Chapter 222 Chaos In The Restauran

As he wanted to help his friend, Trevor had no choice but to continue to hide the truth.

For now, the best choice was to let Aldrin tell everything to Cleo.

However, Trevor's words didn't stop them from mocking Aldrin. What was more, they got even worse and started mocking him as well.

Glaring at Trevor with hatred, Bernard spat angrily, "Poor loser, you are not qualified to speak here!"

Seeing that his roommates were mocked and ridiculed one by one, Rob stood up angrily and said, "What if Trevor is poor? It's better than having to use a bottle of aphrodisiac every day like you!"

For Bernard, the matter of him using aphrodisiac was like a thorn that was stabbed in his heart.

Because of it, he was looked down upon by the others. What was more, he was even taken to hospitals by his parents to see andrologists more than once!

Since Rob mentioned this matter, Bernard got so angry that he punched Rob in the face.

Rob staggered a few steps as he screamed.

Seeing the scene in front of him, Trevor got a little annoyed and quickly reached out to stop Bernard.

At that time, he kicked Bernard's calf and it made him lose his balance and smashed a chair.

Just like that the room was in chaos for a time!

Looking at the mess in front of him, Platt grinned hideously.

He didn't care about what happened to Bernard at all. He took advantage of this issue to smack the table and stood up while shouting, "Trevor, how dare you make trouble in Seth's territory? You are all dead!"

The noises in the private room attracted the attention of some diners outside and some of them even came to watch the fun.

"Isn't that Platt who follows Seth, the young master of this restaurant?"

"Yes, I heard that Seth somehow infiltrated into the mysterious Mr. Sanderson's circle in Jork recently and since then his status has risen a lot!"

Platt wasn't angry to hear these discussions. Instead, he pointed at Trevor's nose complacently and spoke.

"Do you hear that, Trevor? If you dare to make trouble here, it's the same like disrespecting Mr. Sanderson! If you don't kneel down apologize right now, I'm sure that Mr. Sanderson will make you suffer!"

Trevor was speechless as he chuckled in his heart and thought to himself, 'Like I will make myself suffer.'

Before he could say anything, Bernard who was kicked to the ground stood up abruptly and looked at him with hatred while saying, "That's right. Everyone knows that Mr. Sanderson had easily destroyed the Norris family that owned hundreds of millions of assets! Just wait and see, Trevor. You'll have to suffer!"

After hearing everything, Aldrin and the others started to get worried about the safety of Trevor.

At that moment, the captain of the security guards and his subordinates of the restaurant rushed over towards them.

All of them were dressed in black suits. They were strong and muscular and looked very oppressive.

When Platt saw the security team, he pointed towards Trevor and the others and shouted excitedly, "I know Mr. Wright. Arrest these people. He is the one who is making trouble!"

When Platt mentioned that he knew Seth, the captain of the security guards didn't dare to ignore him.

However, when he looked at the direction that Platt was pointing, cold sweat instantly came out and slid down his face.

The one who was standing was none other than the distinguished guest that Seth treated respectfully the last time!

The captain of the security guards still remembered how happy Seth was after sending Trevor back. After that, he warned him not to tell anyone about it.

Of course, the captain of security team was flustered and stood frozen on the spot as he didn't dare to follow Platt's order which was to arrest Trevor. Licking his lips nervously, "You... Distinguished guests, is there any misunderstanding?"

Hearing this, Platt snorted discontentedly and snapped, "Why did Mr. Wright hire these kind of losers to work here? I'm going to tell him to fire all of you!"
