

Finding Out The Billionaire Chapter 121

"Is there anything we should do, Mr. Miller?" Alex asked Baron.

It was his first time doing something like this, so he didn't have any experience.

"That spirit has been troubling the Saffin family for some time now, and surprisingly, no one else. Hence, if I'm not wrong, someone had tampered with the geomancy of the Saffin family residence. I suggest that you hire a geomancer to take a look at your house, Ms. Saffin. It'll be troublesome if that spirit comes back again." Baron said.

The crowd nodded, agreeing to what Baron had said. After all, this wasn't the first time the spirit troubled the Saffin family.

"Mr. Miller, do you know how to perform purification rituals?" Jessica looked at Baron with a look full of anticipation.

Baron shook his head apologetically and said, "My geomancy skills aren't very good. I can handle the normal spirits, but I can't say the same for vengeful ones. My senior might be able to do it. But he is in the Mountain of the Beasts, and he might not agree to help your family."

"I'll do it then," Alex said.

"Y-You know how to?" Jessica questioned skeptically.

"I'm not too sure myself. But I've learned it before," Alex replied with a shrug.

"Okay, then I'll have to trouble you for that." Jessica thought about it and felt that she should let Alex have a go at it first. If he really can't, it still wouldn't be too late to hire that geomancer from the Mountain of the Beasts.

After that, Alex helped carry Jessica's mother to her room and put her to bed before going around their house to perform the purification rituals.

Baron admired Alex's abilities so much that he followed the latter around as if he was Alex's disciple. Similarly, the Saffin family's fellow neighbors were following them around too.

After going around Jessica's house, Alex shook his head and said, "There's nothing wrong here. If there really is a problem, then it must be something wrong with your ancestral tombs."

"Do you want to take a look at it?" Jessica asked.

"Alright, let's have a look at it." Alex nodded. He wanted to know what was up with the little spirit.

"Please take care of my mom, Aunt Wendy," Jessica said to a woman.

"Alright, go ahead. Nothing's going to happen with us here," the woman replied.

“Thanks, Aunt Wendy.” Jessica nodded gratefully.

“Mr. Jefferson, can I tag along?” Baron asked as he looked at Alex excitedly.

“If you want to.” Alex nodded.

“Thank you, Mr. Jefferson,” Baron thanked him.

Baron realized that there was more to Alex than meets the eye. He wanted to follow by the latter’s side and see if he could learn something new.

The Saffin family’s ancestral tombs were at the foot of a mountain in the suburbs.

The view was nice over there, and the geomancy of the place was great. It was a cemetery that stood on its own.

The cemetery covered a large area, with a total of more than a dozen graves.

But Alex immediately saw that the ancestral tomb of the Saffin family was situated at the highest point in the middle.

The ancestral tomb stood out as it was three meters away from the ground, and there was a line of trees behind it.

“My great-grandfather bought this place in his time. Ever since then, it has always been the resting place of the Saffin family. I was told that my great-grandfather had hired a geomancer to take a look at this place. The geomancer said that this was a great spot for a cemetery and that the Saffin family would prosper in the future,” Jessica said as she stood by Alex’s side.

“What happened then?” Alex asked casually as he studied the cemetery.

“In my grandfather’s later years, we did become luckier. At that time, my grandfather founded a fabric weaving factory, and the business has been great. Then, my dad took over the business when my grandfather passed, and the business expanded even more. But for some reason, business deteriorated three years later, and my dad died in a paranormal event.”
