

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 100

Ashley nodded seriously and started working on the arrangements the next day.

When she went to talk to the head of Oceania Construction, she was told, "Sorry, Atimber Property has already raised the price to 100 million, so we can't give you the goods ... Could you add some money?"

For this large batch of building materials, Atimber Property can actually raise the price to 100 million!?

Were they out of their minds!?

But it was good that their money was invested in the construction of the suburban land in the west of the city, which meant that they were very interested in this land, almost using all the money of the entire company.

Once the cooperation did not go on, they would only lose money and declare bankruptcy, and the land would only be the Freeman Group's.

Thinking of this, she didn't hesitate to slap the table, "The Freeman Group can add up to 150 million and take the shipment."

The head of Oceania Construction was a bit disgusted.

"This ... business is about credibility after all. You only add 50 million, and you want us to break the contract with Atimber Property. This is a little too shabby, right? Besides, it's not easy for us to talk to the other side!"

Ashley was a little embarrassed and couldn't retort in time when the assistant of the head of Oceania Construction pushed the door in, leaned close to the ear and said, "Another 100 million has been added from Atimber Property."

Although it was a whisper, the voice was not small at all.

Ashley heard it clearly and was sullen.

As the future heiress to the Harrington Group which soon would annex the Freeman Group, she could not possibly submit to a small company like Atimber Property.

With a desire to win, she stood up sharply and put the empty coffee cup on the table heavily in front of the person in charge.

With a thud, the person in charge was startled as Ashley raised her chin high and said, "500 million! Cash!"

The person looked surprised, "Deal!"

...

Meanwhile, in the next door conference room of Oceania Construction.

set on the table. She unhurriedly poured aroma of tea filled the quietly watching her leisurely was worthy of being the daughter of the Lloyd family. She had left Suham for 6 years the door opening broke the silence of in cash! As the group's funds arrive, we will immediately share the say anything and concentrated on shook hands with the assistant, "Very good. So happy for banks to withdraw

at one time, so it was powerful. Unfortunately, once the cash was all out, the hole

...

Late at night.

and thunder were exchanged and torrential rain range between Frayton and the neighbor city, there

"Boss, there's a cave!"

they cut some weeds to barely hide the cave entrance. It was with rain and collapsed handsome face was abnormally pale, even the lips were not red. He just felt a little bit relaxed but the sharp pain in the waist made he suddenly dizzy so

"Boss!"

focused on running at that time when Melvin was obviously injured, but he did not say a bloody slit. The wound had been in the rain and became white by washing. Now it rain, Melvin began to burn, as if

and reduce the

were from the army so they understood self-help lack of resources, it took almost an hour to dress Melvin's

the first words out of his men were dying of

was still

for us. If you risk it, and even more serious

through the pain and began to sort out what happened this time. "When you guys fought that group, did you notice that they all had a that had just been torn after preparing to dress Melvin's wound. It was mixed with the mud and water on the ground. The tattoo