

Finding Out The Billionaire Chapter 140

Isn't that the chairman of Four Seas Corporation?

Why's he mingling with these common folk?

When Madison saw the ridicule in the eyes of the crowd, she immediately understood.

So... these people don't know who Alex is.

Madison's eyes lit up at this thought.

If I do well today and help him out, will he be more open to me then?

Everyone saw how Madison and her manager's face stiffened the moment they laid eyes on Alex, and they automatically assumed it was because Madison was outraged. Wade hurried up to her to try and calm her down. "Please don't be angry, Ms. Zucker. I was only joking earlier. He's not right in the head. We should just ignore him."

However, Madison didn't even spare him one look. Instead, she strode right up to Alex.

"Wait, Ms. Zucker..." Wade truly believed Madison was so furious that she was going to smack Alex.

Though he really wanted to see Alex humiliated, he was also worried that the latter would be dumb enough to hit back. And if that resulted in Madison getting injured, then that would be very, very bad.

Thus, he hurriedly ran up to Madison. He was hoping that after she took her anger out on Alex, he would be quick enough to stop him from retaliating.

Everyone else also believed that Madison was heading over to teach Alex a lesson. They couldn't be more excited.

"Ha! That idiot's done for!"

"Right! Serves him right for being so disrespectful towards Madison Zucker. She's going to teach him how to be a decent human being."

"It's such a pity that Heather's in the washroom. She should be here to witness her husband being smacked around by a woman. Now that would be entertaining!"

"Please. Giving him a smackdown is lenient enough. He completely disregarded the great Madison Zucker and even verbally humiliated her. He deserves to go to prison for all that."

"That's why people always say to watch your mouth. He couldn't control his tongue, and now he's going to get what's coming to him."

The crowd followed after Madison as they excitedly chattered on.

Right then, Madison had walked right up to Alex. Her next move stunned everyone — she was bowing to him!

“Mr. Jefferson, I didn’t know you would be here today too. If there’s anything I did that displeased you, please let me know,” Madison said, her voice filled with respect.

She really wanted Alex to give her a chance.

Those in her line of work all needed a strong backer. Without one, it would only be a matter of time before they disappeared from the spotlight and eventually the whole industry.

Moreover, she was signed under one of Four Seas Corporation’s subsidiaries. So, everything about her — how well she would do, how long she would last — was all dependent on Four Seas Corporation.

Everyone in the hall instantly fell silent. It was, in fact, so silent, you could hear a pin drop.
