Chapter 661

Meanwhile, David was standing in front of Heather's house and pressing the doorbell. He specially came over in hopes of Alex curing him.

After a while, Carmen walked out and scrutinized David. When she realized that he was wearing branded clothes, her eyes shone in delight, thinking that he was interested in her daughter.

“Sir, are you looking for Heather? She's at home now. Please come in!” Carmen greeted him respectfully.

David was stunned after hearing that, and it took him a while to recover and explain, “No, I'm here to see Alex.”

Carmen's attitude toward David immediately became colder when she heard Alex's name. She looked at him cautiously and asked, "Did that piece of trash offend you? If yes, we have nothing to do with it! Please don't drag us into it."

It seems like Alex has been getting into trouble all this time! If I don't need his help, I will kick up a fuss!

"No, I'm here to ask him for help and beg him for forgiveness."

David took out a pile of cash, which was roughly ten thousand, and put it into Carmen's hand.

"You must be Alex's mother-in-law. Can you call him and tell him that David Zucker has something to ask him?"

When Carmen saw the money, her attitude changed again. David must be one of the Zuckers in Nebula City!

She wanted to get some assets belonging to the Jeffersons through Alex, but nothing happened in the end.

When she lost her hope, it turned out that Alex and David were acquaintances.

Carmen immediately led David into the house and made a cup of tea for him. After that, she called Alex.

“What is it?”

Carmen was unhappy that Alex stopped addressing her respectfully as Mom.

However, when she thought of the fact that Alex was capable of murdering his father's wife, she hid his emotions and said, “Alex! The young lad from the Zucker family is here to ask you for help.”

“Tell him that I won't help him. I'm going to hang up if there's nothing else,” Alex replied calmly.

He knew exactly why David looked for him. Since he was the one who caused David's injury, he wouldn't help him.

That was his punishment.

“No! Alex is from one of the most prominent families in Nebula City! He says that if you refuse to help him, he won't leave us alone. What if Stanley doesn't like strangers and throws a tantrum?”

Carmen brought up Stanley purposely to convince Alex to help David.

Just as she expected, Alex hesitated for a moment before agreeing to come home and meet David.

After 20 minutes, Alex arrived at home.

“How dare you come to my house, David Zucker? Haven't you suffered enough?” Alex said coldly to David, who was sitting on the couch.

Carmen's face paled as she tried to stop Alex from talking. “Are you out of your mind, Alex? How can you speak to Mr. Zucker that way? Apologize to him at once!”

Alex looked at David and smirked. “Do you want me to apologize to you?”

The latter put down the cup of tea in his hand and walked toward Alex. Without saying anything, he kneeled in front of him.

Carmen widened her eyes in disbelief. Mr. Zucker is kneeling in front of my useless son-in-law?

Chapter 662

“What are you doing, Mr. Zucker? Please stand up! We can't have you kneeling to us!” Carmen rushed forward to help David up.

However, David ignored her and pushed her to the side. Kneeling and crawling toward Alex, David pleaded, “I was wrong, Dr. Jefferson. I'm sorry for offending you. Please forgive me!”

Alex didn't feel pity for David at all.

Compared to what he had done before, the punishment that Alex gave him was considered light.

“I'm not a forgiving person, unfortunately. There's no use in begging me. I won't change my mind,” Alex calmly said.

I'm already kneeling! What more does he want? David was angry at Alex.

However, at the thought of himself being impotent for the rest of his life and having to endure other people's mockery, David forgot about his pride and kowtowed at Alex a few times.

“Dr. Jefferson!” David cried as he licked Alex's shoes.
“Please forgive me and save me!”

Sobbing, David was sprawled across the floor looking like a dog.

Carmen had to rub her eyes a few times to convince herself that she wasn't seeing this. She was starting to suspect that the man in front of her wasn't from the Zucker family.

The future heir of the Zucker family was here licking Alex's shoes!

However, she thought of the luxurious car parked in front of their house and stopped suspecting David's identity.

Desperately wanting to make a good impression, Carmen walked toward Alex and said, "Can't you help him seeing that he's already begging you?"

“That's right! Please forgive me, Dr. Jefferson!” David chimed in.

Alex didn't even blink because he already expected David to beg him for help. However, he didn't expect the man to lick his shoes without preserving his dignity.

David didn't deserve to be a man.

“I'm never a forgiving person. Since I'm the one who caused your condition, I'm never going to cure you,” Alex replied coldly.

David's expression darkened when he heard Alex's reply. He stood up immediately and yelled at Alex, “You loser! How dare you not help me after I kneel in front of you? Just wait and see!”

With that said, David rushed outside and drove away, possibly afraid that Alex was going to beat him up again.

David banged on his steering wheel furiously as he drove away from Alex's house.

Back at the Zucker family mansion, Jorden hurriedly asked David about his trip to Alex's house. "David, did Alex help you?"

In a fit of rage, David shoved Jorden to the side. Not expecting that, the seventy-year-old man fell onto the floor.

The fall was quite painful for him as he didn't recover from it for a while.

David ignored his father and smashed everything in sight without flinching, including expensive antique vases and furniture.

In the end, a servant helped Jorden up from the ground.

Jorden couldn't do anything to David because he loved his only son too much. He only had himself to blame for doting on David all along.

Meanwhile, Jacob and Harper were panting heavily. After making sure that they were not followed, they sat on the ground, exhausted.

“When is this going to end, Jacob? I can't take it anymore,” Harper grumbled.

Jacob frowned and said impatiently, “Don't ask me! It's Heather's fault for not helping us!”

As Jacob looked around him, he realized that they were in front of the Zucker family mansion.

Smirking, he had an idea.

Chapter 663

As Jacob led Harper into the Zucker family mansion, they heard smashing sounds from the inside.

The sounds were unnerving, not to mention that no one stopped them when they were clearly trespassing.

What they didn't know was that half of the servants had sent Jorden to the hospital while the other half stayed away from David because they were afraid of offending him.

When David finally stopped smashing things, he noticed two people dressed in rags walking toward him.

Looking at the mess that David caused, Jacob felt that he and his sister came at the wrong time, but they couldn't back away at the last minute.

Mustering up his courage, Jacob said respectfully to David, "Mr. Zucker, I'm Jacob Jennings, and this is my sister, Harper. We're here to seek refuge at your house."

Still angry, David flung a vase in Jacob's direction and yelled, "Stop your nonsense! I'm not a philanthropist! Get out!"

Barely dodging the vase, Jacob swallowed nervously and explained, “We're not here to beg for money, Mr. Zucker. We wouldn't have become in this state if not for that loser, Alex Jefferson.”

However, it was Jacob who gambled away his savings and owed Ivy Media Group a hundred million. Otherwise, the Jennings family company wouldn't have gone bankrupt.

Instead of owning up to their mistakes, they blamed Alex.

Alex Jefferson!

David's anger doubled when he heard the name. Veins popping, he yelled at Jacob, “Don't f**king mention his name in front of me! I'll kill you if you do that again!”

Frightened, Harper hid behind Jacob and shivered in fear. Jacob also didn't expect David to have such a bad temper.

“I'm sorry, Mr. Zucker! We didn't know that the loser offended you too. He is also our enemy. Since the enemy of my enemy is my friend, that makes you our friend.”

Jacob tried to approach David, but it didn't work.

“I'm not friends with you two beggars! Unless you kneel before me and lick my shoes!”

David wanted to release his anger of being humiliated by Alex, and conveniently enough, there were Jacob and Heather.

“Uh...” Jacob didn't know what to do. After all, he had been treated like a prince by the Jenningses all his life.

However, his dignity would be destroyed by David if he did as he was told.

At the thought of Alex living a happy life, Jacob kneeled with determination and anger.

Just wait and see, Alex!

With a loud thump, Jacob kneeled on the floor and licked David's shoes continuously. "Please, Mr. Zucker. Please help the both of us."

Harper followed her brother and kneeled in front of David as well. "Mr. Zucker, the both of us are willing to do anything for you."

David imagined that it was Alex kneeling in front of him. Less angry, he looked at Jacob and Harper and said, "Get up!"

Jacob and Harper stood up and smiled because they had finally gotten David's approval. From that day onward, they had a place to live, and they didn't have to hide again.

Jacob gave Harper a little shove and said, "Mr. Zucker, Harper may seem dirty right now, but she is actually a beauty!"

Harper tucked her hair behind her ear and looked at David shyly. "Mr. Zucker," she addressed him with her sweetest voice.

Harper was indeed an attractive woman. Although she was dressed in rags, it wasn't hard for David to see that she was much beautiful than the women he dated before.

However, at the thought of his impotence, he lost interest in Harper.

He was about to warn them not to bring up the topic of women when he thought that people might notice that something was wrong with him. After all, how could a player like him not have any woman beside him?

After consideration, David decided to keep Harper by his side.

Chapter 664

David contacted Callum beforehand and brought Harper to a nightclub at Nebula City at night.

Aside from him and Callum being good friends, Callum's family had power at Nebula City.

Harper was wearing makeup and a black nightgown that cost hundreds of thousands. The nightgown showed off her body figure perfectly, and she looked stunning.

Although she was far from Heather and Autumn, the effort she spent on her makeup and the revealing dress was enough to make men drool.

When she heard that they were going to meet Callum, she was quite excited.

Although the Leightons weren't the most powerful ones at Nebula City, they were still better than the Jenningses.

Now that the Jennings family was bankrupt, Harper hoped to get to know more rich people so that she could help her family back into business again.

After waiting for a while in the nightclub, the door to their room was opened.

A middle-aged man dressed in Armani entered the room. His hair was slicked, and his beady eyes darted around the room. On his wrist was a Patek Philippe watch.

Behind him was a man a few years younger than him. He seemed to be Callum's assistant because he was carrying a suitcase.

David stood up and greeted Callum, "Come and sit, Callum."

Callum smiled at David and replied, “Are you very busy, David? I'm surprised and delighted that you have the time to meet me!”

Just then, his eyes lit up as he noticed Harper beside David.

He asked David, “David, who is this pretty lady? Introduce her to me!”

David pulled Harper over and said, “Here, Callum, this is my new friend's sister, Harper Jennings.”

“She's so gorgeous. No wonder you'd bring her out.”

Callum smiled greedily at Harper and reached his hand out to her. “Nice to meet you, Ms. Jennings!”

David turned to Harper and continued, “Harper, this is Callum, the general manager of Leighton Pharmaceutical, a famous pharmaceutical company in Nebula City.”

Harper took Callum's hand hurriedly and greeted, “Nice to meet you, Mr. Leighton!”

After grabbing Harper's hand greedily, Callum took off his blazer and flung it at his assistant.

The assistant missed, and the blazer fell onto the ground.

Annoyance flashed across Callum's eyes. He glared at his assistant and yelled, “You piece of trash! You can't even do such a simple thing right!”

“I'm sorry, brother, it's my fault. Please don't be angry.” Face pale, the assistant hurriedly picked up the blazer and brushed off the dust on it.

Callum was more irritated after the assistant spoke. The former walked toward him, slapped him across the face, and warned coldly, “Yates, how many times have I told you that you have no right to call me your brother? You are a bastard raised by a whore! Get out and wait for me outside.”

Despite being slapped, Yates didn't dare to protest. As if he was used to it, he nodded obediently and said, “Okay, brother.”

He left the room immediately right after that.

“What a party pooper!”

After Callum muttered a few nasty words, David asked curiously, “Callum, is he your loser younger brother?”

Callum scoffed, “He's just a bastard. He's not fit to be my brother!”

Then, he turned to look at Harper longingly. “You're so pretty, Ms. Jennings. Do you have a boyfriend?”

Chapter 665

Instead of answering Callum's question, Harper looked at David awkwardly because she didn't dare say that she was single.

She planned to be David's woman all along.

However, she didn't dare to tell others that she was David's woman either because he hadn't touched her once.

Surprisingly, David said to Callum, "I don't want to lie to you, Callum. Ms. Jennings is my girlfriend."

Although Callum lusted for Harper, he didn't dare snatch away David's woman.

David observed Callum's disappointed expression and smiled. As they continued to talk, David asked purposely, "Callum, how is your father?"

Callum sighed and replied, "He's not doing very well. He's paying his debt for being a player in his younger days. His health is worsening as we speak."

David asked curiously, "Mr. Leighton was a player?"

“Of course,” Callum replied. “My father was exactly like me. He was very handsome and good with women. He slept with countless women on business trips where he bought herbs from many places. From what I know, he had at least twenty lovers! That's more than I ever have!”

“Wow!” David exclaimed. “I didn't know that your father was such a player when he was young!”

Looking a little depressed, Callum nodded and continued, “Why else do you think that I have a bastard brother? In fact, my father has quite a few bastards. It's just that they are all girls. When my grandfather knew about Yates' existence, he insisted that my father take him in from Jazona.”

Callum continued, “My father also hates Yates. Unfortunately, we can't chase him out of the house because we will be laughed at, so now he's working for us.”

David had heard that there were two sons in the Leighton family, which was none other than Callum and Yates. The latter was the illegitimate son that Callum's father sired years ago. Yates was only brought to the Leighton family mansion when he was around ten years old, so no one treated him well.

How miserable it was to grow up in such an environment.

David asked curiously, “Callum, your father must be very good at sex since he was a player. Did he take any sort of medicine?”

Callum nodded and laughed. “You're right! My father got a secret medicine by chance when he was roaming outside. The medicine can highly increase men's performance in bed.”

“Really?” David was surprised to hear that. “Callum, do you have the medicine?”

Callum said, “Where should I start? My father took the medicine for almost thirty years, and it was very useful. He could have sex fourteen times in one night, and that's where he got his nickname Fourteen Times!”

Callum then sighed. “However, just when I was about to send the prescription for mass production, my scientists found out that the medicine is harmful to the liver and kidneys. This is why my father is suffering from liver and kidney failure in his sixties. The doctor said that he could only live for another two or three years.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 666

The ecstatic look on David's face turned grim.

It's important to regain my potency and masculinity. However, it's more important to stay alive! I can't risk my life just for a woman!

Thinking of that, he took a deep breath to compose himself.

Noticing that David was not himself, Callum asked curiously, “You're still young. Are you... perhaps facing some kind of difficulty?”

With a helpless expression, David said, “Callum, I'll be honest with you. At this point, I'm as good as castrated. I haven't been able to do it at all. I've gone to the hospital, but the doctors haven't got a clue what to do. You have to help me!”

David refrained from mentioning what Alex had done to him. After all, Alex is notorious in Nebula City for being a piece of trash. If word gets out about what he did to me, I'd be humiliated. I only came to look for Callum because rumor has it that he has medicine that cures conditions of this sort.

Then, Davin asked in an urgent tone, “Is that the medicine your father took harmful if you just take it once or twice? Why don't you give me some to try?”

Callum quickly cut in to say, “It'd be better not to try that medicine. If it ends up having adverse effects on your body, it'll only make things worse!”

Here, he paused before continuing, “Oh, right. It just so happens that we're researching a type of medicine in this area. We hope to improve on it so that the medicine can enhance male potency without harming the body. If we succeed, it may have the potential to restore a man's abilities in that aspect.”

Pleasantly surprised, David asked eagerly, “Really? That's great! When will it be ready?”

“Well, we're still short of one herb. We'll have to wait two days for the ancient medicine exhibition. We can only get it there,” Callum replied.

David was over the moon. Two days? As long as it works, I'm willing to wait two years! Oh, Alex. You thought that you had ruined me, but you didn't account for the possibility that I'd manage to find the Leighton family. Even without your help, I'm going to get cured. As for Auriel, how dare she keep making fun of me! I'll take her once I'm cured!

“Callum, can you sell some of the medicine to me once it's ready? I really need it,” David said in an urgent tone.

How could I not need it? I'm impotent now! If this goes on, I might as well just get castrated!

Callum feigned a conflicted expression and answered with a sigh, “It's not that I don't want to help you. However, the ingredients used in this medicine are rare and valuable. Based on our previous tests, we probably can only produce one...”

Glancing at Harper, he added with a wolfish grin, “Nonetheless, there's always room for negotiation...”

David knew what Callum meant at once. With a knowing smile on his lips, he turned to Harper and said, "From now on, you belong to Callum. Help me thank him properly, got it?"

Callum's face was ablaze with excitement when he heard that.

The moment he set eyes on Harper, he had desired to have her. However, he was disappointed when he heard that she was the younger sister of David's friend.

But in a stroke of luck, it turns out that she's his lover! Now that David's in desperate need of that medicine, he's willing to let me have her! I didn't even have to lift a finger!

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 667

Harper felt dismayed when she heard that David wanted to give her to Callum in exchange for the medicine.

David is only in his twenties, and he's good-looking. On the contrary, Callum is already in his thirties or forties! Plus, the Leighton family is a far cry from the Zucker family.

Harper would rather continue to be with David. She also felt that David would be able to introduce her to many influential and powerful people.

That way, I can leverage his status to build my connections and eventually become a socialite in Nebula City. Not only will I get to reap plenty of benefits, but I might even have the means to buy back Jennings Corporation and restore it to its former glory. I'll become the pillar of support and leader of the company! However, I never guessed that he only thought of me as a tool. In order to get that medicine, he's willing to offer me to Callum as a gift! I want to be David's woman and become a socialite, but I don't want to be a plaything for the upper class. If word gets out that I'm only a plaything, I won't have any chance of climbing the social ladder!

Hence, she tugged David's hand and whined, "Although I only got to know you not too long ago, I'm completely enamored by your charms. All I want is to stay by your side. I don't want to leave you..."

Naturally, David did not believe a word she said. I'm not someone a woman would fall head over heels with after meeting just a few times. Otherwise, Autumn would've slept with me already. I can tell what she's trying to do, but I've never been attracted to women like her, let alone a woman I'm merely using as a cover.

Since Callum was interested in Harper, David knew that giving Harper to him was the best option.

After what Alex did to me, there's no point in keeping Harper around. But if I let Callum have her, and the Leighton family's medicine succeeds in curing me, I can continue looking for other women. If I'm lucky, I might even finally get to sleep with Autumn. I would've succeeded by now if Alex hadn't ruined everything and caused me to end up like this!

David was so impatient to regain his masculinity that Harper's reluctance grated on his nerves, causing his temper to flare up.

He said to Harper coldly, “Your cheap tricks aren't going to work on me. Just do as I say and stop with all the nonsense.”

Tears streamed down Harper's cheeks as she said in an aggrieved tone, “Didn't you keep me by your side because you liked me? I haven't even gotten the chance to serve you properly. How can you send me off with someone else just like this?”

Feeling a little displeased, Callum piped up, “Oh, come now, David. Since Ms. Jennings is so deeply devoted to you, you shouldn't force her!”

Suddenly, David raised his hand and slapped Harper hard across her face. He snapped, “I only kept you by my side because you were somewhat pretty. Now that Callum has his eye on you, how dare you ramble on about such nonsense! What's with the act? You'll do what I tell you to do! Otherwise, I'll kick you and your brother out. The two of you can continue to wander the streets and get hounded by a bunch of debt collectors!”

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 668

Harper was taken aback by his threat, and a wave of humiliation swept over her.

So what if I feel humiliated? Can I refuse to obey his wishes just because of that? It'll be easy to reject him. All I have to do is say no. But what's going to happen after that? Once I refuse to do as he says, everything will go back to how it was a few days ago. We'll have to go into hiding and have nothing to wear but tattered clothes. What's more, my dream of being a socialite will end up getting crushed!

Hence, Harper had no choice but to force a smile and say, "Fine, I agree! I'll make sure to treat Mr. Leighton well."

David smirked and replied, "It looks like you're not that dense after all!"

With that, he pushed her toward Callum and announced with a gleeful grin, "You'll leave with Mr. Leighton tonight!"

Callum hugged Harper excitedly. Smiling, he said, "Ms. Jennings, I'll get someone to book us a hotel room. Let's get to know each other a little better tonight.”

Harper wiped away her tears quietly, resentment bubbling within her.

She remembered the time when she was the precious daughter of the Jennings family. She had been admired and sought after by many suitors. She was also proud, so she only had eyes for the heirs of wealthy families. She would not even spare a glance for anyone less than that.

In the end, I married into the Hale family. I thought that everything would be rainbow and butterflies after marrying into an affluent family, but only a few days after that, that piece of trash forced me into doing something so degrading. Now, Henry has divorced me, and the Jennings family is bankrupt. I never imagined that I'd wind up in such a miserable state. Henry abandoned me, and Jacob forced me to become David's lover. And now, David is using me as a tool to get what he wants by tossing me to Callum. If Callum gets bored of me in the future, who will I end up with then?

Callum held her tightly in his arms with a lecherous expression, then said to David, "Don't worry. Once we've gathered all the ingredients, we'll send the medicine to you at once. We'll have you raring to go in no time!"

David heaved a sigh of relief when he heard those words. He answered with a smile, "That's music to my ears. I'll wait for your good news then!"

Callum nodded, then glanced at the time. Impatient to get down to business with Harper, he gave David a chuckle and said, "It's getting late. Why don't we wrap things up here for today?"

David knew that Callum was eagerly anticipating spending the night with Harper. He could not help feeling a pang of envy. If it weren't for what Alex did, I would've done it with Harper!

However, thinking of the medicine, David nodded and smiled. "Of course. Let's stop here for today. Why don't the both of you leave first?"

Then, he turned to Harper and added, "Treat Mr. Leighton well, got it?"

Feeling humiliated, Harper could only nod and say, "Got it..."

That night, Harper became Callum's lover.

Despite Harper's repulsion toward her new title, Callum was awed and impressed by her prowess in the bedroom. It was as if she had unleashed a new lease of life in him.

As they lay in bed after doing the deed, Callum wrapped his arms around her and said solemnly, “You'll never be without a roof over your head ever again. You won't have to hide from debt collectors anymore. Just stay by my side, and I'll raise you to be the cream of the crop.”

Those words made Harper finally feel a little better.

Well, if he can do that, it won't be a bad thing to stay by his side. He may not be as wealthy as David, but at least he treats me way better than David did.

Moreover, he doesn't look like the type who'll send me off to someone else on a whim.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 669

Over at Sakura Club, Alex was flipping through the Nine Heaven Scrolls with a frown. I've been trying to make this pill for ages, but I'm getting nowhere. If I succeed in making it, it'll undoubtedly advance my abilities drastically. I've gathered almost all of the ingredients needed, but I'm still missing snapdragon. I've never even heard of it, let alone seen it. Where should I go to look for it?

He had tried many other herbs with similar properties as snapdragon in the hopes that they would be suitable substitutes, but none of them worked.

“Why does it have to be snapdragon?” Alex grumbled to himself as he closed the Nine Heaven Scrolls. Since I can't find it, there's no need for me to rot in here. I'd better set this matter aside for now.

At that moment, his phone rang. He answered the call and heard Heather on the other end, sounding somewhat anxious.

“Alex, Lucas is in trouble. Could you please help him? Apart from asking for your help, I don't know what else to do.”

Alex could not stop himself from frowning, wondering what trouble Lucas had caused.

“Tell me what happened first,” Alex replied calmly.

“Lucas has been cooped up at home without a job ever since my family went bankrupt. He'd go out gallivanting at night, and he has gotten into bad company. Lucas called me an hour ago, saying that he lost a lot of money at gambling. He owes ten million, and if he doesn't have the money by midnight, they're going to kill him!”

As she spoke, she began to cry. Ten million! Despite knowing that Alex won't have that much money, I don't know what else to do. The only person I can think of is Alex. I can't just let those people beat Lucas to death!

Alex was silent for a moment. Although he was dissatisfied with Lucas' actions, he could not stand by without doing anything.

After asking Heather for Lucas' location, Alex said, “All right. I'll handle this. You don't have to worry.”

It was almost forty minutes past nine in the evening, which meant that there was only a little more than hours before midnight. Alex grabbed the nearest coat and prepared to head out.

As he rushed out, he bumped straight into Maggie, who was on her way to find him. The impact caused Maggie to fall heavily against Alex.

Rubbing her aching nose, Maggie shot him a glare and pouted as she grumbled, “Is your body made of steel? Why is it so hard? It hurts!”

Pressed for time, Alex did not elaborate. Turning to leave, he said quickly, “I have something to attend to now. I'll give you a proper apology when I get back.”

Maggie felt a little uneasy as she watched him run off swiftly. Where's he going at such an hour? Don't tell me he's in such a hurry because he's meeting another woman!

The more she thought about it, the more convinced she was of its possibility. Hence, she ran after him.

As he stopped to open the car door, Maggie seized the opportunity to slip into the car. Alex glanced at her rather helplessly but did not say anything. After all, saving Lucas' life was the top priority at that moment.

Alex drove at top speed, but it still took almost an hour to arrive at Dragon City Casino.

Maggie looked around in confusion. I thought he was going off to meet with a woman, but he appears to be here to gamble instead. I don't get it. As far as I know, he isn't a gambler.

Following behind him, they entered the casino without much trouble.

When she looked ahead, she saw a group of over twenty men standing in front of them. They were armed with various items, including steel pipes, tasers, and even daggers.

Their leader was a man with a scar across his face. When he saw Alex and Maggie walking in, he asked in a croaky voice, “Are you here to save that punk, Lucas Jennings?”

Chapter 670

“I brought the money you wanted. Where is Lucas?”
Alex pulled an ATM card out of his pocket and asked.

Scarred Face reached out for the ATM card instinctively the moment he saw it. However, Alex retracted his hand and kept the ATM card back into his pocket.

“I want to see Lucas first. I will hand this card over to you after you let him go.”

Scarred Face scowled at him as Alex was the first person who dared negotiate terms with him.

The only reason stopping Scarred Face from killing Alex and snatching the ATM card away from him was that he thought the woman standing behind Alex looked exquisitely beautiful.

Boss might be pleased to see her. Scarred Face brought both of them to the top floor of the casino at that thought.

The top floor of the casino was extravagantly designed to appeal to VIP guests.

A slightly plump, middle-aged man was sitting on a sofa in the middle of the room. He was getting intimate with a young lady who looked to be in her twenties while two rows of bodyguards stood on each side of the sofa.

Not far from them, Lucas was slammed down on a table.

His face fell when he saw Alex. “Why did my sister send a loser like you over? What are you doing here? Are you here to watch these people beat me to a pulp?”

He ended up in this state because he was betrayed by the people he thought were his friends. Moreover, the young lady sitting beside the middle-aged man on the sofa used to be his girlfriend.

Lucas ended up in the casino because the young lady egged him on to gamble. When he saw his friends winning, he jumped right in.

At first, things went really well, and he won hundreds of thousands. However, the problem with him was that he didn't know when to stop. His ex-girlfriend, Emily, even persuaded him to raise his bets.

Slowly but surely, he started to lose all the money he had won. He wanted to stop, but Emily managed to convince him that he would make a comeback real soon.

Convinced he was going to strike it rich, Lucas ended up borrowing one million from loan sharks through Emily's connections.

Nevertheless, he lost all of his money within a short period of time and was gripped with panic and fear. After all, the Jenningses weren't as rich and powerful as before.

Heather would beat him to a pulp if she found out about it. Hence, he was desperate to win all his money back.

Justin, the owner of the casino, lent him another five million to turn the tables. At first, Lucas was hesitant because he thought it was too much money.

However, Emily urged him on, "Just take it. You can return him the money after you win all your money back."

In the end, Lucas accepted his offer as he was afraid of offending Justin. Although he won some money along the way, his losses still exceeded his wins. At the end of the day, he discovered the casino's secret.

He noticed that his opponent would always know what he had on hand. It was as if they had X-ray vision, but he couldn't call them out since he didn't spot any hidden cameras around him.

It was only later on that he found out Emily was working for Justin, while his so-called friends were paid actors in the casino.

When he saw Alex, he knew he wasn't getting out of the casino alive.

Alex let it slide because he knew how Lucas was. He wouldn't even bat an eyelid even if Lucas died in front of him if the latter wasn't Stanley's uncle.

However, that didn't mean Maggie was going to let him get away with it. She tugged Alex's shirt and snapped, "Why do you even bother with such people? He deserves to get beaten to death. Let's get out of here!"
