

Big Shot 421

Chapter 421: It's Likely Someone From Your Qiao Family

Qiao Mianmian saw him open his laptop and wanted to say "Why are you on your laptop now if you aren't that busy?"

But she chose not to say it, anyway.

She felt that it was so tough being the boss sometimes.

Especially the bosses of big companies, just like Mo Yesi.

He had to attend to work matters even during lunch.

Since he was so busy, she didn't want to disturb him either. She got a drink and watched him work.

The man's slender fingers tapped on the keyboard rapidly. It was so quick, Qiao Mianmian couldn't even tell what was typing.

Those ten long fingers were like mini galloping horses.

A few minutes later.

The man suddenly stopped typing and closed his laptop. He placed it aside.

Qiao Mianmian blinked in some confusion. "You're done?"

Mo Yesi looked up. "Mm."

He took a sip of the lemon-infused water and said casually, "I checked it out."

Qiao Mianmian: "Mm?"

"The person behind the post about you. I found her IP address."

What!!

She widened her eyes. "So you were busy looking for that person's IP address, and not actually working?"

"Yes."

Qiao Mianmian's eyes widened even more.

That was... so quick.

It had been less than 5 minutes? And he got the answer?

What she didn't know was that in those few minutes, Mo Yesi didn't just find out the poster's IP address. He also found out the top commenters' IPs as well, and a huge amount of information about them.

For an experienced hacker like him, this was a piece of cake.

“Who is it?” Qiao Mianmian was shocked.

Mo Yesi took another sip before saying, “Based on the IP address, the person who posted it is likely someone from your Qiao family.”

“Someone from the Qiao family?” Qiao Mianmian was confused.

“Yes.”

Mo Yesi couldn’t be wrong.

It had to be someone from the Qiao family.

And only one person could be behind this—the one person who had everything against her.

Qiao Mianmian’s expression darkened a little.

She didn’t think it would be Qiao Anxin.

She’d assumed that it was a random girl in school that didn’t like her.

Then again, Qiao Anxin was in the same school as her. But she hadn’t been in school a lot ever since she signed a contract under Star Splendor.

Who would’ve known that she’d drag her name in the mud on the school forum after leaving for so long?

Mo Yesi waited for a while before asking, “What do you intend to do?”

Qiao Mianmian narrowed her eyes as she felt a ball of rage grow inside her. “Can I give her a taste of her own medicine?”

She’d lost all patience with Qiao Anxin at this point.

She hadn’t bothered to deal with the adulterous pair and had wanted to stay away from Su Ze and Qiao Anxin.

But this wasn’t what Qiao Anxin was doing.

Qiao Anxin never intended to let her off.

She wouldn’t stop until Qiao Mianmian’s life ended up in shambles.

Perhaps her current life wasn’t as terrible as Qiao Anxin would’ve hoped, and this upset her, so she got more extreme with her ways.

Chapter 422: I’m Willing to Cooperate With You Unconditionally

She was bent on ruining her reputation and embarrassing her in school.

Also, Qiao Anxin saw her on the day of the audition. She might be trying to ruin her third female role after finding out that she'd been successful in obtaining it.

All of these were possible.

Upon thinking about that, Qiao Mianmian's ball of fury grew even bigger.

It seemed like she wasn't able to get away from it, even though she'd tried her best to.

Someone just wouldn't let her off.

If she still sat back and allowed herself to be attacked without countering it, she wouldn't be Qiao Mianmian.

She'd be a weak girl!

Qiao Mianmian was the sort of person who avoided conflicts because she didn't like blowing things up. But once she decided to fight back, she'd do a damned good job at it.

"You can do whatever you want." Mo Yesi sounded ready to indulge her. "Miss Qiao, I'm willing to cooperate with you unconditionally."

Qiao Chen found it out pretty quickly too.

He gave her a call halfway through their meal.

He said that the address was also the Qiao household.

Qiao Chen sounded furious over the phone. If Qiao Mianmian hadn't calmed him down and dissuaded him, he would've stormed to the Qiao household to beat Qiao Anxin up.

Thankfully, Qiao Mianmian managed to stop him.

After hanging up, she wasn't in the mood to eat anymore. She kept thinking about how to get back at Qiao Anxin.

After being in a daze for a while, a little pile of food had formed on her plate.

Mo Yesi pinched her cheek lightly. "Don't think about it now, have some food first. You can start thinking about it once you've filled your stomach."

"Oh."

Qiao Mianmian picked up her knife and fork and saw that the steak on her plate had been cut up already. The sizes were just right for her to consume each in one mouthful.

Meanwhile, Mo Yesi's steak was still in its intact state.

She felt all warm and fuzzy on the inside by this thoughtful act.

She had to admit that while Mo Yesi seemed aloof and unapproachable, he was actually very good at caring for others when he set his heart to it.

Qiao Mianmian felt that she wasn't getting good ideas, so she might as well properly enjoy the steak that Mo Yesi had cut up for her instead.

After lunch, Mo Yesi sent Qiao Mianmian back to school.

He still had work to attend to in the office, so he only chatted with her for a few minutes before taking his leave.

Qiao Mianmian had the habit of taking afternoon naps.

There were two lessons in the afternoon, but they were after three, so she had time to take a nap when she returned to her room.

At the company building, Mo Yesi took the elevator that went straight to his office's floor.

He got out of the elevator on the 37th floor and bumped into Wei Zheng coming his way.

Wei Zheng immediately greeted him and said, "Chairman Mo, Qiao Ruhai has agreed to use the Qiao family villa to pay for his debt. We can officially settle the transfer paperwork tomorrow."

Mo Yesi smiled. "Very good."

Once the transfer was confirmed, he'd be able to give Qiao Mianmian a surprise.

She'd be so happy.

Upon thinking about that, a hint of joy sparked in Mo Yesi's eyes.

Wei Zheng couldn't help but feel a little stunned when he saw his boss's expression.

Chapter 423: This Time, I'll See How She's Going to Clean Her Image

Chairman Mo hardly ever smiled.

And even when he did, it was nothing like this.

This time, even he could tell that Chairman Mo was in a great mood.

It seemed like Chairman Mo was a little different since he got married.

Although he hadn't exactly changed much, he could sense some difference on the inside.

To be more specific, he seemed more alive now, rather than a cold statue that he was before.

The current Chairman Mo was more human than before.

And this was all because of the Young Madam.

Well, love really had a way to change people.

Even someone as stone-cold as Chairman Mo could be softened.

Mo Yesi walked to the Chairman's office and suddenly thought of something. He stopped in his tracks and turned around. "There's one more thing for you to attend to."

"Chairman Mo, please give your orders."

Qiao Mianmian woke up from her nap after about an hour. She didn't know that a lot had happened while she was sleeping.

She was walking out of the room and yawning when Jiang Luoli suddenly dashed before her.

"Baby, Baby, have you seen Weibo!"

Qiao Mianmian looked a little lost and shook her head. "No, what happened again?"

"Chen Chen is amazing." Jiang Luoli looked so impressed. "He managed to find the person who made those posts. Someone posted the IP address on the forum and found the person behind those gossip posts a while ago. He even found and revealed the few top commenters.

"Damn, I didn't think Zhang Yuwei and Bai Xiao were among them.

"It wasn't as if you had anything against them, but they were so mean and menacing in their comments. I didn't know they were so disgusting.

"Of course, the most disgusting of all is that white lily sister of yours. Damn it. She stole your man, and now she's out there slandering you. I've never seen someone so gross.

"To think that you've been so merciful towards her. When she first joined the Qiao family, you didn't even make things difficult for her. Why did she have to be so mean to you."

Qiao Mianmian casually said, "Correction. From the point Su Ze lost control of his lower body, he stopped being my man."

Qiao Mianmian was very appalled by Su Ze.

She couldn't tolerate it if anyone tried to associate them together.

"Yes, yes. I said it wrongly. He's not your man, he's just a dog who can't even control his lower body. But the main point is, Chen Chen is really awesome! Qiao Anxin is a hit on Weibo again.

"Now the whole internet knows just what despicable things she's done. This time, I'll see how she's going to clean her image.

"She's always portrayed herself as a kind and innocent girl. Now that she's been caught fighting in public, spreading falsehoods about her sister, and even being the third party in her sister's relationship, her image is going to be ruined. Haha, this is retribution. She deserves all of it."

Jiang Luoli hated the white lily b*tch to the core.

And this white lily even bullied her best friend. That was the worst.

Qiao Mianmian took her cell phone and looked through Weibo.

She wasn't as optimistic as Jiang Luoli to think that Qiao Anxin would be ruined so easily.

Chapter 424: Evidence and Truth

As an artiste that Star Splendor had been trying their best to groom, and also as the girlfriend of Star Splendor's Chairman, the company would definitely try to clean her image.

As long as it wasn't drug abuse, murder, or anything too extreme in the eyes of the public, the company could very possibly salvage the situation.

They just needed to dump more money into it.

A few male celebrities had been condemned when evidence of their affairs was made known, but they were doing well now.

Qiao Anxin was one of the most popular actresses of the time, and everyone's eyes were on her.

Qiao Mianmian found news of her the moment she opened Weibo.

Someone sent a really long post about how Qiao Anxin had seduced Su Ze and taken the place of his girlfriend. It was also mentioned that she'd hoarded a lot of resources and opportunities meant for other artistes, just because she was Su Ze's girlfriend. The case of her slandering her sister was also made known.

Her IP address for the post she made was also attached.

There was evidence and the truth now.

The comment section erupted the moment this came out.

Many of them actually did not know that Qiao Anxin had a sister, and that her sister used to be Chairman Su Ze's girlfriend.

A lot of celebrities in the entertainment industry did know that Su Ze had a fiancé before.

But few of them knew that this fiancé was actually Qiao Anxin's sister.

It was terrible enough for an average person to be a third party who ruined the relationship of her sister and future brother-in-law.

Not to mention a popular celebrity.

It made it even worse and more distasteful.

Moreover, Qiao Anxin was just embroiled in another high-profile conflict just a couple of days ago. Now that she made the headlines again, some users voiced their doubts about her actual personality and wondered if she'd been putting on a show this whole time.

AdoreGirl: Gosh, I didn't expect Qiao Anxin to be so disgusting. She snatched her biological sister's man and even had the audacity to slander her instead? Is she even human?

IAMMostBeautiful: People actually believe that celebrities are as nice as they appear to be? I mean, every celebrity appears good in public. But they're just being properly packaged and publicized by their company. I'm not really surprised that Qiao Anxin did this. I was in the same class as her in high school, and not many girls actually liked her at all. But the guys felt that she was beautiful and gentle and actually trusted that she was truly like this. That's why she has more male than female friends.

AnxinsAPrincess: Are you trying to smear Anxin's name?! So your words are true just because you claim you were her classmate? What if I say I'm your father, would you believe me, huh?!

IAMMostBeautiful: @AnxinsAPrincess Qiao Anxin is a d*mb b*tch. You'd better watch your mouth here. A slave really resembles its master. But what a pity, does your master even know who you are even while you're here defending her?

JustAPasserby: Just an objective perspective: there's no smoke without fire. There are pictures and video as evidence of her hitting someone else in public. Although the company issued a clear declaration thereafter, it doesn't change the fact that fighting with a fellow artiste in public is bad. As for her being a third party, we still need more evidence.

Chapter 425: Trying to Get Your Prince Charming to Dump Me

But the IP address has already been tracked and revealed. It has to be real, I suppose. If Qiao Anxin was really behind this, then her character is really awful.

AnxinsFairy: Haha, our Anxin isn't a newbie in this line, and there's never been any negative news about her. But over these two days, negative stuff about her has been coming up one after another. Who knows if it's all a scheme? And that IP address thing, it's obviously fake. I can't believe people are buying it. I pity you guys for your horrible IQ.

ImXiaoXinXin: That's right. Someone is obviously trying to do Sister Anxin in. I've been a fan of hers for so many years, I know how she's like. The person behind all of this can just stop it. We're not so stupid as to believe that she's a bad person just because of this ridiculous evidence. Sister Anxin will definitely reply with a satisfactory answer.

YetAnotherBadDay: It's not wrong for fans to defend their idol, but it's not right to be lying without even batting an eyelid. The person who said the IP address was made up, are you serious? It obviously isn't.

The user YetAnotherBadDay used professional software to analyze the IP address image posted to prove his point.

The result showed that it was genuine, not made up nor Photoshopped.

Even so, some of Qiao Anxin's loyal fans refused to believe it. They insisted that even the analysis itself was edited.

And that someone was out to do their Sister Anxin in.

There were two clear factions in the comment section.

One was in support of Qiao Anxin.

The other was mostly suspicious of her.

But there was also a very small minority adding fuel to fire and making Qiao Anxin sound even worse than she already was. They were probably her rivals in the industry.

Meanwhile, Qiao Anxin, the star of this entire hullabaloo, had not even expressed her opinion yet.

Her work account was also silent.

It seemed as if Qiao Anxin didn't know about this at all.

Qiao Mianmian looked at the comment section for a while and then exited Weibo.

She knew that some fans would doubt the IP address image.

She locked her cell phone and said, "Qiao Anxin's stuff wasn't spilled by Chen Chen."

"Ah? Not Chen Chen?" Jiang Luoli was shocked. "Who was it, then?"

"Your Prince Charming."

"Prince Charming knows about this?"

"Mm. I didn't plan to tell him about it, actually. But when he came over, Bai Xiao and Zhang Yuwei spilled it all to him. So..."

"What! What were they trying to do?"

Qiao Mianmian tilted her head as she thought. "I guess they were trying to get your Prince Charming to dump me."

Jiang Luoli was speechless.

She looked at how calm Qiao Mianmian was and frowned. "Mianmian, I know you're kind and soft-hearted, so you wouldn't go to the extreme. But Bai Xiao and Zhang Yuwei are too much. If you don't teach them a lesson now, they'll only get worse."

Qiao Mianmian knew this too.

She nodded. "I understand. Don't worry, I know what to do."

"You really do?" Jiang Luoli had her doubts.

"I'm not a saint." Qiao Mianmian was a little amused by her reaction. "They've climbed all over me and are about to shit on my head. I can't possibly sit back and do nothing. I didn't intend to retaliate, but since they forced me to, I'll just give them what they asked for."

Qiao Mianmian's eyes got a little colder at the end.

Chapter 426: Miss Qiao Is Not Pregnant

Jiang Luoli nodded. "That's good, then. You really should teach them a lesson, and also that stepsister of yours..."

“We’ll see how she replies first.” Qiao Mianmian wasn’t in a hurry to get back at her.

After all, she had Mo Yesi behind her.

With Mo Yesi taking charge of this, she had nothing to worry about.

She was more interested in how Qiao Anxin was going to respond to this.

And also, how Su Ze intended to clean Qiao Anxin’s image for her.

Star Splendor Entertainment.

The President’s office.

Su Ze’s assistant had just reported the facts to Su Ze when he sensed the atmosphere getting cold.

He looked up and saw Su Ze in his seat, his face dark and cold, and the air around him oddly still.

The assistant quickly looked back down.

Chairman Su was furious.

He’d been with Su Ze for about five years now, and as his right-hand man, he knew a lot about Su Ze’s private life too.

For instance, he knew that Su Ze was already having an affair with Qiao Anxin before he had broken up with Qiao Mianmian.

Su Ze didn’t hide it from him.

In fact, he had even got condoms for Su Ze when he urgently needed it.

To be honest, he didn’t think Su Ze would break up with Qiao Mianmian.

Because he knew that Su Ze really loved Qiao Mianmian and was prepared to marry her.

As for Qiao Anxin...

Su Ze was just toying with her from the start.

But Qiao Anxin was a smart woman. She knew that she wouldn’t be able to win him over, so she found a way to get pregnant with his child.

Basically, Su Ze ended up with her, mainly because of her child. That was it.

Otherwise, she wouldn’t have had a chance at all.

Under these circumstances, Chairman Su felt that it was too much that she’d been feigning her pregnancy. Even as an assistant, he felt that Qiao Anxin had gone overboard.

Back then, if it wasn’t for this child, Chairman Su wouldn’t have had to break up with the woman of his dreams.

Su Ze had clenched his fists when he heard the words “not pregnant” from his assistant. He reached a boiling point.

“You’re sure you got to the bottom of this?” He looked up, a little pale.

The assistant said politely, “Yes, this is what the doctor who did the test on Miss Qiao said. He said that Miss Qiao is not pregnant and that the two reports were someone else’s.”

Bam!

Su Ze swept everything off his desk the moment he heard that.

The floor was a terrible mess.

The assistant was startled. “Chairman Su, a-are you alright?”

“You’re asking if I’m alright?!”

Su Ze seemed triggered by his question and shot him a glare. His expression was menacing as he yelled, “Would you be alright if you were cheated by a woman like that?”

“Chairman Su...”

“Do you know why I agreed to break up with Qiao Mianmian? If it wasn’t because Qiao Anxin said she was pregnant, why would I have...” Su Ze looked like he was in agony.

He still loved Qiao Mianmian.

And he knew it the moment he broke up with her.

The difference was that, back then, he thought he could still keep her by his side.

Chapter 427: She’s Always Been Waiting for Chairman Su’s Apology

He thought that Qiao Mianmian would never actually leave him.

But was God punishing him now? Was this to tell him that he’d made the wrong decision?

He’d given up on the woman he loved in the name of taking responsibility.

But the fact was that this “child” never existed.

Was there anything more pathetic than that?

The assistant looked at his regretful expression and realized that Chairman Su was really mourning the loss of his true love.

His heart was still with the Miss Qiao of the past.

The assistant hesitated for a while and then said apprehensively, “Chairman Su, you and Miss Qiao are only dating. You’re not married. So... it’s not too late. Chairman Su, you only chose Miss Qiao to take responsibility for her child. Since this is all a hoax, you wouldn’t have to take responsibility for Miss Qiao anymore. Moreover, she went too far by lying to you about this. I believe Miss Qiao wouldn't dare say anything even if you break up with her."

Having been by Su Ze's side for so long, he roughly knew what Su Ze was thinking.

A flicker of hope could be seen in Su Ze's eyes the moment he said that.

"It isn't too late?"

The assistant immediately nodded. "No, it isn't. It isn't at all."

"But..."

Su Ze recalled how cold Qiao Mianmian's attitude towards him was, and the disgust in her eyes when she saw him. He hesitated for a bit. "I hurt her. Perhaps she... won't forgive me."

"It won't happen." The assistant sounded confident. "First Miss Qiao and Chairman Su were together for 10 years. I'm sure she still has feelings for you. As long as Chairman Su apologizes to her sincerely, and put some effort into coaxing her, she'll surely forgive you."

"For all you know, she's always been waiting for Chairman Su's apology."

Su Ze looked at him with uncertainty in his eyes. "Is that the case? But... she seems to hate me."

Otherwise, why would she appear so annoyed when she saw him?

It was as if she couldn't even bear to look at some trash.

"It definitely is the case." The assistant sounded like someone who'd had the same experience. "My wife and I broke up before. Back then, she appeared to detest me to the core as well. But women are all soft on the inside, they don't express how they truly feel. Chairman Su, First Miss Qiao is probably still angry at you. If you want to get her back, you'll have to be patient when you coax her. Chairman Su just has to use the right words and shower her with more gifts, then she'll surely forgive you."

With that, the assistant added some flattering words, "Chairman Su is so outstanding, why wouldn't you be able to win First Miss Qiao back?"

Su Ze's eyes were practically sparkling.

That's right. He and Qiao Mianmian had been together for 10 years.

How could she lose her feelings for him so soon?

She surely still loved him.

She just gave him those looks because she was still angry.

But deep down, she was waiting for him to return to her.

As for that Mo Yesi...

He was just a man she'd gotten together with in order to spite him.

He knew her well enough.

She wasn't one to have a change of heart so easily.

With hopes of reconciliation, he was getting a little pumped up.

His excitement had replaced his anger.

He couldn't wait any longer. "Zhao Kai, order 999 roses and send them to her school right away. Oh, make sure they are pink. She loves pink roses."

Chapter 428: I'll Personally Ask for Her Forgiveness

Zhao Kai was a little surprised by his instructions, but he quickly nodded anyway. "Yes, Chairman Su. Do you want to sign off with your name?"

Su Ze deliberated. "Not at the moment. She... should know it's me. Get someone to deliver a bouquet to her each day. Once I get my stuff settled, I'll personally ask for her forgiveness."

Zhao Kai nodded in understanding. "Yes, Chairman Su. I'll arrange for it."

The "stuff" Su Ze wanted to settle was likely his breakup with Qiao Anxin.

Zhao Kai was actually rather happy about this.

Between the two sisters, he preferred the First Miss.

The current Miss Qiao had a rather bad temper, and she was always aloof and arrogant when interacting with the employees.

She hadn't even married into the Su family yet but was already acting like their Lady Boss.

Zhao Kai was upset about it for quite a while now.

That was also why he put in extra effort to get to the bottom of Qiao Anxin's pregnancy.

He needed to find the truth.

He'd left for less than a minute when someone knocked on the door again.

Su Ze was holding his cell phone, wondering if he should text Qiao Mianmian when he heard the knock. "Come in."

It was a manager from Star Splendor.

"Chairman Su."

The manager greeted him courteously.

Su Ze placed his cell phone on the table. "What is it?"

The manager wasn't sure how to break the news. "There's negative news of Miss Qiao again. Someone posted on Weibo, saying that... she posted something on Yuncheng City Film Academy's forum page to slander her sister and ruin her image. The private account she was using got found out after someone tracked the IP address."

“Also, that same person revealed that Miss Qiao came between you and her sister and that she’s a third party who ruined your relationship.

“Weibo is full of reposts of the original one now. Several press firms have already called to ask for verification. If this isn’t handled properly, the impact on Miss Qiao will be huge. So, Chairman Su, what do you think we should do from here?”

“Chairman Su, look, this...”

After all, Su Ze was also mentioned in the post.

Naturally, the employees dared not handle this on their own.

Su Ze’s face went dark. “You said she posted something to slander her sister?”

The manager was a little taken aback by his question.

She looked confused.

She’d thought that Su Ze’s first reaction would be to ask if Qiao Anxin was doing fine, and then immediately think of how to help her settle this.

Who knew that his first question was to clarify this instead?

The manager had no idea what he was thinking, but she quickly responded, “Yes.”

“Have you seen that post?”

“... Yes.”

“Send me the link now.” Su Ze narrowed his eyes.

The manager thought that Su Ze wanted to take a look at the original post first before deciding on a strategy, so she quickly sent him the link to the post.

Qiao Anxin was already the talk of the town all over Weibo, but she didn’t know about it herself.

She was on a live-stream now and didn’t have the chance to use her cell phone.

There was going to be an interview about her daily life, in which the emcee would ask her questions that they’d already agreed on and went through beforehand. Thereafter, the emcee would pick out a few questions left by online users for a more interactive and inclusive element of the interview.

Chapter 429: Boycott the Black-Hearted Lily Qiao Anxin!

The live-stream was ongoing.

The emcee smilingly asked, “Anxin, all of us know that you’re a gentle and kind person in the eyes of all your fans and the public. But we’d still like to know if you’ve got a side that no one has actually seen before.

“Say, some parts about you that are very private to yourself.”

As this was a live-stream, Qiao Anxin was able to see the fans’ and users’ real-time reactions.

She held the microphone and smiled as she started her response. “Of course I do. I guess everyone has a side that nobody really knows about. Even celebrities have one too. They can’t show all about themselves.

“Take me, for example. I usually appear bubbly and optimistic in front of everyone. But there are times when I experience negative feelings too. That’s another side of me.”

The emcee feigned surprise. “Oh? Anxin, you have negative feelings too?”

Qiao Anxin nodded. “Of course. Even the happiest person has their bad times too.”

The emcee asked, “During such moments, what methods do you use to regulate your emotions?”

Qiao Anxin smiled and was about to reply when she saw a comment appear on the screen: [So that’s the reason for you to be a third-party and steal your sister’s man?]

She was stunned, and her expression immediately changed.

The emcee saw that she looked a little odd and turned to look at the screen as well. She was equally shocked.

The very next moment.

A few other comments came rolling in: [Haha, so you were a third party. That was your “private life” that no one knew about, huh.]

[Qiao Anxin, are you shameless or what? It’s bad enough that you’re stealing someone else’s man, but your sister’s?! That’s so gross.]

[I’ve never seen a woman as disgusting as you. Not only did you steal your sister’s man, you even turned around and slandered her. This is so low and despicable, I can’t f**king stand it. An artiste as terrible as you ought to be taken out of the public sphere, lest you teach kids the wrong values.]

[Qiao Anxin, out of the entertainment industry!]

[We need to silence this black-hearted lily! Boycott the black-hearted lily Qiao Anxin!]

The comments rolled in too quickly.

Everyone present saw it.

The production crew was in utter shock as well, and at that moment, they couldn’t react.

The netizens weren’t stopping.

But, thankfully, the emcee made a move to stop it.

She quickly took the cell phone and turned off the comment section.

But everything that had been sent in was already seen.

Qiao Anxin's expression was awful.

She wanted to get her manager here right away to ask what exactly happened.

But the live-stream was still on.

She couldn't just walk out.

The emcee seemed to be caught in a spot. She'd conducted this interview so many times, but a situation like this was a first.

It was too awkward.

It would have been so much easier to handle if this wasn't a live-stream. Editing could've been done to salvage it.

But this happened during a live-stream, and it was all so sudden. There was no way to have stopped it.

She wondered who else had seen the comments besides them.

Chapter 430: A Mole Qiao Mianmian Planted!

"Uh... Ahem, we're moving on to the fans' Q&A segment." The emcee tried to conceal her awkwardness and pretend that nothing happened. She smiled professionally. "Do Anxin's fans have anything they'd like to ask? Anxin will be answering you one by one."

"Of course, try not to ask inappropriate questions. Otherwise, it'd be hard for Anxin to respond to you guys, right?" The emcee added this statement intentionally, in the hopes of preventing the problem from occurring again.

With that, she smiled and said to Anxin, "Anxin, you can pick the questions from the list of comments left by your fans and answer them. Are you ready?"

Qiao Anxin didn't even have the heart to go on with this live-stream.

But she didn't have a choice. She couldn't possibly just leave.

She had to finish it up, whether she liked it or not.

Taking a deep breath and looking up innocently, she clenched fists as she tried to force a smile. "Mm, I'm ready."

"Alright, then." The emcee took a glance at the comments on the phone screen and froze for a while when she realized that quite a number of them were aggressive. "Pick one of them to answer first."

Qiao Anxin received the cell phone from her and saw the comments such as "Kick the black-hearted Qiao Anxin out of the entertainment industry", "Boycott Qiao Anxin", "Qiao Anxin is a shameless mistress" and more. She went slightly pale as anger got to her head.

She bit her lip and tried to suppress her anger.

She picked a user named "AnxinsLittleWife" from the comment section.

The affectionate name made it obvious that she was a fan.

She wouldn't have to worry about mean remarks.

After making her choice, Qiao Anxin handed the cell phone back to the emcee.

The emcee took a look and smiled. "Anxin picked a fan named 'AnxinsLittleWife.' Is this user online now? You get the chance to ask Anxin a question. Please send it in the comments right now."

The emcee zoomed in on this user's profile online.

A few seconds later.

Everyone on the live-stream saw the question on the huge screen.

AnxinsLittleWife: [Sister Anxin, are the rumors about you being a third party, stealing your sister's man, slandering your sister, and hoarding the opportunities and resources of other artistes all true? I've been your fan for many years, but if these are true, I'll walk away.]

Qiao Anxin thought she'd be safe as long as she picked a true fan.

Who knew that this question sent a ball of fury up her chest. She was about to puke blood.

She seriously suspected whether "AnxinsLittleWife" was a real fan or not.

Perhaps she was a mole Qiao Mianmian planted!

The emcee took a look at the question on the screen and was stunned for a while too. She was at a loss for words.
