Elvira arrived at the Miles family's residence. After she entered, the servant went to invite Liam and Rowena downstairs.

Elvira's gaze swept across the servants on the first floor. There were only two of them, and the one who bought the medicine was one of them.

When Liam and Rowena heard that Elvira was there, Rowena rushed out like crazy, as if she wanted to fight Elvira to the death. Liam could not hold her back and could only follow her downstairs.

After the two of them went downstairs, Rowena looked around. In the end, she rushed into the kitchen and took out a kitchen knife to kill Elvira. Liam wanted to stop her, but she waved him away with the knife. Elvira just looked at the crazy woman coldly and sat there without moving. In the end, Rowena was stopped by the bodyguards, who took the knife from her hand.

When the servant who bought the medicine saw the mess on the first floor, she quietly went to the second floor to call Sandy.

When Sandy heard about the exciting incident downstairs, she immediately went downstairs excitedly to watch the commotion.

Rowena pointed at Elvira and scolded, "Elvira, why don't you die Why did you kill my son? I want you to pay today."

life

When Sandy went downstairs, everyone could see the excitement in her eyes. Liam pulled Rowena and looked at Elvira with dissatisfaction. He said, "Ms. Willis, our Miles family is already in this state. Are you here to laugh at us?" Liam also blamed Elvira for Rowena's miscarriage. In addition, his company was almost closed down because of Zach. Naturally, he hated Elvira, even if all of this happened because of his wife and daughter.

"I don't have the time to watch the show. I'm here to let Rowena know the truth." Elvira still did not know who had drugged Rowena, but she thought that the truth would be revealed soon.

Elvira looked at the weak Rowena and raised her head to signal the bodyguard to hand over what she had found.

Rowena did not want to look at anything that Elvira handed over. She raised her hand and was about to knock it away when the bodyguard handed it to Liam.

Liam frowned as he looked at the pile of documents handed over by the bodyguard. After looking at it for a while, he confirmed that Rowena had miscarried because of the abortion medicine. He was in disbelief. "This... This..." Sandy also came over at this moment. Her pupils constricted when she saw these proofs, but she immediately regained her composure.

"Elvira, what are you doing now? Are you not going to give up until you destroy my family? Why are you so vicious? I would not have given birth to you if I had known earlier.

"Even if I had given birth to you, I would have strangled you to death immediately." The hatred in Rowena's eyes was almost tangible.

Rowena's words would have hurt Elvira badly if it were the previous herself. However, the current Elvira only hated Rowena and would not be hurt by her words.

"What's going on? Ms. Willis, make it clear." Liam frowned and questioned.

Elvira did not want to know if Liam's acting skills were too good or if he did not do it. She gestured for the bodyguard to explain the situation. She could not be bothered to say anything to this family now.

"The reason for Ms. Smart's miscarriage was not because she was agitated, but because she had taken the abortion medicine. "Someone had given her the abortion medicine without her knowledge, and the person who bought the abortion medicine was your servant." The bodyguard took out a screenshot of the servant going to the hospital to prescribe the abortion medicine.

The servant, who had planned to escape when she saw that the situation was not good, was escorted back by the bodyguards.

Liam was even more stunned, and so was Rowena. She screamed, "It's impossible, Elvira. Don't even think about shirking your responsibility."

"Mrs. Gilbert didn't do anything wrong at all. How can she shirk responsibility? Ms. Smart, you should wake up and find out who secretly added abortion medicine to your diet. They want you to abort the child unknowingly, the bodyguard scolded coldly. Rowena looked at the cold Elvira, then at Liam and Sandy. Finally, her gaze landed on the face of the servant who bought the abortion medicine.

She rushed toward the servant like a lunatic and raised her hand to slap her twice. She was still angry after that, so she slapped her twice again. As she slapped her, she shouted and questioned, "Why did you harm my child? Why?"

Liam found it hard to believe as well. He frowned and looked at his daughter in the end. Sandy was avoiding his gaze. How could Liam still not understand when he saw that?

He realized his daughter had instructed someone to do this. Otherwise, how could a servant in the family have the guts to harm others?

"Rowena, I'm sorry. I asked her to do it." Liam could only grit his teeth and take the blame for family harmony. This was because he knew very well that Rowena loved him deeply. She would forgive him no matter what he did, but not his daughter. Therefore, for his family to continue living in harmony in the future, he could only admit it first and think of a way to make up for and comfort Rowena later.

When Rowena heard this, she could not believe her ears. She looked in shock at the man who spoke and couldn't say anything after a long time.

Then, she said, "Why... Why did you do this? It is our child, the fruit of our love I've been looking forward to for more than ten years."

Elvira almost vomited when she heard that. 'Rowena is indeed a helpless romantic woman. She's already 50, yet she still calls it the fruit of their love. She's indeed hopeless.

She Got A Better Man

"Rowena, listen to my explanation. I'm doing this for your health. I've asked the doctor. You're no longer young. There's a certain danger in giving birth now.

"It's enough for me to have you. There's no need to have another child," Liam explained. He had an affectionate expression on his face.

"Why would you give her an abortion drug if you care about her health? Don't you know that if the drug suddenly takes effect when she's halfway there, it won't be as simple as a miscarriage? She might lose her life." Elvira added in amusement. Rowena felt touched when she heard Liam's words. But when she heard Elvira's words, her body froze. That was because Elvira was right. If he gave her abortion medicine without her knowing, she would die at her age if it suddenly took effect on the way. "No, it won't happen. I'll always follow you. I won't let anything happen to you." Liam's eyes and tone were very affectionate, but his words were not to be trusted.

"But you weren't there when she miscarried," Elvira added.

Rowena also thought of this. There was disappointment in her eyes, but more than that, it was love for Liam.

"Liam, Liam is just temporarily busy." Sure enough, Rowena started to find excuses for Liam.

Liam heaved a sigh of relief when he saw her like this. He walked over and hugged Rowena. Then, he kissed her forehead. "Rowena, please believe me. I love you. No matter what I do, I'm doing it for our good. I'll be with you forever." "Liam, I believe you." Rowena was extremely touched.

Elvira almost vomited from these two people's disgusting words.

"Let her tell the truth." Elvira couldn't be bothered to look at her helpless and romantic mother anymore. She ordered the bodyguards coldly.

The bodyguard kicked the servant's knee and made her kneel. He threatened, "You'd better tell the truth now. I've investigated your family's situation. If you want your family implicated, you can try lying."

The servant originally thought that since Liam had already confessed to the crime, she would say Liam had instructed her.

At that time, Sandy would protect her. However, she didn't expect these people to use her family to threaten her. She was afraid.

"You're forcing her to confess to false charges under torture!" Sandy immediately shouted.

"Ms. Willis, this is the Miles family's affairs. Please don't interfere anymore." Liam also frowned and looked at Elvira with a warning look.

How could he threaten Elvira successfully? She sneered and asked, "Who did I hit? Your Miles family is interesting.

"Not only are you experts at brainwashing, but you can also lie through your teeth now. I can't be bothered with the Miles family's matters, but don't think about making me take the blame now."

"Didn't I already admit that Rowena had a miscarriage because of me? What else do you want?" Liam was a little anxious when he saw how stubborn Elvira was.

He was afraid Elvira would reveal the truth. If Rowena knew the truth and refused to forgive his daughter, his family would be in chaos. It would be difficult for him at that time, and his good days would also end. Chapter 204

"I don't want to do anything I only want to know the truth. If you don't tell the truth, your family can forget about living a good life." Elvira turned around and threatened the maid.

This time, the maid was afraid for real. She knew who Elvira was. She knew Elvira was the wife of the CEO of Gilbert Group. Just by looking at Elvira's aura, the maid knew she could not afford to offend her.

"I'll say it, I'll say it. It's not Mr. Miles who asked me to buy the abortion medicine. It's Miss Miles. It's all Miss Miles's order.

"She asked me to buy the abortion medicine and add a small amount of it to Mrs. Miles's daily consumption of luxurious collagen broth.

"She wanted Mrs. Miles to lose her child." The maid was frightened by Elvira and the bodyguards and immediately confessed everything.

"You're spouting nonsense. The Miles family has treated you well. How dare you slander us?" Liam was instantly anxious. He pointed at the maid's nose and scolded.

"That's right. Why would I frame Rowena's child? You're good at spouting nonsense. What benefits did Elvira give you to make you betray your employer and slander me?" Sandy sneered fearlessly.

"My evidence. The chat records with Miss Miles are all on my phone. If you don't believe me, you can go and take a look." The maid was also anxious. Sandy told her to do this on WhatsApp. These records were all there. She couldn't fake it. 'She even said that I knew Elvira. How is it possible that I know her? I had never met her before, the maid thought.

Liam's face turned red. He wanted to say something but felt no point in saying anything now. With the evidence, it was useless no matter what he said.

Right now, Rowena was the most confused. She looked around as if she still didn't know what had happened. Finally, her gaze landed on the maid's face. "Bring me the chat records you mentioned."

The maid was released and immediately went to take out her phone.

"There's no need to look. I did it. I instigated everything." Sandy saw that she could not hide it anymore, so she decided not to. She looked at Rowena indifferently.

pass. Liam was shocked when his daughter admitted it herself. He secretly scolded his daughter for being too stupid. If she denied it, she could quibble even if Elvira had evidence. He would comfort Rowena a little more, and this matter would Now that she had admitted it herself, it was all over.

As expected, Rowena was completely stunned. She stared at the stepdaughter in front of her whom she treated as her biological daughter, or even better than her biological daughter. She was completely dumbfounded. "Why? Why are you doing this? Don't I treat you well enough? I'm willing to sacrifice my daughter for you just for a man you like." Rowena suddenly calmed down. She looked at the girl she raised in front of her in disbelief.

"You treated me well? Who wants you to treat me as your biological daughter? I'm your stepdaughter, do you understand? "It's your wishful thinking to treat me as your biological daughter. Don't you know that I found you annoying?

"If it weren't for the sake of disgusting Elvira, do you think I would be willing to talk to a stepmother like you who threw yourself at me like a disgusting plaster?

"Also, do you still want to have a child? What's the point of having one? Are you trying to let him fight with my younger brother and me for the family assets?

"Let me tell you, don't even think about it. Everything i the Miles family belongs to me and my younger brother.

"Don't even think about having another child to fight with us siblings." Sandy stopped pretending and said all the words suppressed in her heart for the past few years in one go.

'A stepdaughter is a stepdaughter. Why should I be her biological daughter? This old woman is crazy, Sandy thought.

When Rowena heard Sandy's words, she could not process them. I had already treated her as if she was my biological daughter, but I was wrong? She killed my child because my child might share the family assets with her?'

She Got A Better Man

"Sandy, Shut up!" Liam couldn't stand it anymore and scolded his daughter angrily.

"Why are you shouting at me? I was telling the truth. You married a crazy woman to harm our family. Do you still think you're in the right? I have a mother.

"Who wants her to be my mother? I feel disgusted every day when I look at her. Isn't she tired of pretending to love me and my brother so much?

"If she loves my brother, why does she still want her child? I'm helping her fulfill her wish by aborting her child," Sandy said righteously. She did not feel that she had done anything wrong. When Rowena heard her words, she was so angry that she completely broke down. She never dreamed Sandy would hate her so much when she loved Sandy like her daughter.

She rushed over crazily and slapped Sandy twice. As she slapped her, she scolded, "You ingrate. You killed my child. I'll beat you to death."

treat her like this. However, she had to because

The two women fought together. Rowena had a miscarriage and was weak and old. Sandy, on the other hand, was powerful and young. In a few moments, Sandy pressed Rowena against the floor and rode on Rowena to fight. Rowena was beaten to the point where she could not retaliate. She subconsciously looked at Elvira, only to see Elvira sitting calmly on the sofa and looking at her.

There was mockery, laughter, and schadenfreude in Elvira's eyes. However, Elvira didn't have the slightest intention of feeling sorry or wanting to help.

Rowena felt her heart turn cold.

Liam was troubled by the two women. He immediately rushed over and hugged his daughter to stop her from hitting Rowena again.

He shouted at another servant to help. Only then did the servant react and quickly come over to pull Sandy. Sandy still felt that it was not enough. She raised her leg and kicked Rowena. Her scolding was also very unpleasant. "You bitch. If you hadn't interfered in my mother's marriage back then, my mother wouldn't have died of depression. I hate you so much, so how could I possibly acknowledge you as my mother?"

"Get out of my house now! Get lost!" Sandy shouted excitedly. She used so much strength that two people could not hold her back. It could be seen how much hatred and dissatisfaction she had in her heart.

Rowena looked at the woman in front of her who was scolding her with a ferocious expression. Her heart seemed to be bleeding.

After more than ten years of companionship, she treated Sandy as her biological daughter. Compared to Marcus, she loved Sandy more.

In the end, Sandy hated her. After knowing that she was pregnant, Sandy did not hesitate to drug her to kill her child. Rowena felt as if her world had collapsed.

Elvira had seen enough of the drama. She got up and prepared to leave. She didn't care what would happen to the Miles family and Rowena.

Rowena saw that Elvira was about to leave and immediately called out to her, "Elvira."

Elvira stopped in her tracks and turned to look at her in surprise. She smiled and said calmly, "Ms. Smart, let me remind you that we've already severed our mother-daughter relationship. Since I've already explained myself in this thing, please pretend you don't know me in the future."

Elvira said coldly and left quickly.

Elvira left, but the Miles family was in a mess. Rowena fainted because she could not withstand the stimulation. Liam quickly let go of Sandy to check on Rowena.

Sandy only glanced at Rowena coldly and did not care if she was in danger. She could not wait for Rowena to die. Sandy snorted and swaggered upstairs.

Liam quickly called for the driver to help him carry Rowena to the hospital.

On the way, before Rowena woke up, Liam received a call from Sandy. When she saw her disfigured face, she shouted on the phone, "Dad, go and divorce this old bitch now."

"Let me tell you, in the future, I won't stay in this family if she's here. If you still acknowledge Marcus and me, get this old woman out of my house."

Rowena happened to wake up at this moment. When she heard Sandy's words, she felt a mouthful of blood stuck in her chest, almost suffocating her to death.

She snatched the phone away angrily and roared, "You ingrate, murderer. If anyone should get lost, it should be you. Liam and I are husband and wife. You're the one who should get lost." Sandy laughed out loud when she heard that, so much so that tears fell from her eyes. "Hey, Rowena, you're so stupid. You my father now. If he has to choose one, will he choose you or us siblings? Aha."

Sandy laughed again and hung up.

When Rowena heard this, her heart turned cold. She looked at Liam nervously. "Liam, do... do you choose me or-"

"Rowena, I can't choose. I want both of you." Liam immediately interrupted her and tightened his grip on her.

Rowena looked at Liam, but he did not dare to look her in the eye. She suddenly had an idea. If he had to, he might choose his children instead of her.

'What about me?' Rowena thought.

Back then, she had chosen him without hesitation between her children and him.

After learning that he had lost his wife, she immediately abandoned her children and everything else to be with him.

She had looked after his children for him all these years, but in the end, Sandy was not grateful. Instead, Sandy mocked and beat her up and even killed her child.

Rowena's expression was dark. Her face was pale. She stared at the man and felt suffocated. She spat out a mouthful of blood and fainted again.

Liam panicked and hurriedly instructed the driver to drive faster

Elvira returned to the company and threw herself into work. Rowena was no longer worth her time. She wanted to save time for those she loved and those who loved her.

However, Elvira seemed to have thought of something. She picked up her phone and was about to call Liam again. Liam was guarding the unconscious Rowena. When he saw Elvira calling, he picked up without even looking at who it was. "Who is that? What's the matter?" Liam's tone was unpleasant.

"Mr. Miles, I'm Elvira. I'm calling to warn you that although I've cut ties with Rowena, I won't sit back and do nothing if you dare to bully her, be irresponsible to her, and want to dump her for your children. So, treat Rowena well in the future. Otherwise, the Miles family will go bankrupt," said Elvira.

The current Elvira was no longer the pitiful little girl from before. The words she said now were filled with dominance, and she was no longer afraid of many things.

Elvira didn't make this call because she still cared about Rowena. She only felt it was better that Rowena stayed in the Miles family and fought with Sandy. If Rowena got chased out of the Miles family, she would probably come to disgust her.

Moreover, she thought the Miles family would be more lively if Rowena stayed. She couldn't possibly let them kick Rowena out of the Miles family after she had sacrificed everything for the Miles family in the past ten years. It was better to let them be together and fight each other.

When Liam heard Elvira's threat, he felt like a mouthful of blood stuck in his chest. He was so angry that he almost vomited.

Liam looked at Rowena, who was still unconscious. Although he said he wanted both, he would choose his children without a doubt if his daughter forced him.

His children were his family who shared the same bloodline as him. But a woman was nothing to him.

Back then, Rowena was close to his biological son and daughter and distanced herself from her children. He had reminded her before. After all, he had truly loved Rowena and did not want her to regret it in the future. However, Rowena did not listen to him. She treated his children as her own and ignored her own.

Liam only felt a terrible headache. His company was already in danger and could no longer withstand any trouble. Therefore, he could only try hard to stabilize his wife and daughter.

When Rowena woke up, she cried, made a fuss, and laughed occasionally, which made Liam feel terrible. He could only constantly persuade her and comfort her, promising her that he would never leave her no matter what. He said he would be with her forever. Hearing Liam's promise and vows, Rowena felt a little better. She hugged him and cried nonstop.

Rowena even had the thought of suing Sandy for murder. This frightened Liam. If this matter reached the police station, his daughter would be sued and jailed for attempted murder. This time, he tried even harder to coax Rowena. He directly bowed to her and begged her. At last, Rowena could not bear to let her first love suffer, so she could only give up on suing Sandy.

After this incident, Rowena hated Sandy completely. She thought that Sandy was a heartless and ungrateful thing. The scene of a loving mother and filial child was destroyed. Rowena wished she could kill Sandy to avenge her child.

Liam wanted to separate Rowena from his daughter, so he suggested that Rowena stay in the hospital for some time to recuperate. Rowena refused to stay and insisted on going home.

Liam could only listen to her. He made an excuse to call Sandy, asking her to stay outside for a while or to go overseas to continue studying. In any case, he didn't want Sandy to see Rowena now. Sandy was even more determined not to listen. She said it was her home and wouldn't give it to Rowena.

Liam wanted to buy her a house and let her live outside, but she refused. No matter what he said, Sandy only said the same sentence. She said if someone should leave, it would be Rowena not her.

The two women had gone from loving each other to opposing each other. Liam felt a headache coming on. He could not think of a better solution at the moment.

Liam brought Rowena home in fear. As expected, when he entered, he saw his daughter sitting in the living room waiting. When she saw Rowena, she started scolding her.

Rowena had scratched Sandy's face, and Sandy was about to die from anger. Now that Rowena was back, she naturally would not let her off.

Rowena was even angrier. When she thought of her dead child, she wished she could eat Sandy's flesh and drink Sandy's blood.

Rowena, originally sickly, rushed over when she saw Sandy. No one could stop her. She and Sandy fought again. It felt like they would fight to the death.

When Liam went to stop the fight, he was scratched by two people. His face was scratched.

Elvira was in a good mood. Now that Rowena's matter was completely resolved, she had no regrets.

At night, Elvira and Zach returned to the Gilbert mansion to cat with Zach's grandmother. The two of them were deeply in love. Anyone could tell they were a loving couple living a good life. Recently, Skylar had been staying at the Gilbert mansion to accompany Alice. When she divorced Samuel, Benjamin had said he would treat her as his daughter and cut ties with his son in the future. Therefore, no one would object to Skylar living here.

After the meal, Elvira played with Alice. Alice looked a little unhappy. Elvira teased her with a small doll. She asked, "Alice, what's wrong? Did someone bully you?"

"Elvira, can you and Uncle Zach pretend to be my parents? The kindergarten children are laughing at me for not having parents. They're so bad," Alice said furiously.

Alice had already gone to kindergarten. It was Zach who found the best kindergarten for her. Elvira did not expect that, in such a short time, the children in the kindergarten knew Alice had no parents and even used it to mock her. "What's going on?" Elvira's expression turned serious.

"The last time the kindergarten held the parent-child sports meet, all the children's parents were there. I called Uncle Zach, but he said that he was not free. In the end, Great-Grandma asked the driver to accompany me. "The children knew that I did not have parents, so they started to laugh at me," Alice complained angrily with her hands on her hips.

"How can your uncle that he's not free? Don't be angry and don't be sad. I will help you think of a way to resolve this matter. I guarantee that all the children will shut up, okay?" Elvira smiled and pinched Alice's little face. Only then did Alice happily start playing again.

On the way back, Elvira criticized Zach seriously.

Zach frowned and explained, "I didn't expect it to be so serious. I'll call the director now and ask her to handle this matter."

'What a joke. I had spent a lot of money to send Alice to kindergarten, but Alice got bullied there. How ridiculous, Zach thought.

"It's useless. Let me handle this. When I need you, you only need to make time," Elvira quickly stopped him.

Elvira also got mocked because her parents didn't attend the parent-teacher conference when she was young, let alone the children's sports meet. Therefore, she could understand why Alice was unhappy. She felt the same when she was young. After returning home, Elvira asked Zach to let the director hold another parent-child sports meet on Monday, and every classmate's parents should participate. If they did not come, their children would have to drop out.

The director was a little confused when she received this order. The sports meet had just ended last week, so why do it again? Moreover, he wants all parents to participate. Otherwise, their children will have to drop out of school! 10:02 Mon, Dec 9

G

However, she had no choice. After all, Zach was her biggest benefactor now. She had to be obedient.

Hence, she passed down the order.

She Got A Better Man

Monday, the kindergarten held the parent-child sports meet again. This time, every child's parents had to participate.

The parents were all complaining about this news but still came, knowing their children would have to drop out if they didn't participate.

After all, this kindergarten was an aristocrat among the aristocrats in Jersten. It was not as simple as going to school here.

It also concerned the children's future connections, which was much more important than studying. Therefore, although the parents had complaints, they still came.

Alice was sent to kindergarten by the driver. She still did not know what would happen that day and was still unhappy. After all, not having a father had always been a thorn in her heart, making her especially sad. "Alice, there's going to be a parent-child sports meet today. Our parents will be coming. If you don't have parents, you're a wild child." A little fatty came in front of Alice and said arrogantly.

"I have parents. They're just busy, and that's why they can't come. You're the wild child that no one wants," Alice retorted.

"I have parents. My parents will come to accompany me to the parent-child sports meet in a while. Where are your parents? The wild child that no one wants."

"A wild child that no one wants." The little bad students were all spoiled little tyrants at home. They all surrounded Alice and shouted.

"Who said that no one wants Alice? How dare you bully my daughter? I'll twist your ear off." Elvira was furious when she saw this scene. She rushed over and pinched the fattest little boy who bullied Alice the most.

The chubby child's ear hurt from being twisted. Elvira did not use too much strength. She just wanted to scare him. She could not argue with a child, after all.

When Alice saw Elvira and Zach, her eyes were red. She immediately pounced on Elvira, and Elvira let go of the chubby child.

She hugged Alice and said aloud, "Alice, I'm sorry. I didn't attend your sports meet last time because of work. I'll make it up to you today.

Also, your father is here. He will let you win first place in the sports meet this time to make it up to you."

Alice was overjoyed when she saw that Zach and Elvira were both here and would act as her parents in front of the children. She hugged Elvira and called for her Mother. Then, she ran to hug Zach and called him Father.

Zach picked up Alice and swept his sharp gaze across the stunned kids. He warned coldly, "If you dare to bully Alice again in the future, I'll let your parents' company go bankrupt and make you all poor."

After Zach threatened them, these children were so frightened by him that they all cried.

Zach was speechless. 'Am I that scary?'

Elvira was laughing so hard that she could not even straighten her back. Zach's aura was not something a bunch of kids could withstand. It was scary when he scolded others with a straight face. Those children were brave enough because they didn't pee in fear. Alice looked at her uncle with admiration. She felt that her uncle was too cool.

The children ran to complain to their parents. Their parents were all indignant. They did not expect a person to appear in this kindergarten. "To make us go bankrupt? How dare he say such arrogant words? They wanted to see who it was.

The children's mothers even shouted that they wanted to seek justice for the children and let this person apologize to their children.

Elvira was wiping the tears from the corners of Alice's eyes when she heard a group of people shouting and walking over.

The teacher could not stop them even if she wanted to. After all, those who came here to study were all influential people, and there were lots of them. Therefore, she felt everyone was very "brave". "Let's see who can make all our families go bankrupt. He's arrogant, but I don't know what he's capable of. M-Mr. Gilbert!" When the man saw Zach carrying the child, he was shocked and stuttered. Some of the other fathers knew Zach. Even if they didn't know him, they were all smart people who had been doing well in the business world. They could tell Zach's identity was not simple at a glance. "What Mr. Gilbert? No matter what, you can't bully my son... Oh The little fatty's mother's mouth was tightly covered by her husband, preventing her from speaking.

"Mr. Gilbert, you're also here to participate in the parent-child sports meet? What a coincidence." The little fatty's father looked at Zach obsequiously.

"You guys came at the right time. Your children have been bullying my daughter. Let's see how this matter is resolved." Zach hugged Alice and looked at the adults with an unfriendly gaze.

He could let the children go, but not the adults.

They were frightened out of their wits. Everyone had heard that Mr. Gilbert was married, but no one had heard he had a child. They didn't expect his daughter to be that big.

However, no one doubted that Zach was not Alice's biological father. After all, it was only right for his nephew to look like him, and Alice looked 60-70% like him.

A few adults grabbed their kids and beat them up. As they beat them up, they scolded, "I asked you to come to school, not to bully others, and not to cause trouble."

These kids' mothers' hearts ached for their children, but they could tell that this was an existence that even families at their level could not afford to offend, so they could only hold back and not dare to make a sound. Alice looked at the naughty kids being beaten up and finally smiled. She felt that these little bad guys deserved it. "They only know how to bully girls every day. They are so bad," Alice thought.

"After you finish beating your children up, come and apologize to my daughter. My daughter has suffered during this period. She can't suffer for nothing," Zach said coldly.

The naughty kids, led by the little fatty, were all scared of being beaten up. Their fathers asked them to apologize, and they didn't dare to resist, afraid that they would be beaten up again.

A few children slowly walked over. The little fatty bowed to Alice. When the other children saw this, they followed suit and bowed to Alice. Then, they began to admit their mistake and apologize. Zach was speechless, and so were the parents behind the children.

Elvira and Zach carried Alice to the swing and played with her for a while, waiting for the sports meet to begin.

Elvira took an ice cream from the teacher and gave it to Alice. Alice was so happy that she smiled until her "Today is the happiest day since I was born!"

"Let's see who still dares to say that I don't have parents in the future. My father will make them bankrupt and poor, aha." Alice laughed happily.

Zach looked at his wife and niece with a gentle expression. He felt warm in his heart.

"In the future, if anyone bullies you, just tell us, okay? You can't keep it to yourself. You are our little princess. Your uncle and I will never allow anyone to bully you." Elvira held Alice's little hand firmly. Alice nodded vigorously. "Got it."

When the sports meet began, Elvira and Zach were very tacit. The two of them led Alice to keep getting first place. Finally, there was a dart-throwing event.

Zach even hit all the balloons. The boys who bullied Alice were all in awe of him. Their eyes were filled with admiration.

She Got A Better Man

Alice hugged Elvira's neck happily and giggled non-stop. Elvira had never seen Alice so happy. She felt a little sorry for this little guy. It seemed that the days without a father had brought indelible damage to her young heart. She hoped that she and Zach could make it up to her.

The naughty kids, led by the little fat boy, gathered around Elvira and Alice. The little fat boy said enviously, "Alice, your father is amazing. I won't say you're a wild child without parents anymore."

"How would you dare? If you dare to bully Alice again, her father will poke your head with a dart."

"He'll turn you into a sieve." The children laughed together. This time, it was all friendly laughter.

The little fatty's face turned red. He turned around and announced loudly, "From now on, Alice is my boss because she has the most powerful father. If anyone dares to bully Alice again, I'll beat you up until your teeth are all over the ground." The little fatty was a kindergarten bully. He threatened everyone fiercely. The children were so frightened that they covered their mouths, afraid he would knock out their teeth.

Elvira looked at the little fatty and smiled in satisfaction. The world of children was simple. They all admired strong people. It was the nature of children to bully the weak and admire the strong. Now that they knew Alice had a powerful father, they naturally did not dare to bully her.

"Alice, do you want to go down and play with them?" Elvira asked.

"Yes, I want to play too." Alice quite liked to play with the children. However, because she did not have a father, she was often bullied, and no children were willing to play with her. Now that she finally had children to play with, Alice naturally felt happy. Elvira was also relieved that Alice was not affected by the previous incident of being isolated and bullied. After Zach hit all the balloons, he put down the darts. The group of male parents flattered and complimented him. Zach followed Elvira's instructions and spoke to these people coldly.

Elvira wanted all the children to see that their fathers were respectful when they talked to Alice's "father." This way, those children would naturally treat Alice better, and no one in the kindergarten would dare to bully Alice again.

Before the sports meet ended, Alice had already become the children's favorite. Everyone was especially friendly to her. No one would scold her for being a wild child without parents anymore. Everyone looked at her with envy and admiration.

On the way back, Zach let Elvira sit on his lap and kissed her forehead. "Honey, thank you. Without you, I would take a rough approach when I solved it. For example, get those children out of this kindergarten. If I did that, Alice wouldn't have been as happy as she was today."

"The world of children is more straightforward than the adults. They don't hide their hatred for someone. It's the same if they like someone. Since Alice still wants to study here, we should think of a way to integrate her into the children.

"Letting the children know that she has parents and a powerful father is the best solution. Children admire the strong even more than adults do." Elvira gently scratched his sexy Adam's apple with her fingers.

When he thought of Alice's happy face, Zach knew Elvira was right. He raised his hand and grabbed her restless little hand.

He looked at her with a burning gaze. Elvira giggled when she looked at him. She knew he was sensitive about this she deliberately teased him. It seemed that she had turned him on.

In the end, Rowena still came to look for Elvira. Of course, Elvira ignored her. So, Rowena secretly followed Elvira to Gilbert Group's company.

She and Sandy fought every day when they saw each other. They were at loggerheads, and neither was willing to give in to the other. They would throw things at each other whenever they disagreed.

They left the house in a mess every day. Liam's face had never stopped suffering from minor injuries. Compared to the peaceful days of the past ten years, he was living in hell every day.

Now, Rowena knew relationships with people she was related to were the strongest. She regretted it now. She didn't treat her children well. Instead, she gave over ten years of motherly love to someone else's children. In the end, they were ungrateful.

Ever since she found out that her child died because of Sandy, she could not sleep well. Every day, she was immersed in regret. Sometimes, she would cry until midnight before she fell asleep. Her pillow would be wet when she woke up.

Rowena was not stupid. She just loved Liam too much and did not react at that time. After calming down, she knew what Liam was thinking when he wanted to take the blame for Sandy

'He did that not because he loved me but because he loved his daughter. Didn't he know that if he poisoned me and believed his words, it would be difficult for me to live?' Rowena thought.

Because she loved him too much, she couldn't bear to hate him, so she could only punish herself.

The more Rowena thought about it, the sadder she became. She could not stop her tears. The tears she had shed recently were comparable to all the tears from before.

Rowena watched as Elvira entered Gilbert Group's building. She walked to the door and wanted to follow, but the security guard stopped her. The security guard recognized this woman and knew she was Elvira's mother, who did not seem to have a good relationship with Elvira.

"I'm looking for my daughter. Can you help me? I'm not looking for Zach anymore," Rowena explained. She was no longer as arrogant as before. "Even if you're looking for Ms. Willis, you should make an appointment. I can't let you in without an appointment," the security guard said dutifully. "Ms. Willis? You said Elvira? Why are you calling her Ms. Willis? Shouldn't you be calling her Mrs. Gilbert?" Rowena looked surprised and puzzled. "Since her company is also here, it's more appropriate for us to call her Ms. Willis than Mrs. Gilbert," the security guard replied.

"Elvira has a company? Did Zach set it up for her?" Rowena asked in confusion.

"Of course not. Ms. Willis's company was founded by her alone. Mr. Gilbert only emptied one floor for Ms. Willis... Hey. Didn't you say that you're Ms. Willis's mother? Why don't you know that Ms. Willis has a company? "Are you telling the truth? Why do you have to ask a security guard about your daughter?" The security guard looked her up and down, his eyes filled with suspicion and vigilance.

Rowena was very shocked. She did not expect that her biological daughter, who was useless in her eyes and inferior to Sandy in every aspect, had already established her company. Moreover, the scale didn't seem small.

She Got A Better Man

Only then did Rowena realize how much she had gone overboard in the past. She did not care about her biological daughter at all and didn't even know Elvira had established her company and become the boss. She had always felt Elvira was not motivated and would be dumped by Zach sooner or later because she was too useless.

Now, it seemed that her daughter was beautiful and capable. She was also financially independent and did not need to rely on anyone to live well. How could she be dumped like this?

She regretted it now, but it was useless no matter how much she regretted it. Elvira would not even look at her now.

Rowena had broken Elvira's heart, and there was nothing Rowena could do to make up for it. After everything she did, she could only bear the bitter consequences.

Elvira knew that Rowena was looking for her. She specially instructed the bodyguards not to let Rowena get close to her. She had completely given up on Rowena and would never have anything to do with her again.

When Rowena saw that she could not see Elvira, the motherly love she had not had for a long time exploded. She went to the Willis family to settle the score with Vincent and Amber.

When Rowena saw Amber, she started fighting with her. At that time, the other Willis family members were not around. Only Amber was detained at home by Karen and was not allowed to go out.

Originally, when Amber heard that Rowena was here, she immediately put on the attitude of a hostess and looked arrogant.

Rowena did not waste her breath on Amber. Recently, she had gained experience from fighting with Sandy. The most important thing when women fought was to pull the other party's hair. The one who pulled the hair had more chance of winning. Therefore, Rowena walked over and grabbed Amber's hair. She slapped Amber a few more times. Amber did not expect her husband's ex-wife to hit her as soon as she came in.

She was not prepared at all. In addition, she had been suppressing her anger all these years. Now that she was suddenly beaten up, she was directly dazed.

Rowena scolded as she hit her, "You stupid bitch, slut, shameless bitch. How dare you abuse my children? I'll beat you to death, you bitch."

Amber fell to the ground. Rowena kicked and hit her. She vented all her anger from the Miles family and frustration when she couldn't meet Elvira on Amber.

Seeing this, the servant wanted to pull them away, but Kay stopped everyone, indicating they did not have to worry about it. Karen could not stand Amber now and wanted Amber to suffer more. Now, someone was doing it for her.

It was not until they saw Amber being beaten up and groaning in pain that the servants came over to stop Rowena. At the same time, a servant also called the police. Rowena was arrested and brought to the police station. Amber was sent to the hospital.

Liam, who had finally taken some time to go to the company to settle some matters, was shocked when he heard that his wife had beaten someone up and was sent to the police station.

He thought that it was another fight between the two women at home, but when he arrived at the police station, he realized that Rowena had gone to her ex-husband's house to beat someone up. Chapter 209

He secretly heaved a sigh of relief. After all, fighting others was better than fighting his daughter.

He asked about the situation, and the police said they could not let Rowena go unless the other party issued a letter of understanding. Moreover, they would have to detain Rowena if the other party's injuries were minor.

When Liam heard this, he looked for Vincent and asked him to write a letter of understanding. Vincent was dumbfounded. He did not know what was wrong with his ex-wife and why she suddenly barged into his house and beat up his current wife.

Back then, Rowena proposed a divorce first. When she found out that her first love had lost his wife, she happily asked for a divorce from him without even asking for a single cent of his assets. They divorced very happily, so the possibility of her being jealous because of him was zero.

Therefore, he had no idea why Rowena came to his house to hit his current wife.

Vincent said he had to understand the whole story first and rejected Liam's request. Liam was not anxious. Deep down, he hoped they would lock Rowena up for a few days so he could have many days of peace, so he did not say anything else. When Vincent arrived at the hospital, Amber was already awake. When she saw him, she hugged him and cried bitterly. She scolded Rowena for her rough and evil actions and showed him the injuries on her body.

"Why... Why did she hit you? This doesn't make sense." Vincent could not think of any reason for Rowena to beat Amber up. "Why else? She's jealous of me. She must be jealous that I'm occupying her position as the Willis family's hostess," Amber said firmly. "That's impossible. Back then, she was the one who initiated the divorce. She could not wait to rush to her first love. She did not even want the children, money, or the house. How could she be jealous of you now?" Vincent denied her statement. "Times have changed, Vincent. Maybe she's regretting and unhappy now." Amber felt that Rowena was regretting and jealous of her. Even though she had been beaten up, she still felt especially proud.

"No way! If she regretted it, she should have found me first instead of beating you up." Vincent immediately denied her statement.

Amber was at a loss for words. "That seems to make sense.

"Then why did she hit me? Is she crazy?" Amber asked excitedly.

No matter why Rowena hit Amber, Rowena was still released because Karen told Amber not to pursue the matter.

Amber was furious. However, Karen still had the final say in the Willis family. She could only swallow her anger and agree to reconcile with Rowena.

Judy did not say anything about her mother being beaten up. She only told her to be careful in the future and stay at home to recuperate.

Amber looked at her daughter's cold expression after learning she was beaten up. She felt very wronged, When she wanted her daughter to comfort her a little more, Judy only said that she had work to do and left first, leaving her alone in the room to cry.

Elvira was unaware of what happened to Rowena and Amber. Nor did she care. She was busy with work and had no time to think about anything else.

With Zach's bodyguards protecting Camen, the Miller family couldn't do anything to her now. However, Helen and Nina would not let her off so easily. Therefore, the Miller family had been waiting for an opportunity to take action. They wanted to control Carmen again. If they could not control her, they would destroy her.

That night, when Carmen returned home, she was in a car accident. Fortunately, the bodyguards reacted quickly and saved her life.

Carmen was sent to the hospital. When Zach received the news, he rushed to the hospital to see her. He looked at the woman who was covered in injuries and said, "I will investigate this matter. If the Miller family did it, I will seek justice for you." "There's no need to investigate. I know what's going on. Don't worry about it for now." Carmen gently rejected Zach's suggestion.

Zach frowned in confusion. "Are you sure you don't need me to investigate?"

"Yes. There's no need to check. Go back quickly. I'm fine alone in the hospital." Carmen urged Zach to leave.

She Got A Better Man

When Zach returned home, Elvira was cooking dinner. They had been dining outside recently and had not cooked at home for long.

Elvira had been in a good mood recently. Moreover, she was not that busy today, so she got off work early and went to the supermarket to buy vegetables, beef, chicken, and fish to cook at home.

When she heard the sound of the door opening, Elvira immediately came out to welcome him. She walked over and hugged Zach before kissing him. "Honey, you're back. I made chicken soup and fish. Let's have a good meal today." "Thank you, honey. I'll come and help after I change." Zach hugged and kissed her, and his heart was extremely warm.

"No need. You can wash the dishes after dinner. Go and change your clothes first." Elvira was almost done. They would smell like oil fumes when they entered the kitchen.

She felt it was enough for her to have that smell alone. There was no need for both of them to smell like oil fumes.

Zach did not insist. He would clean up and wash the dishes after they finished eating. While Elvira cooked, he changed the bedding and cleaned up the house.

Although they had part-time workers working at home, he felt he'd better do some housework himself. It would give him a more homely atmosphere.

Just like now, his wife was cooking, and he did some simple housework. Only then would it have the aura of the mortal world.

After Elvira finished cooking, she called him over to help. Zach went to the kitchen to bring out the stewed chicken soup and all the fish dishes. Elvira prepared the cutlery. Zach leaned over and kissed her cheek. He praised, "My wife is so capable." "If you like it,

I'll cook once a week in the future." Elvira felt that she should indeed cook more. Otherwise, if they always cozy and warm. dined outside and didn't cook at home, their home wouldn't feel as

"Let me do it. I'll do it when I have time. Oil fumes are not good for the skin." Zach thought of his grandmother's words and felt that they made sense. He was a man and was not afraid of becoming ugly.

online and buy a mask. That way, after I wear it, I don't need to be afraid when cooking." After Elvira came out, she started searching online for a mask for cooking.

Zach scooped two bowls of chicken soup for them and picked up a piece of fish to remove the bones before putting it on her plate. He said, "Let's eat first."

"Done." Elvira had already placed the order. Looking at the fragrant food on the table, she picked up her fork and started eating.

Zach was also hungry. The dishes his wife made were especially to his liking. Both of them had an appetite and ate till their bellies bulged.

After dinner, Elvira went to the sofa to lie down. Zach was in charge of cleaning up the mess. After Zach put the things into the kitchen, he asked Elvira if she wanted to go for a walk,

After they moved here, the couple had never gone out for a walk or walked around the neighborhood. Usually, the driver would drive the car downstairs after work. The two of them got out of the car and went upstairs. When they woke up early, the driver would pick them up.

"Alright, this is good.for digestion. I ate a lot today." Elvira immediately stood up.

O

O

The two of them changed their clothes and went out. Zach held Elvira's hand and interlocked their fingers when they went out. It was obvious that they were a loving couple.

Although it was already dark, they were so good-looking that people kept looking back at them.

The neighborhood was high-end, and the greenery was good. There was also a children's playground. When the two of them passed the playground, many children were playing, and their parents were chatting. It was a warm and peaceful scene.

A small soccer ball rolled to their feet. A little boy who was about four or five years old chased after it. When he saw Elvira, he exclaimed. The little guy stared at Elvira intently and shouted "Mommy, here is a fairy."

Elvira found it funny and said, "I'm not a fairy. I'm your neighbor"

Elvira raised her leg and kicked the ball back to the little guy.

The little guy kicked the ball and ran away happily, continuing to play soccer with his friends.

What had just happened attracted the attention of the parents at the side. A few parents came over to talk to Elvira, and their gazes wandered back and forth between Elvira and Zach.

"Are you new here?" an enthusiastic middle-aged woman asked.

"Yeah, we've been here for only a few months," Elvira replied and smiled.

"Are you newlyweds? Do you have children?" The other woman looked at the two of them with envy.

"The two of us don't have any children yet." Elvira knew they had no ill intentions, so she was willing to talk to them.

"Then you have to hurry up. Your child will be beautiful."

"That's right. You two are so beautiful. Your children must be even prettier."

"The two of you have to give birth to a few more. Otherwise, it's a pity that such good genes are wasted."

"Look at their looks. They're so good-looking. I'm so envious."

The group of people started chatting one after another. Sensing Zach's discomfort, Elvira said goodbye to them and left with him.

After the two of them walked for a distance, they could still hear those people discussing the two of them, saying they were tall and pretty and their children would look good.

Elvira was quite happy to hear these words. After all, who didn't like to hear nice words? But Zach's expression was not so good.

Elvira shook his arm and said, "They mean no harm. They're just gossiping."

"They talk too much. What does it have to do with them whether we have children or not?" Zach was confused.

Elvira could not help but laugh when she saw his serious expression. She said, "You're so otherworldly. In the future, I'll bring you to more crowded places to walk around, like parks, markets, and children's play areas in the community. I'll let you be down-to-earth." "I'll go wherever you go, Zach immediately declared.

"Let's take a look over there then." Elvira pointed to a place with more trees in the distance.

The two of them walked for over half an hour before returning home. When they got home, they were drenched in sweat.

They took a shower together and returned to bed. Zach touched his wife's smooth skin and could not help but kiss her.

Elvira gently stroked his firm muscles and said, "Should we go for a checkup?"

"Check what?" Zach looked at her in confusion.

"It's been so long, but I'm still not pregnant. Could it be a problem with my body? Look at Olivia, she got pregnant very quickly." Elvira looked at him in confusion.

"There's no need to check. Whether we can have children or not depends on fate. We won't force it." Zach was open-minded. He didn't think children were necessary and felt it was enough for him to have her.

"Don't we want to prepare for pregnancy? How about this? If I still can't get pregnant in half a year, How about this? If I still can't get pregnant in half a year, let's go for a checkup, okay?" Elvira nudged him and asked.
