

Blessed 357

Chapter 357 An Arrogant Celebrity

Hearing the girls' excited voice, Trevor looked in that direction.

At that time, a young man got out of the Porsche Cayenne. He was playing with his hair that was slicked back. It could be said that he looked a little flamboyant.

In fact, he looked really handsome. However, since Trevor wasn't interested in celebrities, he didn't know who this young man was.

At that time, he noticed that only the girls around him were screaming in excitement while the other people around him looked calm.

Moreover, only a small amount of people took out their mobile phones to take photos of him.

Therefore, Trevor realized that this so-called celebrity wasn't very famous.

Maybe it was because the girls were screaming hysterically while the others were silent, they successfully attracted Damon Rayne's attention.

Seeing his fans, Damon who was wearing heavy makeup strode over and asked confidently, "Are you guys my fans? Do you want my sign?"

Hearing this, these girls let out another scream, looking extremely happy.

Of course, even Angie, who was lying on the ground, wasted no time to continue the quarrel with Trevor. Immediately, she got up and approached Damon while fixing her makeup.

At that time, Trevor was standing aside while watching coldly. After all, he didn't have a good encounter with this celebrity's fans.

At first glance, it seemed as if Damon was having a good time with his fans.

However, what Damon did next made Trevor shake his head slightly in disappointment.

When Trevor took a closer look, he found that Damon showed a perfunctory attitude.

From time to time, he would look around causally with a look of disdain on the corner of his mouth before lowering his head again to sign his name.

It was as if he was interacting with his fans to hype himself.

In fact, Damon almost showed a disgusted look on his face when he had to sign the ordinary looking fan fans.

On the other hand, when Angie asked for his sign, he even asked for her contact information excitedly.

The whole time, Trevor watched the scene in silence.

In the face of these unreasonable arrogant girls who quarreled with him, Trevor decided not to say anything.

What Trevor didn't expect was that Damon would come to him when he finished signing his name for several girls.

Standing in front of Trevor, Damon said arrogantly, "Wow. You didn't prepare anything? It's okay. I'll sign my name on your clothes then."

After saying that, he reached his hand out to sign his name on Trevor's suit.

At that time, Trevor was a bit confused and muttered, "What?"

When he realized what Damon meant, he pushed his hand away and said flatly, "It's fine. I don't want your signature."

Trevor didn't expect that Damon would think of him as his fan.

Moreover, Trevor realized that Damon looked impatient while he was talking. It was as if Trevor was just a charity case.

Hearing Trevor's words, Damon's face suddenly turned red.

In an instant, his face changed drastically because he felt humiliated.

With a sneer, Damon looked Trevor up and down carefully and said sarcastically, "Hey, if you are not my fan, why are you standing next to the banner? See? You must pay attention to this kind of loser, my dear female fans. Don't let him get close to you. I am sure he is trying to molest you."

Even after saying that, Damon wasn't satisfied. Pointing his finger at the logo on Trevor's suit, he mocked, "Just take a look at this guy. He is wearing a fake Armani suit. The logo on his suit isn't right. He must be pretending to be a rich man to deceive all of you."