

Blessed 303

Chapter 303 Exchange The Ward

With a faint smile on his face, Ronald said calmly, "Well, what's your girlfriend's family background, Trevor?"

When Trevor heard his father's question, his heart skipped a beat. In fact, he didn't expect his father to be so observant. He didn't tell him anything about his girlfriend, did he?

Scratching his head, Trevor confessed shyly, "Umm...actually, she isn't my girlfriend yet."

Ronald nodded his head and said, "Oh, I see."

The meaningful glance from his father made Trevor mutter in his heart.

In fact, he was worried that the Sanderson family would interfere in their children's marriage rudely like the parents of the rich families in movies and dramas.

As if he had sensed his son's uneasiness, Ronald patted Trevor on his shoulder and said with a smile, "Don't worry. I am not going to interfere in your love life. I just want you to be happy."

Trevor was surprised to see Ronald's open-minded personality. At that time, Trevor couldn't help but hug his father in admiration.

After chatting for a while, Ronald had to leave to prepare for the banquet.

Well, he was in charge of today's banquet and he had planned to inspect all the rich people in Jork and the neighboring cities to find his favorite partners.

Although Ronald asked his son, Trevor, to go with him, he was refused.

Since they had just made a scene in the hall, Trevor didn't want to attend the banquet now. He never enjoyed too much attention.

Before he left the place, he said goodbye to Selma and asked Bradley to drive him back to school.

While sitting in the car, Trevor inspected several bruises on his waist and legs which were still painful a little.

Thinking about the conflict he had with Alvaro, Trevor realized something.

Even though he reacted quickly and knocked Alvaro down to the ground in the end, he was kicked and hit the table at first.

Obviously, he looked fine. However, there were still bruises on the places where he got hit.

Shaking his head in disappointment, Trevor thought to himself, 'Alas, if only I was skillful.'

Thinking about it, Trevor casually looked forward. When his eyes found Bradley, they lit up with anticipation.

In fact, he was amazed by Bradley's martial skills.

Bradley was calm even when he saw more than 10 fierce hitmen who were all targeting him. Maybe he should master some fighting skills to protect himself so that he wouldn't have to depend on others when he had to face danger.

With that thought in mind, Trevor took the initiative to ask, "Bradley, can you teach me some fighting skills?"

Trevor believed that he would be able to protect himself if he could learn some fighting skills from Bradley. He could even protect Luisa from danger!

With a calm look on his face, Bradley nodded his head and said, "If it's your request, I'll teach you, Mr. Sanderson."

Trevor's face suddenly lit up just by the thought of learning some skills from Bradley.

Now that he had made up his mind to learn fighting skills, Trevor started to think about when he would learn.

After thinking for a while, Trevor got an idea.

In the end, he decided that he would arrange time to learn boxing after accompanying Luisa to visit Dilan tomorrow.

Saturday would be the first day of his lesson.

Just as they planned, Trevor drove Luisa to the hospital.

However, the hospital wasn't as quiet as before. Instead, it was so noisy.

The more they got nearer to Dilan's ward, the louder the noise became.

Trevor was surprised to hear the noises.

When they turned around the corner, Luisa asked in confusion, "Trevor, look! There are so many people. Why are they blocking the corridor?"

From their point of view, they saw that a group of people were shouting aggressively.

Since these people were blocking the corridor, the others couldn't pass through it at all!

To get a closer look, Trevor walked towards the group of people who were surrounding a nurse.

Not wanting to meddle in others' business, Trevor raised his voice a little as he said, "Hello, can you excuse us? We want to go through."

He just wanted them to make way for him and Luisa.

However, all the people only glanced at him for once and then turned to look back at the nurse. None of them made way for Trevor and Luisa.

On the other end, the nurse breathed a sigh of relief when he saw Trevor.

Looking at Trevor, the nurse said, "Mr. Sanderson, these people want the top-level ward that you arranged for Dilan!"

Hearing the nurse's words, all the people who were blocking the corridor turned to look at Trevor again.

A beautiful young girl walked over towards Trevor. It seemed that she looked surprised to see Trevor.

Then, she asked with a frown, "Trevor, why are you here?"

In fact, this girl was none other than Penny, the daughter of the vice president of the school.

However, Penny quickly composed herself and ordered in a cold voice, "Forget about formalities. Since you are the one who arranged this ward, I want you to exchange it with us. Don't worry, we will pay you double the amount."
