

Chapter 55 – The Biker’s Salvation

Cameron/Ice

“Yo, Ice, Prez wants to talk to you,” Joker said.

I nodded at my cousin Hunter to let him know I had heard him. I walked away from Mia, a girl I picked up at Angie’s diner, and took her back to the clubhouse to have some fun. She sat down on the couch I pointed to. I went to the office and gave a knock before walking in.

“Hey, Pops, Joker said you wanted to see me?”

“It’s time boy. Your Nan and I want to travel. Bethany is happy in California at her school. I’m too old to be doing this sh*t anymore,” Butcher said.

“Come on Pops, you aren’t that old.”

“Boy, I was forty-eight when you were born. It’s time,” Butcher said.

“I don’t know if I am ready for that responsibility. There are other people more qualified than me.”

“No, there aren’t. We’ve been preparing you since you were sixteen. This is your destiny. You are my heir. Unless there is something else you want to do? I will not stand in your way. I can make Hunter the next President.”

I shook my head. No, Hunter wasn’t prepared to be President. VP maybe or Sergeant At Arms. Plus, he was wild just like Uncle Beast used to be. The dude was a bigger f*ckboy than his dad was at his age. He had more chicks in a night than anyone. I told him he should take stock in Trojan. He just laughed and said, already did.

“Okay. When are we doing this?”

“This Friday. Do you know who you will want your VP to be?”

“Narissa? She can out fight, shoot, and kill anyone in this club, well besides Resa.”

“Wish you could, my boy. She’d make an excellent member. You could try to rock the boat. Take it up with the head chapter?”

“No, she’d never do it. I’ll make Joker my VP. He’s young but has an excellent head for deescalating a situation .”

“I agree, plus we need young blood to take over this club. I recommend making Ambrose your SAA, Dashawn your treasurer. He can do math like no one’s business. Reese would make a great secretary. Dane, Cason and Callum, when he is of age, would make excellent enforcers. As huge as the three of them are, no one would ever think about messing with them. Plus, the three of them Roberto has trained personally. And you can make Theo the Road Captain and Ethan the Tail Gunner.”

“All great choices for the positions. So, you’ve all voted then? I can only assume the people you recommended for the positions were already talked about among all of you?”

“Yes. We haven’t told anyone else though, just you. We needed to see who you were going to pick as your VP.”

I nodded.

“You’ll do amazing, Cameron. This will also help you to have something to focus on.”

“What do you mean?”

“You need an outlet, son. You can’t just keep losing yourself in alcohol and women. Your father also has noticed the many times you volunteer at the fight pits during parties, no matter where the party is at. You have a lot of anger in you. It’s time to channel that into something more productive.”

It’s why I got the road name Ice. Nothing phases me. I didn’t even cry when Papa Roberto left to live his last days in Italy, like Narissa and the rest of them did. I still give sh*t to Joker for bawling his eyes out.

He said he wanted to die there. Not that he’s anywhere near death’s door. He and Nana Angie are living the high life in Italy. Billy sends me photos of them all the time. He and his wife moved with them along with their children. Angie’s is now run by Helayna, Uncle River’s and Aunt Susie’s daughter.

“I’m fine.”

He stared at me. I stared back. I loved him, he and Papa Roberto were the best men I knew besides my father and Uncle’s Dozer, Beast and Rocky. Uncle Dozer still scares the sh*t out of me, but I’d never admit that outloud.

“Okay, this Friday, you’ll all receive your new ranks and patches. We’ll invite everyone in the family, the club brothers and their families, and the four alliances we have. There will be a new generation of the Lords Of Chaos to celebrate.” He got up from his desk and came around to where I stood. He then hugged me and slapped me on the back.

“You’ll do great, kid.”

“Thanks Pops.”
