

Blessed 239

Chapter 239 Voluntarily Drop Out Of School

With a gloomy face, Keanu turned to look at Boris Cohen, the vice president and said discontentedly, "Mr. Cohen, this is my first day at your school and I was beaten up by a student. Now, my head is bleeding. Can you handle the consequences if anything happens to me?"

Hearing his complaint, Boris cursed in his heart.

Then, he thought to himself, 'Who dares to provoke Mr. Brown? That guy is just so reckless.'

Putting on a humble smile on his face, Boris said in a respectful tone, "Oh, Mr. Brown, if there is this kind of student, they must be punished severely according to the school rules. Don't worry about it. I will help you deal with them!"

As he got the reply that he wanted, Keanu finally showed a somewhat complacent sneer. Pointing at Trevor, he said resentfully, "I don't want to see this poor guy named Trevor in the school in the future!"

Then, he asked all his men to escort him to the hospital.

In order to ensure that Trevor was expelled, Keanu schemed everything.

Instead of going to the hospital to bandage his wound, he came to look for the vice president first with blood on his head.

Since Keanu was like an important person in the eyes of the vice president, he believed that Trevor would be expelled from school.

Everyone went out, leaving Trevor and Boris in the room.

Although Boris still had a hypocritical smile on his face, his eyes were filled with arrogance as he spoke.

"You are Trevor, right? You just beat a student for no reason, which obviously caused a bad impact. For breaking the school rules, you have to drop out of school."

Then, he took out a piece of paper from the drawer before continuing, "Sign your name here. If you voluntarily drop out of school now, you won't cause a lot of trouble. I'm doing this for your own good."

Trevor picked up the document and read it before saying coldly, "Mr. Cohen, you don't want to know what happened?"

Hearing it, Boris snorted and cleared his throat as if he was pretending to be serious.

"The fact here is you hurt Keanu. Nothing else matters other than that."

Seeing the attitude of Boris, Trevor didn't want to say anything anymore. He just stared at the application calmly without making any move.

Boris impatiently tapped on the table with his fingers. After some time, he couldn't help but urge Trevor.

At that time, his phone on the table rang.

Once he saw the caller ID, his expression changed drastically.

He looked enthusiastic when he received Keanu.

Now, he looked really humble.

"Hello, Miss Brown. Yes, that's right. We are very sorry for your brother's injury. Don't worry. The school will severely punish the one who beat him."

In fact, Boris turned on the speaker directly as he wanted to intimidate Trevor and let him know what kind of big shot he had offended.

The voice from the other end of the phone made Trevor raise his eyebrows. After all, he had heard it not long ago.

It was none other Jeanne who was the new acting manager of their family's company.

After promising Jeanne that, Boris covered the microphone and urged impatiently, "Trevor, don't be so stubborn. If you did something wrong, you have to accept the punishment. Now, sign that paper!"

Hearing his words, Trevor looked up at the vice president and said calmly, "Okay, are you sure you want me to sign it? Don't regret it once I sign it."

As if he just heard a joke, Boris chuckled. In the end, he stopped pretending to be gentle and looked at Trevor with disdain.

"Cut the crap and sign it, Trevor!"

Seeing the indifferent look on Boris's face, Trevor didn't even bother to explain to him anymore.

Shrugging his shoulders, Trevor calmly signed his name on the application.

When Trevor finished signing his name, Boris quickly removed his hand from the microphone and said to the phone, "Miss Brown, Trevor has been expelled from the school. It was he who hurt your brother!"

Honestly, Boris thought that Jeanne would be satisfied with his decision.

However, in truth, Jeanne was taken aback when she heard Trevor's name.

In a hurry, she said, "Wait, Mr. Cohen. The one who hurt my brother is Trevor who is the freshman of your school?"