Chapter 411

The Grant family had hired several doctors over the past few weeks to treat their grandfather. However, most of them left in vain, unable to figure out his condition.

Currently, Leah's biggest contender for the head of the family title was Maggie. As a result, he saw Alex as another enemy getting in his way.

Maggie frowned and said, "Leah, Alex is really skilled. One time, when my luck was really bad to the point that I nearly lost my life, Mr. Jefferson helped me alter my fortune. After that, my life is now sailing smoothly again! I can assure you, Mr. Jefferson's powers are truly godlike!"

Leah snorted derisively. “Maggie, my little cousin, what grandpa needs right now is a miracle doctor, not a bloody fraud! These so-called geomancers pretend to be so powerful when they are just con artists. Pff, only naive fools could be duped by them!”

His words were a double-edged sword. Hearing what he was implying, Maggie’s expression grew unpleasant.

On one hand, Leah was suggesting that Alex was a fraud. On the other hand, he was insinuating Maggie was naive, too unfit to be in line as the future head of the family.

Maggie could read between the lines easily.

Regardless, she tried to advise him, saying, “Leah, even if you don’t believe in such things, you shouldn’t be irreverent either.”

Leah snorted, “Reverence? Surely that depends on who it is first? I, Leah Grant, have only ever respected honest, honorable men. As for these phonies who dabble in pseudoscience like him will never deserve my attention, let alone my respect.”

Then, he gestured towards the elderly figure beside him, a smug look on his face. “This is Lumenopolis’s divine physician, Tyrael Skyworth, and his granddaughter, Auriel Skyworth.”

Alex looked over at the pair; one was old, one was young. Yup, they are definitely a grandfather and his granddaughter.

They both seemed to be dressed peculiarly.

The elderly man looked to be over sixty. Dressed in a green robe and wearing a pair of dignified reading glasses, the man had formidable eyebrows and a long, white mustache. It was obvious he was a martial arts expert.

On the other hand, the girl standing by his side was a young lady about eighteen or nineteen years old. She was dressed in a loosely fitted cheongsam. Her hair was in a short bob, with fringe that framed her pair of lovely, inquisitive eyes. She gave off a mysterious, sophisticated aura.

Her face, however, drew Alex's eyes the most.

Maggie was lovely too, but this young lady had a beauty that rivaled Maggie's.

Furthermore, in comparison with Maggie, who could be described as a ballbuster, this young lady's gaze seemed to be sharper and haughtier. This was not a woman you could approach easily.

Noticing Alex's survey, Tyrael acknowledged him with a nod. Conversely, Auriel didn't even bother to look at him, emitting a sense of icy arrogance.

At this instant, Leah looked at Maggie smugly, saying,

“Little cousin Maggie, I see the man you hired has to be around twenty-four, twenty-five years old? I bet he doesn’t even comprehend the five elements, Yin and Yang, etc. fully yet. How can he call himself a master? If outsiders heard that our family has hired a geomancer to treat our grandfather, we will become the laughingstock of Lumenopolis! Indeed, we would be laughed at as blind fools!”

His words were filled with toxic barbs, all directed towards Alex, who was beginning to feel displeased.

Nevertheless, he didn’t lose his temper. After all, Leah was an ignorant fool. He wasn’t going to lower himself down to Leah’s standards.

Maggie’s face was flushed red with anger.

Nevertheless, Leah ignored her completely and turned towards Tyrael Skyworth, “My apologies, Dr. Skyworth. My cousin sister is still young and foolish.

Because of that, she has made an embarrassment of herself.”

Observing the placid expression on Alex’s face, Tyrael Skyworth turned his gaze from Alex and said, “Youth does not equal incompetence. My granddaughter here is only eighteen, but she has already mastered seventy percent of the arts of ancient medicine. In time, I have no doubt that she, too, will become a skillful doctor. I don’t think you should be so hasty to doubt Alex’s ability.”

Listening to his wise remarks, Alex couldn’t help but feel impressed.

Chapter 412

Due to the standoff between Leah and Maggie, Alex knew full well he and Tyrael were going to go head-to-head as adversaries.

What he didn't expect was Tyrael actually defended him. Regardless of whether Tyrael was truly a miracle healer or not, he had already garnered Alex's respect.

"Master Skyworth, you are not aware of the whole picture. My little cousin here is very naïve. Once, when she fell sick, she went all over the city looking for doctors thoughtlessly. She was even deceived a number of times!" Leah accused Maggie hurriedly, trying to defend himself.

"Leah, what is the meaning of this?" Maggie cried out as she was trying to suppress her anger.

Leah glanced at Maggie, taunting, "Maggie dearest, weren't you deceived by some priest from the Mountain of the Beasts a couple of days ago? Am I lying?"

"You..." Maggie sputtered, completely tongue-tied with humiliation.

The incident with Mr. Carter was her life's biggest and only failure. Who knew that she, a precocious child from birth, would be duped by some trickster? Had Alex not helped her out, she would probably be doomed.

Obviously, Leah has no idea about Alex's powers. Otherwise, he wouldn't have dared to speak this blatantly.

“Look, I have no idea how you managed to fool my little cousin. But if you really think you can trick me, Leah Grant, then I am sorry. These two beside me have come from a family of doctors. If you know what's best for you, you will leave this place immediately. Otherwise, the moment we expose you for the imposter you are, I guarantee you'll be in deep trouble.”

It doesn't matter if Alex is capable or not. I can't allow Alex to heal my grandfather. There is no way I can let Maggie take even a slice of credit for herself!

The expression on Maggie's face was extremely grim. She never would had thought her cousin was this unreasonable.

It has been no easy feat to invite Mr. Jefferson over. There is no way he is going to heal my grandpa now after how Leah has offended him.

Maggie had absolute faith in Alex. He is obviously a secret Feng Shui Master despite his claims of only understanding a thing or two about Feng Shui. Also, he was probably just being modest when he said he didn't know much about medicine, right?

Unfortunately, she still hadn't got a clue on how to refute Leah.

Maggie was surprised with how calm Alex was. She had expected Alex to become angry or storm off, at the very least.

However, Alex just smiled, “Oh, don’t fret about me. I’ll just observe from the side and I won’t bother the Dr. Skyworth.”

Hearing Alex, Leah snorted, “That’s more like it,” finally stopping his aggression towards Alex.

Maggie felt rather bad for him.

The same thing had occurred on that fateful day. Stefan had tried to convince her Alex was a real Master Geomancer, but that trickster had blinded her. Had Mr. Jefferson not saved her in the nick of time, she would surely be doomed.

And now, history has repeated!

She felt rather apologetic towards Alex. However, she immediately felt more at ease when Leah finally decided to stop hurling insults towards Alex.

The divine physician could always go and treat her grandfather first. If he failed, Mr. Jefferson could step in and helped to salvage the situation.

“Leah, Maggie, hurry up, your grandpa is dying!”

Just then, a middle-aged man appeared by the stairs of the second floor, his face etched with worry as he called out to the two cousins.

“Where is the patient? I must see him immediately.”
Tyrael stated authoritatively.

“He is on the second floor. Dr. Skyworth, please hurry upstairs!” The middle-aged man rushed him.

With that, Leah ushered Tyrael and Auriel hurriedly up to the second floor.

Maggie called Alex along as well, all of them rushed upstairs.

Chapter 413

The second floor was incredibly spacious. Everybody entered an ornate-looking room, where a frail, old man was lying in a rosewood bed with elaborate carvings. He appeared to be on the verge of death.

The old man was deathly pale, his skin already ashen and lifeless. His brows were furrowed tightly, signaling the severity of the pain he was experiencing.

Tyrael took one quick survey and announced, “He is in grave condition. Please allow me and my granddaughter to heal him.”

Leah nodded swiftly, “Dr. Skyworth, please act immediately!”

Tyrael nodded towards Leah in response. Studying Elder Grant’s condition once again, he started relaying orders to Auriel.

Auriel took out a silver needle from the medical box. After sterilizing it, she deftly injected the needle into the acupuncture point indicated by her grandfather.

The Grant family watched quietly as Auriel carried out treatment using the silver needles on their grandfather.

Alex, too, was observing Auriel with interest. He was rather taken aback by how steady and competent Auriel's skills were.

Auriel was very good with the needles and her skills had surpassed most experienced doctors in terms of competency and composure. It was no wonder the Grant family were willing to let her treat their grandfather, despite her young age.

Auriel completed the acupuncture procedure efficiently. She was beautiful. However, it wasn't all just outward appearances, for she had a regal aura that comes from within. The self-confidence she had was remarkable.

Alex admired Auriel's needlework and he realized that she had learned the ability to use her Mortal Force on the needle to its full potential. This was truly a rare skill to master.

The reason most doctors were unable to fully master this skill was related to the fact that they don't know martial art.

In today's society, martial arts were facing the risk of becoming obsolete. Those who were training in martial arts were due to family tradition or based on genuine interest. Either way, there weren't many people learning martial arts now.

Moreover, where could ordinary folks go to learn martial arts?

For example, enrolling in martial arts schools like Shao Lin and Wu Dang was not easy for ordinary people.

Despite being impressed, Alex could still see that Auriel was a novice in this particular technique. He could tell she wasn't able to use the needle to its maximum potential.

Now that was the most crucial step.

In order to achieve the desired outcome, one had to transfer Mortal Force through the needles into the patient's body.

Half an hour later, the acupuncture procedure was complete. The Grant family invited the two doctors to have some tea and rest. "Divine physicians, you have worked hard. Now please, enjoy your cup of tea."

A woman handed two cups of tea to Tyrael and Auriel as the middle-aged man was talking.

As for Alex, he was unanimously ignored by the whole Grant family.

Tyrael and Auriel were legitimately exhausted. Acupuncture could be very tiring work. This was especially true for Auriel, who had sweat beading on her forehead by the time she was done, for her Mortal Force was still feeble.

As the two of them brought their teacups to their lips and sipped, everybody else was observing Elder Grant. His previously pale face had gained some color, and his complexion seemed to look much better.

The Grant family was ecstatic. Dr. Skyworth is truly a divine physician!

Even Maggie was absolutely delighted with the turn of events. Her eyes glimmered with admiration when she looked at Tyrael and Auriel.

Just then, Auriel glared at Alex provokingly as she sneered. I, Auriel Skyworth, am a true divine physician! As for you, why are you here to humiliate yourself?

Noticing Auriel's goading stare, Alex merely smiled at her but didn't bother to respond.

He was impressed with Auriel's achievements, as they were quite remarkable considering her age. However, it was just the work of a novice.

The Nine Heaven Scrolls was an ancient literary text. Martial arts, Feng Shui, and alchemy were all included within. Anybody with above-average skills could master them in no time. And so, the skills displayed by Tyrael and Auriel were pretty ordinary in Alex's eyes.

Sure, their feats would look impressive to ordinary people, but for a master like him? That was merely child's play.

But Alex didn't bother to pick a fight with Auriel. Instead, he turned his head to look at Elder Grant. What he saw made his brows furrow slightly.

The Elder Grant did seem to have improved after Auriel's acupuncture treatment. However, that was only on the surface.

As Alex studied further, he noted Elder Grant's old illness was still unhealed. It appeared his arteries were deteriorating, and he was suffering from blood deficiency. As a result, his organs were slowly giving way. Auriel had only treated the symptoms and not the root cause.

Elder Grant might have a healthier complexion now, so it seemed like things had turned for the better. The truth was his condition would worsen again in a couple of days. The moment it relapsed that would be the end, for even God wouldn't be able to save him then.

It seemed like even the so-called divine physician could only extend the Elder Grant's life by one or two days, at most.

“Don’t be too happy just yet. The Elder Grant’s sickness is only temporarily healed. His condition will definitely relapse In two days. When that happens his blood vessels will burst. By then, even God wouldn’t be able to save him.” After deliberating for some time, Alex decided it was best to speak up.

As soon as his words fell, everybody’s gaze shot towards him and their eyes filled with consternation and anger.

Chapter 414

“What the hell are you talking about?”

Leah was the first to react. Angrily, he shouted, “You brat, how dare you curse my grandpa! I’m gonna tear you into pieces!”

The other members of the Grant family were furious as well. This Alex really doesn’t know his place, does he? How dare he spout such nonsense?

However, Maggie furrowed her brows and stopped Leah, “Leah, stop saying nonsense. I believe in Mr. Jefferson, so let him speak first, won’t you?”

“Nonsense?” Leah spat out incredulously. “Is there something wrong with your eyes? Don’t you see how much better grandpa look now after they did the acupuncture treatment?”

Maggie was about to continue arguing with Leah but she was stopped by Alex.

Alex glanced towards Tyrael with an amicable smile. “Dr. Skyworth, how about you check on Elder Grant’s current condition?”

Tyrael furrowed his brows in annoyance. He was not amused as he felt that Alex looked down on him.

“You impudent brat, you dare to question the divine physician? If you do that one more time, I will kick you out of this house!” Leah shouted as he pointed a finger towards Alex.

He had personally invited Dr. Skyworth because he wanted to use this situation to look good in front of his grandfather. Then, he might change his mind and make Leah the head of the family.

This bloke keeps interfering with my plans! Does he have a death wish?

“What’s wrong? Is the divine physician afraid to do a little check-up?” Alex taunted. “Well, I’ll tell you Elder Grant’s condition myself then. Firstly, his body’s still unhealed, which means his arteries are about to break. Besides that, Elder Grant is currently suffering from kidney failure and liver cirrhosis. His lungs are also almost completely damaged. If you don’t heal his kidney, liver, and lungs as soon as possible, he will die within two days. Lastly, his complexion has indeed improved after your treatment. However, I can assure you this is only a temporary measure. Your needlework is mediocre, so the effect your needle brought about is also not substantial to stabilize his condition. In a couple of hours, the effect of the needle will fade away. By then, the Elder Grant’s condition will regress and, dare I say, worsen.”

“What nonsense!”

“What a pile of rubbish!”

Auriel and Leah protested. Their faces were angry as they glared towards Alex, confident that Alex was just blustering and talking nonsense.

Alex ignored the two of them but fixed his gaze on Tyrael, the smile on his face unfaltering.

Just then, Tyrael was staring at Alex. He was dumbfounded and his eyes filled with incredulity. What Alex said was absolutely true, for he saw all the symptoms too.

As Lumenopolis’s finest divine physician, he wasn’t as incapable as he appeared to Alex.

Tyrael was actually very skilled, so he had already seen everything Alex had described. However, he had no other choice. He couldn't personally carry out the acupuncture treatment himself due to his injuries. Left without a choice, he had to use his granddaughter to administer the acupuncture treatment instead of him. It was no wonder why the results were not to his expectation.

Had he been able to carry out the acupuncture procedure personally, he was confident he could extend Elder Grant's lifespan for one or two more months, at the very least.

Since his granddaughter had not mastered the skill, the best she could do was to extend one or two more days of his life.

Tyrael stared at Alex suspiciously. A physician with skills like Alex should be on par with me, at the very least, so why have I never heard of him? Besides, he is still so young. This means his Master must have amazing medical knowledge and skills. I can't believe this.

“You stinky brat, I order you to apologize to my grandfather this instance! Otherwise, I'll never let you off the hook easily!” Auriel was furious as she pointed a finger at Alex.

Alex just looked at her. This chick is rather steady. She may be only eighteen years old, but she looks very mature and experienced for her age, but it's a pity she is still so naive.

Leah reprimanded him as well. “You scoundrel, didn't you hear her? Apologize to the divine physician at once! Otherwise, you are going to have it!”

“You moron.” Alex flicked a bored glance at Leah.

“You-you, what did you just f**king say? I dare you to say that one more time!” Leah was practically apoplectic now.

At this moment, Tyrael finally spoke up. “What Dr. Jefferson said is right, Elder Grant is in critical condition. His organs are undergoing massive failure, and he probably won’t live past two days.”

“What?”

When the Grant family heard the doctor’s confession, they were shocked beyond belief as if they had been struck by lightning.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 415

“Dr. Skyworth, you have to be kidding! Aren’t you the divine physician?” Leah shouted in denial as he couldn’t believe what he had just heard.

The Grant family were all in disbelief.

Tyrael was a renowned divine physician in Lumenopolis, so for him to admit to all of that. Did that mean there was no more hope for that Elder Grant?

Looking at Leah, Tyrael explained haltingly, “Elder Grant had been ill for a very long time, but he didn’t receive any proper treatment. That, I’m afraid, is the main reason we are unable to turn the situation and save him now.”

Then, he paused to let out a weary sigh before he continued. “If I hadn’t injured myself earlier, I could heal Elder Grant so that he could live for a few more months. However, with how heavily injured I am now, I’m afraid I can’t carry out acupuncture anymore. My granddaughter hasn’t mastered the Sanyang Method yet, so the best we can do now is to extend Elder Grant’s life for two more days.”

A middle-aged man asked, “But Dr. Skyworth, what else can we do to save my father?”

The middle-aged man was Deckard Grant. He was Leah’s father and Maggie’s second uncle.

“That’d be tough,” Tyrael sighed, shaking his head in defeat. “Healing Elder Grant’s old illness would require some sort of panacea or a divine physician who is more superior than me. Otherwise, I'm sad to say that he'll have no chance. Unfortunately, I'm not bluffing when I say this, I've never heard of a Chinese physician who could outdo me in the whole of Eurasia."

Hearing the hopeless news, the Grant family heaved out a sigh as they had lost hope.

They knew fully well Tyrael wasn't just blustering. There was truly nobody else better in the world than Tyrael when it came to mastering knowledge and skills in Traditional Chinese Medicine.

With Western medicine not working on improving Elder Grant's condition and the renowned Chinese physician, Tyrael, unable to heal him, it looked like he had no chance of surviving.

"Well, that's not unnecessarily true," Alex spoke up for the first time in a long while, his tone was rather casual.

Leah beetled his eyebrows at Alex as he bellowed “You brat, there is no place for you to interfere now!”

Tyrael, however, saw a glimmer of hope. He stared at Alex as he wondered. Could this young fellow really have a plan? After all, his medical skills must be pretty good if he can diagnose Elder Grant’s condition.

Taking into account Alex’s advanced skills in diagnosis, Tyrael was very certain that this young man’s knowledge and skills were much more superior than his granddaughter’s.

What he still couldn’t fathom was how Alex could be that good. Alex seemed to be a young adult still, so it was hard for him to gauge just how good Alex’s medical skills could be.

It was even trickier since it was Traditional Chinese Medicine.

“Uncle Deckard, I think we should let Mr. Jefferson take a look at grandpa,” Maggie was very firm.

Deckard looked warily at Alex, still unable to think of him as a doctor.

“Dad, look at him! He is obviously a fraud! Don’t you remember how she was conned the last time? We can’t let this fraud touch grandpa!” Leah refuted Maggie’s suggestion.

Deckard nodded in agreement as he was swayed by Leah’s persuasion. Just as he was about to reject Alex, Tyrael interrupted. “Master Grant, I believe there is no harm in giving this young man a chance. Who knows, maybe he is a world-class divine physician. Then, Elder Grant may have a chance to live.”

Deckard mulled over that for a second before conceding, “Alright, Dr. Skyworth has a point.”

Besides, it’s not like I have a choice. With my father in this condition, I can’t afford to be picky about doctors anymore.

With that, Deckard had made up his mind.

If Alex can delight us with a miracle, that will be great! But even if he is a fraud, he can’t do us more harm anyway. If Alex can’t heal my father, then he’d better not think he can swindle money out of us. I’ll make sure he won’t get even a cup of tea from us!

“Mr. Jefferson, please save my grandpa!” Maggie bowed reverently towards Alex, her demeanor was very sincere.

Alex nodded briefly before striding over to Elder Grant. With a single raise of his hand, the Mortal Force immediately surged through him. The needle that was stuck in Elder Grant by Auriel flew right into his hand.

Witnessing this amazing display of power, everyone's mouths fell open.

Tyrael, in particular, was duly impressed by Alex.

Just from the way Alex had retrieved the needle, Tyrael could tell Alex's skills were far more superior than him!

Moving on quickly, Alex sterilized the needle before starting to work on Elder Grant.

Witnessing how Alex had deployed the needles,
Tyrael and Auriel's mouths fell slack with stupefaction.

Auriel, for one, was incensed beyond measure.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 416

Alex did not look up and he was holding the silver needles.

He performed the acupuncture on Elder Grant at once. The silver needles were inserted into different acupuncture points such as the juque, guanyuan and shaoyang points. Alex transferred his inner qi into Elder Grant's body through the needles.

At that moment, Auriel scorned, "How shameless! How dare you steal The Skyworth's century-old Sanyang Method!"

Auriel was furious because she realized that Alex had learned this secret technique behind her back.

The more she thought of it, the angrier she became. Auriel wanted to teach Alex a lesson.

However, Tyrael Skyworth's expression changed. He grabbed her hand and whispered, "Stop messing around. Let's see what he's got there."

Feeling unsatisfied, Auriel replied, “Grandpa, I am not messing around. This bastard stole our secret technique! He must have learned it behind our back! I must teach him a lesson! Otherwise, if he goes out and deceives others, the Skyworths’ reputation will be tarnished!”

Tyrael Skyworth sighed and said, “Auriel, haven’t you realized that his skills are way better than yours? Indeed, this technique looks like our secret acupuncture method. But if you take a closer look, it is a more advanced technique compared to ours! Look at how detailed and perfect the acupoint sequence is...”

Auriel frowned. Even though she was pissed, she kept her lips zipped as she dare not go against her grandpa. All she did was look at how Alex perform the acupuncture.

Soon, she was surprised and her jaw dropped.

She had learned Traditional Chinese Medicine from her grandpa for over ten years. Auriel was familiar with most acupuncture techniques as she had been practicing them for the last five years.

The technique used by Alex really looked like their Sanyang Technique. However, it was not. It was just as her grandpa said earlier, it was a more advanced and complicated technique.

A bold thought appeared in her mind. Maybe he stole the technique and improvised it!

But it is impossible! Alex is very young, and it is impossible for him to figure out a more advanced technique than our Sanyang Method!

“Grandpa, what is happening? How did he figure out your secret technique?” Auriel Skyworth asked Tyrael Skyworth in shock.

Tyrael Skyworth nodded and then shook his head, “Well, I have misjudged him. I never thought that a young man like him would possess such great skills! Look at the silver needles! The needles were buzzing with resonance even before they were inserted into the acupuncture points.” He continued, “This is only possible when the inner qi is mastered. A person must first master his own inner qi before it can be transferred into his patient’s body.”

“And also, this young man has a steady hold of the needles. He has strong internal energy. Only a true Master of Martial Arts could give out that vibe! Regardless of age, he is much better than me in both martial arts skills and medical knowledge .”

After hearing what Tyrael Skyworth said, Auriel was in total shock. Even Deckard Grant, who was at the side, could not believe his ears.

As one of the most prominent families in Lumenopolis, they knew what a Master of Martial Arts was as Tyrael Skyworth was a Master too.

People respected the Grant family in society because of his status as a Master of Martial Arts. Hence, not many people dare to challenge the Grant family.

They did not expect a young man like him would be a Master too. It was just too shocking.

Auriel Skyworth refused to accept the truth and said, “Grandpa, you must believe me! I believe that someday, I will challenge and defeat him!”

Tyrael Skyworth smiled. He was amazed at how strong her granddaughter’s character was.

It was a good thing, but also a bad thing.

Auriel had a strong character. He really hoped that Auriel could find a partner who could get along with her in the future.

He pretended to advise her, “Auriel, please have some respect for Mr. Jefferson. The technique performed by Mr. Jefferson is the second part of techniques that the Skyworth family had lost. If you want to learn this technique, it’d be better for you to show him some respect and become his disciple.”

“Wha... What?”

Auriel’s eyes widened in disbelief and asked, “Grandpa, you want me to be his disciple?”

Chapter 417

Auriel glanced at Alex. She was so irritated to see how calm and confident he was.

How could she follow a Master who was only a few years older than her?

She would never be his disciple, no matter how great he was.

Otherwise, how could she beat him in the future?

Alex inserted the last silver needle and stood up, “Done. Ten minutes later, Elder Grant will regain consciousness.”

Maggie was overwhelmed and asked, “Mr. Jefferson, will grandpa be okay after waking up?”

Alex shook his head, “Impossible. This Sanyang Method can only help him live for a year. To cure this disease and repair his internal organs, he needs to take some special medicine. But, my medicine is not magic. Even with the medicine I prescribed, he probably could only live up to five years for Elder Grant is very old. After that, even God can’t save him.”

Leah Grant disdained, “What a joke! Dr. Skyworth said even if he performed the acupuncture personally, my grandpa could only live for a few months. Yet, you are not ashamed of yourself! Bragging in front of Dr.

Skyworth and showing disrespect!”

As soon as he finished speaking, Tyrael Skyworth stood and bowed. “I am Tyrael Skyworth. My apologies for misjudging you. Your technique is simply amazing!”

He seemed sincere; Leah Grant’s face turned red as if Tyrael Skyworth had slapped him in the face.

He was so embarrassed.

Alex smiled gently. Leah Grant was utterly irritated and said coldly, “Hmph! Don’t be too happy! You said my grandpa would wake up in ten minutes, right? Let’s see if this is gonna be a slap on your face.”

Alex glanced at Leah Grant and said, “You want to challenge me? Haha! That’s a long way to go. I didn’t mind what you said earlier because, for me, you are just a piece of trash.”

Alex started to see red as Leah Grant kept insulting him.

“You brat! I am a piece of trash? Do you want to die?” Leah Grant got mad and wanted to slap Alex.

Since young, he had been learning martial arts and had cultivated Mortal Force at the age of ten. That made him one of the most skillful martial art practitioners. Hence, he felt offended when Alex said that he was a piece of trash.

“Leah! Stop messing around!” Deckard Grant tried to stop him. Judging from the way Alex performed the acupuncture technique, he was sure that Alex was a skillful practitioner. Alex had probably exceeded the level of a Master. Therefore, it would not be wise for Leah Grant to be up against someone like him.

He wanted to stop him, but it was too late.

“Me? Die?”

Alex laughed and grabbed Leah Grant’s wrist. He then slapped Leah Grant with his other hand and laughed coldly, “So who’s the one dying here?”

“You! I will kill you!” Leah Grant was so angry. No one had ever slapped him before but Alex slapped and embarrassed him in public. He would not be able to ease his anger if he did not kill Alex today.

“You want to kill me?”

Alex gave him another slap. “You’re just a piece of trash. Yet, you have the gall to say that you want to kill me?”

Leah Grant got really angry. He used all his might but still could not get Alex's hand off his wrist. Just as he was about to fight back, he could feel his Mortal Force being released. Now, he was just a weakling in front of Alex.

Leah Grant was really provoked by now. His lips were bleeding after Alex slapped him hard. If she could, she would definitely want to kill Alex.

“Mr. Jefferson, please forgive my ignorant son. It's not worth it for a Master to get worked up for a piece of trash like him.”

Deckard Grant apologized profusely; he was certain that Alex was a Master of Martial Arts because he was so skillful and strong.

Alex gave out a powerful aura that was so unbelievably strong that even a Master like him was taken aback.

Everyone was shocked and in disbelief after they heard what Deckard Grant said.

Leah Grant was frightened; he was stunned and did not move.

Chapter 418

Did he just insult a Master of Martial Arts?

Was he digging his own grave?

Leah Grant never doubted his father's words since he was also a Master himself.

At that moment, he finally understood why Alex only held one of his wrists, not her "Mingmen" point. Even with that, Leah could not gather his Mortal Force no matter how hard he tried.

No one, except a Master of Martial Arts, would possess such exceptional skill.

At this moment, Auriel regretted what she said as she realized how stupid she was.

Previously, she had doubts when her grandfather said that Alex was a Master. However, when Deckard Grant, a Master of Martial Arts, acknowledged the fact, she had nothing else to say.

Alex has indeed surpassed the level of a Master of Martial Arts, which was what gave him the confidence to come to Lumenopolis.

He consumed several Pill of Cultivation, coupled with tons of practice from the Nine Heaven Scrolls. The combination of the above had boosted his inner qi and attained the ability which most martial arts practitioners including Master of Martial Arts could not have achieved in their lifetime.

“I am sorry, Mr. Jefferson. Please forgive my ignorance for not acknowledging your skills. Please don’t bother me and treat me like a piece of trash,” Leah Grant said apologetically as he bowed.

He would be making a fool out of himself if he still insisted on challenging Alex after knowing who he really was.

Alex snorted coldly; there was no need for him to argue with Leah Grant anymore.

He let go of Leah Grant, and he was relieved as the pressure she felt had finally diminished. Once again, she apologized to Alex.

However, Alex just ignored him.

At that moment, Tyrael Skyworth asked again, “Excuse me, Mr. Jefferson. Was the acupuncture technique you performed the Sanyang Method?”

Alex glanced at Tyrael Skyworth and he knew what he wanted to ask. He continued, “The acupuncture technique your granddaughter performed is also the Sanyang Method. However, she has only learned the first part, and that is why it is ineffective.”

Tyrael Skyworth was shocked and replied, “Yeah. The Sanyang Method was passed down from generations in the Skyworth family, but we were only left with the first part of it. The second part of the technique was lost thousands of years ago. It was a blessing for us to watch you perform the second part of the technique today!”

Alex glanced at Tyrael Skyworth. Suddenly, he said, “Well, I suppose you have the intention to learn this acupuncture method?”

Tyrael Skyworth’s face turned red as that was what he thought.

No doubt, he wanted to learn as it was a technique that was lost over a thousand years.

By learning the second part of the technique, not only would their family gain more respect in the medical field, but his personal medical skills would also improve greatly too.

However, Tyrael Skyworth felt awkward as it was Alex who brought it up.

But since Alex had open his mouth, it was hard for Tyrael to say no.

Tyrael Skyworth laughed in an awkward manner and said, “If Mr. Jefferson is willing to teach, I will pay a hundred million s as a reward.”

Auriel Skyworth was looking forward to Alex’s reply. If he were willing to teach her grandfather the full Sanyang Method, it would be beneficial for their family, especially their status in the medical industry.

Alex smiled faintly, “Well, I don’t want your money. I only need you to keep a promise.”

Tyrael Skyworth was stunned with his reply and asked curiously, “May I know what do you need me to do, Mr. Jefferson?”

Alex said, “I need you to open a clinic in Nebula City. You have to practice medicine and stay there for at least five years. Is that a deal?”

He remembered that Flynn wanted to open a clinic. Auriel Skyworth was a talented girl, and he wanted them to stay in Nebula City for a few years. If Auriel Skyworth proved herself worthy, he would teach Auriel Skyworth the art of alchemy.

Tyrael Skyworth was relieved, “Of course! No problem!”

He often traveled across the country and rarely settled at one place. Alex's request is not a problem for him at all.

Auriel Skyworth was relieved too. She thought that Alex would ask his grandpa to do something ridiculous.

“Grandpa is awake!”

A young girl's voice called out in a sudden; everyone turned and looked behind immediately.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 419

Everyone was overjoyed as Elder Grant woke up; their eyes were full of gratitude as Alex had helped Elder Grant regained consciousness.

“Mr. Jefferson! You are such a great doctor! Thank you for saving my grandpa!” Maggie bowed and thanked Alex.

Alex smiled faintly and told Deckard Grant, “Please give Elder Grant more time to rest. He needs some time to adapt to the changes in his body since he had been unconscious for a period of time. He should be able to get out of bed in a few minutes.”

“Thank you, Mr. Jefferson! It is a blessing to have you here! The Grant family will never forget your kindness!” Deckard Grant bowed thankfully at Alex.

Even though Deckard Grant was also a Master of Martial Arts, he admired both Alex’s medical skills and personality.

The way Leah Grant and the others treated Alex totally changed; they no longer felt threatened by Alex’s presence.

Even though the Grant family was thankful for Alex’s help, Auriel Skyworth refused to acknowledge him. The arrogant expression she had on her face spoke the truth.

She coldly snorted and said, “Well, it was me who saved Elder Grant! I was the one who did the acupuncture treatment first! This isn't fair! I want to challenge you!"

Tyrael Skyworth's expression turned and yelled at Auriel Skyworth, "Auriel! How dare you! You must not be rude to Dr. Jefferson! Apologize now!"

Auriel Skyworth refused to give in and replied, "No, grandpa. I won't acknowledge and apologize to him unless he defeats me."

"You!"

Rage was flowing through Tyrael Skyworth like lava, but Alex just smiled. He then asked her, "So, what do you want to challenge me on?"

He grinned at Auriel Skyworth. She was boiling with rage, but she still looked charming and cute.

“Medical skills, of course!”

Suddenly, Auriel Skyworth had an idea. She giggled and said, “The basics in Traditional Chinese Medicine are formed on the basis of ‘sight’, ‘smell’, ‘ask’ and ‘cut’ techniques. Why not we compete on the simplest one, the ‘sight’ technique?”

“Auriel! Stop messing around!” Tyrael Skyworth yelled. He was disappointed at how ignorant and naive Auriel was. Dr. Jefferson had shown how thorough he was at ‘sight’ technique, yet she still insisted on challenging Alex.

Alex raised his hand and stopped Tyrael Skyworth from interrupting, “Sure. How should we go about it?”

Auriel Skyworth looked at the Grant family and pondered for a moment. She then suggested, “Let’s have a look at everyone in this room and see what’s wrong with their health. The one who diagnose accurately wins.”

Alex smiled blandly, “No problem. Ladies first.”

The Grant family was delighted. It was as if the two greatest doctors were giving them free medical examination.

Even though Auriel Skyworth said the ‘sight’ technique was the simplest, the truth was it was the most difficult and important technique in Traditional Chinese Medicine.

The technique was difficult as it did not involve any pulse-taking nor asking the patient for symptoms. It required great observation and vast experience in medical practice in order to diagnose a patient's illness accurately.

Even Tyrael Skyworth was not sure if he could do it perfectly.

Hmph. I have really spoiled this granddaughter. Well, perhaps this could be a good lesson in her life.

With that, Tyrael Skyworth did not bother to stop her anymore.

He believed that Alex had no ill-intention towards the two of them. On the contrary, his hunch told him that Alex was quite impressed with his granddaughter.

Soon, an expectation slowly grew in his heart, hoping that Auriel could do well.

Auriel had photographic memory since she was a child, and no one had ever doubted her ability.

She had been following him in practicing medicine for more than a decade. They had treated countless patients over the years. With all these experiences and her photographic memory, there was still hope for her to defeat Dr. Jefferson.

When he thought of that, Tyrael Skyworth's eyes sparkled, and he suddenly felt the fire burning from within.

It was a fact that Alex was a brilliant doctor, but everyone has a weakness.

Moreover, Alex had stolen their limelight a while ago. If Auriel could beat him, they would win respect from the Grant family again.

Without wasting any more time, Auriel Skyworth walked over and carefully observed each member of the Grant family. Everyone in the Grant family did not want to miss this opportunity for a free medical examination; hence, they cooperated with Auriel Skyworth.

Ten minutes later, Auriel Skyworth smiled and said, “I am done. I will make the diagnosis now.”

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

The crowd waited with bated breath for Auriel to diagnose their medical condition.

Auriel examined Deckard and revealed, “Mr. Grant, your upper forehead is reddish and wrinkled, which means that you are suffering from high blood pressure. Although you are a Master of Martial Arts, you neglect your diet. Due to that, your inner energy and blood flow are weak. Please don’t take this lightly, in the long run, even if you possess strong inner energy, you will not be able to overcome the problems caused by high blood pressure.”

Deckard was surprised to hear her diagnosis. He could not help but sigh, “Ms. Auriel is indeed an adept divine physician. I do have some inner energy and instability in my blood flow recently, but my diet is not the factor. Recently I had over-exerted myself in my martial art training. The fact that you manage to point out my symptoms correctly proves that you are indeed very proficient!”

Deckard gave Auriel a thumbs up. Even though she could not pinpoint the cause of his high blood pressure, he still admired her.

After all, Auriel was not even twenty years old. It was indeed a rare achievement for someone like her to possess such medical prowess at a young age.

Upon receiving such a compliment, Auriel felt bashful, but since she rightly diagnosed the high blood pressure, she felt encouraged to continue.

Now looking at Leah Grant, she continued, “There is redness between your eyebrows, and your eyes are a little muddy-looking, indicating that you have had lung inflammation from before. However, you have partially healed from that. If you continue to imbibe the medicine, you will recover fully within ten days.”

Leah smiled bitterly, “My utmost respect to you. Yes, I’ve been coughing for several days before and have been delaying my visit to the hospital. To be able to diagnose with such precision, you are indeed a divine physician.”

Auriel now turned her attention to Maggie. “Ms. Grant suffers from irregular menstruation as well as dysmenorrhea. These can be caused by overworking or staying up past bedtime at night. I suggest you get more rest and sleep earlier every night. Take some medications for menstruation and these symptoms will disappear accordingly.”

Maggie looked at Auriel admiringly and smiled, “This young doctor is correct in every aspect. Thank you for your advice.”

Auriel went on diagnosing and pointing out symptoms in others one by one. Amazingly, she was correct on all counts.

Even though a lot of those symptoms were minor, yet if they were left untreated, minor symptoms would cause serious illnesses later on.

For the case of Elder Grant, even though he was a Master of Martial Arts and his martial prowess was strong, he did not care about his health. He ignored all those minor symptoms when he was young. As a result, his body had declined with old age and he could no longer suppress those symptoms and fell seriously ill.

All the members of the Grant family were amazed. They commended her good upbringing and how well Dr. Skyworth had taught her. Even though this granddaughter of the Skyworths was only 18 years old, she was already so adept in medical knowledge. Surely, she would be a famous divine physician in near future.

Tyrael Skyworth looked on proudly and felt content.

However, as Auriel's gaze fell on Alex, she commented, “Mr. Jefferson, I think your illness is the most serious among all. You have heart disease.”

Alex laughed and said, “Brilliant! Your medical skills are indeed brilliant! In time you will become the foremost lady divine physician of our times!”

Hearing Alex’s praise, Auriel felt proud. She was smiling from ear to ear triumphantly.

Alex then advised, “Although you are excellent, there are still some minor flaws. I shall point them out to you now.”

Auriel felt a little dissatisfied, she pouted her lips and thought to herself. Let’s see what other flaws you can point out.

Alex could not help but smiled. He looked at Deckard and said, “Mr. Grant, in addition to high blood pressure, you also have palpitations. Moreover, your lower third rib from the left has been broken before. It must have been injured in a fight against a stronger opponent in the past. Although you have healed, your injured rib still shows a trace of the opponent's powerful strength. This incomplete healing can be felt every time the weather changes such as rainy days, and that is when your rib will feel sore. If left untreated, the condition may worsen. By then, it will be difficult even for you to suppress the pain.”
