

Blessed 220

Chapter 220 Refund

Trevor nudged Aldrin and only then did he recover from the shock.

Handing the large bouquet of roses to Cleo, Aldrin stammered, "Cleo, I know that we haven't known each other for a long time but I really like you. Can you please give me a chance to be your boyfriend?"

The gorgeous red roses reflected Cleo's red eyes as tears swelled up in her eyes.

Biting her lip, she nodded her head and murmured in a low voice, "Yes, you can be my boyfriend."

Hearing her answer, Aldrin was so thrilled that he hugged Cleo tightly in his arms.

After hugging each other for a while, Cleo's face turned red in embarrassment. Then, she gently pushed Aldrin away.

With a smile on her face, Cleo held the large bouquet of roses around her chest and smelled the fragrance lightly. Then, as if she remembered something, her eyes widened as she said hesitantly, "Aldrin, these roses must cost a lot of money. How about we return them. It's okay for me."

Even though Cleo loved the Juliet roses, the 99 of them would cost a lot.

It made her feel that Aldrin was spending too much money for her.

On the other hand, Cassie was shocked as she realized that she had been looking down upon Aldrin who was willing to buy 99 Juliet roses for Cleo.

Hearing Cleo's words, Cassie ridiculed her subconsciously, "How can you refund these expensive roses, Cleo?"

If the flowers could be refunded, it would definitely be a great loss for the florists, especially if the flowers were Juliet roses.

To their surprise, the staff just glanced at Aldrin and nodded while saying, "Okay. I can refund them for you."

Once the process of refund was done, the staff specially left one rose for Aldrin.

"Sir, I'll give you this one as a gift and wish you all the happiness."

Smiling, Aldrin took the rose and gave it to Cleo.

This time, Cleo didn't refuse and accepted it happily.

However, Cassie wasn't happy as she didn't feel right.

Did Cleo really find a rich boyfriend who truly loved her?

Why didn't that kind of thing happen to her?

Thinking about it, Cassie became so jealous that she wanted to prove that Aldrin was a fake rich man.

All of a sudden, she remembered that the staff had whispered something in Trevor's ear just now.

Wait a minute!

What if Trevor was working in this florist and all of this was just an act?

The VIP tickets that Trevor had must be the benefits that the employee got!

And they borrowed the flowers to stage photos and then they planned to return after they had finished!

What her cousin said just now only let them take advantage of the situation.

Thinking about it, Cassie hurriedly told Platt her guess in a low voice.

Hearing her words, Platt's eyes lit up. Both of them couldn't believe that Aldrin was from a rich family.

"I didn't see the staff do anything yet he said the refund was already made. There's no refund because he didn't pay at all!"

After thinking for a while, Platt asked, "Do you know what major Aldrin is studying?"

Furrowing her eyebrows, Cassie said, "Cleo told me that he is a freshman in Journalism Department."

With a joyful look on his face, Platt said excitedly, "What a coincidence! I have a friend called Bernard who is also a freshman in the Journalism Department. I'll call him to confirm it!"

Of course, Cassie was glad to hear that. Then, she urged Platt to make a call as soon as possible.

Once the phone was picked up, Platt asked, "Bernard, do you know a person named Aldrin? Is he really a rich man who can afford to drive the Mercedes-Benz G-Klasse?"