

Blessed 334

Chapter 334 Hit The Mosquito

In the adjacent room, Luisa was agitated.

She kept looking at the door, hoping it would open and Trevor would walk in.

Trevor had been out for a while, and there had been no movement outside since he left.

Luisa tried to keep calm, but she couldn't. She was extremely worried.

The only person concerned about Trevor besides Luisa was Mattie.

After all, she had guessed Trevor's true identity.

Trevor hadn't forgiven her yet, and if Trevor thought that she didn't behave well after this matter, then she would surely be forced to drop out of school. Mattie didn't want that.

Except for Luisa and Mattie, the others didn't care at all. They just felt lucky that they weren't the ones in trouble.

Marlon was even boasting to the boys.

They were saying that Trevor deserved it. He dared to provoke Mr. Harper. They were afraid that he had already been taught a lesson.

A few moments later, the door suddenly opened.

Luisa turned to look, but her hopes of seeing Trevor were squashed once again.

The man who entered was one of Alvin's bodyguards.

He said flatly, "You may go now."

Marlon and the others were overjoyed.

Although they didn't know what had happened, they didn't care. They didn't want to stay any second longer, so they would take any opportunity to leave.

If Alvin suddenly changed his mind, they would never be able to get out.

Marlon and the others prepared to take off.

But Luisa stayed where she was. She wasn't going to leave without Trevor.

She asked, "Where's Trevor? Isn't he leaving with us?"

Mattie wanted to slip away with Marlon and the others, but she stopped when she heard Luisa's words.

Marlon shook his head.

He said, "Don't worry about that idiot Trevor anymore. He got himself into trouble, and we can't go down with him. We may get stuck here if we don't leave now."

The other students echoed Marlon's sentiment. They didn't want to stay and wait for news about Trevor.

At this time, faint screams were heard from outside.

Luisa's face suddenly changed.

Could it be...

Ignoring Marlon and the others, Luisa turned to rush outside and check out what was going on.

But when Marlon saw what Luisa intended to do, he hurried to stop her.

He stood in her way.

"Don't get us into more trouble than we're already in, Luisa!"

Like Marlon, the other students were also afraid of Alvin's power. In fact, they were so scared of offending Alvin that they wanted to take Luisa away.

It seemed that the people inside the next room heard the commotion in the corridor, and then the door to the next room swung open.

Everyone wasn't expecting what they saw next.

They were looking forward to a beaten-up Trevor, but it wasn't the person that walked in.

Trevor looked completely fine, but Alvin, who was behind him, had two red palm marks on his face.

Luisa immediately ran to Trevor.

She asked, "Are you all right, Trevor? Are you hurt?"

Seeing that Luisa was looking up and down at him, Trevor smiled.

"I'm fine. Mr. Harper has been reasonable."

As soon as Trevor finished his reply, the whole place fell deathly silent.

Everyone looked incredulous.

They had seen how arrogant Alvin was just now.

Even now, there was still a group of aggressive-looking bodyguards surrounding Alvin.

What did Trevor mean when he said Alvin had been reasonable? They didn't understand.

Since none of them knew what really happened, they just stood there awkwardly.

Luisa broke the silence.

It was good that Trevor was fine, but she was still curious. She asked in a low voice, "Well, why are there two palm marks on Mr. Harper's face?"

Luisa thought that only Trevor could hear her, but she had ignored the fact that since Trevor and Alvin came out, every person had been holding their breaths.

Therefore, everyone could hear her even if she was speaking in a diminished volume.

Noticing the change in the expressions of everyone around, Trevor looked at Luisa's cute face and beamed. "Why don't you ask Mr. Harper himself?"

Hearing this, Alvin quickly said, "There were too many mosquitoes in the room. I accidentally slapped myself trying to hit the mosquito that landed on my face."
