

Black Plain 1851

Chapter 1851 What's Next?

As soon as they entered the huge, dark area, one of the beasts in Minos' group screamed in shock as he sensed the one approaching them.

"What?"

"He's still here!"

Everyone in Minos' group looked forward, adjusting their eyes to better see the dark area.

As they did so, they saw the area where there were various dragon skeletons and special tombs inside this cave, and a tall and very muscular blue-haired man approached them.

'Damn it! That sky whale!' Forrest looked in the direction of this being and circled his energies, afraid of having to face this creature.

But when he saw who had just entered the area, the sky whale suddenly slowed down and made a strange expression.

'Wasn't a dragon?' He wondered. 'Just now, I felt something dangerous approaching me... I thought that damned thing had come back.'

But even though he felt a dragon aura, the visual information in front of him contradicted his instincts.

No matter how much he believed in his instincts, in front of a group of humans and beasts, he couldn't help but doubt what he had just sensed.

'Was I wrong? I seem to be a bit affected by the last few weeks' events.' He thought as he finally stopped 30 meters in front of Minos' group.

"Hmm, I've seen you somewhere before." He commented.

As strong as they were, sky whales weren't that difficult to deal with.

Facing these people who probably thought he would attack them, this level 90 couldn't help but talk, trying to dissuade them from that thought.

How humiliating would it be for him to be accused of trying to attack a group of weak people? He didn't want these people to think he would attack them without provocation!

Hearing this, Minos immediately realized that this beast did not want any trouble with his group and stepped forward, making a gesture of greeting. "You must have sensed us near the lake. We were nearby when you made your advancement."

"Oh?" The blue being remembered and looked at Minos curiously, noticing something strange about this level 83 Sage.

But this person seemed friendly and was of such a lower level than him that such a whale did not feel comfortable pushing this strange young man.

How crazy wouldn't the Spiritual World be if someone with potential was persecuted for no reason? Being talented could definitely cause trouble, but few would hunt down such people without ever having had trouble with such a being.

The whale then relaxed and commented with a smile. "Anyway, you were lucky to come to this place. It seems that the dragons have been hiding their true treasure very well for countless generations.

After I defeated two bastards, one of them ran away. But while I was devouring the second one, I noticed this place and decided to see what they were doing here... Who would have guessed that there are still bodies of ancient dragons here? Some of them are even useful for high-level experts."

Hearing this, the people in Minos' group felt uncomfortable for different reasons.

Isabella couldn't help but feel scared when she thought this creature was telling them he had devoured a dragon!

'Damn it! That dragon was a level 90 one!' She thought to herself, remembering the feeling when she first arrived in this space.

Meanwhile, the phoenix had another thought in mind. 'So there are still dragon bodies here?'

A single dragon body could feed several high-ranking elders of his tribe!

Even those two nine-tailed foxes could greatly benefit from a 10th-stage dragon body even if they could no longer increase their cultivation. They could improve the quality of their skills and bodies and raise their strength to the peak of level 89.

Such a body would be precious to any beast!

Minos heard this and said. "Is that so? It's really amazing that they kept this place a secret. But with the noble member of the Sky Whale Tribe here, I don't think there's much for us."

Upon hearing this, the level 90 beast was pleased to see that Minos respected him and would not challenge what was his.

Feeling magnanimous for having devoured a dragon in the past few days, he laughed and said. "Don't be so pessimistic, human. I already took what I wanted. You can enjoy what you find here.

Now I'm leaving. Time to go." He moved, walking toward their group, toward the exit of this place.

Some of Minos' group were afraid to see him pass so close to them, but Minos, the phoenix, and Forrest just watched him.

"Now I'm afraid I'm going to have some trouble out there, haha." The blue being said, but he didn't look sorry at all. "You must prepare yourself for a difficult future. Be careful when you leave this Spatial Kingdom, humans, and beasts. The dragons will surely be angry."

With these words, he disappeared and quickly left the area, heading for the portal that led back to the Flaming Empire.

Still standing at the entrance of that place, everyone in Minos' group still had the whale's words in their minds and felt the tone with which he had announced such a thing to them.

The whale did not seem worried at all. But at the same time, his words announced a catastrophe, which was why those left behind felt so strange.

'He ate a dragon... That's terrible!' The Phoenix clenched his fists and realized what had happened in this area was much worse than he had thought.

If killing a dragon was bad, eating one was 100 times worse!

Even Minos was worried, noticing the amount of trouble brewing as the catastrophe Henricus Longus had predicted came closer and closer to hitting the Spiritual World.

'What a piece of shit! A high-level war in the Central Continent, now a problem between the strongest beast tribes... It seems like everything is heading toward a perfect storm against us! What's next?' Minos wondered as he felt the pressure on his shoulders grows.

But knowing that there was nothing he could do but continue with his plans, Minos sighed and said to his group. "Forget what he said. Let's look for possibilities here. Maybe he and the dragons didn't take everything in this place."

With that, everyone turned their attention to this area and soon began exploring the ancient dragons' resting place.

Chapter 1852 Revenge

After leaving the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom, several experts in the area immediately noticed the level 90 sky whale.

Unlike Harold, this was a critical individual to those in the area.

Sensing the powerful spiritual fluctuation of this sea creature, the dragon waiting for his two young masters opened his eyes and probed the creature.

But when he did so, he immediately noticed a strange sensation coming from that creature. He stood up from where he was, sensing that something unpleasant might have happened between his young masters and that whale.

"Hey, what have you done?" The terrifying voice of that mountain-sized dragon asked as its aura appeared, pressing down on the area where the level 90 whale had just appeared.

Sensing this, the sky whale, which had just emerged from the Spatial Kingdom, noticed his movements were slowing down and looked at the creature, which already knew he had eaten dragon meat.

There were only two ways to explain this, and both of them somehow involved the young masters of that dragon!

When he thought of this, he naturally became angry and felt that he had to interrogate this level 90 fellow.

However, when this dragon stood up, the elder of the sky whale tribe there, who had been waiting in this area of the Flaming Empire, suddenly appeared next to his junior, making all the pressure on him disappear.

"Are you crazy?" The man, who was even taller and stronger than the one who had just arrived from the Spatial Kingdom, asked as he raised his aura and counterattacked the mighty dragon looking in that direction. "You think you can make demands on one of my tribe members? Bold!"

"You fat bastard, this junior of yours has the smell of my people on his body! I demand explanations!" The level 93 dragon shouted, making all the experts in the area tremble with the power of his voice.

Minos' envoy nearby looked at the two of them and had a bad feeling, so he immediately ordered his partners to withdraw from the area as a precaution.

Meanwhile, several Spiritual Demigods in the area, waiting for their groups, frowned.

Dragons and sky whales were not enemies, although there was much rivalry between them. But occasionally, they would engage in high-level battles that would shake the entire Spiritual World. Whenever that happened, the rest of the world would be affected.

Seeing these two experts discuss because of their juniors, many in the area feared that it would not end well.

The level 92 sky whale said. "It doesn't matter. Questioning one of our tribe members is not your responsibility, dragon. Withdraw your aura, or we'll have problems."

Even though he was one level weaker than that mountain of flesh, this elder of the sky whale tribe was not afraid of that dragon. If they were to face each other, even on land, this sea creature was confident that he would not die.

"You bastard! What have you done?" The dragon could not stand it any longer and jumped from his position, charging at the two blue creatures with his massive body.

Realizing the enemy's audacity, the level 92 sky whale also jumped into the air and fully transformed into his full size, showing the people in the area a shadow superior to that dragon.

That whale's body was at least twice the size of that dragon's!

The moment the two attacked each other with their body parts, everyone in the area, including the level 95 Demigods, felt goosebumps rise on their bodies in fear.

"Shit!"

One of them shouted as he raised his defenses, knowing that a clash of blows from these two creatures would be enough to threaten the lives of even 'ordinary' level 96 human Demigods!

Even the level 90 sky whale raised his guard to protect himself.

'There is no turning back now. We will be in trouble.' He laughed bitterly, but in truth, he had no regrets about devouring the body of one of those dragons.

Then, as many fled the area and others raised their defenses to the maximum, the two giant creatures collided, resulting in an immense explosion.

Orange lightning bolts formed in the surrounding area, while the atmospheric pressure suddenly changed, stirring up the winds in the area.

At the same time, the ground beneath the two creatures suddenly 'retrogressed' as if being pushed with great force into the world's core.

Small mountains were flattened instantly, while the surrounding area's gravity stopped working properly.

Huge cracks began to appear not only in the ground of the area but also in the sky, while even space could not withstand the clash of forces between these two creatures.

As they clashed, neither of them withdrew their powers, and their massive bodies touched each other, but that initial clash of powers injured neither of them.

As much as they did not suffer, it would not be the same for creatures up to a few dozen kilometers away from this area!

That afternoon, a catastrophe would occur in that area of the Flaming Empire near the Evergreen Empire!

While those creatures were disputing in the Flaming Empire, in another area of the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom, a huge creature was lying in a forest, his body stretched out on the ground.

He had large dark scales and wounds all over his body. Some of the wounds were oozing blood, capable of making one think he was dead.

But this large level 90 dragon was breathing, his eyes open as he hated his current situation.

Even after days of trying to recover from the previous battle, this beast, which had even lost some of his claws in the previous battle, was still far from recovering enough to leave this place.

He wanted revenge. He wanted to kill the damned enemy that had defeated his partner and even started to devour that dragon in front of him.

If it hadn't been for the speed with which that creature escaped, he probably would have died and been devoured as well!

With that in mind, this dragon wanted to take revenge, return to the Spiritual World, and send his entire tribe to hunt down the damned sky whale that had done this to him and his partner.

Unfortunately, he needed more time to recover and move.

'Just wait, you bastard! You're going to die for what you did!' He thought to himself while emitting a dangerous aura that would make even other experts in the area avoid him.

He was injured, but as a dragon, he had many ways to deal with anyone who tried to exploit his vulnerable situation!

Chapter 1853 A Great Opportunity?

Meanwhile, at the place where Minos and his group had encountered the level 90 sky whale earlier...

After the creature left, Minos and his party immediately began investigating the dragon graveyard they had discovered.

It was a vast cave with several levels. After spending an hour there, they would find out how big the place was, and when they finished exploring the first level, they quickly went to the lower levels of the area.

There were several skeletons and some sealed dragon tombs on the first level. There were only a few useful resources for Minos' group in these remains, and none of them were preserved to the point that the group was tempted to steal corpses from the area.

But with Minos' current knowledge of the dragon tribe, he and his party soon made their way to where the remains of the tribe's most important members were buried.

Dragons often passed their powers onto descendants or stronger enemies in special ceremonies. But for various reasons, some tribe members could be buried with their whole bodies.

This was most often seen with the bodies of low-level dragons, the children of experts who were not worth devouring. It could also happen that experts would not allow these bodies to be devoured.

The group saw some of the graves of such low-level beings and the skeletons of dragons that had been devoured.

During the ceremony of one dragon devouring the body of another, the bones of the devoured would never be eaten or sold, despite their value. They were usually sent to cemeteries like this one, where the dragons were laid to rest.

Some of the skeletons the group had seen were those of devoured creatures.

Anyway, leaving the first level without many items, the group soon arrived at level 2 of this graveyard, where Minos immediately realized something relevant to his group when he saw some inscriptions at the entrance to this second area.

"We need to go to level 4 of this graveyard," Minos commented to his group. "The inscriptions on these walls speak of a river of bones. If I'm not mistaken, all the bodies and skeletons that have rested here for millions of years must have given rise to something in the last level of the cemetery."

"River of bones?" Forrest asked as he narrowed his eyes, not understanding what that could be.

Minos explained to the group. "The bodies of powerful beings, even skeletons, contain much power. You know that, right?" He saw the group nod their heads in agreement while they were already walking through the second level of this place.

"So, the power of strong experts' corpses slowly leaks out of them and can be used to spiritually enrich places, help a spiritual root, or even be used to make pills or fertilize medicines.

But in a special place like this, that kind of power can "leak out" and accumulate somewhere. I think the dragons have found a way to accumulate these remnants of their ancestors in this place." Minos said with interest, feeling that they should get to the bottom of this location first.

"Are you saying that this river of bones is like an essence left by all the bodies buried here?" The level 91 phoenix asked with interest, feeling this would be great.

As much as there were many low-level dragon corpses in this place, there were also high-level dragon corpses.

If something had accumulated the essence of dead dragons for millions of years, this river of bones would be extremely valuable!

"Hmm, I can't tell what it is. It must have evolved after that level 100 dragon died. But it's something like what's written on the walls of this place." Minos said.

Forrest agreed with Minos' suggestion. "Then let's go to the last level of this place. Ignore what's around here. We'll leave it to you to search the area for items when we leave this place."

With that, the group moved through this level, quickly finding the passage that led to level 3, where it would take them even less time to find the other passage.

As they moved deeper, the areas of the levels of this dragon's resting place decreased. At the same time, the "density" of high-level tombs remains increased.

When they reached the 4th and last level of this place, after 15 minutes of moving inside this cave, Minos' group came to a red place that looked like a fracture of a tectonic plate where magma was visible.

The place of red rocks was not large. From the place where the passage from level 3 to level 4 was, there was what looked like a small beach in front of a red lake the size of Minos' Spatial Kingdom house.

The dragon skeletons there were small compared to what they had seen on the previous levels, and they seemed to be slowly melting away.

Upon seeing this, one of Minos' women sighed and said. "As expected. Most of what was here has already been taken."

They all felt the density of that dark red essence that looked like magma but was only a special kind of liquid power.

There was still something there for them, but it was something extremely weaker than what was there when the two dragons came to this place months ago. Not only that, but the sky whale had also taken some of that liquid with him, leaving spiritual wealth in that small river of bones for Minos' entire group.

Minos understood the frustration of one of his wives and a few others in his group but said. "Do not underestimate this place. I sense that it can still be replenished. The next time this Spatial Kingdom opens up, I have a feeling that this place will be regenerated and will be able to help even 10th-stage dragons improve their strength and physical quality.

As for us, I think we can get three jars out of this river of bones. I doubt that anyone here will get a big improvement from it, but this liquid can help three of our men.

Forrest can probably reach the peak of his level if he uses this liquid to meditate." He finished and looked at the black-haired man.

Forrest felt the same way and decided to use his group's share to strengthen himself.

In the meantime, the beast group wouldn't be able to get any stronger from it. Still, they were sure they could pass it on to one of their companions when they returned to their continent.

With this in mind, the group quickly divided the three bottles and took the remaining essence from this place until the red lake became clearer.

Chapter 1854 Meeting of Enemies

One week later...

A few days after Minos' party arrived at the resting place of the ancient dragons, Forrest finished absorbing the essence he had collected for his party in the river of bones.

As Minos expected, he reached the peak of level 93, and in a few weeks of cultivation, he could reach level 94.

After he finished absorbing this precious resource, the whole group returned to explore the Dragon Graveyard.

This time, unlike the first level of this place, Minos' group had good results exploring levels 3 and 4 of this underground place. Not only had they found high-level artifacts, riches that dragons usually buried with their loved ones, but they had also received some preserved bodies.

They had found 3 bodies of 10th-stage dragons that had not completely decomposed, which could be helpful to the beasts that could devour them, the production of items, or the regeneration of spiritual roots.

Minos had kept one of these corpses to take back to the Black Plain Empire, and Forrest had kept one to make cultivation items for his faction. The beasts of the Continent of Beasts would naturally take the corpse they got back to their tribes, where they would divide such a resource among their people.

Afterward, they found one of the portals to this area they had entered a week ago and headed for another special pocket.

Arriving in a new part of this space, Minos and his group soon began searching for the team Maximilian had sent to help his beasts take revenge.

But while searching for the tracks of these enemies of the foxes and the phoenix, their group suddenly found someone else's tracks!

The moment he noticed the remaining spiritual fluctuation in the forest area he was in, Minos and Forrest looked at each other and muttered the same thing.

"Those elves."

That's right. They had just found traces of the group of elves they had stolen weeks ago!

But before they could decide whether or not to go through with this elf problem, the hybrid from Minos' group said. "They've spotted us, and they're not alone."

This was the smallest pocket of space their group had passed through so far. Noticing the tracks of such a group, they soon realized that their former rivals were nearby and had already sensed their position.

As they focused their attention on the group about 4 kilometers away from them, everyone in Minos' team sensed more people than there should be in that group moving toward them at once.

Minos then ordered his men. "Raise your guard. They may have new allies!"

Immediately, the group did as they were told, as the enemies appeared in the area, quickly surrounding them on all sides.

The moment they came face to face, the elven group looked at Minos' and noticed the advances of these people who had robbed them earlier. But Emperor Stuart's team did the same, seeing that although these rivals had lost much to them, they had turned the tables and made new advances.

Moreover, while the elves looked at the beasts allied with Minos, this emperor's group looked at the humans sent by Vico to this Spatial Kingdom.

The three sent by Vico, currently at levels 91 and 92, were focused on Minos, their target there.

They did not care about the rest of Minos' group, not even Forrest, a member of the Spiritual Church. All that mattered to them was the head of Emperor Stuart, who had caused all the current calamity on the Central Continent.

"Minos Stuart!" The weakest clenched his fists.

"Minos, I will take your head to His Majesty Vico Travisani!" The strongest of the three shouted as she looked him in the eye, catching the Emperor's attention.

"Vico? So you are from the Eastern Empire..." Minos said, understanding why these groups had united against him. "Ambassador of Vico, we are not enemies. Your emperor's problem with me is a misunderstanding."

"Tsk! Are you trying to escape the consequences of your actions, Minos?" One of the three asked, sensing their enemy was cowering before them.

But Minos said. "I would rather not fight nor increase my enmity with your people. But if you wish to die allying yourselves with these dirty elves, then so be it."

"Dirty? You are very good at speaking lies and insults, damn you!" One of the elves shouted. "That's easy for someone who ran away after robbing us! Who's the dirty one, Minos Stuart?"

Forrest looked at the group and said. "Where is the rest of your party?"

Not everyone who had faced Minos' group that day survived. Some had died from injuries sustained in that battle or from losing their restorative and protective items from the earlier theft.

As such, the two elves' group was furious and wanted revenge, not just for what they had lost in that robbery!

They wanted revenge!

"Tsk! The same place you will all be going in a few moments!" One of the elves' allies said before charging at Abby.

Because of this woman's ability to fuse techniques, their group suffered so much that day. Knowing that it would be a huge risk for her to fuse her techniques again, the group didn't wait for the conversation to end and moved immediately, with several of them attacking her.

Seeing this, Minos didn't hesitate and showed them all his current abilities!

Dragon's Gaze!

Circulating his spiritual energy through his eyes, Minos suddenly let his terrifying aura rise as he attacked the enemy group, terror of this ability.

especially the bolder ones who tried to hit Abby.

"Die, vermin!" He said as everyone in the enemy group felt the pressure of Emperor Stuart's new ability.

Minos was already at level 85, so even the level 91 men felt the terror of this ability.

Noticing this, Vico's men immediately grimaced, seeing something new in this enemy, something shockingly powerful.

"Shit! The bastard must have found something incredible in this place!" One shouted as he raised his mental defenses to the maximum, trying to withstand Minos' mental blow.

Meanwhile, several black rings appeared around this group, with Minos already using his Devouring Art technique even though Ruth's ability was already in contact with his body.

Ssss!

His allies did not stand still, and one of the first to act was the phoenix, already in its bestial form, as it used its fiery flames to strike at one of the enemies in the area.

The two foxes took the lead in defending Minos' women, who had critical support skills for the group.

Forrest and his group of Demigods did not hesitate to use their deadly powers to attack the enemies who were pressed by Minos' skills and techniques.

He was opposed to the war against the Western Region that Maximilian wanted his organization to wage. But he would not hesitate to act in the face of enemies trying to kill his allies!

...

Chapter 1855 The Way To Avoid Trouble: Killing!

While Forrest acted for the good of the group, the weaker of the elven party and Vico's emissaries felt their powers diminish, and Minos transferred their cultivation bases to his wives.

In the blink of an eye, his wives increased their cultivation by one level, strengthening their skills and techniques.

Unfortunately, the enemies already knew what Abby was capable of, and with several of them focusing on her, she could not get any space to merge her techniques, even with her group's actions.

However, this was not necessarily a victory for the elven group!

After Minos' initial attack, 3 of the elven partners who tried to act against Abby had their minds destroyed by Dragon's Gaze and were already dead in the area!

With the first bodies on the ground in the opening moments of the battle, the fight soon began to heat up as the now level 90 elves countered Minos' initial move.

"Damn you, human. Today, I will rip everything you have from your corpse!" One of them shouted at him, forming giant wooden snakes out of the ground in the area and heading towards Minos.

This elf was level 90, but such an attack had a strength similar to the attacks of level 93 humans with Golden-grade techniques!

This was stronger than Minos could withstand with his normal strength at the moment.

Seeing this powerful attack, Minos manipulated the space around him and changed his position while appearing on the back of this elf.

Chaotic Gravity: Meteors of Destruction!

Appearing behind the attacking elf, Minos already had several landmasses behind him that quickly flew toward the enemy the moment he gestured forward.

The other elf was as focused on killing Minos as the members of the Travisani family sent by Vico. This one, too, manipulated space, appearing near Minos with the intention of eliminating him in one fell swoop.

The elf sliced the air with a sword, aiming for Minos' neck.

As the sword moved, a gigantic bolt of lightning suddenly appeared above this elf's body, hitting him full-on as Ruth used one of her techniques.

The level difference between the two was huge, and such an attack only caused the elf to miss his movement by less than 2%.

But for Minos, who currently had fantastic spatial manipulation abilities due to his level 100 dragon heritage, that was enough to move through space for the enemy's blow to miss him.

Thus, while one of the elves was suffering from the meteor shower caused by Minos, one of Vico's men managed to come out of his mental confusion and attack his target.

Piercing Sword!

In the blink of an eye, he passed Minos while a sword spinning on its own axis quickly passed through the brown-haired young man's waist, piercing the right side of his waist!

This blow contained a lot of the level 92 Demigod's power. It even damaged Minos' armor a bit until it wounded his waist!

However, the blood from there barely soiled the blade of this opponent's weapon as Minos' wound closed.

"What?"

"You bastard. You're going to die for this!" Minos retorted, feeling pain even though Ruth's skill had already closed his wound.

Explosive Steps!

Minos activated his movement technique before making a few hand seals and activating his latest technique.

Divine Seal: Hell!

Appearing on the man's back, Minos didn't hesitate to inscribe a seal on his back before orange flames exploded from that spot, covering the opponent's entire body.

He was a level 92 cultivator, so this alone would not be enough to kill him. Knowing this, Minos continued with his defensive technique, activating his Indestructible Body and attacking the man's neck.

As he quickly moved one of his hands towards his opponent's neck, the air around Minos' Soul Avatar's hand created spatial cracks as it moved, making the space around it increasingly chaotic.

Pow!

Upon striking the neck, Minos sent his opponent's burning body far away as a scream of pain erupted from the man's throat.

"Aaaagh!"

Meanwhile, Forrest attacked one of the two elves who tried to take action against Minos, forming orange and golden flames from the glowing eyes of the Seraph Avatar.

Sss!

"Die, you bastard!"

This time, his level was much higher than when he had encountered these creatures. Moreover, seeing that he would have problems with these elves and Vico's group, Forrest realized that he could not risk letting these enemies escape alive!

Unlike his last confrontation with them, he now had the chance to kill them and didn't hesitate.

The only way for anyone to know what had happened in this space would be to return to the mainland alive and then spread the word throughout the Spiritual World. But if everyone who knew about the events there kept quiet, it would be straightforward to escape from vengeful relatives!

With this in mind, Forrest struck at the elf's body, piercing the elf's abdomen with flames capable of burning even dragon scales.

Elves were very talented and powerful but were not known for their physical strength or ability to withstand attacks.

Feeling the enemy's attack hit him without having time to dodge, the elf howled in pain, unable to pay attention to Minos, and looked at Forrest in anger.

"Motherfucker!"

Meanwhile, Minos' wives joined the defense of Ruth and especially Abby, using their skills and techniques to try at least to deflect the attacks of the few enemies who were focused on preventing the blue-haired beauty's techniques from merging.

A large silver barrier covered Abby's surroundings, while Gloria kept as much of her innate ability active as possible, manipulating the mercury around her harem sisters.

Even though she was only a level 82 Sage, her mercury was so dense and strong that Gloria could withstand even level 89 attacks in her full defense state!

Meanwhile, Isabella maintained a barrier of flames in front of Gloria's defenses, combining her powers with the other redhead's to reduce the power of enemy attacks that reached them.

Noticing her harem sisters' efforts to help her, Abby did what she could to merge her techniques, trying to ignore the enemies and focus on her two Golden-grade techniques left by the Goddess of Life.

'Rise from the darkness, my warriors!'

Chapter 1856 The Poison That 'Saved' The World

As Abby focused all her energy on merging her techniques, making the moves and seals necessary to succeed, she suddenly felt a blue glow in the darkness.

Opening her eyes, she saw a powerful spear breaking through Gloria and Isabella's defenses and heading for her chest.

At the same time, the ground around her cracked as dozens of long-dead creatures awakened.

Abby felt she had managed to merge her techniques, which was good. But when she saw the deadly attack closing in on her, she turned as pale as a sheet of paper, feeling that she had nothing to do in this situation.

As several people in her group looked on with concern, the ground beneath her feet cracked, and a skeletal, completely yellow hand emerged.

As Abby prepared to receive the blow that could kill even level 91 cultivators, the hand cut through the space and appeared in the spear's path, blocking it like a shield.

Sparks flew from the point of impact until a loud metallic sound rang out for a moment, and then the spear blade shattered into countless pieces!

"What?" The level 91 Eastern Empire Demigod who threw the spear shouted in surprise, not expecting the fusion of a level 82 woman to be strong enough to stop his weapon.

If that was the level of Abby's fusion, then this woman was even more dangerous than Minos!

But Abby's fusion was very different from what Minos could do. She could only temporarily resurrect those who had fallen near her.

If these people were experts, her ability would even bring back those with 'n' levels above hers. If they were just weak individuals, they would not become stronger by being awakened by her. If they were stronger than her, she would not be able to control them.

In other words, as incredible as it was, she had no control over what she could achieve, unlike Minos, who could manipulate his fusions as he wanted.

However, for that man, Abby's fusion was shockingly terrible for his group!

"Shit!" One of the elves saw this and cursed his group's luck, as well as their inefficiency in stopping Abby before anything else happened.

Abby saw the hand in front of her and sighed in relief. But when she noticed the cultivation level of this creature, she couldn't help but feel afraid of the being she had summoned!

'Level 94!' She and all of Minos' women in the area realized the level of this humanoid skeleton.

Not even Minos could control such a creature!

'Damn it! Who is this one?' Minos thought as he looked in the direction of his women, thinking about manipulating space and creating a black hole to destroy that creature.

But when both sides of the battlefield were tense with the appearance of such a skeletal being, the 2-meter tall skeleton finished rising from the ground and looked at Abby for a moment.

Seeing a golden-blue glow in the darkness of her eyes, he remembered his life and did not hesitate to kneel down at Abby's feet.

"Goddess of Life, I am happy to serve you even after my death!" He said aloud, feeling great reverence for the woman before him.

'Does he think I'm the Goddess of Life?' Abby wondered. 'Is he one of this woman's soldiers?'

"Unfortunately, I died at the hands of a dragon while on a mission at the Continent of Beasts, Goddess of Life. Before I died, I was taken to this space and never had a chance to return. Please let me serve you one last time!"

Abby's fusion and the Goddess of Life's innate ability were fantastic. Still, in addition to the points already mentioned, they had one crucial flaw. Once a being was summoned from death, once the fusion or ability was undone, that already dead creature could never be summoned again.

The skeleton knew this, and knowing he would never be able to help his goddess again, he stood up and immediately activated his unique ability. I think you should take a look at

Abby just nodded, but that was enough for the skeleton to act!

In an instant, it disappeared from Abby's side.

It appeared among the strongest Demigods of the enemy group, increasing its body size significantly. In contrast, several skeletal hands appeared from spatial holes on the area's outskirts.

Divine Palm!

He moved as his skeleton vibrated, becoming increasingly invisible, cracking as his many hands descended from various portals, from the ground, and from the sky, to fight Abby's enemies.

"Shit! Run!" The strongest elf shouted, feeling that if they were hit, all those targeted by this skeletal creature would be killed.

However, this ancient warrior didn't let these enemies run away casually. Knowing that he would disappear in less than 5 seconds, he accelerated the movement of his palms, shocking Minos' entire group and destroying 4 high-level enemies at once!

The level 91 Demigod who had attacked Abby with the previous spear felt desperate at the sight of two large skeleton palms pressing against his body, but he had no chance to do anything. The level 94 skeleton put more force into the blow against this individual who had endangered the life of the heiress of the Goddess of Life.

As punishment, he would be crushed to death!

"Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaagh!"

This man and others tried to resist the mighty palms of the skeleton, but they were much stronger than them. In just 3 seconds, more than 50% of their bones were crushed, and their spirits were shattered.

At the last second of this skeletal creature in this world, the four enemies exploded, their blood spreading tens of meters away.

The skeleton also reached its end, cracking utterly, and then...

BOOOOOM!

Yellow dust and spiritual energy flew out from whatever that being was, shocking the elves there.

"Damn it, that woman can't be allowed to live! The damned will take over the world if she gets any stronger!" One of them shouted, feeling real fear.

Beings capable of reaching level 100 were rare. But in the history of the Spiritual World, hundreds of thousands of people reached level 99!

If Abby could awaken just a few of them and keep them conscious for days or even weeks, she and Minos would be able to rule the entire world!

As members of one of the oldest races, the one that knew the most about the history of this world, these elves were well aware of the threat this fusion posed to the world!

In the distant past, a human expert had developed such an ability and reached level 99. Fortunately, an elder of the elven tribe had noticed her before she attempted to reach level 100 and managed to poison her secretly.

The Goddess of Life herself did not know what was behind her failure to reach level 100. But the elves knew that without the act of one of their high-ranking elders, she would have become a true God, capable of awakening even dead Gods!

After seeing the danger looming before their tribe again, these elves could not help but feel threatened by Abby and wished for her death.

Chapter 1857 Extermination

While the elves and the stronger ones of their group were trying to escape from the stronger one of Minos' group, the rest of the skeletons around Abby finally got up from the ground, understanding their situation.

Unlike the level 94 skeleton that hadn't even lasted 20 seconds since it appeared and disappeared, these others could exist longer because they were weaker.

However, some were high-level Sages and level 90 and 91 Demigods, stronger than Abby could control. Without being ancient subordinates of the Goddess of Life, there was no reason for these creatures to help Abby willingly.

Sensing the enemy's movements and these skeletal beings trying to flee the area to avoid trouble, Minos finally teleported to Abby's side and spread his Dark Sea to cover the entire area with darkness.

With a level of 85 and a presence as strong as a dragon's, Minos instantly intimidated these beings, dominating their minds and getting them on his side.

"Fight!" He commanded as he stopped before Abby, using his body to defend his wife from the various individuals who tried to attack her.

Abby was still shocked by the level 94 skeleton that had mistaken her for the Goddess of Life, but being exhausted, there wasn't much she could do but trust her group.

The two nine-tailed foxes and the group hybrid, along with the other three women of Minos, stopped next to her and raised their defenses again.

Seeing this, Forrest and the other group of Demigods aimed at these daring individuals to 'turn their backs' on them.

The enemies were so determined to finish off Abby that they were willing to risk their own lives by leaving vulnerable points for these other enemies to attack.

But their priority was to kill Abby and rid the world of a future disaster!

"You bastards! You are protecting a monster! What are you going to do when she turns on you and summons an army of level 99 Demigods?" One of the elves asked, breaking into a cold sweat as he felt the various injuries all over his body.

The other elf was nearly dying from the injury Forrest had inflicted on him a moment ago. Still, he pushed himself to attack Abby along with the rest of their group.

Minos heard this and cursed these creatures in his mind, seeing how stupid they were.

'You bastards! Abby's fusion will give us a fighting chance against the damned invaders of our world!' He thought to himself as he fused his techniques and formed several black holes within the Space and Time Domain.

The people from the Church and the phoenix could understand the elf's concern. But they did not want to worry about it during the battle. Those creatures wanted to kill them! There was no reason for them to spare them now!

With this in mind, the phoenix, who hated elves as much as many other beings in the Spiritual World, set his sights on the more injured of the two elves.

Activating his unique ability, he made his flaming wings burn the creature, forcing the elf to lose his concentration and strength while his screams grew louder.

"Aaaagh!"

Forrest did the same but focused on the strongest enemies there, using his holy sword to decapitate the rest of the group.

With Minos' previous action of using Dragon's Gaze and then the level 94 skeleton killing four enemies, the enemy group had been greatly weakened.

The survivors already had multiple injuries on their bodies before they suicidally attacked Abby, so when almost all of the Demigods in Minos' group attacked them, they didn't last long.

Even if some of their attacks reached Minos, they could not overcome the defenses over his body to hit Abby.

Before Minos' cultivation even began to return to normal and Ruth was exhausted by her ability, more than half of the survivors fell dead on the outskirts of the Space and Time Avatar's domain.

The last standing was the strongest elf, but even this one could not hold out much longer and was brutally killed, surrounded by enemies!

Everyone in the group was exhausted when the last body of the enemy party fell lifeless to the ground.

Seeing this, Minos did the same as his allies and deactivated his Soul Avatar, as his cultivation had already stabilized at level 83.

Faced with the corpses of the elven group and the envoys of Vico, Minos soon proposed a division of the resources of these creatures.

This time, he and his team would not steal resources from their opponents but would share the spoils of war left by their dead enemies!

Many weeks had passed since the previous encounter with the elven team and months since those sent by Vico had entered this Spatial Kingdom.

All of them had gained more than they had lost.

Soon, the group would find out how much they had gained from this battle.

As expected from people who were there to gather opportunities for themselves and their leaders, practically all of these individuals had medium-level and high-level grade-4 resources in their possessions!

This was especially true for the Travisani family group in this Spatial Kingdom to disrupt Maximillian's group and collect items for their empire.

Unfortunately for Vico, they ran into a mighty group!

With plenty of resources in their hands, even the most injured and worried after this battle was happy with the outcome of this day's battle.

With those resources, they could leave this Spatial Kingdom and return to the Central Continent if they wanted to.

However, without fulfilling the promise they had made to the beasts of the Continent of Beasts, their group still had a goal and soon began to meditate to recover.

No one there brought up the subject of Abby's fusion, though some of the elves' words from earlier were indeed wise.

For now, Abby and her group were their allies; moreover, she was only at level 82. Before she became the threat the elves feared, she would have to face countless challenges and dangers.

Knowing how difficult it was for sages to cultivate until they became Demigods and then reached the high level of the 10th stage, everyone there put aside their worries.

And so, the next few days would pass before they left this pocket of space to once again search for Calvert and Drogo's group!

Chapter 1858 Meeting Of Enemies

A few more days passed in the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom, and finally, the level 90 dragon that had been injured by the sky whale earlier in that space finished recovering and returned to the Flaming Empire.

When the level 90 dragon arrived in the Flaming Empire, near the Evergreen Empire border, he found out what had happened in this area weeks earlier, when a level 93 dragon and a level 92 sky whale had fought.

After hearing this, the dragon understood why no one from his tribe awaited him when he left the Spatial Kingdom.

The level 93 elder of his tribe had not been defeated. Still, after facing the level 92 sky whale, that creature could no longer wait on the central continent, which was much closer to the Sky Whale Tribe's territory than the Dragon Tribe.

Therefore, that creature had not hesitated to leave such a state by using a teleportation artifact he had with him, something valuable that could even take him back to the Continent of Beasts. But in his precarious situation, he had used it without hesitation, knowing that a war between the strongest tribes in the world could break out at any moment.

Meanwhile, none of the lookouts in the area had caused any trouble for such a dragon, as they had too many problems of their own to get involved in anymore.

Such was the case with Vico's and Maximillian's envoys in the area, who were waiting for their men to return to the Spatial Kingdom.

Even though Vico's envoys had been dead for days, the people of the Travisani family had no idea what had happened. Unlike in the real world, the soul lamps could not show the actual vital status of people who had died in the Spatial Kingdoms.

For these devices, the vital signs they displayed would remain active even for several decades after one's death within a Spatial Kingdom.

Those who participated in this event could not be sure of the vital status of their people until the one-year period was over, and the portals to that space were closed. When that happened, it would prove that anyone who did not return was dead or about to die!

So one of Vico's envoys was still in the area, watching the surroundings and waiting for his men.

Inside the defective Spatial Kingdom...

At this moment, Minos' group was finally in the last area of this space, the only part of the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom they had not yet stopped to search for their group's beast enemies.

They were ready to give up and return to the Central Continent if they did not find Maximilian's people there. Even the beasts of this group agreed on that, for this space had its natural dangers that could put them between life and death at any moment.

There was no way they could spend months endangering themselves from enemies who may have already left such a space!

It was not uncommon for participants in such events to leave about halfway through the event. After all, many would die in the first few moments of the event, and the strongest would quickly achieve the results they hoped for.

Halfway through the event, this Spatial Kingdom would become empty and quiet.

But just as the beasts were losing hope of finding their enemies, their group suddenly noticed a trail of smoke in the forest they were in.

Realizing that someone was ahead of them, the group immediately moved more cautiously, getting closer as they watched to see if this was their target.

Minos was at the front of the group and soon saw three enemies, all blonde, with medium-level grade-4 armor on their bodies, sitting around a campfire.

He had never personally seen a member of the Evergreen family. Still, when he came across these people, he immediately identified them by their blonde, almost golden hair.

When he saw them, he clenched his fists and felt it was time for revenge!! think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

He wanted to act against these people not only to fulfill his promise to the beasts of his group but also because of things that had happened to him in the past.

Minos had not forgotten the day he was attacked by the Blood Triangle Pirates leader, forcing him to go after the Seraphim Ancient Sarcophagus and eventually free Maximilian.

He had not forgotten the threats of the Blood Triangle Pirates and how the Evergreen Emperor had allowed that group to pressure him.

Finally, Calvert's actions bothered him greatly when that prince tried to force Gloria's faction to join his group.

Thinking of all this, Minos felt his blood run hot. "It's them. They are alone." He said to his group.

Upon hearing this, the nine-tailed foxes and the phoenix immediately changed their expressions while in their humanoid forms.

Forrest saw that Calvert and Drogo were there, both at level 91. Besides them, there was a third individual, someone at level 92.

'They won't stand a chance...' Forrest sighed as he imagined witnessing the deaths of his master's nephew and younger brother.

But even without the help of this group of Spiritual Church Demigods, Minos' group and those beasts were more than capable of facing and defeating those three.

As he thought about it, the entire group, except for the men from the Church, soon split up and surrounded Calvert's group, slowly changing their forms to show their true spiritual forms.

The beasts transformed into their bestial versions while the humans activated their soul techniques, revealing their Soul Avatars.

As they did so, they naturally attracted the attention of the three men sitting around a campfire in the middle of the forest.

Sensing enemies nearby, the three put aside their food and looked at Minos and his people.

"Minos Stuart!" Calvert opened his mouth as he shouted, looking at the Central Continent's most famous level 83 Sage.

The other two looked at Minos before realizing their former enemies were standing next to the Stuart family group.

Minos was with Forrest's group, and these three Evergreen family members soon realized the trouble they had gotten themselves into.

"Are you here for revenge?" Drogo asked with a haughty look, staring at the level 91 phoenix.

Because of the item he and his uncle had stolen from the group of beasts, he and Calvert had gone from level 90 to level 91!

Confident that Maximilian's protégé and the members of the Spiritual Church would not attack them with all their might, Drogo said arrogantly. "Stupid beasts. You'll end up as food for my mounts!"

Forrest will not stand against two factions of the Spiritual Church, and Minos will not challenge Maximilian! You don't fool us. Stop pretending you're going to fight us!"

...

Chapter 1859 End Of The Event

Listening to the words of the level 91 man, Minos saw how easily people could forget the loss their actions had caused to others.

'Those who smashed forget, but those who were beaten don't.' He thought silently, seeing how wrongly that man had judged the situation.

Then he said. "Calvert Evergreen, Drogo Evergreen, have you forgotten what you did to me, to my state? I remember the day a Demigod, the leader of the Blood Triangle Pirates, appeared in my city. I remember being pressured by your factions!"

Calvert frowned and said. "That was a long time ago. And now you are a friend of ancestor Maximilian. We're on the same side now, Minos!"

"Wrong!" Minos said as his aura rose.

He would never forgive these people for their actions!

After all he had suffered because of their interests, how could he do that? How could he forget or even give up his ways that had brought him here just because the situation changed?

Minos was no fool and knew when to control himself. But this was not one of those times!

Faced with the chance for revenge, he couldn't help but show these people his true feelings.

"I have no problems with Maximilian, but you are different. I have many problems with you, Calvert, and with you, the future leader of the Blood Triangle Pirates!" Minos said aloud, making the three rethink their position. "Today, Forrest will close his eyes while I kill you!"

Looking at Forrest, Calvert saw that this individual did what Minos had just said, closing his eyes and turning his back on them.

Forrest would not participate at this moment out of respect for the family his master had been born into. Still, he would not stop Minos from pursuing his plans for revenge.

Whether that would lead to trouble for all of them outside this place, he could not say for sure. But that was a topic for another day. Now that Minos had said all that, there was no reversing what would happen there!

When they realized they were alone against Minos, the level 91 phoenix, the level 90 hybrid, Emperor Stuart's women, and the nine-tailed foxes, those three also raised their fighting spirits.

"Damn, you! Don't think you'll get out of this in one piece!" Drogo shouted angrily, seeing his confidence from earlier shattered by Minos.

"Is that so? Let's see!" Minos said as he activated Dragon's Gaze, completely surprising his opponents with a powerful mental attack.

Not expecting this attack from Minos, as they had different data on this man's power, the three of the Evergreen Family group were taken aback.

They all changed their expressions, becoming even uglier as they felt a gigantic pressure hitting them.

Minos was already at level 85, and as his gaze made the three of them tremble, with Drogo and Calvert suffering considerably, black rings appeared on their bodies.

Infinite Dream!

Minos continued to attack the mental part of the three, while the hybrid of his group attacked the strongest of the opponents along with the level 91 phoenix.

The hybrid, in his bestial form, opened his mouth and screamed, unleashing a powerful sound wave.

Feeling the destructive sound waves hitting him, the level 92 Demigod put his hands to his ears and felt blood dripping from them. I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

But as he did so, he was covered in scorching flames that could threaten even strongest cultivators.

Even though the hybrid and the phoenix were at a lower level than him, they were both from unique races in the Spiritual World. Both of them had battle skills higher than their levels!

Weakened by Minos and mercilessly attacked by these two, the level 92 Demigod was soon severely injured, howling in pain without even being able to counterattack these enemies!

"Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaagh!"

Meanwhile, Minos' wives supported their husband while he stole the enemies' energy and attacked them with his offensive techniques.

Semi-transparent, bluish blades appeared in their surroundings, flying at their bodies as if they were parts of a giant shredder trying to destroy them.

Meanwhile, the pressure of Chaotic Gravity on Drogo and Calvert was so immense that neither of them could even move.

Under normal circumstances, Minos shouldn't be able to affect level 91 cultivators this much. However, in addition to the fact that these two had recently increased their strength, they had both been severely injured by Emperor Stuart's gaze.

By attacking first with Dragon's Gaze and then with Infinite Dream, Minos destroyed many barriers he would have to face to hurt these two.

Feeling immense pain and unprecedented danger to their lives, Drogo and Calvert despaired and cried out for Forrest's help or even Minos' mercy.

"Please don't do this! We can talk, Minos! We can solve these problems!" Calvert shouted.

"Damn it, Forrest! Are you really going to abandon your fellow Church members?" Drogo asked angrily, trying not to scream in pain as the blades of the Spatial Sword tore his skin.

Under the restrictive effects of not only Chaotic Gravity but also the Spatial Sword, they could barely open their mouths to speak.

With no chance to defend or counterattack, they would quickly be injured to the point where they could not recover. Even if Minos and his allies stopped, they would die after a while!

But Minos didn't like to let his enemies breathe, so he kept attacking them as he watched the Demigods' bodies slowly disappear under the destruction of their techniques.

By the time his level returned to normal, the enemies were practically destroyed, and Minos could only see the few remnants of those two falling to the ground not far from the burning piece of flesh.

Seeing the last of their enemies die, the two nine-tailed foxes felt a great relief in their beings.

They hadn't killed these enemies themselves, but to have helped Minos on the side of his women was something significant.

Meanwhile, the phoenix watched the level 92 man's body turn to ash, feeling the fatigue of fighting against this individual.

"Young Minos, thank you. The Phoenix Tribe and I will never forget what you have done for us." The elder said gratefully. "I hope to welcome you to my tribe in the future. I will certainly do my best to help you then."

The two nine-tailed foxes said the same as the group lowered their spirits, finally accomplishing their goals in this ancient Spatial Kingdom!

Now, it was time for them to leave this place and return to the Central Continent!

Chapter 1860 A Quick Visit

A full day after the conclusion of the battle against the group sent by Maximillian, Minos and his group finally left the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom.

In the past few hours, they had divided up their final spoils of war and spent most of the remaining time cultivating and recovering from the battle earlier.

After finishing this time, they conversed about what they would do next while searching for the portal to this space that led back to the Flaming Empire.

At that moment, Forrest said. "Minos, maybe you'll have some quiet time before bigger problems hit you. But what happened to the groups we encountered in this Spatial Kingdom may eventually harm us somehow.

Don't underestimate high-level Demigods and 4th-grade spiritual practitioners. It may take a long time, but what happened here will somehow affect us one day. So take the time to improve your strength and contacts. Eventually, we'll need them against Maximillian or Vico."

"Hmm, don't worry. Now, I want to go through the Dry City to deliver some things for my men and give my people some warnings and advice. But soon after that, I will leave for a journey outside the Central Continent." Minos said as he flew alongside his group, already with the portal they were about to leave in sight.

One of the beasts in the group asked. "Are you going to our continent? If you like, we can travel together."

Minos looked at the nine-tailed fox and rejected the offer. "I will not go to the Continent of Beasts right away. I plan to pass through your lands on this journey, but I also want to go to the Marine Empire. Since I'm closer to that state, I want to do that before I visit your lands."

"Oh? Then I hope to see you on our continent in the future." The other fox said, thinking that it would take Minos a few years to get to them, as he would probably explore the Spiritual World a bit and make new contacts, in short, things that took time.

Then the phoenix said. "We will return to the continent immediately and will not leave our tribe for a while. So if you want to meet us, just go to our territories in the north of the continent. We will welcome you when the time is right."

Minos nodded and said. "That will help me a lot."

Forrest then commented. "In the meantime, I will remain in the Evergreen Empire. I'll try to improve the strength of my faction, but I'll wait for your return to the mainland, Minos. You plan to be gone for a few years, right?"

"Yes." Minos did not hide it. "I will go to the Marine Empire, then to the Continent of Beasts, and then to the Divine Continent. It will take me about 2 years to make all those trips and return to the continent. But most of the traveling will definitely be in those places..."

"Well, when you return, let us meet to talk about the future and what we have done in the meantime. That will be important for our church and continental goals."

"Certainly."

With those words, the group finally crossed the portal that led to the southeastern border of the Flaming Empire, where they promptly arrived in an area where many experts were watching.

There, the group ignored the high-ranking men in the area and split up, each party flying off in different directions within seconds.

Forrest and his Demigods headed southeast, returning to the Church headquarters. The spiritual beasts headed south, where their boat awaited them to return to their continent.

As for Minos and his group, they headed for the city closest to this area of the portals while their observers in the area were already at their side.

While observing the craters left by the battle between the sky whale and the dragon, they quickly heard a brief description of the events that had taken place in this area during their absence. In particular, they heard about those who had successfully left the Ancient Dragon Spatial Kingdom. I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

As it had been over 8 months since the event began, many of those who had gone through those portals had not returned, but dozens had already left the area before Minos and his people.

Upon hearing the news, they quickly moved to the first of the wormhole ports that could take them back to the Black Plain Empire.

Minos had no intention of staying in his empire for long. Instead, he wanted to get to his territory, access the Spatial Kingdom, and distribute resources to his people from that space and Dry City.

In no more than a day, he planned to be away from his capital and on his way to the Marine Empire!

After some of his men in the Flaming Empire congratulated him and his family for their progress and improvements in this event, Minos' group wasted no time in leaving for their capital.

They knew Harold was in Payton, but no one there was planning on having a family reunion at the moment.

After sending Ruth and Isabella back to the Spatial Kingdom to stay with the Stuart family's children, the group entered the first wormhole in their path.

...

A few moments later, Minos and his wives arrived at the wormhole port of Dry City, where promptly every soldier in the area prostrated before the imperial family core.

Ignoring these soldiers and many onlookers, Minos, his wives, and the level 90 hybrid quickly made their way through the defensive dome of his capital.

Upon arriving at the core of his capital, Minos did not hesitate to present the many resources he had obtained to the most important people of his state, quickly leaving half of these riches in the hands of these people.

Minos said to Dillian. "Use these resources with our strongest and closest men of the 10th level. That should be enough to get them closer to their breakthroughs."

Dillian accepted the spatial ring Minos gave him, his fists clenched tightly. He couldn't help but observe the level 90 hybrid, the first Demigod of their state.

He had seen the Black Plain take off and reach the 10th stage!

Thinking about it, he couldn't help but be excited.

But Minos paid no attention to that and said. "The other resources I have I will leave in the Spatial Kingdom for the men who will stay there to absorb some of them."

Not everything could be absorbed by his men, so some of what Minos had received at this event would remain for the future.

Finally, with these words, Minos did not hesitate to go to his Spatial Kingdom with Abby and Gloria, ready to make the last preparations and start his new journey.
