

Finding Out The Billionaire Chapter 120

The crowd couldn't believe that Alex had actually chased the spirit away.

Even Mr. Miller couldn't handle that spirit!

"Mom, what's wrong? Mom!" Jessica was extremely worried when she saw her mother's state, so she quickly rushed towards her mother.

"She's not dead yet. But she is in a dangerous state and could die any moment," Alex stated as he looked towards Jessica.

"Then should we do now? M-Mr. Jefferson, you have to save my mom!"

Jessica knelt before Alex and begged, "Mr. Jefferson, I'll agree to any of your conditions as long as you're able to save my mom. Is there anything that you want me to do?"

Alex smiled faintly and answered, "I'll do my best. Although, there's no guarantee that I will succeed."

As he spoke, Alex pointed between Jessica's eyes.

Jessica froze and stared blankly at Alex as she didn't understand what he was saying.

Then, Baron said, "Your mother's Spiritual Light is very dim right now. Hence, we'll need to forcefully brighten it up, or the chances of her coming back to life will be very slim."

With that said, he looked at Alex in surprise.

I've read about the method of retrieving Spiritual Light from a living person, but I never found out how to do it.

Even a mystic art practitioner that came from the Mountain of the Beasts like Baron didn't know how to do it.

"Your mother's body is full of demonic energy, and it has clouded most of the Spiritual Light in her. So I need to retrieve some of your Spiritual Light to dissipate the demonic energy," Alex said.

"Alright." Jessica nodded.

"Look at me in the eyes," Alex added.

Jessica nodded again and locked eyes with Alex.

They stared at each other just like that for more than ten seconds.

When the Spiritual Light in Jessica's eyes reached the intensity required, Alex crooked the finger he had placed between Jessica's brows and captured the Spiritual Light.

Jessica let out a low grunt as her eyes darkened. Immediately, she was left in a daze as if her soul had left her body.

Then, her body gave way, and she fell into Alex's arms.

Yet, Alex didn't deal with her first. Instead, he quickly pressed his finger with the Spiritual Light onto her mother's forehead.

Very soon, colors returned to her mother's face. Even though she wasn't awake, everyone knew that she wasn't in mortal danger anymore.

Then, Alex grabbed onto Jessica's hands and sent her Mortal Force.

Jessica finally snapped out of her daze and regained some energy.

A warm sensation enveloped her and tingled her senses, which made her surprised and puzzled at the same time.

She looked up at Alex and was about to ask him about what had happened when she realized that she was in Alex's arms. Jessica's face immediately flushed as red as a ripened apple.

Her heart was thumping hard as she quickly got away from Alex's arms and looked at her mother. "My mom should be fine now, right?" she asked.

"Yes. She just needs to rest for a few days and take some medicine. Get me a pen and a piece of paper, and I'll write you a list of medicine that she needs," Alex replied.

At this moment, Baron said, "Mister, the vengeful spirit isn't exorcised entirely yet. It'll be back for sure, and it'll definitely cause you trouble the next time."
