

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 43

The crowd started whispering again, and some even quietly googled First Snow in an attempt to find out the difference between the two dresses.

And Charlotte, who was standing in the corner of the stage, was completely flummoxed.

This bitch had done dancing, but how come nothing happened?

She was obviously wearing the fake dress!

Why?

Which part of the process went wrong?

Charlotte could not accept it at all. She suffered a crushing defeat because of Lyra, who had stolen the show completely.

She ran to Lyra to see what kind of sorcery Lyra had done to the dress.

Just halfway through the run, because of her violent stretching movement, the waistline of the dress connecting the hip suddenly split!

At this time, there was no music to cover the sound anymore. The tearing sound was very loud and piercing, almost instantly drawing the attention of everyone.

The moment Charlotte realized it, she reached out to cover it at once but was too late!

The stitching on the side of her dress was torn into a long slit from under her arms to her hipbone, and her pink bra was exposed through the opening, which could be seen clearly under the spotlight.

Charlotte was completely dumbfounded, her face colorless.

She squatted down and curled up to cover herself. However, with this movement, the dress was ripped once again.

Now even her pink panty was revealed.

Yoo-hoo, it was a two-piece lingerie set!

Immediately afterwards, the crowd burst into a guffaw.

mocking and flirtatious glances enveloped her.
