

Blessed 283

Chapter 283 Do We Have To Sleep On The Streets

After going through all the insurance procedure, the sales clerk came towards Trevor and said, "Mr. Sanderson, let us take the Bugatti to the garage to repair for you. We will send it back once it is done."

When he got permission from Trevor, he left the place and drove the car to the garage.

In the blink of an eye, there was no one left in the huge parking lot.

After thinking for a while, Trevor decided not to go back.

After all, he was disgusted with the Burke family as they despised the poor and favored the rich.

Therefore, he didn't want to deal with those snobbish guys anymore.

In the end, he decided to send a message to Luisa.

"Everything is fine here and Howe has left. But I feel a bit embarrassed to come back inside. So, I'm going back to school. Don't worry about me because I'm fine."

Almost immediately, Luisa replied, "Okay, I'm glad that you're fine, Trevor. I'm relieved now.

I'm really sorry for the things that happened today. I didn't know that my relatives would treat you that way. I feel bad for what you have to go through because of me."

Trevor couldn't help but feel happy to know that Luisa indeed cared about him.

No matter how he was mistreated by the Burke family, at least he still had Luisa who always cared for him.

At that time, Trevor suddenly remembered that Luisa declared that he was her boyfriend in front of everyone.

Did she really mean it or was it just an excuse?

Thinking about the moment when Luisa intertwined their fingers, Trevor's heart started beating faster again.

Even after thinking for a while, he still couldn't figure it out.

With a bitter smile on his face, Trevor shook his head and decided not to think about it anymore.

Not long ago, he received a message from Maison which said that the Salazar family was trying to do something to the orphanage.

Therefore, Trevor decided to visit the children and observe the situation.

He took a taxi to the orphanage. When he got the gate of the orphanage, it was quiet and peaceful. From a distance, he saw that the director was watching the children with a smile on his face.

Such kind of beautiful scene made Trevor feel relieved.

It seemed that he took the action with the Salazar family at the right time. He was glad that the Salazar family didn't continue to order hooligans to make trouble here.

For a moment, Trevor just stood quietly by the door, admiring the peace and tranquility of the place.

At that time, the director saw Trevor and invited him to have some tea in his office.

He made a cup of tea for Trevor in person. At that time, Trevor noticed that there was a slight crack on the cup and the tea looked a bit muddy.

These facts showed what kind of the situation the orphanage was in at the moment.

Holding the teacup in his hand, Trevor frowned and asked, "How's the financial situation of the orphanage?"

Hearing his question, the director gave him a bitter smile and said, "Actually, Mr. Sanderson, you have already seen the situation of our orphanage. We have to save even a penny to survive. But we are just lucky to have warm-hearted people like you and Miss Burke to help us. Otherwise, I don't think we can hold on."

His honest answer made Trevor stunned.

Although he knew that the orphanage wasn't in a good situation, he didn't expect that it would be this bad.

Heaving a deep sigh, the director continued with a sad look on his face, "Actually, there have been some hooligans who came to make trouble here since last year. They even forced us to give up the land at a low price. Besides, the funds that the government gave us was also limited. Alas, it's all my fault. I can't protect the children well and make them live in fear..."

The director looked very guilty as he talked about the situation of the orphanage.

At that time, the door of the office was pushed open, revealing Noor who came in with a few candies in her hands.

In fact, when Noor heard that Trevor was here, she wanted to share the candies she had collected.

However, before she came in, she heard everything that the director said.

All of a sudden, her eyes were filled with tears and she looked as if she was going to cry.

Then, she turned to look at Trevor and asked in an aggrieved tone, "Trevor, are we going to end up sleeping on the streets?"
