

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 82

Being well groomed and dressed up, the two of them went to the airport early to meet Ashley.

The woman wearing white T-shirt and short skirt waved at them and walked quickly through the crowd.

After hugging Fiona and Sheila, Ashley followed them to a car.

"I'm so anxious to see you this time. Actually I have something to ask."

Fiona took her hand and got straight to the point, "There's been so much going on with the Freeman family lately. It's just overwhelming. I really don't know what to do ..."

"You can tell me about it, and I will help you whenever I can."

Ashley had expected her to ask for something and nodded with a calm expression.

Fiona and Sheila looked at each other with a secret joy in their hearts.

Sheila told Ashley about the recent events of the Freeman family, highlighting how savage and shameless Lyra was.

"I never thought this woman would bully our family!" Ashley took a sip of tea, "I'll have someone investigate her now and see what the breakthrough is."

Fiona held her hands with a loving face, "I'm really bothering you. Melvin is not here and we both don't know how to deal with that evil person. If it isn't for you, we'll only be bullied!"

"It's nothing, Fiona," Ashley smiled at her.

As the two talked, the car was already back at the Freeman Manor.

Ashley took the lead and went upstairs to the room Fiona had arranged for her in advance and began packing.

Over the years when she was abroad, she learned a lot of things across the business world, but also very clear about the unwritten rules of the industry.

The Freeman family's power was clear for all, and it wouldn't hurt her to help them this time.

"Miss, Lyra is currently working as an agency director at Angle Group. She is currently in charge of the reality television competition that the company is promoting."
