

She Got A Better Man 312

Sarah pulled Richard out of the ward in a panic. Before leaving, she looked at the weak Elvira reluctantly.noveldrama

After everyone left, Elvira was a little dazed. Zach gently touched her head and asked, "Does the wound hurt?"

Elvira shook her head. Her eyes were a little moist as she smiled and said, "Hubby, I think I'll have a mother who will love me in the future."

Zach gently kissed her forehead. "Yes, I can tell that she is a very good mother."

He was even a little grateful for Sarah's appearance. It seemed that Elvira was very happy about that. As long as Elvira was happy, Zach would be content.

When the Gilbert family arrived, Elvira was already asleep. Tracy arrived first. A butler later came in with a lot of stuff. Skylar and Grace arrived soon. When they learned that Elvira was asleep, they went to see the babies first.

Then, they learned about the Glover family's matter from Samantha, as well as Elvira's car accident. The Gilbert family was furious, and their hearts ached even more for Elvira.

"I feel so sorry for Elvira! Willow is really despicable. We definitely can't let her off!" It had been a long time since Tracy had lost her temper. However, she was really angry this time.

"That's right, we can't let her off. She's so infuriating. How dare she bully my Elvira? She's courting death!" Grace was also very angry. Skylar was naturally angry too.

Samantha was relieved to see the Gilbert family being so protective of Elvira. She focused on taking care of the two babies. Ever since the babies were born, she had never let the babies leave her sight. She would definitely not let anyone harm the babies.

At night, the Glover family came to see Elvira again. Donald came with Richard and Sarah this time. He was updated on the situation. When Donald heard about Hayden's actions, he was especially angry and called to sever ties with her.

Donald had no objections to how Willow was being handled. He had always believed that one had to pay the price for their actions. If Willow hadn't been so vicious, they wouldn't have been so heartless to her.

However, what she had done really couldn't be forgiven. As for the future, even if she came out of the prison, the Glover family wouldn't see her again.

Hayden felt that even though she did something wrong, she was still a member of the Glover family. However, her parents had passed away a long time ago. Donald and Sarah were the heads of the Glover family.

They decided to kick Hayden out of the family, which shocked her greatly. She never believed that they would be so heartless to her. Hayden called Donald and questioned him.

Donald only said, "I'm being merciful by not locking you up. From now on, the Glover family will not have anything to do with you."

Later on, when Elvira found out about this matter, she accepted Donald as her father. She did not want to get involved in family drama again. It was too tiring and annoying. She no longer had the mood to scheme against anyone. Since Richard was open-minded and her parents were decisive, she felt that it would be great to live with them.

Elvira suggested that the Glover family should not go against Zach anymore. In the future, they had to help each other.

Richard and Donald pondered for a while. This made Sarah so angry that she almost hit them. She scolded, "Is what Elvira said wrong? You actually still want to go against Zach?"

"No, mother, you've misunderstood. Father and I are just coming up with a plan. Let's not announce our relationship first. We'll continue to pretend to be enemies with Zach and eventually give Samuel and the power behind him a fatal blow. This way, they won't have the ability to cause trouble anymore," Richard hurriedly explained.

"Yes, that's what I mean too." Donald quickly echoed his words, afraid that Elvira would misunderstand him.

Elvira looked at Zach after listening and felt that this method was feasible. A month later, Samuel and the power behind him were chased out by Zach and the Glover family. They could not even stay in Jersten anymore.

Samuel was flustered and exasperated. He pointed at Richard and Donald and scolded them for being blinded by greed and actually switching sides with the enemy at the critical moment.

"Zach is my brother-in-law! If you want to bully him, you're my enemy," Richard pushed up her glasses and said with a smile.

"That's right. Zach is my son-in-law. You're the enemy." Donald looked at him with a cold and disdainful expression. He thought, 'This is what you get for abandoning your perfect family.' Samuel was petrified when he heard that. He could not believe it. "What are you talking about?"

"I'm sorry, I forgot to tell you that

Elvira is my biological sister. Tomorrow is the party for her babies. We will hold a big party and invite all the important people in the city. At that time, we will announce that Elvira is the daughter of the Glover family. However, you can't participate. After all, you have to leave the city right now," Richard said with a smile.

Samuel was completely dumbfounded. His expression was extremely ugly. When he was dragged away by the security guards, he scolded Richard and Donald for stabbing him in the back. He cursed that someone would stab them in the back as well. Richard and Donald ignored him. They wanted to see Elvira and her babies. The gifts they had customized for the babies should have been flown over. They still had to check the goods, so they did not have time to waste on Samuel.

The party was quite grand. In just a month, the two babies had turned out quite cute. Anyone who saw them would like them very much.

The two babies were covered in luxury jewelry at the party. They were all gifts from wealthy families.

The person in charge of the babies's safety was still Samantha. She was a doctor and the babies's godmother. She was a meticulous person, so Elvira could rest assured with Samantha around. Elvira wanted to help greet the guests, but the Glover family and the Gilbert family were unwilling to let her work. She didn't want to stay idle, so she came out to help.

Someone sent over a gift box. Elvira took it and asked who sent it. The other party said that it was an international express delivery. Elvira opened it and saw two sets of especially beautiful jewelry. It was obvious who the sender to put it

At the party, the Glover family officially announced that Elvira was their daughter. The guests gave their sincere blessings. After the announcement, the babies were carried out to meet the guests. Later, Zach suddenly pulled Elvira out of the banquet hall and towards the back door of the hotel.

She asked, "Where are we going?"

"You'll know when we get there." Zach pulled her through the hotel corridor to the hotel's back garden.

Elvira was wearing a dress that day. When she was about to enter the garden, the waiter took a white veil and put it on her head. Elvira's beautiful eyes looked at Zach. He smiled gently at her and pulled her into the garden.

The garden was decorated with many flowers. Melodious music started playing. When they reached the center of the flowers, Zach knelt on one knee. There was a small red box in his hand. He opened it and presented a dazzling diamond ring. Elvira looked at him. He asked, "Elvira, will you marry me?"

Elvira did not say anything. The memories of the two of them from the first time they met until now flashed through her mind. They had registered their marriage long ago. However, he still chose to officially propose to her and gave her a romantic proposal ceremony. Zach looked at her, and his palms were sweating. He was afraid that she would reject him.

"I do." Elvira did not want him to be anxious. She smiled and reached out her hand.

Zach finally heaved a sigh of relief. He took out the ring and put it on her right ring finger seriously.

"We're already married. Why are you still doing this?" Although Elvira complained, she looked very happy. After all, every appreciated to be valued by their loved ones.

"Elvira, I love you. I just want to give you the best things in the world. I also want to hold a grand wedding for you. I will definitely not let you have any regrets in your life." Zach kissed her fingertips very sincerely.

Elvira pulled him up. She hugged him with a smile and said, "I love you too."

The end.
