

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 79

Lyra strode over to Magotan, pulled open the door, and gestured for Kellie to get in as well.

She sped all the way to the shooting site. Kellie anxiously sat in the passenger seat and suddenly felt ashamed: "Sorry director, I do not know how to drive, and you have to take me. If I could, I could have been your driver."

"I thought you were going to say something. What's the big deal. You can learn how to drive later." Lyra was amused by her words and her mood, which had relaxed her tense emotion.

Kellie wanted to say something else, but thought better of it and kept her mouth shut, looking at Lyra with adoration in her eyes.

Lyra braked sharply outside the shooting site and hurried inside. Kellie followed her quickly, and her face was as serious as hers.

The person in charge was notified in advance and stood outside the door to greet them.

"Director, you're finally here. These two are making a lot of noise, and we really have no choice."

The person in charge introduced the situation while walking, "On one side is a new star. On the other side is a rich girl. We can't afford to offend either one, so we can only invite you here."

"What are the names of these two players? Who said dropping out of the race?" Lyra asked.

"The little-known actress is Carmen Everett, and the rich girl is the neighbor city's Samantha Fulton. The two got into a fight over the bed, and both said they are dropping out."

"Since they are clamoring to leave, we don't have to force them to stay."

She sneered, "But there is always a need to punish someone as a warning to others, so that they understand what is meant by rules."

The two men had arrived in the hall as they spoke, and the two parties were sitting on each side, facing each other on the verge of breaking out a fight.

"Are you two the ones making trouble?" Lyra looked at the two with an unfriendly face, "You can just leave if you don't want to participate anymore, so don't give everyone a hard time."

"Who are you? A mere brokerage director? You dare to give me a cold face?"

Carmen gave her a disgusted look, "I came to your show because I respect Angle Group. If not for Mr. Lloyd's sake, who would come to this kind of show with no traffic and no buzz?"

"I hope Miss Everett recognizes the reality. With your current fame and status, you don't deserve to say such things."

Lyra elegantly sat down in the main seat, continued, "Angle Group can occupy a place in the entertainment industry. A well-known company can bring you, far more than you can imagine. If you don't want to stay, you can pay enough liquidated damages to let you go immediately."

can come to participate. How dare glanced at her, picked up the participant information sheet on the table, and flipped through attending for Mr. Lloyd, you will lose more face if I let Mr. Lloyd personally come done with you!

finished her words and

"What about you?"

gaze went to Samantha Fulton next to leaving! Who wants to spend months in a reality television competition like but the same goes for the selection staff! I'll prosecute Angle Group and show you that we, the Fulton family, are not a "Finished?"

of contract and go straight away. We don't need brainless people like stopped looking at Samantha and instructed the person in charge, "What are you still doing? Send the guests grimace behind her, she elegantly stroked her hair at the temples and new guest and is

and immediately greeted her,

"Who?"

got into the car and his wife, but the other side is vague. And I'm not drove back to the Angle

The parlor.

waiting anxiously, looking up

a certain familiar hand to her, "My wife and I came this yes, thanks to you, Micah. We were able to get Abigail out of the vegetative state and wake her up

"You two do not have to be so polite. We just take what we need. Miss Matthews can so elegantly without taking credit for

"How is she and all her body functions still need time to recover, but it's already much better than process all the time so that he can develop the most

Jamie and Katelyn looked in the business world for many years, can't help but be overjoyed at benefactor. We are very grateful for that. In addition, we are here today because we would like