

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 161

Upon noticing Alex, Reuben turned to him and scoffed, “Alex, do you really think this bunch of lowlifes is going to be enough to stop me from leaving?”

“Well, they aren’t going to be able to stop you. But I can,” Alex declared confidently.

After studying Alex from head to toe, Reuben burst out laughing, “Have you mistaken me for someone of Freddie’s caliber?”

“It doesn’t matter how powerful you are. If you want to live to see tomorrow, return me my black card and destroy your own Mortal Force,” Alex warned.

Since Reuben hadn't been planning on taking Alex's life, the latter was prepared to spare his in return.

There were many things that Charlie wasn't telling him. Thus, he planned on capturing Reuben and questioning him instead.

"Fine. Since you're forcing my hand, don't blame me for what happens next."

With a faint smile playing on his lips, Reuben pounced at Alex like a jaguar pouncing at its prey.

Unfazed, Alex calmly turned his body sideways and dodged Reuben's attack.

The moment Reuben missed his target, he immediately went in for his second attack.

Alex's eyes narrowed. Reuben was much stronger than he had expected.

Although their battle had just started, he could sense that Reuben was at least twice as strong as Freddie.

However, he wasn't afraid in the slightest.

He had been practicing the Nine Heaven Scrolls for some time now. What was more, he had completely assimilated the Divine Priest's relic. Thus, his Mortal Force was a lot stronger than it had been before.

However, Alex soon began to have the upper hand.

Only then did Reuben start to get slightly flustered as a serious expression crept across his face.

He hadn't expected Alex's Mortal Force to be so strong.

As Alex slowly forced Reuben into a corner, things began to look rather bleak for him. There were even several instances where Alex nearly hit one of Reuben's vital points.

Upon seeing how strong Alex actually was, Charlie was incredibly surprised. His surprise, however, soon turned into excitement.

Among Susan's subordinates, Reuben ranked third in terms of combat prowess.

Now that Alex could easily defeat Reuben, didn't that mean that his combat prowess was nearly on par with the other two subordinates of Susan's who were stronger than Reuben?

There's hope after all! Charlie thought excitedly.

Jack, Flynn and the rest were completely astonished as they watched both of them fighting.

Every blow between both of them seemed to ripple through the air. How many of those blows will our bones even be able to take?

They're so strong!

“This ends now!” Alex suddenly bellowed as he dashed towards Reuben.

Before Reuben could even finish his move, Alex had landed a blow on his chest.

Thud!

Reuben grunted heavily as his entire body flew backwards like a rag doll.

“Master Fuller!” Those young men exclaimed as they attempted to go to his aid.

However, Flynn and company immediately barred them from getting close.

The tiles on the floor shattered into a million pieces as Reuben came crashing onto it.

“Blaargh!”

Ashen-faced, Reuben proceeded to spit out a mouthful of blood.

“You... Haha! You really are your father’s son. And you certainly are a Jefferson. I underestimated you!”
Reuben smiled wryly while watching Alex walk towards him.

He knew that it was over for him. Furthermore, he had a feeling that Susan was going to be defeated at the hands of Alex as well.

Alex's combat prowess was beyond his wildest imaginations. Coupled with the fact that Susan had always been rather arrogant, she was bound to be defeated by Alex.

"You win. Here's your card," Reuben conceded and tossed the black card back towards Alex.

Catching the card, Alex put it in his wallet and said, "You have two choices now. I can allow you to live if you let me destroy your Mortal Force. Otherwise, I'll kill you right now."

His voice was deep and resolute.

The only reason he was giving Reuben a choice was because Reuben hadn't planned on taking his life since the very beginning.

But of course, that didn't mean that he was letting Reuben off the hook.

He couldn't risk that man telling Susan what he knew.

“Living in shame is much better than dying, isn't it?”

Smiling dejectedly, a determined expression flashed across Reuben's eyes and he proceeded to hit one of the vital points on his abdomen.

This was one of the key vital points where one would accumulate his or her Mortal Force. Once it had been penetrated, one's Mortal Force would rapidly leak out of his or her body.

Reuben's face immediately became as pale as a sheet.

He seemed to have aged a decade in a matter of seconds.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 162

“You’re a smart man,” Alex snorted and proceeded to gaze at the young men who had been rounded up by Flynn and company.

Although their Mortal Forces weren’t that strong, Alex couldn’t afford to let them off the hook.

“The same goes for all of you. You either die, or you destroy your Mortal Force,” Alex said coldly.

These young men had already accepted their fates after seeing Reuben destroy his own Mortal Force.

Without giving it a second thought, the group of them proceeded to hit the same vital point on their abdomens.

The moment their Mortal Force dissipated, they became equally weak and no longer posed as threats.

“Confiscate all of their communication devices and lock them up. Prepare them three meals a day as per usual,” Alex instructed Flynn.

“Roger,” Flynn nodded and proceeded to bring away Reuben and his men.

After they returned to the Sakura Club, Alex personally tended to Charlie’s injuries.

Ever since Charlie had fallen into the hands of Susan, he had undergone all kinds of inhumane torture and had his Mortal Force destroyed as well.

If it hadn't been for the fact that his Mortal Force used to be extremely strong and that his body was much more sturdy than the average person, Susan would have killed him a long time ago.

Alex wrote a prescription and tasked Flynn with gathering the ingredients. He then personally boiled the medicine for Charlie.

Truth be told, although Charlie was Alex's father's butler when Alex was young, he seemed more like an uncle to Alex instead.

He had never viewed Charlie as a servant or a butler.

Charlie's injuries were rather serious this time round. He wasn't about to get better within the next few days.

After handing giving Charlie his medicine, Alex headed down to the basement below the Sakura Club.

In his hands was a bowl of the same medicine he had just given Charlie.

At that moment, Reuben lay weakly against the walls of the basement with his face pale and lips parched.

"Ask me whatever you want. I'll tell you everything I know." Reuben smiled wryly. Once he noticed Alex, he immediately knew what Alex wanted to do.

"You're a smart man," Alex sneered as he placed the bowl of medicine in front of Reuben.

His original plan had been to offer Reuben this bowl of medicine in exchange for some information.

Now, it looked like that wasn't necessary at all.

"It's for internal injuries. You can drink it if you aren't scared that it's actually poison," Alex taunted.

As Reuben's lips curled into a smile, he downed the medicine in one gulp without the slightest hesitation.

If Alex had wanted him dead, he would have killed him a long time ago.

"How many other capable fighters does Susan have? How strong are they?" Alex asked.

He knew that Reuben would be able to understand what he was trying to say.

“Susan doesn’t have any other capable fighters by her side. She does have two other subordinates who are slightly stronger than me. But I don’t think they’ll be a match for you. She mainly depends on the Morrisons. And they are under the protection of a Master. You won’t be a match for them though,” Reuben answered.

“How about my father? Where is he now?” Alex asked as he stared into Reuben’s eyes. This was what he had been dying to know.

Chapter 163

“He’s in Doomsday Prison,” Reuben replied.

“Doomsday Prison?”

Alex’s heart skipped a beat. “Where is this Doomsday Prison? What kind of a place is it? Why is my father there?”

Faced with this barrage of questions, Reuben explained calmly, “The Doomsday Prison is an extremely mysterious organization. Its prisoners are some of the world’s strongest fighters. Other than the patriarchs of a few families in Lumenopolis, not many people know the exact location of this prison. And not many people know what kind of a place it is.”

He continued, “But you have to remember that it would be foolish for even a Master to try and break into that prison. The prisoners held inside are at least at the levels of Masters and Grandmasters. As for why your father ended up inside, he fell for one of Susan's schemes and was sent in there after she used her connections within the Morrison family."

Putting down the bowl, Reuben looked at Alex and said, "Alex, I know that you're really strong. In fact, it seems like you're on the verge of becoming a Master yourself. But you're still too weak to save your father. Even if you are a Grandmaster, you still might not be able to save him."

After a moment's silence, Alex nodded his head.

He did know a thing or two about these rankings.

Disciple, Warrior, Expert, Master, Grandmaster...

There were rumors of even higher ranks as well. However, Alex had yet to learn much about them.

He was now currently at the later stages of the Expert rank and he had no idea when he was going to achieve the Master rank. What was more, in order to break into the prison, he would still have to attain and surpass an even higher rank- Grandmaster...

Alex had no idea when he would be able to do so.

“Just keep your head down and live through these couple years. Once Susan dies, you guys will be able to regain your freedom.” Alex got to his feet and opened the metal door before walking out.

Doomsday Prison!

Surpassing the Grandmaster rank!

Alex balled his fists. No matter how hard it was going to take, he was going to save his father!

By the time he had returned home, it was already midnight.

Heather hadn't turned in yet. Upon hearing the sound of the door opening, she came out to see who it was. She then prepared to head back to her room without even saying a word after seeing that it was Alex.

All of a sudden, she found the clothes that he was wearing rather familiar.

Wasn't Chairman wearing this shirt back in the bar?

Dumbfounded, she stared at Alex in disbelief.

She couldn't believe that the person who had saved her back at the bar was Alex!

Impossible!

That's impossible!

If that guy were Alex, then would mean that he's Chairman!

How could that even be possible?

Heather shook her head to clear her thoughts. That's crazy!

I actually thought that Alex is Chairman for a moment!
How ridiculous!

Upon coming to this conclusion, Heather asked him coldly, "Where have you been? Why did you come back so late?"

"I went to have a drink," Alex replied.

"Have you thought over my proposition?" Heather asked after a brief pause.

Alex halted in his tracks. Gazing at Heather, Alex replied firmly, “Stanley’s only four, Heather. If we are to get divorced, it will definitely affect his upbringing negatively. Just take a look at the children from broken families. They all have a certain degree of psychological trauma. That’s why, for the sake of Stanley, I won’t get a divorce with you.”

Heather fell silent after hearing what he had said. Indeed, she hadn’t thought this far.

All she felt was that Alex and she were no longer suited to be husband and wife. That was why she just wanted to end this marriage.

“Do you think that both of us are still suited for each other?” Heather mocked.

“Can’t you sacrifice just a little so that our son can grow up healthily?” Alex frowned.

“I’m capable of bringing up our son right. You don’t have to worry about that,” Heather snapped.

“Haha. Fine, we can have a divorce if you insist. My only condition, however, is that Stanley stays with me. Come look for me again after you’ve thought it through,” Alex snorted before pushing open the door to their son’s room and going in to rest.

Heather was dumbfounded. Of course, she couldn’t hand her son over to Alex.

Upon seeing how firm he was, however, she couldn’t help but start to hesitate.

After giving it a lot of thought, she eventually sighed and returned to her room.

Since they couldn't come to an agreement, they could only take things slowly.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 164

The next day, Alex sent his son to school and then headed off for work as usual.

Once he reached his company, he went straight for his office as he always did.

“Here’s your tea, Mr. Jefferson.” Jessica had come in for work today and proceeded to make Alex a cup of hot tea.

Gazing at her, Alex nodded his head and took a sip.

“Jessica,” he suddenly asked, “Do you think that there is any woman in this world who would treat a child from her husband’s previous marriage like her own?”

“Ah?”

Stunned, Jessica couldn’t quite understand what Alex was trying to say.

“Mr. Jefferson, I-I’m not sure.”

Pausing slightly, she continued, “I think that there should be women like that in the world. If a woman really loves her husband, she would definitely treat a child from his previous marriage like her own.”

“Alright, I understand. Oh yes, where’s Ginny? Is she not back yet?” Alex changed the topic.

His plan was for one of them to take care of internal affairs while the other took care of external affairs.

Ginny was relatively more outgoing and sociable. Thus, he planned to let Ginny take care of external affairs.

Jessica, on the other hand, was more of an introvert. Thus, he planned on communicating with the various higher-ups and managers in the company through her and putting her in charge of assigning work to the different departments.

“She’s handing some files over to President Sawyer. She should be back soon,” Jessica replied.

Alex nodded his head and continued, “How’s your mother?”

“My mother’s been getting much better over the past two days. It’s all thanks to you,” Jessica said gratefully, “And she looks much healthier now as well. She should be fine after resting for a couple more days.”

Alex nodded his head and fell silent after that.

Ginny came back to the office within the next two minutes.

After asking her to come into the office, Alex assigned both of them their tasks and proceeded to let them continue with their work.

A few minutes later, Jessica came knocking at the door again.

“Mr. Jefferson, your wife’s here again. She said that she’s here to give you a report on her work,” Jessica informed. Deep down, however, she badly wanted to laugh.

They’re such a hilarious couple! I’m at a loss for what to say.

Alex’s brows furrowed. What’s Heather doing here?

After giving it some thought, he eventually decided to meet her.

“Let her come in,” Alex said as he pulled out the clown mask and put it on.

He didn't want Heather to learn of his true identity for the time being.

Upon seeing this, Jessica nearly burst out laughing. "Alright," she replied and subsequently walked out of the office.

Soon, the doors swung open as Heather came walking in.

Chapter 165

Heather was slightly disappointed when she saw that Chairman still had his clown mask on.

Slowly walking over to Alex's desk with a smile on her face, she said, "Chairman, I'm here to update you on my latest progress."

"Okay." Alex nodded and signaled for her to continue.

"Chairman, there hasn't been anyone from the Jennings family who has intervened with the company lately. And it won't be long before the company resumes its normal operations. I've also brokered three business deals. One of them is a partnership with the Wood Group. The budget for this partnership is slightly above thirty million. The second is a partnership with Carrie Private Limited. This budget is around forty million. The last partnership is with New Entertainment Film and Television Company. I managed to persuade them into working with us for their celebrity repackaging project. The revenue for this project is much greater than we can estimate."

Heather stared obsequiously at Chairman. She was dying to see if the face behind the mask was smiling or not.

Honestly, she was confident that these three projects would be enough to win the trust of Chairman.

This was one of the reasons why she dared to come and meet Chairman today.

Alex was rather stunned upon hearing this. She's actually struck a deal with New Entertainment Film and Television Company as well? She's rather clever, isn't she?

The New Entertainment Film and Television Company was a subsidiary of the Four Seas Corporation. Heather most probably could strike this deal due to Jack pulling the strings from behind the scenes.

Otherwise, based on his understanding of the Jennings Corporation, their unprofessional repackaging team held no advantage over any other repackaging teams.

“Hmm, you’ve done well. I’ll keep my word and get the legal team to transfer ten percent of the shares to your name today,” Alex said.

“You’re the best, Chairman! Thank you so much!”

Overwhelmed with excitement, Heather took the chance to grab Alex’s arm and bury it within her cleavage. She even put on an ecstatic expression on her face.

After a moment of stunned silence, Alex’s lips twisted into a mocking smile.

This was his wife; someone who was already cheating on him emotionally even before she divorced him.

Even though she was cheating on him with his alter ego, Alex was still incredibly disgusted by what she was doing.

“Chairman, can I treat you to dinner? I’m so excited. I have to thank you properly.” Heather stared at him longingly and deliberately rubbed her chest slightly on his arm.

Although he was being seduced by his wife, he wasn’t aroused in the slightest. In fact, he was so disgusted that he felt like throwing up.

Opening his mouth, he was about to tell Heather to get lost when he suddenly changed his mind.

As the corners of his mouth tugged upwards into a frosty smile, he asked, “Sure. Just the two of us?”

“Of course. Just the two of us,” Heather replied while staring at him with lustful eyes.

“Alright. Then just send me the address tonight,” Alex said as he discreetly extricated his arm from her embrace.

Not suspecting anything, Heather smiled and asked, “Chairman, what’s your phone number?”

Alex proceeded to give her another number of his.

“Chairman, why don’t we go have some brunch now?” Heather suddenly asked.

“I’ll pass. I’ll just see you tonight,” Alex declined.

Although Heather was slightly disappointed, she still turned around and walked out of the office.

Staring at her from behind, Alex took off his mask and leaned back into his chair with a stormy expression on his face.

Lighting a cigarette, he proceeded to put it to his mouth and inhaled deeply. He was utterly disgusted by what had just happened.

Just then, Jessica came knocking at the door again.

“Mr. Jefferson, Kate is here looking for you again,” she reported.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 166

Alex scrunched his brows. He did not want to meet Kate at first, but what Jessica said next changed his mind, “Kate is negotiating with the Hale family for a big project. She is kind of intimidated by them, especially since the Hale’s have purposely made things difficult for her. She wants to ask you for advice.”

“The Hale family?” Alex was startled. “You tell her to wait for a while. I will ask my driver to accompany her.”

Leo was one of their friends from university. Logically speaking, he would not deliberately make trouble for Kate unless he held a grudge against her.

“The director wants you to wait downstairs. He said he will send his driver to accompany you,” Jessica spoke to Kate.

Kate was slightly disappointed but still she said nothing and left.

In actual fact, she wanted to thank the Director in person for stepping in yesterday night to save her and Heather. Perhaps she just had to put this off to another day.

Kate returned to her office. After retrieving all her documents, she headed downstairs right away.

Very soon, Alex appeared at the entrance with his car.

Kate entered the car with a contemptuous look.

“Why didn’t you show up last night when I texted you? Aren’t you worried that your wife would be taken advantage of?” Kate questioned Alex scornfully.

“I really didn’t see your message. Moreover, by the time I saw your text, Heather had already gone back,” Alex muttered nonchalantly and set off for the Hale family’s company.

Kate shook her head in despair. Heather sure is unlucky to have stumbled upon a man like Alex! If it weren’t for the Director last night, the both of us would have...

Kate did not dare to continue on with that line of thought. She plugged in her earphones to distract herself from her own thoughts.

After a while, she removed her earphones and said, “Has the Director told you? You have to accompany me to meet Leo later.”

“Huh? The Director didn’t tell me that. I will just wait for you downstairs. If you need me, just call me or text me. I will head up right away,” Alex replied.

Kate furrowed her brows. Alex had offended Leo the other day. If Leo saw him, he would definitely fly off the handle.

Additionally, Kate knew Leo had a thing for her. Even though they were classmates back in college, Kate did not trust Leo. All the turbulent years spent in Nebula City had taught her one thing. That is, not to simply place her trust in anyone.

“Alright then. But this time round, please keep your eyes on your phone. Or else, you will get it from me when I'm back," Kate warned Alex sternly.

"Don't worry. As long as I am around, no one can hurt you." Alex smiled sheepishly.

Before Kate could reply, the car had already arrived at the Hale's company building.

Somehow, Kate still had faith in Alex's capabilities.

In terms of combat ability, Alex was only second to the Director despite how useless he was.

She tidied up her hair and got off the car with her documents in one hand. She then headed straight for the building's entrance.

Watching Kate sauntered towards the entrance, Alex rubbed his chin as he ogled at Kate's slender figure.

Wow, Kate sure has an amazing body!

Alex lit a cigarette and smoked while he waited for Kate's message.

Meanwhile, Kate was already inside Leo's office.

"Hey Kate, you're here. Why didn't you give me a phone call earlier? I could have fetched you myself."
Leo's eyes instantly sparkled when he saw Kate.

Kate and Heather were the two girls Leo once had a crush on back in college.

Unfortunately, he was not successful in landing any of them.

Right now, staring at Kate's beautiful figure just a few inches away from him, Leo's feelings for her were roused once again.

He locked the doors to his office and took Kate to her seat.

Chapter 167

When Kate heard the click from the door behind, she immediately knew Leo had some evil plan in his mind.

Anxiously, Kate sat on the sofa with her hands clasped together.

Leo smiled gently at her, “Kate, about our project, we still have a lot of details to hammer down, don’t you think so?”

Kate nodded her head and smiled. “Yeah, we do have a lot to cover before the partnership can officially begin. Oh, I also need to tell you this. My directors said this partnership is only worth our consideration if we receive 5 more percent of your company’s profits as commission.”

“You want 5 more percent of our profits?”

Leo contemplated for a while and chuckled, “If we give you 5 more percent of our profits, then we won’t gain much from it. Can you help me inform your directors that we can only increase it by 2 percent at most?”

Kate replied apologetically, “Well, there’s nothing I can do if that is what the director wants. It is true that your company has a lot of resources, but do remember this, there are a lot of companies out there competing for a partnership with us too.”

“Alright, then. We shall conform to your company’s wishes since our companies have been working together for quite some time and any changes to that might be disrupting for the both of us.”

Leo let out a bitter smile. “Okay then, shall we proceed to the details of this partnership?”

Kate finally let out a breath of relief as Leo didn’t seem to have any other personal agendas. She took out her documents and started to discuss business matters with Leo.

The two of them were very engaged in the discussion as they made notes on the papers from time to time.

After an hour, Leo left the table to get the two of them some water. Once he was at the coffee table, he turned his head to check on Kate. When he saw her fully occupied with her work, there was a malicious glow in his eyes.

Leo quickly took out a white pill and dropped it into the glass of water. He swirled the glass a bit and the pill instantly dissolved. The drugged water didn't look any different from the ordinary water.

Leo brought back two glasses of water to the table. He placed the glass of water he had just spiked in front of Kate and offered, "Kate, have some water before we continue."

Kate did not even bat an eye when she took one big sip from the glass in front of her and continued her work. She had completely let her guard down.

The two of them went on with the discussion about the project just as before.

Leo was secretly jumping in delight when Kate gulped down the water. His eyes were full of lust and anticipation.

After all, Kate was a true beauty.

Just her presence was enough to take Leo's breath away.

Leo's wife, whom he had married because of his family's arrangements, was a haggard looking woman. She was a far cry from the mesmerizing Kate who now sat just a meter across from him.

That was the reason why Leo lusted for Kate.

Undeniably, Kate was a pretty woman.

Her figure was even more amazing. She was the crème de la crème of women.

Just the thought of her was able to arouse Leo.

Now, with Kate in the same room as him, his desire for her grew stronger by the minute.

Leo was always depressed about how his life had turned out; chained to a lackluster hag who nagged at him every day. With his wife, Leo felt his libido was that of a seventy-year-old man.

Leo had a feeling that today was his lucky day.

Once he had plowed the fields, Kate would have to obey him like a dog to its owner.

The only chance for Leo to get his haggard wife out of his life was by becoming part of the Sutton family.

“Kate, why don’t you drink some more water before we continue? You look thirsty.” Leo pretended to care for Kate.

Kate was indeed a bit thirsty after all the talking. Unquestioningly, she took two more sips from the glass.

“Leo, go through this document. If everything is alright, just sign at the bottom.” Kate put down the pen in her hands and passed the document she had been working on to Leo.

“Okay.” Leo nodded his head and pretended to study the document carefully.

As Leo’s eyes scanned the lines on the paper, a countdown timer was ticking loudly in his head. He was eagerly waiting for the aphrodisiac Kate had taken to take effect.

While Leo was reading the document, Kate finished her glass of water and waited in silence.

About half an hour passed when Kate suddenly felt her body burning.

Chapter 168

Kate glanced at Leo and noticed that he was peeping at her. Immediately she knew she was in trouble.

Still, Kate acted as if nothing happened and took out her phone to text Alex about her dangerous situation.

Just as the message was delivered, Kate felt her whole body flushing.

Leo saw how unusually red Kate was and trembled fervently in excitement.

His lustful eyes were fully fixated on Kate. His eyes slowly moved from her beautiful brows to the patch of fair skin at her ankles.

There was no doubt that the aphrodisiac had taken over Kate's entire body.

Kate involuntarily gulped as she felt her hair stood on its end.

She knew with dead certainty that even if Alex managed to rush to her in time, she would be totally incapacitated until Alex brought her to the hospital.

To her knowledge, which came from all the web novels she had read, some aphrodisiacs were so intense that even medical professionals had no means to alleviate the symptoms. The only way to remove the aphrodisiac from her system was for her to have sexual intercourse with another man.

Therefore, Kate desperately hoped that the aphrodisiac Leo had given her was not something that could only be undone via sex.

“Oh my! Kate, what is happening to you?” Leo faked concern in his tone.

“You stay away from me!” Kate backed up in a scurry. She almost stumbled and fell.

At that moment, Kate would lose herself at the smell of any man's pheromones.

Worried about what she would get herself into, Kate rushed dizzily for the door.

However, before she could reach the door, Kate found herself in the hot and fleshy embrace of Leo.

Kate was in panic. She tried to throw herself away from Leo, but with one forceful grab, Leo had her back into his arms.

“Kate, do you know? Since our time in university, I have always dreamed of getting together with you, but you were so cold to me...”

Leo lugged Kate off the ground and headed for the sofa.

“Leo Hale, if you dare lay a finger on me, I will make sure the Hale family live the rest of their days in hell!”

Kate threatened with her shaking voice.

However, Leo was not intimidated by her threats at all. He put himself on top of her body to stop her from moving around.

Kate broke down in despair. Her tears streamed out of her eyes like two rivers as her vein pumped with hatred.

Leo knew it was time for him to proceed further with his conquest when he saw Kate losing her energy to resist by the second.

He took off his clothes in a hurry, but just as he was about to remove Kate’s jacket, the door burst open.

A few men barged into the room and behind them followed an ugly woman.

“Leo Hale, how dare you cheat on me?” The ugly woman stormed ahead and sent a kick straight at Leo’s head.

When Leo finally caught a clear glimpse of his attacker’s face, he was stupefied.

Chapter 169

Why is this ugly hag here?

Leo’s expression took a 180-degree turn. He had no idea that his men were bought off by his wife.

Each and every move of his must have been under the surveillance of his wife.

When Leo's wife knew Leo was going to meet with the pretty Kate, she immediately sensed something was up. True as it could be, she caught her husband in his act red-handed.

Leo's wife went by the name of Sasha Taylor. When she was young, she had once fallen very ill. It was because of the sickness that her face was permanently disfigured.

However, the Taylor family had a lot of influence in Nebula City, which was why Leo's parents had arranged for him to marry Sasha. After their marriage, the Hale family prospered because of the Taylor family's power.

In a way, Leo was the hero of his family.

For his family's sake, he was willing to sacrifice his happiness to marry the hideous Sasha.

However, to Leo's surprise and misfortune, Sasha was not an easy woman to deal with.

Especially since she was from the great family of Taylor, Sasha did not take any of the Hales seriously.

"Sasha darling! I wasn't the one who made the first move! It was this b*tch who seduced me in the first place!" Leo panicked when he saw his wife coming for him.

Kate could not believe how shameless the man was to claim that she was the one who started the whole thing.

Sasha saw Kate in her messy state and seemed to buy her husband's lie. She barked, "Tie the two of them! I must teach these two a lesson today!"

Immediately, a few bodyguards approached the two of them on the sofa and tied them up at once.

Sasha slapped Leo hard in his face. She yelled, "You shameless pig! How dare you cheat on me after all the fortune my family has brought you?"

Sasha continued with a flurry of slaps while she chided on, "If it weren't for our family, the Hale family would have been bankrupt now and both you and your dad would be in jail too! How dare you cheat on me? Believe me when I say I will beat the light out of you today!"

Sasha could not hold her rage anymore. She had her bodyguard hand her a whip, then with a fling of her arm, the whip ripped open the flesh on Leo's face.

“Sasha, it's really not my fault! It's all because of that woman! She wanted our company to offer more commission so badly that she was willing to seduce me!”

Leo's body was trembling nonstop. Sasha glowered at him like a starving tiger at its prey.

“Are you sure?” Sasha questioned her husband harshly.

“Yes, all of my words are true! She wanted 5 more percent of our profits for their company's commission but I did not agree. Then she started to flirt with me all of a sudden. Clearly, she was trying to seduce me to make things go her way! If you don't trust me, you can take a look at the contract on the table!” Leo nodded violently.

“You little b*tch! How dare you seduce my husband? I am going to ruin that pretty little face of yours!” Sasha bought her husband’s lies and with a flick of her hand, she sent the whip flying towards Kate’s face.

Sasha was not only angry at Kate for seducing her husband, but she was also jealous of Kate’s natural beauty.

Her resentment towards Kate was so immense at that moment that she swore she would disfigure Kate’s beautiful face with her own hands.

Kate shrieked at the top of her lungs as the whip came lashing at her. In that instant, the aphrodisiac’s effect seemed to have completely died down as fear overwhelmed her.

Just as Kate could almost feel the whip on her face, a hand appeared out of nowhere and grasped the end of the whip.

Chapter 170

“Who the hell are you?” Sasha glared at Alex. She tried to yank the whip away from his hand but it didn’t budge at all.

“Alex?” Leo’s expression changed the moment he recognized Alex’s face.

The last time he was at Dylan’s restaurant, Alex had stuffed so many pastries down Leo’s throat that he had to go to the hospital.

Until now, he couldn't look at pastry without throwing up.

Never in his mind would he expect Alex to show up today.

“Darling, this guy is the Jennings' good-for-nothing son-in-law. He must have sent the woman to seduce me!” Leo's eyes were filled with rage towards Alex. He wanted to make him suffer at the hands of his wife.

Although Alex was skillful in combat, yet Sasha's bodyguards were soldiers that had once fought the Brecknock War.

Leo figured that Alex would not be able to go up against all of them.

“Pfft! Another man who feeds off his wife’s fortune. How dare you stop my lash? Are you looking for trouble?” Sasha spat scornfully.

“You’re the one who’s looking for trouble!”

Alex scoffed, “Who gave you the nerve to whip my company’s executive staff? Tell me!”

Alex’s last few words carried so much power and fury that it startled Sasha and made her stumble onto the floorboard.

“Damn you!”

The bodyguards came rushing to Alex as they saw their master fell.

A vicious intent flashed across Alex’s eyes as he flailed the whip around.

Whoop! Whoop! Whoop!

Before the bodyguards could even come close to Alex, they all went down after being struck by the whip.

Alex had put all of his strength into each of the lashes.

Each whip had the force of a thousand horses and was enough to shear through the skin and tissues of the enemies.

The bodyguards, despite coming from the Brecknock, could not withstand any of Alex's hits at all and fainted on the spot.

“W-who are you? How dare you stick your nose into my affairs? Believe me when I say I will send your company into bankruptcy!” Sasha resorted to verbal threats now that her bodyguards were all down.

“What? You want to bankrupt us?” Alex cackled. He had yet to identify any families in the Nebula City that was capable of forcing the Four Seas Corporation into a state of bankruptcy.

Kate also found Sasha’s bold claim amusing.

This old hag is so dumb! Does she not know we are from the Four Seas Corporation?

Leo’s face looked ghastly. Just as he was about to warn Sasha about Alex and Kate’s company, Sasha blurted out loudly, “My dad is Philip Taylor! Yes, you heard that right. I am from the one and only Taylor family! We have connections everywhere, and we have countless subsidiaries around this region! Enlighten me, would you? Where do you come from,

to have the guts to berate me?”

“The one and only Taylor family?” Alex chortled with derision.

“Tsk, only fools like you would dare to act so insolently in front of me. If I were you, I would kneel down and apologize right now. So hurry up, scumbag! If your apology is satisfactory, I will consider letting the two of you off the hook. Or else, be prepared to go to jail! Oh and also, your company will have all its assets frozen!” Sasha was on a sudden bout of confidence after she mentioned her origin.

She got on her feet and pointed a finger arrogantly at Alex. She wanted Alex to apologize to her now.

At this moment, Alex loosened the ropes wrapped around Kate’s body as he glared at Sasha. “You might not know where I come from, but still, that doesn't give you the right to act so impudently. If I do not punish you today, the Four Seas Corporation will not live up to its name as the ace of the Nebula City!"

As he spoke, he took out his phone to dial for Jack Sawyer. "I want all of the Hale family's assets frozen right now, by hook or by crook! If the Taylor family dares to interfere, inform me then."

Alex hung up the call and led Kate outside.

But before the two of them could leave the room, Sasha hollered, "Stand right where you are, the two of you! How dare you threaten me! I will make you all pay the price!"

"That's enough!" Leo finally exploded. "Do you know which company they come from?"

Sasha froze at her spot. It was the first time Leo had spoken to her in such a loud tone. She responded, “Where are they from?”

“The Four Seas Corporation!” Leo yelled at Sasha at the top of his lungs. Yes, they are from the Four Seas Corporation that even the Taylor family cannot afford to mess with!

What? The two of them are from the Four Seas Corporation? Sasha shuddered. Her face was incredibly pale at this point.
