Chapter 134 | Don't Want to See You Again

Candy's substitute.

It was not the truth.

"You don't have anything to say, do you? Rupert, I don't want to see you again!" After saying this frostily, Annabel turned on her heel and left.

Her heart burned with so much pain, it was as if sulfuric acid had been poured over it.

She was so stupid that she almost believed everything Rupert said on the Ferris wheel.

Fortunately, she wasn't deeply in love with him.

It was not too late for her to leave this relationship and correct her mistake.

Heather watched Annabel and Rupert enter his room and imagined them having sex. She was so furious that her face looked contorted.

"I must get rid of Annabel. Rupert is mine!" Heather murmured.

After standing outside their room in a trance for a while, she reluctantly made her way back to her room.

Just as she reached the elevator, she spotted a familiar figure leaving the innermost room.

Annie? ④

It seemed she had returned to France.

Heather stopped and observed her curiously.

Annie was wearing a white dress, which was almost transparent. She was flirtatiously hanging on to an old man's arm.

Heather recognized the old man. He was Joseph, a famous director.

Annie was almost glued to the old man. "Honey, I love you. You have to make me the leading actress in your play."

Joseph squeezed Annie's buttock. "You did a good job tonight. But several actresses want to get the lead role. You know that your reputation has recently taken a beating..."

"I was framed!" Annie bit her lower lip, looking wronged.

It was all Annabel's fault! ①

Annie was caught cheating by the media, and her private life was exposed to the public. Because of this, her image as a pure woman, which she had worked hard to cultivate with Brett's help, was destroyed.

Many companies terminated their contracts with her. Now she was unable to bag any job. She could only trade sexual favors and sleep with the director to fight for a role.

She had tried her best to please Joseph, but he was not willing to give her the part of the female lead.

"I believe you were framed. But it's pointless. The audience doesn't buy it." Joseph threw his arms out. "How about this? I'll call you tomorrow night and we can talk."

"Okay." Annie felt slightly helpless. Of course, she knew the meaning behind this old goat's suggestion.

But right now, he was her only life-saving straw, so she could only firmly grasp it.

"I'll wait for you tomorrow night," Joseph said as he leered at Annie and closed the door.

Her face darkened. She rubbed the spot where Joseph had hurt her just now, whirled around, and was about to leave.

At this moment, she heard a woman's voice call out, "Annie, hi."

Annie looked up and saw Heather standing in front of her

"Heather?" Annie called out in surprise.

Heather's eyes swept over Annie's body and she spotted bruises on her body under her thin dress.

Heather had heard that Joseph was a freak in bed, but she didn't expect Annie to drop to this level.

It seemed that she had been left with no other choice. ③

And Annie's current situation was related to Annabel.

Heather smiled inwardly. She had been thinking about how to deal with Annabel. Now, she had an idea.
