

She Got A Better Man 301-310

Zach got someone to send over soft shoes for Elvira to wear. Elvira felt much more comfortable and her mood improved a lot.

Zach was going on a business trip for two days. Elvira told him to not worry because she could take care of herself.

As soon as he left, Grace personally came to be the driver for Elvira. Elvira sat in the car and said, "Actually, you don't have to drive me personally. I'll be fine on my own."

"I'm on vacation now. My goal is to spend more time with my family. Elvira, are you hungry? There's a bakery on the way to your work. I'll buy you something to eat," Grace suggested with a smile.

"Alright, I'm really hungry." Elvira nodded. She was now pregnant with two babies. She would get hungry very quickly. Fortunately, she started to gain some weight. No matter how much she ate later, she did not gain any weight. Otherwise, she would not dare to eat like now.

When Grace heard that she was hungry, she quickly found a chain bakery and carefully helped Elvira in.

Someone suddenly bumped into Elvira behind her. It was not serious, but as a pregnant woman, it was still very dangerous to be hit like this. If not for Grace supporting her, she might have fallen.

"Are you blind? Can't you see that there's a pregnant woman?" Grace was unhappy.

She carefully let go of Elvira and walked over to pull the woman back. She said angrily, "Apologize!"

"I didn't do it on purpose. The two of you are blocking the way. Since you're pregnant, I'm sorry," the woman took off her sunglasses and said indifferently. Her apology was very insincere, making Grace feel even angrier.

Even the good-tempered Elvira could not help but frown. Grace said, "I think you did it on purpose!"

"So what? Fine, I'll compensate you, okay? Is 20 thousand dollars enough?" The woman's attitude became even more arrogant. She looked at Elvira with disdain.

Grace was really angry. She reached out and pushed her. The woman frowned in pain when she hit the glass door. She looked at Grace angrily. "Are you crazy? I've already apologized! If you think I'm insincere, I have offered to compensate you, why did you push me?" "I'm really sorry. I apologize." After saying that, Grace went back to help Elvira into the bakery.

The woman was furious. She followed them angrily. Grace looked at her vigilantly. The woman suddenly smiled. "You're Zach Gilbert's wife, right?"

Elvira looked at this woman indifferently. It turned out that she was deliberately looking for trouble.

"Who are you?" Grace was clearly more nervous than Elvira.

"Don't worry, I won't really hurt a pregnant woman. My name is Willow Glover. You should know about the Glover family, right? My father is one of the board members of Gilbert Group! Willow crossed her arms proudly and looked at the two of them.

Of course, Elvira and Grace knew about the Glover family. At the moment, the Glover family was supporting Samuel to fight for control of the Gilbert Group with Zach.

"I now announce that I've taken a liking to Zach. Elvira, if you're willing to divorce him and let him marry me, I'll make my father stop! Don't worry, I'll treat your children well." Willow smiled at Elvira.

Elvira felt speechless. Grace was so infuriated by Willow that she almost hit her. If Elvira had not pulled her along, she would have scratched her face.

"I've seen shameless people, but I've never seen someone as shameless as you! Do you want to enter the Gilbert family? Dream on! Do you think you're worthy of being with my brother" Grace was so angry that she laughed.

She hated such self-righteous people the most. She found Willow's face very disgusting.

"Even if you're the daughter of the Gilbert family, you can't control your brother's marriage, right? Zach can't even take care of himself now. If he doesn't marry me, he'll lose his position as the head of the Gilbert Group! If he loses his position, it's all your fault." Willow looked at Elvira with a self-righteous expression.

"You..." Grace really wanted to tear Willow apart.

"If he loses his position as the person in charge, it means that he is not capable enough, it has nothing to do with me! No matter how much you say to me, it's useless. Why don't you go to my husband and tell him these things." Elvira smiled slightly. She did not care about Willow's words at all, and she would not doubt or blame herself because of Willow.

Her nonchalant attitude made Willow very upset. Just as Elvira expected, she saw that Elvira remained calm.

expression turned extremely ugly when

"However, even if he really loses his position, I can support him. I'm very good at earning money. I'm different from those women who only know how to spend money." Elvira smiled calmly and ignored Willow. She went to choose the cake.

Grace was originally quite angry, but she did not expect Elvira to be so good at facing Willow's challenge. She felt relieved, but at the same time, she felt that she had to learn from Elvira about dealing with this kind of people. She had only realized that scolding them was a very bad idea.

Willow was so angry that she kept staring at Elvira. It was as if she wanted to kill Elvira with her gaze. Elvira did not even bother to look at her. After paying for the cakes, she left with Grace.

The two of them rushed to the Gilbert mansion together. Zach was not around recently, so Tracy was worried about Elvira being alone at home. She asked Elvira to stay at the Gilbert mansion. Elvira was willing to go back and spend some time with Tracy.

Now that she was no longer a member of the Willis family, Elvira treated the Gilbert family as her own..She really wanted to treat Tracy with sincerity.

After they went back, the two of them forgot about Willow. Willow was very confident that as long as she appeared, she would make Elvira lose her composure. However, her plan had failed.

Dinner was very sumptuous. In order to take good care of Elvira and the babies, Tracy asked the kitchen to make nutritious food.

Before Elvira went to bed that night, Zach made a video call to her. Elvira picked up and Zach's handsome face appeared on the screen. Elvira's smile became much gentler.

"Zach, I miss you." Elvira smiled at him. Her eyes were filled with love and longing.

She Got A Better Man

As for Willow's provocative words, Elvira didn't even mention them. In her opinion, those were trivial matters that she didn't need to care about at all.

Zach also missed Elvira very much. He could not get enough of her. Elvira knew that he should sleep. There were still many things waiting for him to do tomorrow. Elvira coaxed him to rest

Zach said that he could not sleep, so he might as well talk to her He would go to sleep in half an hour. Seeing that he insisted, Elvira accompanied him to talk. Half an hour later, she insisted on having him go to sleep. "Mrs. Gilbert, there seems to be a serious car accident ahead." The driver looked at the car that was almost crushed and frowned.

"Go take a look at the situation and help." Elvira also saw the car accident. It was a large truck that had flipped over a small car beside it.

"Yes, Mrs. Gilbert." The driver immediately got out of the car to see if he could help.

At this moment, there were already many people gathered by the car. Some people had called the police, and everyone was helping to think of a way to save the people in the car.

Elvira was bored sitting in the car. She also got out of the car to see what was going on. Soon, the police arrived and finally saved the driver.

However, that person was already on the verge of death. Elvira could not see that person's face clearly. From the clothes, it was a young man.

After he was rescued, the cars began to evacuate. The driver also returned. Elvira got into the car and left. The seriously injured man was pulled away by an ambulance.

In the hospital, the Glover family was in a misery state. The person who got into the car accident was the eldest son of the Glover family, Richard Glover.

The Glover family suspected that this car accident took place because someone deliberately wanted to attack the Glover family, and the most likely person was Zach. Willow scrolled through the video of Richard' accident and suddenly shouted, "It's indeed the Gilbert family. Look, isn't this person Zach's wife? Why did she appear at the scene so coincidentally?"

The Glover family immediately surrounded her. Everyone's expressions were very solemn.

"But if it was really the Gilbert family, why would Elvira appear at the scene? As far as I know, she's already pregnant, so it's even more unlikely for her to appear there, right?" Hayden Glover analyzed calmly. "Hayden, don't be fooled by them. I think that's the scary part about the Gilbert family." Willow looked as if she had guessed the truth.

The elders of the Glover family were also thinking about this matter. They felt that Hayden's words were more convincing.

"Which one of you has type O blood? There's not enough blood in the blood bank now. Someone needs to donate blood to the patient," a nurse rushed out and asked.

"Both of us are. We're his parents. We can donate blood to him." Donald Glover rolled up his sleeves anxiously, wanting the nurse to draw his blood. It was the same for Sarah Glover.

"Are there any young people who can donate?" the nurse asked lightly.

A few people looked at Willow. She was the youngest in the group, and she was Richard's biological sister. It was just right for her to donate blood to him.

"Don't look at me. I have type B blood. I can't donate it." Willow did not relationship with Richard had always been lukewarm.

want to donate blood to Richard at all. Her

If Richard died, she would be the only one to inherit the Glover family. She was hoping for that to happen. Therefore, there was no way she would donate blood to Richard.

As she spoke, Hayden's eyes flashed. However, everyone's attention was on Richard, so no one paid attention to these details. When Donald and Sarah heard Willow's words, they did not ask further and continued to find someone else to donate blood. There was type O blood among the bodyguards, so they took the initiative to follow the nurse to draw blood.

This seemed to be just a small interlude, but Sarah suddenly stared at Willow with disbelief in her eyes. Willow's hair stood on end under her gaze. She thought that Sarah had seen through her thoughts and felt guilty.

. "Mom, why are you looking at me like that?" Willow stuttered.

"Did you just say that you have type B blood?" Sarah stared at her and questioned.

"That's right." Willow did not understand what Sarah meant, but she still nodded. "When was it tested? Could there be a mistake?" Sarah continued to ask.

"I had a physical examination when I entered university..." Willow wanted to explain it, but she was afraid that Sarah would think that she was lying. Hayden immediately stepped forward to stop her and said with a smile, Sarah, it's very easy to make mistakes during this kind of physical examination. You and Donald both have O-type blood, and the children you give birth to can only have O-type blood. Willow must have mistaken her blood type." Hayden's words made Willow's heart skip a beat. She was so shocked that she almost screamed out loud. Her face was filled with disbelief. Hayden suddenly turned around and held her hand. "Go and do another test when you have time. You can't have type B blood. Someone must have made mistake."

Sarah was also concerned about Richard's safety and did not care about them anymore. She looked at the operating theater anxiously.

Donald was also worried about Richard and did not think too much about it. He felt that Hayden was right.

After saying that, Hayden let go of Willow's hand and turned to look at the operating theater. Her eyes were filled with worry.

After that, Willow had an ugly expression on her face. She escaped after making an excuse. Her mind was in a daze. Just now, in order not to donate blood to Richard, she deliberately emphasized that she had type B blood. However, she did not expect that her parents both had type O blood.

She knew very well that she had B-type blood because she had undergone two physical examinations. This made her wonder why her blood type was different from her parents'. Her mind was in a mess.

She thought, 'Hayden seemed to be covering up for me. What the hell is going on? Could it be that I am not my parents' child?'

When Willow thought of this possibility, she felt all the blood in her body freeze. Then, she calmed down and wanted to figure out what was going on with her blood type first.

Richard was out of danger after emergency treatment. After checking, his car accident was just an ordinary car accident. There was no conspiracy behind it.

The police's conclusion was given to the Glover family, but the Glover family felt that things were not that simple. For their own safety, they sent their own people to investigate further, but in the end, they did not find any problems. This matter could only be left unsettled. Recently, Donald had a lot on his mind because he was helping Samuel fight for Zach's position. He kept feeling that the Gilbert family was behind Richard's car accident.

Zach later received the news of Richard's car accident. When he found out that Elvira was at the scene and even asked the driver to go to the rescue, she hugged her and lectured her after he returned from his business trip.

She Got A Better Man

Elvira knew that Zach was worried about her, so she explained, "I was really just a coincidence. If I knew that the victim was your enemy, I wouldn't have asked the driver to help."

At that time, many people actually didn't want to help. It was only after Elvira asked the driver to help that more people joined in the rescue. Otherwise, Richard would have probably died. "Really?" Zach clearly did not believe her.

Elvira smiled. "Actually, if I had to choose again, I would still ask the driver to help. After all, a life was at stake."

"I knew you wouldn't listen to me. However, you're right. We can't just sit back and do nothing when human lives are at stake." Zach was a little helpless. If he had been there, he would have helped too.

"That's for sure. After all, we're going to be parents soon. We have to set an example for our kids." Elvira smiled and hugged his neck.

Ever since Elvira was pregnant, Zach had softened a lot. This time, he didn't go all out against the Glover family because of his kids.

Willow secretly did a paternity test on herself and her parents. In the end, it was confirmed that she was indeed not their child.

When she received the report, she broke out in a cold sweat and collapsed on the chair. Someone came over and took a few more glances at her. She was so frightened that she hurriedly tightened her grip on the report as if she was afraid that others would find out. She forced herself to walk to the corner and tore the report into pieces with all her might. She was so flustered that she could barely think. A voice in her heart told her that if her parents found out that she was not their child, she might lose her right to inherit the family fortune.

She still wanted to inherit the money. That was why she didn't even want to give Richard a blood transfusion when he was in danger. She just hoped that he would die so that she would be the only heir of her family.

However, she was too anxious and revealed that her blood type was different from her parents'.

Now that her parents were focused on Richard, they definitely did not have the time to care about the loopholes in her words that day. However, she was worried that they would find out later.

Willow finally understood what it meant to shoot herself in the foot. She really wished she could go back to that day and stop herself from revealing this information.

Willow suddenly thought of Hayden's abnormality that day. She sensed that Hayden seemed to know something, which was probably why she helped her cover it up.

At this thought, Willow quickly left the hospital. She had to find Hayden and see what was going on.

At the same time, after confirming that Richard was out of danger and his condition had improved a lot, Sarah suddenly thought of what Willow had said the other day when the nurse asked for a blood transfusion. For some reason, she did not seem to care about it previously, but now, it started to bother her. Willow had repeatedly emphasized that she had type B blood, but the rest of the family all had type O blood. No matter what, Sarah felt that two people with type O blood could not give birth to a child with type B blood. Although Hayden later said that Willow had remembered wrongly, she kept feeling that there was something fishy about it.

Sarah kept thinking about this matter. The more she thought about it, the more she felt that something was wrong. Sarah kept thinking about this matter. The more she the

She suddenly remembered that someone had told her that Willow did not look like her and her husband at all. At that time, Hayden also interrupted by saying that Willow looked like her grandmother.

In the past, Sarah would be quite angry when others said things like that, but she had also noticed that only Willow did not look like her and Donald. However, Sarah never questioned it because she was always misled by Hayden. Now that she thought about it, nothing seemed right.

Sarah could no longer contain herself. She had been thinking about this matter for an entire day. So she called the servants at home to see if they could find a few strands of Willow's hair. She instructed her trusted aide to carry out this matter secretly and not let anyone see it.

Sarah then did a paternity test on her and Willow. Willow had found Hayden and tried to ask Hayden about this matter. Hayden stared at her and said directly, "You're indeed not Sarah and Donald's child. I've known about this for a long time."

Willow felt as if she had been struck by lightning. She looked at Hayden and asked in fear, "Hayden, how... how did you know?"

"You don't need to know about this. You're too stupid. How can you say your blood type out loud? You even emphasized it a few times. As long as your parents aren't stupid, they should have already gone for a paternity test," Hayden said calmly. "What should I do? If my parents find out that I'm not their child will they chase me away?" Willow was so frightened that she cried. She did not want to lose her family.

Hayden was speechless. She said,

"Sarah has raised you for years. Even if you're not her biological daughter she won't chase, you out. How can she not have feelings for you after raising you for more than 20 years? You don't have to be afraid of this at all. Just the

what to do next."

When Willow heard Hayden's words, she felt that they made sense. Her parents had raised her for more than 20 years, there was no way that they did not have feelings for her. "Hayden, thank you." Willow was finally relieved and felt much more at ease.

"Hurry up and go back. Spend more time with your parents recently. Just don't be as willful as before. Don't worry, your parents won't kick you out," Hayden said with certainty.

"Yes, Hayden. I understand." Willow was finally relieved.

Sarah quickly got the result and realized that Willow was really not her biological daughter. She was dumbfounded. Then, she thought, 'How is this possible? I have indeed given birth to a daughter back then. If Willow is not my biological daughter, where is my biological daughter?'

Sarah immediately told Donald about this. After Donald heard this, he was also very shocked. However, when he thought about the gossip that others had told him all these years, he suddenly felt that it made sense.

"Then where is our biological daughter now? How could we have made a mistake? How could such a melodramatic thing happen to our family? Donald was in disp. ne

Back then, they had found the best hospital in the city. The doctor who delivered the child was also his sister's best friend, He couldn't accept this reality.

"Do you think this has anything to do with your sister?" Sarah asked with a trembling voice.

She Got A Better Man

"My sister? What does this have to do with her?" Donald looked at her in confusion.

Sarah gritted her teeth and said, "Think back carefully to that day outside the operating room. When Willow said her blood type, what did Hayden say? She seemed to be afraid that we would suspect Willow."

Donald thought about it carefully. At that time, he only wanted to save Richard. He was not in the mood to care about this. However, he remembered that Hayden made Willow shut up after she announced her blood type. He said, "Maybe it was just a coincidence."

"How could it be just a coincidence? I think she replaced our child back then because wanted to take revenge on us! Don't forget that the doctor who delivered my child back then was her friend!" Sarah screamed. She felt that someone was behind this matter. "How is that possible?" Although Donald said that, his heart was already in turmoil. He already believed Sarah's words, but he didn't want to admit that Hayden had actually done this.

"Just ask Hayden about this." Sarah's heart ached. She thought that she treated Hayden very well, but she did not expect her to do such a terrifying thing to her family.

Sarah thought, 'Didn't Sarah know that what she did was a disaster for me?'

Elvira recruited a few business talents and handed the company over to them. She then rested in peace. All she needed to do was to check on the company's performance reports every day.

She asked for Cole's account and transferred money to him every day. She knew that Cole needed money at the moment. She had always treated Cole as her family. When he needed money, she had to support him fully.

Anyway, she didn't need much money. After saving enough money for the company's daily operations, she gave the rest to Cole.

Elvira was not someone who cared much about money. She felt that it was good as long as she had enough money. In the past, she had worked hard to earn money just to take revenge on the Willis family.

Now that the people who harmed her had received the punishment they deserved, she didn't need a lot of money anymore. Moreover, Zach was very good at making money.

Cole was indeed in need of money. After he returned to his country, he had been working to snatch power from his stepmother. His stepmother was a ruthless person and was very difficult to deal with. Every step he took was like walking on thin ice. Fortunately, Elvira's supported allowed him to continue his operations.

Soon, Elvira was already eight months pregnant. Her stomach was really big. Grace did not dare to leave after seeing Elvira in that state. She knew that Zach was still very busy with the battle with the Glover family.

Grace and Skylar stayed with Elvira to take care of her. The main reason was that Elvira's stomach was too big. No one dared to be careless. When Elvira came out of the toilet, Grace would immediately support her, afraid that she would fall or have an accident.

Elvira was very grateful for her attentiveness and care. Now that she could receive such care from her in-laws, she was very happy. Tracy called her many times every day, afraid that she would feel uncomfortable. "Elvira, just move in with me. I can't feel at ease if I can't see you, Tracy said worriedly.

Elvira thought about it and agreed to her request. She did not want Tracy to worry too much. Zach had no objections to it. The internal strife in the company was not over yet.

This decision allowed him to focus on work. Since he had spent too much time on Elvira in the past, it allowed the Glover family to keep causing trouble.

When Elvira said that she wanted to eat ravioli, Tracy, Skylar, and Grace immediately went to make it for her. Elvira's stomach was so big that she could only sit on the sofa. She could not help even if she wanted to

She ate the fruits that Tracy had ordered someone to cut for her. She caressed her stomach and watched them make dumplings with a smile on her face. Such a blissful day was really good.

"Elvira, have you decided the names of your children?" Grace asked as she helped make the dough for the ravioli

"We don't know their gender yet, so we haven't given them names yet. Why don't we give them a nickname first? It's not too late to give them a name after they're born," Elvira suggested. en

"Alright. What should we name them?" Grace immediately perked up. She began to come up with names

"Let's call them ravioli," Alice suddenly said. Everyone was speechless.

"I don't think that is a good nickname." Grace did not like this name and directly rejected her suggestion. Alice immediately frowned and continued to think hard. She did not get mad after Grace rejected her first idea. "If it's a girl, we will call her Barbara, and if it's a boy, we will call him Bob. How about that?" Skylar suggested. "This is good. Mom, you're amazing." Elvira really liked these two names. Just hearing them made her feel warm. "Really?" Skylar was overjoyed. Actually, she had already come up with a lot of names. Sometimes, when she had nothing to do at night, she would start thinking. These two names were just one of the many names she had thought of

"I like it. These two are in reserve," Elvira said as she smiled and bit on the apple.

"Elvira, if it's a girl, we will call her Cherry, and if it's a boy, we will call him Pudding. What do you think?" Alice suggested again. These were all things she liked to eat. "These two are good too. Alice, you are so smart!" Elvira gave her a big thumbs up.

"In my opinion, let's call them Jonas and Joan." Tracy was not to be outdone. She quickly said the names that she had thought of.

"Grandma, your suggestions are too old-fashioned," Grace could not help but complain.

"It's better to use unorthodox names. Elvira, what do you think?" Tracy felt that her idea was quite good.

"Very good! It's very down-to-earth," Elvira said with a smile.

"Elvira, why are you like this? We've already given six names. You only have two kids!" Grace frowned. She had yet to offer her idea.

"Then tell me your idea. When the time comes, we can just pick one. Everyone's idea will have a chance." Elvira was still smiling. She really liked her current life and her current family.

"I like Melissa and Melvin. Grace wrote the names on the table.

Elvira looked at them and said, "These names are good. I can tell that you are very cultured."

"I think my idea is better." Tracy had a look of disdain on her face.

Alice said, "Cherry and Pudding sounds better!"

Skylar said, "Barbara and Bob are the best, okay? They sound so nice."

Grace said. "Mine's good"

"Stop arguing. When the time comes, Zach and I will each come up with two names. When the time comes, we'll draw lots. No one is allowed to be angry if their idea isn't not picked. Of course, if it's two boys or two girls, we have to act accordingly. In order not to hurt everyone, Elvira could only use this method.

She Got A Better Man

When Zach returned, he saw his family members sitting together, chatting and laughing as they cooked. Everyone's faces were filled with smiles, and the atmosphere was extremely warm.

This was the scene that he had dreamed of in the past. Now, it had finally come true in reality. Especially when he saw Elvira, he felt that he was the happiest man in the world.

"Hubby, welcome back." Elvira was the first to see Zach. She immediately sat up and waved at him.

Zach smiled and walked over with some cupcakes. He said, "I bought them on the way back. Take a look and see which flavor you like."

"Uncle, I want cherry flavor. I like the cherry flavor the most." Alice ran over happily.

"My brother is really becoming more and more considerate, all thanks to Elvira," Grace exclaimed exaggeratedly.

Elvira looked at Zach and still found him very handsome.

She glared at Grace and said angrily, "We're just having a good relationship."

"Elvira, what flavor do you want?" Zach glared at Grace. After greeting Skylar and Tracy, he immediately asked Elvira which flavor she wanted to eat as if he was afraid that others would snatch it from her.

"I think I'll pass. My stomach is too big now. I have to eat less." Elvira actually wanted some, but when she saw her bulging belly, she shook her head regretfully.

"Just have some. I'll eat the rest." Zach placed all the cakes in front of her and sat beside her to give her support.

"Then I'll have a strawberry one." Elvira was indeed a little hungry, so she pointed at the strawberry cupcake.

Zach immediately brought it over. He was secretly glad that he had bought every flavor. Only then did he allow everyone else to get their hands on the cupcakes. Everyone was speechless. It was obvious that he favored Elvira the most.

However, it was the right thing for him to do. No matter what happened, it was the right choice for a man to take care of his own family first. Tracy was very gratified to see Zach so sensible. Zach opened the packaging and began to feed Elvira the cake.

"What were you guys talking about?" Zach asked.

"We are coming up with nicknames for our babies. You should think of two. When the time comes, we'll draw lots together. Whichever we draw will be given to our kids," Elvira said gently.

"Alright." Zach had been secretly coming up with names for his kids for a long time. However, after thinking about it for a long time, he felt that no name was worthy of his children. This made him especially distressed. "Elvira, have you decided how to give birth? Do you want a natural birth or a C-section?" Skylar was naturally happy to see Zach and Elvira so loving. Seeing that it was almost time, she had to show some concern. "I don't plan to have a natural birth. I want to have a C-section," Elvira said as she held Zach's arm.

She had never thought of giving birth naturally since she was pregnant. Now that the C-section technique was very mature, she did not have to suffer the pain. She was afraid of pain.

Tracy unconditionally supported Elvira's choice. 'It's better for you to have a C-section. It's safe'

"Elvira, I support you. I gave birth to Alice naturally, and I suffered a lot. I almost died Grace recalled the scene of her giving birth to Alice. At that time, she really thought that she might have died just like that.

Fortunately, the doctor who el delivered her child reacted quickly and revived her. Otherwise, Alice's birthday would have been the anniversary of her death.

As soon as she finished speaking, everyone else fell silent. They looked at her gloomily.

Grace shrunk her neck and regretted letting it slip. Originally, she had never planned to tell her family about this. If she did, it would only make them sad.

The matter was over, and she was not dead. There was no point in them being sad.

She laughed dryly and explained. "It's not serious, I just had some bleeding. At that time, the doctor quickly stopped the bleeding for me. I didn't suffer much.

I just wanted to say that Elvira should do a C-section. I also heard that there might be a risk of amniotic fluid embolism during a natural birth...

Grace hurriedly tried to change the topic, but the effect was obviously not good. Tracy had already begun to wipe her tears because she felt sorry for Grace. Skylar also felt- extremely sorry. Zach's heart was even heavier. He wished he Could immediately find the person who had impregnated Grace and kill him.

Elvira also felt sorry for Grace. She could not imagine how dangerous it was back then for Grace.

Alice was originally happily eating cupcakes and did not hear what the adults were saying. Sensing that the atmosphere was not right, she stopped eating. When she saw th.ne

Tracy was actually crying, she hurriedly got up and ran to hold her hand to comfort her.

"Great-grandma, don't cry. Alice will give you a cake. The cake is very sweet," Alice blinked and said.

"Alright, I will have some cake." Tracy's heart ached for Grace. However, the matter was already in the past. No matter how much her heart ached, it was useless.

She only hoped that Grace would be safe and sound for the rest of her life.

"Everyone, have something to eat. Leave the rest to the kitchen," Tracy said.

The servant immediately came over to pack up as everyone sat down. Skylar looked at Grace and sighed. She did not say anything else, but her heart ached.

Zach glared at Grace and continued to feed Elvira. Elvira asked, "Are you feeling well now? Are there any sequelae from giving birth?"

"No. I'm in good health. I handled it in time. I can still have children in the future. Don't worry," Grace quickly explained. Upon hearing this, Skylar and Tracy felt a little better.

Only then did Alice understand why Tracy suddenly cried. She asked, "Mom, what did you say just now that made great-grandmother cry?"

She was so focused on eating that she didn't hear what Grace said.

"I said that you were ugly when you were born, then, your great-grandma cried Grace did not want Alice to know about this, so she deliberately teased her.

Alice glared at her angrily. "Nonsense. I'm clearly very beautiful. I take after my Uncle!"

"Yes, yes. Alice is the prettiest. Elvira smiled and pinched her pretty face.

Elvira's stomach was so big now that she couldn't even sit up straight. It was really worrying. She hoped that she could quickly give birth to the children so she could relax a little. 75%

"Elvira, you must give birth to two girls. If so, I'll give all my candies to them. If they are both boys, I'll spank their butts," Alice immediately said.

"I hope that I can give birth to two pretty girls who look like Alice. I like little girls too." Elvira looked at her stomach gently.

Actually, she hoped that she was having twins. She did not favor any gender. As a mother, she naturally hoped that she could have a girl and a boy.

"Girls and boys are fine either way," Tracy said with a smile.

After the interruption, the atmosphere became relaxed again. When everyone was chatting and laughing, the servant came over and said that it was time to eat. The family moved to the living room.

Elvira's appetite was quite big. Tracy said that now that she was having two babies, she would definitely be hungry quickly. Elvira looked at her arm that had gained weight and felt a little helpless. Fortunately, her face had not changed much even though she had gained a lot of weight. This was the only thing that made her feel gratified.

Ever since Sarah found out that Willow was not her biological daughter, she had been especially frustrated. She felt annoyed at everything she did. Richard was still working even though he was injured. Recently, the battle between him and Zach had reached its climax. He did not dare to delay for a minute.

He originally thought that his car accident was caused by Zach, but the result of the investigation showed that it had nothing to do with him. Moreover, his subordinates reported that Zach's wife, Elvira, was also at the scene of his car accident.

She even asked her driver to save him. He thought about it carefully and confirmed that this had nothing to do with Zach. he really did it, he would not let his pregnant wife come near there.

Sarah really wanted to know where her biological daughter was. The more she thought about it, the more frustrated she became. She threw the half-peeled apple on the bedside table and sighed heavily.

Richard looked at her and knew that she had something on her mind. He asked, "Mom, what's wrong? I've never seen you like this. What happened?"

Since Richard was still injured, Sarah did not want to tell him about this matter. However, she was really upset, so she said, "Willow is not my biological daughter." When Richard heard this, he was very stunned. He even wondered if he had heard wrongly. Only when he saw Sarah's expression did he confirm that it was true. "Mom, what's going on? Tell me." Richard looked at her seriously and asked.

He knew Sarah well. She had always been graceful and elegant, and she did things according to the rules. If it wasn't the truth, she wouldn't have said it. Sarah was also anxious about this matter, so she told Richard everything, starting from Willow's blood type, including Hayden's abnormal behavior.

Richard frowned. His relationship with Willow had been average since they were young. Later on, he went overseas to study. The two of them did not interact much. He could feel that Willow did not like him, but he did not expect her to want him to die. Even if Willow didn't want to donate blood to him, there would be someone else who would, but he knew why she did that.

He thought, 'No wonder I can't get close to Willow. It turns out that she isn't my biological sister at all. Now everything makes sense.

"Mom, are you suspecting that Hayden did something to my sister?" Richard asked with a frown.

"Yes, I want to ask her. Your father said to wait for him to investigate first. He was afraid that we would wrongly accuse your aunt, but I know that we can't be wrong." When Sarah said this, her eyes were filled with hatred.

"Why did Hayden do this?" Richard was puzzled. Hayden had never been married and had a good relationship with her family. He couldn't tell what her motive was.

Sarah said, "Back then, your aunt had a boyfriend, but that man's character wasn't good. After I found out, I told her, but she didn't believe me and thought that I was deliberately trying to ruin her relationship.

Later, when I went out with her, she accidentally had a miscarriage. At that time, I didn't know that she would get pregnant out of wedlock, and she didn't tell me. Later, that man broke up with her.

At that time, she thought that I was the one who caused her child's death and even caused her to break up. She made a ruckus at home. However, later on, she apologized to me.

I thought that the matter was over... She probably thought that I had ruined her marriage and caused her child's death, so she wanted to take revenge on me by taking away my daughter."

As Sarah spoke, tears fell. She continued, "But that man was really a scumbag. Later on, he proved that what I said was true. The child's matter had nothing to do with me. I didn't know that Hayden was pregnant at all. How could I have harmed her child?" Richard's face darkened when he heard that. He knew about the time Hayden made a scene at home. At that time, he was already five years old. He still remembered it vividly. He did not expect Hayden to actually do this to take revenge.

"I really regret it. I shouldn't have meddled in her business then, but I really treat her as my own sister. That's why I'm worried for her. I've been sad for a long time that her child is gone. How can she do me like this?" Sarah was really disappointed in Hayden. "Mom, don't be sad. I'll definitely find my sister." Richard held her hand and comforted her.

After Sarah finished speaking, she felt much better. She nodded. "I believe in you and your father."

"What do you plan to do with Willow?" Richard asked.

Sarah had thought about this for a long time. She said, "I've raised her for more than 20 years. Even if your actual sister comes home, Willow will still be my daughter. I won't treat her badly."

Richard didn't say anything after hearing this, but he was afraid that Willow wouldn't think that way. He knew that she was very selfish. She even wanted him dead for the sake of the family's assets. If she stayed with them, he was afraid that she would probably do worse things than Hayden did.

However, there was no point in talking about this now. He had to think of a way to find his biological sister.

Willow had been very annoyed recently, especially after she found out that she was not the daughter of her parents. Every day, she would get drunk with a group of friends. Today, after drinking a few bottles of wine, she suddenly got up and left. She went to look for Hayden. When Hayden opened the door and saw that it was her, she let her in. Willow asked directly, "Hayden, what did you do to my mother's biological daughter?"

Willow was not stupid. She could tell from Hayden's words that she and Sarah's daughter had been swapped back then. In that case, Hayden must know where Sarah's biological daughter was.

She wanted to find out who Sarah's biological daughter was because she could not let that woman become a threat to her.

Hayden looked at her speechlessly. "Why do you care about this? Just accept your identity. Even if Sarah's biological daughter comes back, she won't be able to threaten you. Don't do anything rash."

Back then, Hayden had done that to take revenge on Sarah. She wanted to let Sarah have a taste of losing her child since she believed that Sarah made her lose her baby and lover.

"Hayden, I'm just worried. Tell me where that girl is. I just want to see her," Willow said with red eyes.

"You're just causing trouble. You've been in the Glover family for so many years. As long as you don't mess around, my brother and sister-in-law will always be your parents." Hayden didn't want to tell her the truth.

"Hayden, I want to know who my biological parents are! I also want to know if they're doing well. It's not entirely for that woman. You put me in the Glover family for your own selfish reasons. If my parents find out about this, do you think they'll forgive you? You'd better tell me." Willow had to know where that woman was.

Hayden frowned and looked at her. She thought, "This wretched girl actually dares to threaten me. She really overestimates herself.

She smiled and said, "I didn't tell you because it's for your own good. You should know that girl."

Willow was on her guard. She thought, "The people I know are all from wealthy families, which means that I originally came from a good family. So I didn't get any advantage by being in the Glover family.

"Who is it?" Willow was determined to know.

"Elvira Willis." Hayden stared at her and calmly uttered a name. Since Willow wanted to court death so badly, she would fulfill her wish.

"Who?" Willow thought she had heard wrongly. She asked in disbelief, her face full of disbelief.

"Zach Gilbert's wife. Now that you know, you can leave." Hayden felt disdain in her heart. Compared to Elvira, she felt that Willow was simply a clown.

After Hayden gave Elvira to the Willis family, she had been paying attention to her situation. She hated Sarah and Donald, so she was overjoyed that Elvira was not doing well in the Willis family. During those few years, she even found Sarah more pleasing to the eye. Since Sarah made her unhappy, she would let her child suffer. She felt that this was very fair.

However, what she did not expect was that ever since Elvira married Zach, her life had been great. She had defeated her hypocritical and cunning stepmother and stepsister. She had even done well in her own business.

This made Hayden very disgusted. Because of this, she started to sow discord between the Glover family and Zach. She just couldn't bear to see Sarah doing well.

No matter who won in this battle, Hayden felt that the Glover family would lose because they were fighting with their own daughter's husband.

Hayden sneered. She just couldn't bear to see Sarah and Elvira doing well. When Willow left, she was in a daze. She never expected her parents' biological daughter to be Elvira.

She knew about the Willis family's current situation. Her biological parents had divorced and the Willis family had gone bankrupt. Her biological mother had remarried but was despised by her new husband.

In other words, she could not count on her biological parents for any support. If she wanted to live well for the rest of her life, she had to cling to her adoptive parents. At this thought, Willow came up with a plan.

Sarah had been unable to hold herself back and wanted to confront Hayden to find out where her biological daughter was, but Richard stopped her.

"Mother, I don't think Hayden will admit it. If you go, you'll only alert her. The most important thing for us is to find the doctor who delivered your daughter back then. Perhaps we can find out her whereabouts this way." Richard persuaded Sarah. "Are we going to let her go just like that? I hate her so much right now!" Sarah hated Hayden to the core.

It was simply unreasonable that Hayden swapped her daughter like that.

"Since we already know the truth of the matter, with our family's influence, we will definitely be able to find my sister's whereabouts. Just wait patiently." Richard reminded Sarah.

Sarah wasn't someone who didn't care about the big picture. Otherwise, she wouldn't have persuaded Hayden to leave her scumbag boyfriend back then.

"Richard, I'm here to see you. Mom, you're here too." Willow walked in as if she didn't know anything about her background.

Sarah wiped her tears and looked at her. "Willow, hello."

"Are you here to see if I'm dead so you inherit all Glover's assets?" Richard didn't like Willow to begin with.

In the past, he turned a blind eye to her actions because he thought that they were family after all. Now that he knew the truth, he didn't want to be kind to her anymore. The more he looked at Willow, the more he disliked her. Willow's expression changed slightly. She looked at Sarah with an aggrieved expression. "Mom, look at what he is saying. How could I think that way?"

"Richard, watch your mouth. How could Willow have that intention?" Sarah glared at Richard unhappily.

Richard snorted coldly and said, "If you hadn't come to see me, I could have recovered faster!"

After saying that, he lay down and turned around, refusing to look at her. Thinking about the disgusting things Willow had done in the past, he was even more annoyed.

He wanted to find his biological sister as soon as possible so he could kick Willow out.

"Mom, why does Richard hate me so much? Are I not his sister?" Willow looked at Sarah aggrievedly as tears fell from her eyes.

Sarah's heart ached for her. After all, she had raised her for many years.

She said, "That's not what he meant."

"That's exactly what I meant. I'd be sick if I like someone who wants me dead! Willow, stop pretending and leave quickly," Richard said.

Willow was stunned. She could not believe that Richard would speak to her like this. She thought, 'Even though I really want him dead, I have never said it. How can he be so sure?'

"Alright, I'll leave. Do you think I want to come and see you? I'm doing this for the sake of my parents. I don't want to make things difficult for them." Willow turned around and ran out of the ward. Sarah wanted to call out to her, but in the end, she could only slap Richard's butt. "Can't you be nice to her?"

She Got A Better Man

Chapter 308 Chapter 308

"Mom, Willow has evil intentions. If we are soft-hearted towards her, it might bring disaster to the family. You have to be clear about this," Richard reasoned with Sarah seriously.

Sarah sighed helplessly. In the past, she only thought that Willow was a little willful and thought that her nature was not bad. Now, it seemed that she might have thought too simply of things. Thinking of this, Sarah sighed helplessly. No matter what, she had raised Willow. No matter what happened in the future, Sarah would not leave her alone.

Obviously, Richard's actions were much faster than Donald's. He had already found the doctor who delivered Sarah's child back then. Now, he was in Bordstel and was said to be a doctor. Richard did not need to spend any effort to make her confess everything. After all, she had a certain social status there. In order to protect her status, she confessed everything.

When Richard received the news, he was completely stunned. He did not expect his biological sister to be Elvira.

Recently, the Glover family and Zach had been competing intensely. Both sides had suffered heavy losses. Now that Richard learned that Zach was his brother-in-law, Richard was completely petrified.

Thinking of Elvira, Richard's expression softened a lot. He remembered that when he was in the car accident, Elvira had asked the driver to save him. If not for the driver taking the lead, he might have lost his life.

He did not expect the person who saved him to be his biological sister. He was sure that if Willow was there, she would definitely not care. She would even complain about others getting in her way. Richard felt that Elvira was a very kind person.

Richard had yet to figure out how to reunite with Elvira. He felt that this matter was unbelievable. After his investigation, he knew what kind of life Elvira had been living in the Willis family all these years. This made him feel sorry for her.

After some thought, he decided to help Zach take care of the Gilbert Group and not let others have the chance to snatch the company from him.

In fact, the Glover family was not the instigator of the crisis that Zach faced this time. The Glover family was just a tool for others. Now that they had been in this competition for so long, many people were involved. The Glover family could stop just because they wanted to. Therefore, Richard felt that if he wanted to reunite with Elvira, his family had to make up for their mistakes, and he had to help Zach protect the company.

Hence, when Zach was questioned in the board meeting, Richard directly stood up to defend him. The man who was hoping for Richard to take his side felt stunned.

Everyone was also shocked for a second. In the next second, they realized that Richard had changed his strategy. They felt that he must have planned a big move to kick Zach off his position.

After the meeting, Richard took the initiative to express his goodwill to Zach. "Mr. Gilbert, what are you having for lunch? Do you want to have lunch together?"

Zach felt that Richard had indeed changed his strategy. His cold face made it impossible to see any emotion as he said, "I'm not free!"

He had to accompany Elvira to a prenatal checkup in the afternoon.

It was also because of Elvira's pregnancy that this power struggle lasted for a long time. It was impossible for Zach to fully devote himself to the company's matters. This was also why Samuel and some of Zach's enemies were able to keep causing trouble. Richard knew Zach well. When he heard his cold words, he thought, 'How can Elvira tolerate Zach like this?"

"Oh, right, you're not free. You have to accompany your wife for a prenatal checkup in the afternoon. Don't worry, I'll help you settle the matters in the West District," Richard said softly.

When Zach heard his words, not only did his expression not become better, it became even colder. He grabbed Richard's collar and said, "How dare you investigate my wife? Richard, you're courting death!" Richard was stunned for a second, then, he realized that Zach misunderstood him and felt that he had ulterior motives.

The other board members were shocked to see that Zach resorted to violence. Richard felt lucky that he was not beaten up. Moreover, he was not angry at all. He felt good that Zach was protective of Elvira.

Zach had no idea what Richard was thinking and left in a hurry. Richard watched him leave and thought to himself, 'Spend time with my sister. I'll help you take care of the company!'

Elvira sat in the car and slowly drank some water. She looked at Zach and felt that he seemed to be a little distracted.

Elvira poked him. "Zach, is there something on your mind?"

Zach came back to his senses and said, "I'm just thinking about the company. It's nothing serious. Don't worry."

He really couldn't understand Richard's actions that day. He was wondering what he was up to.

He thought, 'Could it be that Richard wants to take advantage of the time to do something when Elvira is in labor? His actions today are very confusing.'

When Zach thought of this, his expression turned ugly. He felt that he had been too gentle with the Glover family. He lowered his head and looked at Elvira's stomach. He felt that he had to do something. He would definitely not let Samuel succeed. This was Elvira's last checkup. There were no problems with the checkup. They were just waiting for delivery.

Elvira would only let Samantha Green deliver her baby. Samantha was also the one who did the checkup on her. Samantha was very excited when she saw the two beautiful babies in Elvira's stomach. She said that she wanted to be their godmother and buy beautiful clothes and shoes for the babies in the future.

She knew that the Gilbert family valued Elvira and the babies, so it was impossible for her to take them all to herself.

Fortunately, Elvira rejected other famous doctors and insisted that she deliver her children. This way, she would be the first person to see the babies. Just thinking about it made her happy.

After checking that everything was fine, Samantha reminded Elvira of some things to take note of. She had already said these things a lot of times, but she still felt worried. Elvira knew that she was worried about her, so no matter how many times she said it, Elvira smiled and nodded. Samantha felt satisfied.

On the way back, a car suddenly lost control and crashed into the car Elvira was sitting in. As it suddenly crashed from the side, Zach's body involuntarily rushed forward. He was shocked and turned around to look at Elvira. She had already fallen off the seat. His expression changed drastically.

She Got A Better Man

"Elvira!" Zach was so scared that his voice was distorted. He hugged her as if he was about to collapse.

Elvira fell heavily to the ground. She could feel that the babies in her abdomen was starting to feel uneasy, and something was flowing out of her lower body.

She looked at the frightened Zach and comforted him while enduring the pain. "Don't panic. I might have to give birth to the babies immediately. Otherwise, something will happen. Call Samantha now and ask her to prepare for the surgery. Let's turn around and go back to the hospital immediately!" Elvira calmly instructed him.

"Alright. I'll make a call right away." Zach was originally very flustered. Seeing that she was so calm, he tried his best to calm himself down.

Arguments came from outside. Elvira was in so much pain that she was losing her consciousness.

Zach looked out angrily and saw an arrogant woman shouting something at the driver and bodyguards.

Zach quickly called Samantha. Samantha quickly instructed everyone to cooperate with her in preparing for the surgery.

Elvira was having a premature delivery, so Samantha was worried. She ran to her department director and asked her to help with the delivery. She then called a few big shots from the department and had them on stand by.

After Zach made the arrangements, he looked outside and saw that the woman was still arguing. He saw that Elvira was in so much pain that she was sweating profusely. He quickly rolled down the car window and shouted, "Hurry up and drive back to the hospital!" "Mr. Gilbert, this woman refused to move the car. She was the one who hit us, but she wants compensation," the driver immediately explained.

When Willow heard Zach's words, she guessed that something must have happened to Elvira. She was overjoyed and was even more determined not to leave. She smiled at Zach and said, "Mr. Gilbert, so it's you. I..."

"Throw this bitch away. If anything happens to my wife, I will kill all of you!" Zach was filled with a strong hostility, scaring everyone until their hearts tightened.

Only then did the staff see Elvira who was already sweating profusely. Everyone gasped. Willow wanted to say something, but the bodyguard rushed over and kicked her away. The driver quickly got into the car and drove the car away.

Willow was in so much pain from the kick that she couldn't make a sound for a long time. It wasn't until they left that she shouted for someone to call the police. She called Sarah and cried that she had been beaten up.

Elvira was in so much pain. However, she thought that although this was a premature delivery, as long as she gave birth in time, there would not be any major problems. She was slightly relieved.

Zach kept calling her name and kissing her forehead. When they returned to the hospital, Samantha was already waiting at the entrance. When she saw the car coming back, she reacted quickly. Zach carried Elvira out of the car and put her in the car. At that moment, she was almost unconscious.

Samantha felt that the situation was dire. A group of medical staff pushed Elvira into the hospital and rushed toward the operating theater, attracting the attention of a lot of people. They knew that this must be a very critical patient, so they automatically made way for them. When Elvira was pushed into the operating theater, Zach insisted on following her in. Samantha was worried that he would be frightened by the resuscitation later, so she asked him to wait outside.

"If you want Elvira and the children to be safe, you have to listen to me! I'm a doctor!" Samantha firmly refused to let him enter the operating theater.

If it was before, she would have agreed to let him go in, but in this situation, she was afraid that he would cause trouble. Now that all the top experts in the hospital had been called to the operating theater by her, Elvira and the children should be fine.

When Zach heard this, he subconsciously stopped in his tracks. His mind was in a mess. As long as Elvira and the babies were fine, he would be willing to do anything.

However, the moment the door of the operating theater closed, Zach knelt on the ground. He felt his heart twist in pain. He wished that nothing would happen to Elvira and the children.

In the operating theater, a few doctors came over to stabilize Elvira's condition. After Samantha was ready, she picked up the scalpel. Looking at Elvira who had yet to regain consciousness, she knew that she could not wait a moment longer. If she waited any longer, the babies would really be in danger. She took a deep breath and made a cut on her abdomen.

Richard received a call from Sarah. When he heard that Willow had hit Zach's car and was beaten up by his bodyguards, his expression changed drastically. He knew that Zach had accompanied Elvira to the prenatal checkup in the afternoon. She was pregnant and very fragile at the moment.

*****

"What about Elvira?" Richard asked anxiously.

"Zach's wife is pregnant and is about to give birth. Willow hit his car and must have hurt his wife! Otherwise, he wouldn't be so irritable!" Richard said as he ran out. He had to hurry to the hospital.

Sarah was stunned. "What do you mean?"

Sarah frowned. "Willow didn't say anything about that, but she didn't do it on purpose. How could he hit her?"

"Mom!" Richard was already furious, but when he heard Sarah's words, he became even angrier. He quickly told Sarah what had happened. "Mom, Elvira is your biological daughter!"

Sarah was dumbfounded as if she could not understand what he was saying. Richard got out of the elevator and continued, "Mom, Willow did it on purpose. She wanted to kill Elvira and her children! I'll talk to you later. I'll go to the hospital first!"

Sarah called again. Richard picked up the phone. "Mom, I've already found the doctor who helped you deliver back then. She told me everything. I only got the exact news a few days ago. Since you know now, let's go to the hospital together. We can do the paternity test."

After saying that, Richard hung up the phone. He left the company and took a taxi, instructing the driver to hurry to the hospital.

Richard had already confirmed that Elvira was his biological sister. Although she did not look very similar to his parents, she looked extremely similar to his grandmother. Richard had seen Elvira before. At that time, he only felt that she looked familiar, but did not think much of it. After receiving this piece of news, he came to a realization.

"Could she be lying? What if she's not?" Sarah was afraid that this was another conspiracy.

"I'll send you her photo. You'll know when you see it." Richard hung up the phone and quickly sent Elvira's photo.

Sarah felt her heart tremble when

saw Elvira, This was because Elvira looked almost identical to her deceased mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law was a famous beauty back then. Unfortunately, no one in the Glover family took after her mother-in-law. She had regretted it for many years after she married into the family.

She did not expect Emira to inherit her mother-in-law's astonishing beauty.

She Got A Better Man

Elvira's surgery was very successful. She had already been rescued and slowly woke up. Samantha saw her looking over and said with a smile, "Don't worry, the babies are very safe. It's a boy and a girl. Elvira, you're amazing." "How are they?" Elvira was still very weak. She asked softly.

"Very healthy. You're full of nutrients. Even though they are premature, it doesn't affect their health," Samantha explained while watching the babies being cleaned up.

Only then did Elvira relax. After the babies were cleaned up, Samantha carried them over for Elvira to take a look. Because they were twins, the two babies were not big. The boy was five pounds, and the girl was a littler lighter than him. Now, they looked a little wrinkled. "Our department director is personally suturing you. I'll send the babies out first. Your husband is worried sick. I'll get him to come in and accompany you now," Samantha explained.

Elvira nodded. "Alright, go ahead."

Zach glanced at the babies and asked about Elvira's condition anxiously. After confirming that she was fine, he heaved a sigh of relief. Samantha said, "You can go in after seeing the babies."

"I'm not going to look at them. You can take care of them." After saying that, Zach quickly entered the delivery room. After entering, he looked at Elvira and his heart ached terribly.

He cooperated with the doctor to disinfect himself and put on a protective suit before he dared to approach Elvira. Elvira looked at him and smiled. She asked softly, "Have you seen the babies?"

"I have. How do you feel now?" Zach looked at the wound that was being stitched up and his eyes turned red again.

The C-section wound was stitched up layer by layer. It looked a little scary, but he only felt his heart ache for her. Elvira shook her head. "I've been anesthetized. I don't feel anything."

"Elvira, it's been hard on you. We won't have any more children." Zach held her hand as tears rolled down his face.

He didn't want to have more babies. He just wanted to spend the rest of his life with her in peace.

"Alright, anyway, we have a son and a daughter now," Elvira agreed. She did not want to have other babies either. Initially, she only wanted to have one baby. Now that she had a son and a daughter, she naturally would not want to be pregnant again. Zach did not want to leave Elvira, as if he was afraid that she would disappear in the blink of an eye.

When he followed the medical staff to push Elvira out of the operating theater, Richard and Sarah arrived. The two of them ran over excitedly and heaved a sigh of relief when they saw that Elvira was fine.

"What are you doing here? Get lost!" Zach now hated the Glover family to the core. He swore that he would make the Glover family pay with their blood.

"Mr. Gilbert, Elvira is my biological sister!" Richard was afraid that Zach would go crazy and cause unnecessary misunderstandings, so he quickly told the truth.

As soon as he said this, Zach was stunned. Elvira was also stunned. She looked at the two people rushing over.

Sarah's eyes were fixed on Elvira. At this moment, she was very sure that Elvira was her biological daughter.

"Girl, you've suffered. I've let you down for so many years." Sarah cried and wanted to go forward, but she was stopped by Zach.

"What are you guys doing? Your daughter caused my wife to give birth prematurely, and now you're here to put on a show?" Zach blocked the two of them from approaching Elvira.

Elvira was also very shocked. The anesthetic had not worn off yet, so she could not feel the pain from her wound. She just looked at the two people who suddenly ran out.

"What I said is true. I only found out about this a few days ago. If you don't believe me, look at my grandmother's photo. See if she looks like your wife." Richard quickly took out a photo. Zach looked over and was shocked. Although the photo was black and white, the person in it clearly looked 90% similar to Elvira.

Richard quickly showed the photo to Elvira. If she was not sure that she had never taken such a photo, she would really think that the person in the photo was her.

"Let's talk about it when we get back to the ward. Elvira has just finished her surgery." Samantha came back and heard everything. She could only suggest that they go to the ward first. Sarah looked at Elvira with tears in her eyes. She felt her heart ache. She was sure that Elvira was her daughter.

On the other hand, Zach was expressionless. Even if what Richard said was true, he would not forgive the person who wanted to hurt his family.

After settling Elvira in the ward, the doctor checked her again to make sure that she was fine before leaving.

Sarah was a little agitated. She looked at Elvira and was especially sad. She did not expect that the first time she saw her biological daughter was when she finished giving birth. Richard was afraid that Sarah would be too agitated, so he helped her sit down and comforted her.

After he turned around, he looked at Elvira and Zach with a complicated gaze. He told them about how he had discovered that Willow was not the biological daughter of the Glover family after the car accident a few days ago.

Then, he began to investigate where the biological daughter of the Glover family was. He found the doctor who delivered her back then. He even told them clearly that the swap was done by Hayden. Zach turned around and looked at Elvira. He knew that ever since she found out that she was not the Willis family's biological daughter, she had wanted to find her biological parents.

He was also helping her investigate.

Unexpectedly, before he could find any useful information, her mother had come knocking on her door. What surprised him even more was that they were his archenemy. Zach didn't know what to say.

As Richard spoke, he observed Elvira's reaction. Seeing that she was only frowning, he asked, "Do you believe me?"

This made everyone look at Elvira.

10.

Elvira felt quite complicated. She knew that Zach was now at odds with the Glover family. She did not expect that she was actually a member of the Glover family. However, after seeing that photo, she actually believed it.

Sarah looked at her expectantly. Zach and Samantha waited to see what Elvira wanted to do.

"Let's do the paternity test first. We'll talk about it after the test results are out," Elvira replied indifferently.

"Alright!" Richard immediately agreed.

"Regardless of whether you are Elvira's family or not, I will not let Willow off! She was intentionally harming Elvira!" Zach warned the Glover family sternly and angrily.
