Chapter 215 Unreliable Man

After hearing what Aldrin said, Trevor breathed a sigh of relief.

Although this matter looked very difficult for Aldrin, it was nothing for Trevor.

Well, the Sanderson family was one of the top families in the city. Therefore, Trevor could easily solve Aldrin's embarrassing problem just by doing a few things.

Thinking about it, Trevor patted Aldrin's chest and gave him a smile as he said, "Don't worry about it. I will help you with that."

Of course, Aldrin was moved. However, he just gave him a smile as he didn't take his words seriously.

After all, he knew that Trevor had been relying on part-time jobs to support his life.

In fact, Aldrin was pleased to see that Trevor got lucky and now his living condition was improved.

However, it might be difficult for Trevor to help him make the lie plausible.

In the end, Aldrin made up his mind that he was going to tell Cleo the truth if he couldn't figure this problem out.

If Cleo felt that he lied to her and wanted to do nothing with him anymore, he deserved it.

Not knowing what Aldrin was thinking, Trevor walked out of the dormitory.

Once he got outside, he took out his phone and called his sister, Evie.

After telling a brief introduction of the matter, Trevor asked, "Evie, can you arrange a car that is worth two to three million dollars?"

Although he could lend his Bugatti to Aldrin, he thought that it would be too ostentatious. Moreover, things would be more difficult to explain if they really got together in the future.

Hearing Trevor's request, Evie chuckled and teased, "Trevor, you are putting me in difficult situation. Do you think we have that kind of cheap car in our garage?"

On the other end of the phone, Evie thought for a while and continued slowly, "Look! How about this? My assistant happens to have a Mercedes Benz which is worth only about two million dollars. It meets most of your requirements. So, I will tell him to lend it to you!"

Oh by the way, if you want to have fun, our Sanderson family has recently hosted an international flower show in Jork. I will send someone to give you the ticket and the car."

Before hanging up, the two of them chatted for a few minutes.

Only then could Trevor breathe a sigh of relief. With a smile on his face, he murmured, "Aldrin, you have helped me a few times in the past. So, let me help you this time."

On the next day, Aldrin woke up early in the morning and he dressed himself up in front of the mirror in the dormitory.

When he knew that Cleo was at the bus station, he mustered up all his courage and reached his hand out to pick up the BMW key on the table.

Seeing this, Trevor immediately stopped him as he said, "Don't drive your own car. We promised that we'll help you today, remember? Now, the car is ready for you."

Although Aldrin was confused, he didn't take his BMW key when he saw the serious look on Trevor's face.

After greeting Rob on their way, the three of them went downstairs together.

At that time, Cleo was sitting at the bus station nearby. Her white dress was very eye-catching and her delicate appearance attracted the attention of every boy who passed by.

Sitting beside Cleo was a beautiful girl who looked a little older than her. The girl leaned to her and said, "Cleo, don't worry. I'll help you check the guy today. I am not going to let any unreliable boy approach you!"

In fact she was Cleo's cousin whose name was Cassie Perez.

She just arrived in Jork. When she heard about Aldrin, she insisted on following Cleo as she wanted to see what the so-called rich man looked like.

Ever since she was a child, she had always competed with Cleo secretly and wanted to win Cleo in everything.

Since she wasn't inferior to Cleo in terms of appearance, why could only Cleo attract a rich man like Aldrin?
