Chapter 346 Mockery From The Strong Team

After Erick left angrily, the three enjoyed their seafood meal.

Bessie also made an appointment with Trevor to introduce him to Leo.

Two days passed.

Jork University's gym was now full of people.

Although the students were on holiday, the bleachers were teeming with spectators.

Everyone couldn't wait to witness the interschool basketball game today.

Also, everyone was excited to see the famous professional player, Leo, who was scheduled to appear.

Almost all of the students who were still living on campus went to watch the game.

Jork University was playing against Eastern University, and students from Eastern University had also come to show their support for their team.

There was only a small group of them, but they brought a big banner and were cheering loudly for their players.

Compared to the disorganized students of Jork University, the students from Eastern University moved as one unit.

They were confident because their basketball team once won third place in the national intercollegiate basketball league.

Eastern University was a famous school with an excellent basketball team, and their players were some of the most powerful and legendary young athletes in the league.

As the students from Eastern University screamed and shouted, their team finally graced the court.

Their players waved as they jogged toward their bench, which inspired louder cheers from their supporters.

The players and students of Eastern University were very proud and optimistic.

They all talked happily with one another.

"I heard that Erick has a crush on a female coach from Jork University. Do we need to do them a favor and let them win this time?"

"But Erick said that we should try our best during the game and make our opponents unable to fight back."

"This is their home court. How could you say that in front of them?"

The players of Eastern University teased Jork University's basketball team publicly.

The players of Jork University, including Bernard, were annoyed, but they had no confidence to refute.

After all, in terms of reputation and achievements, there was a huge difference between Jork University and Eastern University.

Trevor was sitting on one of Jork University's courtside bleachers beside Bessie, which Bessie thoughtfully hooked up for him. From where he was sitting, he could easily spot Leo when he stepped out in court.

Hearing the players from Eastern University mock Jork University's team, he couldn't help frowning.

He didn't appreciate it, especially when he thought about the painstaking effort Bessie had put into Jork University's team.

Trevor took a look at Bessie, who was also frowning. He was about to say something when the entire gym erupted in cheers.

A tall, strong-looking man in a plain white collared shirt and jeans entered the gym with a smile.

It was the famous basketball star, Leo!

Jork University made the game open to the public.

So many fans of Leo came to the gym to see their idol.

That was why when Leo finally walked in, the screams and shouts from the audience shook the gym to its foundations.

Leo's entrance interrupted Eastern University's rudeness toward Jork University, and Bessie was completely satisfied.

She leaned close to Trevor.

She whispered in his ear, "After the game, I will try my best to get Leo to speak with you, but I don't guarantee that the interview will go smoothly."

Trevor turned to express his gratitude.

Even at this moment, Bessie still remembered his social studies homework. How could he ever repay her?

On the other side, Erick saw Bessie leaning close to Trevor and whispering something to him, which made him ball his hands into fists.

He still hadn't forgotten how embarrassed he had been at the restaurant a few days ago.

Now seeing that Trevor was so intimate with Bessie, he was going insane with jealousy.

In order to vent his anger, Erick gathered all his team members before the start of the game.

Erick huddled all his players together and said viciously, "Give your all in this game and take the victory. Don't even let the other team score a basket. We're far, far better than them. Let's show them that today."
