

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 47

Just as Charlotte was getting carried away, an account which seemed to belong to Lyra posted a video.

It was a video of the wine splashing incident on the party shot from another angle.

From this angle, it clearly recorded the whole process. Lyra showed Charlotte something on the phone; Charlotte was pissed off as soon as she saw it, and she raised a glass of wine, about to splash it. But her arm was clutched by Lyra, who managed to pour the wine at Charlotte instead.

Although this video was clearer and longer, it still showed that Lyra was the one who splashed the wine, which didn't explain much.

Before the internet trolls assembled in the comments section, the said account posted another tweet.

"Divorced. Going our separate ways."

The crowd was confused. What did this mean?

Did this mean that instead of being the homewrecker, Lyra was actually Melvin's former spouse?

Although the two tweets were clear and concise, without solid evidence, people weren't convinced.

The comments below those two tweets were filled with malicious remarks.

Some people who supported Charlotte even said that they didn't believe there would be a plot twist, or otherwise they would eat shit in the livestream.

As a result, less than two minutes later, the plot twist came.

Another informant published a proof on Twitter that Charlotte had drugged Melvin not long ago.

This was solid evidence.

There raised an uproar. What kind of woman would use such dirty tricks on her future husband?

Unless it was a homewrecker.

Lyra's tweet declaring her divorce suddenly seemed convincing.

But there were still people who questioned the video, saying Lyra was being too arrogant.

The good thing was that at this point there were still some people who were clear-headed.

is really Mr. Freeman's ex-wife who has been in the dark for three years, then Charlotte is the real home to attack first.

short of staff, so I temporarily worked there as a waiter. Miss Matthews and Lyra wore the same dress. Miss Matthews wrongly accused Lyra that she was wearing a knock-off dress, but It turned out eventually that her own dress was the fake one. Perhaps because of this, Miss Matthews held a grudge and wanted to revenge while toasting Lyra. But who

a detailed story, which had drawn also very patient in explaining the matter, and soon posted two more videos. A direct shot of Charlotte dancing 'Lover' at the party, and a video of Charlotte's dress torn had come to learn about this at the comments she received under her Twitter feed and was perplexed. She went back to look at the trending list, only several tags on the list were related to

#CharlotteMatthewsLover

#CharlotteEmbarrassment

#MatthewsKnockoff

extremely irritating to her

that the video of her being embarrassed at the party

How did this happen?

the guests to keep quiet about this matter, and the Matthews family's servants wouldn't have done this kind of thing to

that she switched to her secret

she was framed on the knock-off dress. Maybe Lyra did that her making a fool of herself is hilarious.

by these words that her face turned livid. She immediately started to quarrel with the

What a fight.

soon defeated. Because of her aggressiveness, she almost her so relentlessly. You're not Charlotte, are you? Is this your secret account with Charlotte's public account, and someone dug out the fact that the two accounts image was newly-established persona as super-fake, had a secret social media account Lyra had only posted a video
more Charlotte tried to hide, of denunciations against her on the
that things were almost settled and thus asked Cody to withdraw, who was disguised as a
the wind and reaped the whirlwind, she disrepute, she had completely forgotten the fact a calm face and continued to
as 10 minutes had passed,