

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 831

Alex, who had been quietly observing them, nearly exploded when he heard the first thing Zack said when he lifted his head. Useless!

Alex could not keep mum anymore. “Do you still want to keep this kind of woman by your side? She had betrayed you once, and she can betray you again! Man up and kick her out!”

Zack clenched his teeth. He understood why Alex said that, but he was so in love with Eve that he found it hard to sever ties with her.

“You're right, Alex. A woman like her doesn't deserve my love!” Zack said steadily after giving it some thought.

Zack's remark instantly crushed Eve's ego. This bootlicker has always been my lapdog. How dare he say this to my face?

“Did you hear what he said? You have to teach him a lesson on my behalf. You have to punish him. I want to see him lying in bed for the rest of his life!” Eve turned to Cory and whined like a spoiled girl.

Cory, too, found Zack to be annoying. They might have come from the same village, but Zack had always led a more comfortable life than him.

Not only did Zack excel academically, but he also had parents who doted on him. He even married a beautiful wife when he grew up.

On the contrary, though Cory managed to get into a university, he failed to secure a good job. After leaving the university, he started a small business and eventually became a well-known wealthy businessman in the village.

But Cory was not satisfied with what he had achieved. He wanted to get his hands on Zack's wife, Eve.

Upon receiving a few branded handbags and exquisite clothes from Cory, she left Zack right away. Cory even vented his pent-up frustration on Zack.

Coincidentally, Cory bumped into Zack today when he was applying to become a member of Leight Sect today. Once again, the former took the opportunity to humiliate Zack.

Cory embraced Eve and kissed her cheek. "All right. I'll get someone to break his legs if that's your wish."

The color drained out of Zack's face. He knew Cory was rich enough to easily hire a few hitmen to teach him a lesson.

“This is too much! Are you not afraid of karma?” Zack bellowed.

Cory let out a cold snort as if he was talking to a fool. “Karma? What a joke. I'm rich enough to do what I want! Let's see if there's such a thing called karma! But I do feel bad that you'll have to lie in bed for the rest of your life soon.”

Zack was so agitated that he could not stop his body from shaking. Instead of walking away like a coward, Zack clenched his fist and punched Cory's face.

The latter staggered and nearly fell to the ground.

His cheek turned swollen by the time he tilted his head to look at Zack.

Cory was stunned as he could not believe what Zack had done to him. He wanted to call his men to come and teach Zack a lesson. “How dare you hit me, you useless piece of shit? I'll turn you into a cripple right here, right now!”

Cory gritted his teeth, took out his phone, and made a call.

Chapter 832

“How dare you hit me? You stay right here. My men are gonna be here soon, and they'll never let you off now.”

There was no way Cory could stomach this humiliation. While waiting for his men to arrive, he decided to vent his anger by throwing a punch at Zack.

At that point, Zack knew Cory and his men would not let him off easily. Instead of begging him for forgiveness, he went all out and fought with Cory to defend his pride.

They're gonna kill me anyway. I might as well put up a good fight!

Zack dodged the punch and grabbed Cory's shoulder, lifted him, and threw him to the ground.

“I don't understand why you kept targeting me, Cory. I've not done anything to you, yet you tore my family apart and humiliated me in public. You've taken it too far. I'll make you pay the price right now!"

Zack stamped his foot repeatedly on Cory's abdomen. The latter shrieked in pain, but he refused to stop.

"Stop it, Zack!" Eve could not help but yell.

Upon hearing Eve's voice, Zack's heart softened. He instantly stopped attacking Cory.

"You're the love of my life, Eve, but you walked out on me. You even defended this man! Do you know how miserable I feel?" Sadness was written all over his face, and tears rolled down his cheeks.

"You're just a useless fatso. I'll fight you to death if you dare to lay a finger on my husband again!" Eve warned. She did not care about Zack's feelings.

Alex, who had been watching the drama unfold, felt bad for Zack. Why did he fall in love with this woman in the first place?

He began to recall his relationship with Heather.

Heather used to despise him in the past. Though they had lived together for years, she still fell in love with another rich and influential man. Likewise, she also mocked him and called him useless.

What she did not know was that the man she fell in love with was Alex's other identity.

That was why Alex sympathized with Zack. Cory and Eve have gone overboard!

Cory, who had bruises all over his body, got up from the ground. He kept a distance from Zack and continued rebuking, "You're dead! I'll tell my men to kill you!”

At this point, Alex decided not to be a bystander anymore. He let out of mirthless laugh and said, “Don't you think you deserve the beating? And don't you think you're the useless one since you have to rely on your men to take Zack down?”

Cory finally turned his attention to the man standing next to Zack. After studying Alex from head to toe, Cory deduced Alex was another good-for-nothing like Zack. Birds of a feather flock together!

“Who do you think you are? Do you know who the f*ck I am? How dare you call me useless? I'll get my men to teach you a lesson too!” Cory then walked toward Alex.

I might not be able to fight that fatso, but I sure can take this man down! I'll let him get a taste of his own medicine!

Cory was not worried that Zack might come to Alex's rescue, as Eve was still around. He believed Zack would not intervene, as he knew Zack was still obsessed with Eve and would listen to her.

Alex knew what Cory was trying to do the moment the latter walked toward him. Alex let out a cold snort and said, “Are you sure you want to do this?”

Chapter 833

“Someone needs to teach you a lesson so that you'll keep your big mouth shut!” Without hesitation, Cory threw a punch at Alex.

People might think Cory was an agile man, but to Alex, he was as slow as a snail. There was no way Cory could hit Alex in the face.

In a few swift moves, Alex dodged Cory's attack. No one around them noticed how Alex actually did that.

Alex said aloofly, “Who are you to teach me a lesson? You think I'm afraid of you just because you're rich?”

“Yes. I'm rich, and I can do a lot of things with money. On the contrary, you're as useless as Zack. You might have dodged my punch out of sheer luck, but luck is not going to always be on your side!”

Cory, who fought like a hooligan, raised his leg and kicked at Alex.

But after several attempts, Cory did not even manage to touch the edge of Alex's shirt. Cory panted heavily and ran out of stamina to fight him.

Cory was utterly speechless. Dodging his first punch might be a coincidence, but being able to avoid his continuous attack was something unusual. “How did you manage to...”

Before Cory could finish his sentence, Alex kicked his chest and sent him flying at least thirty feet away.

The crowd was stunned when they saw the way Alex struck Cory. How could a kick send someone flying more than thirty feet away? Even an experienced fighter might not be able to do that!

“Oh my God. What just happened? Did he send that dude flying? I don't think he could fly that far even if he's knocked down by a car!”

“This Cory guy should count himself unlucky for offending that fatso and this powerful man. He should have waited for his men before attacking them!”

“So glad I'm here to witness this drama. I've no regrets even if I don't get to enter Leight Sect.”

Not only was the crowd taken aback by the turn of events, but even Cory also did not expect this to happen. How did he manage to dodge my attack? And how did he manage to send me flying this far? I don't think any ordinary man would be able to do this!

What Alex did might have shocked the crowd, but to him, it was nothing extraordinary. Had he gone all out, he would have easily killed Cory with a kick.

To all the first-phase masters, killing an ordinary person was a piece of cake. Alex could have finished him off on the spot if he wanted to.

Eve shot daggers at Alex, but she dared not challenge him. She ran over to Cory and helped him up. "Are you all right? Let's go to the hospital!"

Cory still managed to crawl up from the ground, as he was not severely wounded, but he vomited a mouthful of blood. At this point, he held more grudges against Alex than Zack.

Nevertheless, he did not have the guts to act on impulse anymore, as he was afraid that the two might collaborate to kill him.

"I'm sorry to drag you into this, Alex. You should leave before Cory's men arrive. I don't want to cause you any more trouble," said Zack as he turned to Alex.

Zack wished he could run away from Cory too, but since they lived in the same village, the latter would eventually take it out on his parents had he tried to escape.

Alex got into this fight because of me. I can't drag him into this anymore!

All of a sudden, Cory raised his voice and smirked. “Oh, shut up! You two are not going anywhere! My men are here!”

Chapter 834

When Zack turned around, he saw dozens of people coming down from the dozens of cars a short distance away. Every one of them was either holding batons or cleavers, and they were all storming toward his direction.

The people who were there to watch the show hastily took several steps back when they spotted the newcomers. They were afraid that they would be one of the casualties caught up in the scene.

“Seriously? I never thought that Cory would get so many people. The one who kicked Cory earlier is now doomed!”

“No matter how skillful you are in combat, you're nothing in the face of a cleaver. Once those batons and cleavers land on you, you'll be as good as a dead man! Those two are doomed for sure now.”

“Even if these people were to take turns kicking once, they'll still kill these two. These two sure are unfortunate. They shouldn't have crossed the rich people if they couldn't afford to. See? Now they've brought backup!”

The crowd was certain that Alex and Zack would not escape those people's attack unscathed.

Meanwhile, Cory was clutching his chest and walking toward the group of people who had just arrived.

Then, he said to the man with a gold necklace around his neck, “Mr. Daxton, if you come any later, these two people would have killed me!”

The man named Daxton then spat the cigarette in his mouth before frowning. “I've brought a lot of men with me today, so dealing with those two won't be a problem. However, how much are you planning to pay me for this service?”

The two of them were not actually close to each other; they were only drinking buddies. Naturally, Daxton would ask for a payment in return for his help.

Although Cory was upset to pay him, he had to do something after Alex and Zack humiliated him in front of so many people. Hence, he did not mind how much he would have to spend, as long as he could teach them both a horrible lesson.

With that thought in mind, Cory became even more determined to see things through. “Mr. Daxton, help me cripple these two, and I'll thank you and your friends with two hundred thousand.”

Daxton was satisfied with the amount, for it would be enough for him to enjoy his life for a little while. Then, he turned to look at the bigger crowd a short distance away.

Although there were several hundred people by the Grant residence's entrance, those people had deliberately kept a distance from Alex and Zack.

Hence, with just one glance, Daxton spotted Alex and Zack.

However, he did not see them as a threat. Maybe the fat one still has some power, but the skinny one who looks like a kept man looks like he'll be downed with just one hit.

“Boys, surround those two!”

With that, Daxton's men instantly surrounded Alex and Zack.

Zack was frightened by the number of people, but he was more worried about Alex. It was one thing for him to die and another to get someone innocent like Alex caught up in the situation.

“Alex, I'm sorry to make you go through this with me...” Zack mumbled.

However, there was no look of fear on Alex's face. Although the people around them seemed scary, they would only scare an ordinary person and not be able to scare Alex.

Nevertheless, Alex did not plan to deal with the situation. Instead, another idea to deal with Eve and Cory had popped into his head.

“You hire a bunch of people here because you can't win against us, and you're even pretending to be scarier than you are. You're a disgrace as a man!” Alex said to Cory.

However, not only did his words not infuriate Cory, but they even made him laugh. After a moment of laughing, Cory looked at Alex as if the latter was an idiot and said, "That's right. I hired them, but so what? What I have is money. I can even buy your lives."

Then, he turned to Daxton and said, "Mr. Daxton, these two are the ones. Hurry and tell your boys to teach them a lesson. I can't wait to see them screaming in agony!"

Daxton was not one to dilly-dally nor do anything sloppily, especially after Cory had promised him two hundred thousand, so he turned around to give orders to his men.

Right then, Alex suddenly spoke.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 835

“Cory is using two hundred thousand to get you to deal with me and Zack, right? In that case, I'll offer five hundred thousand.”

Five hundred thousand! Upon hearing that amount, Daxton motioned for his men to cease and wait.

Five hundred thousand! The very thought of the sum was making Daxton thrilled. After all, with that money, he would be able to buy a nice car. It would be a wonderful ride with a beautiful girl beside him.

Furthermore, Daxton did not care about what Cory was thinking. He only cared about money; he would work for the one with the best offer.

“Can you really fork out five hundred thousand?” Daxton asked, feeling a little doubtful.

Alex flashed him a confident smile. “Of course. Five hundred thousand isn't much to me. However, you'll have to deal with Cory and the promiscuous woman beside him first.”

At the sight of Alex's confident expression, Daxton came to the conclusion that the man was not lying.

“Of course. As long as you pay, I'll deal with the situation to the best of my abilities. I can guarantee you that you'll be satisfied with the results. What you want is to deal with Cory and that b*tch, right? No problems.”

With that said, Daxton's men instantly surrounded Cory and Eve.

In a few minutes, everything had changed. Everyone thought that Alex and Zack would be the unfortunate ones of the day, but as it turned out, Cory was the one who shot himself in the foot.

Cory was as surprised as the bystanders. He never thought that things would turn out this way, so he turned to look at Daxton bitterly. “Mr. Daxton, I was the one who hired you. How could you side with them against me?”

Daxton scoffed. “They've offered five hundred thousand. If you can offer me better than that, I'll work for you. Money is the only thing that will make me change my mind, and I'll only work for the one with the best offer.”

Five hundred thousand!

That amount was a large amount to Cory. He had just established his company, so, at most, he could only take out a million and two hundred thousand.

Moreover, he had used up all of his money to join Leight Sect. How was he going to fork out five hundred thousand?

“Mr. Daxton, these two look like hillbillies; they don't look rich. So, they must be lying about being able to pay you five hundred thousand. It's best if you don't believe in their words! Look at what they're wearing! Everything they have on them won't even total to a thousand. They're clearing just boasting! On the other hand, I really do have two hundred thousand with me. Therefore, Mr. Daxton, let's not waste any more breath on them and have your boys end them!” Cory urged.

“Are you afraid? You are saying that I won't be able to pay him five hundred thousand, so I'm going to transfer him the money now. Of course, I'll only be transferring two hundred and fifty thousand now. I'll give you the other half once you've done a satisfying job of dealing with him,” Alex said.

Daxton blinked for a moment before giving out his bank details.

Without hesitating, Alex instantly messaged Jack to send Daxton two hundred and fifty thousand.

By then, even Cory was partially convinced that Alex was speaking the truth.

I can't have really crossed someone powerful this time, can I? But how does a loser like Zack be able to get a rich friend? No, I can't waste any more time. If Alex really transfers two hundred and fifty thousand to Mr. Daxton, I'm doomed!

“Mr. Daxton, don't believe in his words! He's just a liar,” Cory lied, but Daxton was completely unfazed by his words. Desperate, he turned to yell at Daxton's men. “Boys, we've had meals together. Please help me deal with those two guys!”

Right as Cory was speaking, Daxton's phone beeped. It was a notification informing Daxton that two hundred and fifty thousand had been transferred into his account.

In the next second, Daxton threw a kick on Cory's stomach and made the latter fall to the ground. “Who the f*ck do you think you are? Boys, it's time to work! Beat up that woman too!”

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 836

“Mr. Daxton! Mr. Daxton, at the very least, I'm your friend, right? You can't be this heartless to me!” Cory desperately cried out, hoping that he would be able to change his fate.

Nevertheless, his cries were useless, for Daxton's men did not seem like they were going to spare him. The swings, punches, and kicks rained upon Cory.

“Be careful. Don't actually kill him,” Daxton reminded his men when he realized that they seemed rather rough with Cory.

He then turned to Alex and smiled. “My friend, is this okay? Is there anything you'd like to request, like breaking an arm or leg? I won't charge you extra for that.”

Hearing that, Alex fell silent in serious contemplation. Thinking about how Cory wanted to break Zack's leg, Alex then said, “Break his leg.”

Daxton nodded swiftly. He was more than willing to carry out Alex's request, for Alex had only given him half of the money. Naturally, he would have to do everything to make his client satisfied to get the other half of the money.

“Don't! Please don't break my leg! I'll pay you! I'll give you the money, okay? Please just let me go!” Cory pleaded and sobbed.

Sadly, his sobs were pointless, for two of Daxton's men instantly swung their batons at Cory's leg.

What was heard next was an ear-piercing shriek that made even the bystanders look away from the scene in fear.

Meanwhile, Alex was watching everything unfold with a neutral look. Karma was always around the corner, and Cory had brought that upon himself. If Cory had not done such a ridiculous thing earlier, he would not have ended up like that.

“Stop. I've asked my people to transfer you the remaining two hundred and fifty thousand,” Alex said to Daxton.

Indeed, when Daxton fished out his phone, he saw a message stating that he had received the remaining money. Hence, he swiftly instructed his men to stop and left after thanking Alex.

Soon, everything returned to normal. The only difference was that the bruised Cory was lying on the ground, moaning in pain. Alex did not know whether Cory was lucky or not to still remain conscious.

After all, he would be spared from the pain if he were to pass out.

At the start, Alex wanted to have Daxton's men teach Eve a lesson as well, but Zack had gotten on his knees and begged for him to spare her, so he did not do anything to her in the end.

Still, Eve was not in peak condition. She had just witnessed Cory getting beaten up, and she was dumbfounded. Eve had genuinely thought that Daxton would be there to teach Zack a lesson, and yet, they became the targets for Daxton's men.

Eve's face was completely colorless by then. When she saw the howling Cory on the ground, she promptly walked over to hug him.

“Darling, are you okay? I'll call the cops now. I'll get the cops to arrest them,” Eve sobbed out.

Zack, who was at the side, found the scene an ironic one. It was then he realized that he would never be able to win over certain people's hearts. No matter how well he treated her, she would never spare him a glance.

“Why do you insist on dying on this hill? She's pretty on the outside but empty on the inside. The only thing on her mind is money. Do you think that it's worth giving your all to a woman like her?” Alex told Zack as he patted his shoulders.

He's right.

Finally, Zack thought things through, and he let out a sigh of relief. A relaxed smile then grew on his lips as he said, “Alex, you're right. I'm the one who created this mess today, but you were the one who used your money to settle this. I'll pay you back the five hundred thousand, but it might take a while...”

A mocking grin then appeared on Alex's face. “You don't need to care about that five hundred thousand. Moreover, they won't be able to spend the money.”

His words confused Zack, for the latter did not know that Alex had already made certain arrangements.

Meanwhile, Daxton and his men were thinking of spending the money they had just gotten. Right as they entered a club, they found themselves locked up in a room.

Soon, the police came and arrested them all. Not a single one of them managed to evade capture.

Chapter 837

Cory was grievously injured, and both of his legs were broken. Eventually, someone called for an ambulance to take him to the hospital.

“Get this woman off this car! Don't let her come on!”

Cory shouted at the medical staff.

“Darling, you used to call me baby. Why are you so mean to me now? Do you not love me anymore? Why won't you let me into the car to take care of you?" Eve muttered tearfully.

In the past, Cory's heart would break at the sight of her miserable expression. However, if he had any spare energy now, he would certainly use it to kill that woman. This dumb woman is the reason why both of my legs are broken! She did this!

"I only slept with you because I wanted to humiliate Zack. Otherwise, I wouldn't come near someone like you! You can't have really thought that I was into you, right? I only wanted to play around. Only someone like Zack would genuinely want someone like you! Now, get out of my sight. I'll beat you up whenever I see you!"

Right as Cory was done yelling those words, the ambulance doors closed, leaving Eve transfixed to her spot, unable to believe her eyes and ears.

She thought being with a rich man like Cory would mean that she would live a great life.

However, it was then she realized that Cory did not truly love her; he was only using her to humiliate Zack.

Now that he was done using her, he had mercilessly tossed her aside. Mulling over the event made Eve want to laugh at herself. She had cheated on Zack with Cory, and everyone in the village knew about it.

As Cory was rich and powerful, no one in the village dared to make any vocal comments about him.

However, Cory had just abandoned her. If she were to return to the village, those villagers would certainly drown her in their endless insults. Even if she was pretty, no one would dare to marry her after her cheating incident.

Mulling over those thoughts made regret crash over Eve like a tidal wave. If she could turn back the time, she would have stayed by Zack's side to live a quiet life. Although that man was on the plumper side, he loved her with all his heart.

At that, she turned to look at Zack before holding his hand. “Zack, I've made a mistake. I'll live a quiet life with you from now on, okay?”

Seeing that reminded Alex of the time when he was marrying Maggie. Back then, that was how Heather begged him as well.

Why do some people only realize the ones who treat them well after making mistakes? If she had cherished him from the start, none of these would have happened.

Back then, Alex had been able to reject Heather, but Alex did not know if Zack would be able to do the same; he did not know if Zack would forgive her for everything she had done out of his love for her.

Meanwhile, Zack lowered his head to look at the hand Eve was holding. He was reluctant to let her go, but in the end, he steeled himself and flung her hand away.

“Eve, from now on, you're on your own. Some things can't be salvaged, and I've said that a woman like you doesn't deserve my love.”

Just as Eve was about to say something to persuade Zack otherwise, the doors to the Grant residence abruptly opened. Two people then came out.

When the bystanders noticed those two figures, their eyes lit up in excitement, and they quickly straightened their backs. They were no longer interested in Zack and Eve's matter.

“The people of the secret forces are out to make a choice! Please pick me!”

“After waiting for so long, the men of the secret forces are finally out! Pick me, pick me!”

“Oh my god, I thought our wait today would have been fruitless. I can't believe I'm actually seeing two of the mighty beings from the secret forces!”

As the people around him chattered away, Alex realized that the two people who stepped out of the Grant residence were none other than the people of the secret forces. They were out to pick their candidates.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 838

When Eve, who was begging Zack to accept her again, saw the people from the secret forces, she quickly wiped away the tears in her eyes.

She had come with Cory after spending a million in hopes of joining the secret forces. Back then, Cory was tired of queueing, so Eve was the one to register. Hence, she still had the registration form with her.

Since Cory was already sent to the hospital, it meant that the registration form worth a million would be hers. If anyone from the secret forces was interested in her, she would be getting a great deal from the incident.

With that thought in mind, a smile appeared on Eve's face. That foolish Zack. I've already lowered myself to beg you, but you still refuse to be with me again. Men are all useless people. It seems like it's best to rely only on myself.

“Zack, I've already lowered myself to beg you, but you still rejected me. Do you really think that I'll spend the rest of my life with a damn fatty like you?” As she spoke, she waved the registration form in Zack's face before gleefully continuing, “Even if you manage to get into the secret forces, you'll only be a cook. You'll only be a servant. I, on the other hand, will be a different case.”

Nevertheless, Zack was unfazed by her words. In fact, he was even surer in his decision—nothing he did would change her anymore.

Meanwhile, the two people from the secret forces were wearing Leight Sect's attire—a black robe with lightning prints.

Those two men swept their gazes across the crowd before picking a few people from the crowd. The ones who were selected were overjoyed, and the ones who were ignored were overwhelmed by despair.

Soon, those two men came to where Alex was at. Right then, one of them stopped by Alex and pointed at him.

“Do you have a registration form?” the man in black asked Alex.

The moment those words were out of his mouth, the people around him turned to cast jealous looks at Alex. He's going to be selected to join the secret forces!

However, Alex calmly shook his head. "I don't have one."

Upon hearing that, a hint of sympathy seeped into the jealous looks they were giving him. What a pity! He's been chosen by the men from the secret forces, but he doesn't have a registration form.

"That won't do. You don't look like someone rich either. In that case, you'll be in charge of serving Mr. Tris, the third elder of the sect." With that said, the man in black gave Alex a nephrite badge.

That nephrite badge was a symbol for those who were in the sect. Although Alex was only chosen to become one of the servants, even the idea of working for the secret forces made the people around him jealous.

After taking the nephrite badge, Alex gave it a brief glance before shoving it into his pocket. Since I've been chosen, I might as well go with the flow and see how things will turn out.

“Sirs, I have a registration form!”

The one who said that was none other than Eve. When she saw those two people choosing Alex, she began panicking. Hence, she decided to take the initiative.

Eve then deliberately swayed her hips as she walked over to the two men in black and handed them her registration form.

Then, she muttered, “Sirs, if you've taken him in, why don't you consider me too? I can do anything, and I'm really obedient. I'll do whatever you ask me to do!”

The underlying meaning of her words was obvious, and since Eve was a rather pretty woman, the two men in black shared a look before taking her form.

“In that case, you'll be part of Leight Sect from now on. You don't look like you're suitable for training, so from now, all you need to do is to take care of our daily lives,” said one of them as he looked at Eve from head to toe.

Eve was thrilled to hear that. She never thought she would be lucky enough to join the secret forces.

Since her reputation was already horrible, there was no way she would be able to return to the village. Therefore, instead of going back, she would rather stay in the secret forces to take care of the members. That way, she was sure that she would have a good life.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 839

Meanwhile, Zack was hoping that the two secret forces member would pick him as well. He no longer cared about what Eve was doing. After all, the two had nothing to do with each other anymore.

“Do you have a registration form?” Right then, one of the men in black noticed Zack. Zack was a security guard, so he had a rather large build.

Those who used to be the secret forces' guards all became important people who could lord over ordinary people when they went back to the real world.

Once Zack realized that the men in black were talking to him, a smile broke out on his face. "Sirs, I don't have a registration form, but I'm an excellent cook. If you don't have a need for a cook, I can be a bodyguard."

At that, the man in black nodded in satisfaction. He then gave Zack a nephrite badge as well before going elsewhere to get more people.

At that moment, Zack was on cloud nine. The nephrite badge in his hands was as if it was the most precious thing in the world.

In the past few days, he had been to various places, but his efforts had been fruitless. He never thought he would be able to be selected at the very last minute.

“Alex, you're really a lucky star of my life. Ever since I've met you, not only have you helped me out a lot, but you've even made my luck better,” Zack gratefully said to Alex.

Alex only smiled at him in silence, thinking, Even if you've been chosen by the secret forces, you won't be able to work for them for long. After all, I'm here to get rid of them.

Therefore, Alex had to figure out their true power before he made his move. Otherwise, it would be foolish if he were to find out that there were people who were much more powerful than him too late.

After that, the two men in black chose a few more of the others and gave them the nephrite badges as well. They had picked a total of thirty, and those thirty people entered the Grant residence as the others watched them with envious gazes.

“Why did you pick a man to serve Mr. Tris? Isn't it better to find a beautiful woman to serve him? Maybe Mr. Tris might give us brothers something good if he's happy,” said one of the men in black to the other.

“That's where you're wrong. Mr. Tris doesn't like women. No one knows this, and I didn't know about it back then too. A while ago, he summoned me and told me to pick a handsome man to serve him,” whispered the other man in black.

After that, the two of them chatted away about other topics.

Although they were whispering to each other, Alex, who was all the way at the back, heard everything. It was then he realized he had been picked to serve Tris.

As he had taken the Foundation Establishment Pill, there had been some changes to Alex's appearance—his skin was smoother and fairer. That, along with his sharp features, made him a handsome man to most.

However, Alex did not swing that way. Well then, I guess I'll start with this pervert Tris; I'll try to find out more about Leight Sect from him.

Right then, the men in black brought the thirty people to the place where the Grant residence's servants rested and split up the men and women.

Even though it was a place for the Grant residence's servants to live, everyone had their own rooms. After all, the Grant family used to be one of the prominent families.

Moments later, everyone had gotten their own room. Alex was the only one who was still behind the two men in black.

“You don't need to live in this room. We'll be taking you straight to where Mr. Tris lives. Remember that there are certain things you can't talk about, especially things about Mr. Tris,” the men in black reminded.

Of course, Alex knew what they were talking about; they were telling him early on that, even if he were to find out that Tris liked men, he must not tell anyone about it.

Alex then nodded.

He continued following the two men in black to where Tris lived. Tris' residence was extremely luxurious, and it was worlds apart from the place where the Grant residence's servants lived.

It was not Alex's first time in the Grant residence, so he knew that the lavish decoration was not Richard's preference. In other words, the people of the secret forces had redecorated the place after taking over the Grant family.

After sending Alex into Tris' place, the two men in black left, leaving Alex to wander around himself.

When Alex heard merry voices from a distance away, he walked over. However, the moment he realized what was going on, he froze.

FINDING OUT THE BILLIONAIRE

What he saw made Alex stunned to his core. As a matter of fact, Alex almost wanted to retch where he stood.

The voices came from a hot spring a short distance away from him, and in that hot spring were a group of men serving another old man who looked like he was in his sixties.

Some were massaging his thighs, and some were massaging his shoulders. The old man was absorbed in his world of enjoyment as the handsome men around him served him. At the same time, he had a man in his arms as well.

That old man was none other than Leight Sect's Tris. Upon hearing footsteps, he opened his eyes. The moment he saw Alex, his eyes lit up, and he shoved all the other men around him aside.

“Babe, you must be new. Why are you still standing there? Take off your clothes quickly and join us!” Tris urged before letting his eyes drift across Alex's body. Then, a lustful look crossed his face.

Alex was not disgusted by gay relationships, but it was another thing for him to accompany that old man.

“I'd advise you to put on your clothes right away, or else I'll have to bleach my eyes later,” Alex coldly said.

At that, Tris' smile froze. This newcomer's clearly looking for trouble!

“Don't you know who I am? Be good and come in here to keep me company. I'll then pretend not to have heard what you just said,” Tris snapped. He did not like the way Alex was acting; he did not like ones who were not meek.

However, Alex leaned against a decorative rock and stared at Tris. Just a moment ago, he had found out that Tris was only a third-phase Master. Even Wanda Salazar would be able to easily defeat him.

“You old pervert, put on your clothes and scam out right away. You have three minutes to do that. If you don't do that, I'll just make my move.” Alex shot Tris a look of disdain before averting his gaze.

However, those words from Alex infuriated Tris. How dare this foolish young man call me an old pervert? Moreover, it's as if he's scared of nothing. He's not even a little bit afraid of me.

Alex had ruined Tris' good mood, and the latter stood up from the hot spring. After Tris put on his clothes, his expression turned cold.

Noticing that, the men all became fearful, for they knew that Tris was getting angry.

“Don't think that you can be so unruly here just because you look good. It's time for me to teach you the rules here.”

Tris then took out a talisman from his robe and began mumbling the spell under his breath. Then, he threw the talisman at Alex.

Totem of Electric.

Alex had recognized the talisman that Tris threw at him. Coincidentally, he had read about the creation of Totem of Electric in Nine Heaven Scrolls before.

Furthermore, Alex had also used the Totem of Electric before. Nevertheless, although the two talismans were both Totems of Electric, they were not quite the same. The spell that Tris had muttered earlier made the talisman much more powerful than its original state.

That was a secret skill that the members of the Leight Sect used, and Alex would not know about that.

Still, Alex was unperturbed by the Totem of Electric that Tris threw at him. With one quick step to the side, Alex dodged it.

When Tris saw the swiftness of Alex's reaction, he realized Alex was no ordinary person. He then scoffed and said, "It seems like you've come here to look for trouble with the secret forces. Nonetheless, it's your bad luck to have met me!"

“That's where you're wrong. You'll be the one to die today. Pervert, you're no match for me. I'm surprised that's all the elders of the secret forces are.”

With that, Alex instantly attacked Tris—his hand went straight for Tris' neck.

Instinctively, Tris tried to dodge it. However, Alex had already thought of all of his escape routes, so in the next second, Alex successfully grabbed his neck.
