

Chapter 0028

Renea's rejection was unexpected to Mike. After all, calling the chance to collaborate with Richard was even more challenging than winning the lottery. Thus, he couldn't understand why Renea would decline it.

"Tell me one condition to have. We can try our best to fulfil them."
Mike looked at Renea and spoke.

Hearing that Renea smiled gently and said, "I don't have any conditions I just want to hear Richard playing his first signature piece 'Loathing,' for me."

She had only heard the recorded version of this composition, while Richard had only performed it live once. He hadn't played it again since. What she desired was most to experience it live.

"Well..." Mike hesitated for a moment before bracing himself to answer. "Sure!"

On the other hand, Kailey had not anticipated that she was the one who was being mistaken.

It turned out that Richard's intention to collaborate was actually with Renea.

"Why?"

"Why does it have to be Renea?"

'I am the true heiress of the Morris family, excelling in both in talent and appearance, compared to Renea.'

'Why should it be her?' Kailey, he thought to herself. And the more she thought about it, the angrier she became.

Richard cast a cold glance at her. He believed that jealousy could transform a person beyond recognition.

"Amy, please escort this young lady out," he said.

"Yes."

The assistant stepped forward and said politely to Kailey, "Miss, this way, please."

"No, Mr. White, you have not seen me dance yet. Even if there was a mistake, you should not dismiss me so decisively. Please give me a try, will you?" Kailey argued fervently.

She was confident that as long as Richard allowed her to dance, he would certainly choose her.

Hearing that, the assistant also looked at Richard with uncertainty. Indeed, they were the ones who made the mistake, so they should take responsibility. They should not let Kailey come all this way in vain.

After a long while, Richard slowly spoke, "Alright I play a son, while you dance to it!"

"Alright!" Kailey was thrilled.

After walking up to the piano, Richard lifted his hand and placed his fingertips gently on the piano keys.

He started playing slowly and gradually accelerating as he tapped his finger gently on the piano keys, melodious piano music instantly filled the dressing room.

Kailey, who was in the red dress, gradually began to dance. Originally, she could match the piano's rhythm and perform a beautiful dance. However, as the rhythm grew faster, she couldn't keep up.

The most embarrassing thing was that she missed a step, stepped on the hem of her dress, and fell directly to the ground.

Richard stood up, looked at her coldly, and said, "This is the piece we're going to collaborate on shortly. Do you prefer to embarrass yourself on the stage, or just leave now?"

Kailey covered her mouth and ran out of the dressing room.

Not long after Kailey's departure, Mike brought Rena and Stella into Richard's dressing room.

'He is so handsome!' Stella's eyes lit up as she fixed her gaze on Richard.

Then she thought to herself, 'He is even more than hundred times better looking than television series actors.'

'Sight, I have proved myself wrong this time.'

Renea chuckled upon seeing how infatuated Stella was.

"Richard, this is Miss Renea Morris. She is the one you are looking for," Mike introduced.

Richard scrutinized Renea and contemplated. 'Now that she is in ordinary attire, she doesn't look as stunning as last time. However, she emanates a compelling charm that others lack.

'Especially, her bright eyes... They seem transparent yet conceal unfathomable depths.

'She bears such striking resemblance... and the sense of familiarity gradually intensifies.'

As a figure flashed across Richard's mind, he quickly dismissed it. Then he said coldly, "Let's give the piece a try first."

"Alright!" Renea replied.

Richard played the same tune just now. Compared to Kailey, Renea managed to complete the dance effortlessly.

The only thing lacking was her dancing attire, but her overall performance could still captivate one's eyes.

Richard was very pleased with it. He knew he had found the right person.

"Marvelous! Do you need to familiarize yourself with it a couple more times?"

Renea smiled confidently and replied, "No need, I just need to listen to your recorded piece."

"Alright, go ahead and do your makeup. We will meet later," Richard said as he left.

Renea sat in front of the makeup mirror. Richard assigned his makeup artist, Daisy, to her.

Daisy looked at Renea and explained, "Darling, your face is so delicate, and your features are perfect. I will dress up you beautifully today!"

After exerting some effort on Renea's makeup, Daisy looked at her masterpiece and exclaimed, "Darling, you are simply stunning."

Stella was also in awe. Renea, who usually didn't wear makeup, could only be described as having delicate features. But after this highlighting her beauty was indescribable. It would not be an exaggeration to call her an otherworldly beauty.

After Renea changed into the classical white gown, she would resemble an angel from above.

Even Richard was astonished upon seeing Renea.

Renea looked at her reflection in the mirror. Then she suggested, "Richard your piece 'Bloom on the Riverside' already carries an air of mystery. I think if I wear a veil, it might enhance the effect of the performance later."

"Oh, no! That won't do!" Daisy rejected Renea's idea with agitation. "Wouldn't it be a waste to use a veil on a peerless beauty like you?"

Richard looked at Renea with puzzlement. After all, being able to collaborate with him was like making a name for oneself. However, she wanted to cover her face to hide it, which intrigued him.

+15 BONUS

"I think we should base our decision on the actual nature of the piece. Moreover, today's spotlight is on Richard, not me," Renea explained.

Comments

Support

AD is coming