

Blessed 168

Chapter 168 Pay For I

Everyone gasped in horror upon hearing that the broken vase was a rare antique.

Only Trevor looked at it with a straight face.

"Don't lie to us. If that's really a valuable antique, then why is it only placed in a private hotel room?" Estrella asked incredulously.

The captain of security guards sneered. "Little girl, this must be your first time here in the Hilton Hotel. You see, this hotel is known for giving our guests an unforgettable experience. All the rooms here are decorated with high valued items."

He pointed to the vase and continued, "The vase you just broke is worth at least four hundred thousand dollars. But that's not the most expensive thing in this room. See the jade item over there? If you break that, you'll have to pay at least one million dollars to compensate for it."

Aggy, who was sitting in front of the said jade item, moved away in fear of bumping into it by accident.

Estrella's face turned as white as a sheet. "It... it was Trevor! The thing that broke the vase was his gift. You should ask him for compensation!"

"Who among you is Trevor?" the captain angrily asked.

As if on cue, everyone turned to look at Trevor at the same time.

Trevor could not help but laugh sardonically.

'How could there be such a shameless woman?'

"It was Estrella who grabbed the necklace from me and broke the vase into pieces. If you don't believe me, you can watch the surveillance video!" he said with a sneer.

Estrella put her hands on her hips and reasoned out, "This wouldn't have happened if you hadn't sent Luisa a lousy gift! How could you do that to her? It's your fault why the vase broke. Pay for it!"

"Yes. We don't think Luisa should accept it. Did you really think that she would like the rubbish you had given her? You're a man. You should be responsible for this. Go and pay for the vase!" Aggy echoed.

The two teamed up against Trevor instead of admitting their faults.

Meanwhile, Luisa was infuriated when she heard them slander Trevor to save their asses.

In a fit of anger, she pounded the table and stood up at once. "What the fuck is wrong with you? I've told you that I like the necklace very much. Who said you could throw it? And now, you're blaming Trevor for breaking the vase. Wow! That's too much!"

The captain watched as they pointed fingers at each other. Unable to take it any longer, he bellowed, "Stop arguing! I don't care who broke the vase. I want it paid by the end of the day. Mr. Smith owns this hotel. If you can't pay it, I'll make you work here for the rest of your life until you pay off your debt!"

Luisa's heart sank.

This was her birthday party. That meant that she had to take responsibility for what had happened.

If things went on like this, Trevor would be dragged into this matter as well.

Luisa had made up her mind. She stood up and said through gritted teeth, "Fine. I'll pay for it. But I don't have that much cash at the moment. Can I pay a part of it?"

However, the captain was unconvinced. "I said, you can't leave if you can't compensate for it. I don't care if you're going to pay for it by yourself or you all are going to chip in. I need the four hundred thousand dollars today!"

Luisa turned around and looked at everyone with pleading eyes.

The two who were blaming Trevor pretended not to hear the captain's words.

Marlon, however, was filled with excitement.

He stood up and patted his chest confidently. "Don't worry. I have a connection with Mr. Smith. I'll call him and settle this matter."

With that, he walked out of the door with his phone in his hand.

When the captain heard that Marlon had a connection with Gavin, his expression softened, and he calmly watched Marlon leave.

The rich and powerful were the only ones who could afford this private room. Since Marlon had reserved this room, the captain surmised that Marlon must be one of those.

Seeing Marlon go out, Trevor took a step forward to follow him.

He was going to call Gavin and ask him to deal with this matter.

As a result, those two insolent girls saw Trevor as a coward.

Just as he was about to step out of the room, Estrella, who was standing at the door of the private room, stretched out her arm and stopped him. "Trevor, you loser, are you just going to leave after what has happened?"