

Chapter 29 A shot in the arm

Whatever Mia did or said, Steward never left. Mia wanted to transfer Nora to another place but she thought it was not good for her body.

Suddenly, the door opened and Steward heard a familiar voice, "Mia, I brought something for you."

Gabriel was holding a bucket of strawberries and his smile froze when he saw Steward was here.

At that time, Steward was looking at Nora with his soft eyes and then his eyes turned gloomy when he saw Gabriel. He asked coldly to Gabriel, "What are you doing here?"

"You guys leave us alone!" Mia took the bucket of the strawberries and looked at Gabriel with a questioning look.

"Mia, I swear, I didn't tell him anything about you and Nora! I didn't betray you guys," Gabriel explained to Mia.

He had tirelessly said many bad things about Steward so that he could win Mia's trust, and Mia believed that he was on her side. Now, they might have trust issues!

Steward said coldly, "Is Mia that hot girl you were going to have a date with?"

Steward gently released his grip at Nora's hand and walked out of the door. He also dragged Gabriel out.

Mia rolled her eyes and thought, "It was Gabriel who made the first move."

After the two men left, Mia closed the door. She picked and washed some strawberries and sent one to Nora's lips, saying, "I remember you love strawberries and can't get enough of it. It's very sweet so I hope you can wake up and have a taste of it."

"Did you see that jerk today? If you don't want to see him any more, please wake up and drive him away yourself, alright?" Mia added.

What Mia did everyday was to give Nora a sponge bath or a massage and chat with her. Though there was no reply, Mia thought her effort would pay off and Nora would wake up one day.

Steward did not leave but stayed outside the door. He pushed Gabriel against the wall and questioned, "When did you know Nora was here? Why didn't you tell me anything? Do you want to make fun of me?"

"I found this by accident when I came here some time ago to get my inspiration for my new book," said Gabriel.

Gabriel was a renowned online writer, and he was going to write a horror novel where there's a nursing home. So he came here, a high-end nursing home in Alexandria.

But later he thought he shouldn't had come here for inspiration.He should go to an old and dilapidated one for inspiration.

He hadn't expected to see Nora here.

"But why didn't you tell me?"asked Steward.

He knew the reason why Mia kept this a secret to him but Gabriel did not tell him when he knew Nora was here.

Steward kept questioning him but Gabriel did not think he had done something wrong.Gabriel thought Nora could have a better life without Steward.

"He deserved all this since he had done so many terrible things to Nora!"thought Gabriel.

Mia was right.A leopard doesn't change its spots.

"Steward,you were so terrible to her before.Do you really think you can blame me on this?She was almost dead because of you!In the past two years,she was tortured by you little by little."

The brain cancer she had might be the result of the endless pain Steward caused her.

Steward released Gabriel,feeling guilty about what he did to Nora.

And then he thought,"Since I find Nora is still alive,it means that I've got time to make it up to her and we can get back together."

"Don't be so impassive,"said Steward as he straightened Gabriel's collar with hope in his eyes,"She is still alive,I will try my best to make her wake up."

Soon,he contacted the best brain surgeons and they came to Alexandria overnight.

These doctors gave Nora a full check-up,and came to the conclusion that her situation was stable with her organs working normally.

She was less likely to experience organ failure and die.

But no one was sure whether she could wake up or not.

The result was like a shot in the arm.Steward didn't go back to his family business and stayed with Nora all day.
