

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 33

Melvin pursed his thin lips, and he walked out of the hotel without saying a word.

Fred had no choice but to call his men to release those two people.

Stacy and Mr. Pollard were tied up in a darkened room, shivering.

She never could have imagined that Lyra actually knew such a big shot like Melvin, and her jealousy towards Lyra deepened even more.

An orphan who grew up in an orphanage, whose marital status on the profile seemed to read "Divorced".

What made a woman like this worthy of the help from so many excellent men in Frayton?

But more than jealousy, she was afraid at the moment.

It was the fear of how Melvin would handle them.

The light turned on with a crisp snap, both were almost blinded under the sudden illumination.

They were trembling with fear, and before they could ask for mercy, they saw Fred's men untying them!

Then the group of people left directly without casting them a glance.

The two people looked at each other in puzzlement.

What was going on here?

They let them go so easily?

Mr. Pollard immediately called Mr. Harper to ask for information, and Stacy also listened next to him.

But Mr. Harper's phone was off.

They couldn't get through.

The two had no other choice but to separate first. They couldn't stay in this place, in case Melvin might regret it and come back to catch them.

After returning home, Stacy talked to Irene on the phone and learned that Mr. Harper and Mr. McCormick had been arrested.
