

Blessed 366

Chapter 366 Please Step Aside

Alicia had been waiting in the green room for a long while. She was so anxious right now.

She had no intention of seducing Trevor, unlike Celine. However, she felt she'd better be on good terms with him. After all, he was the young master of the very powerful Sanderson family. As such, he deserved her respect.

After having waited for too long, Alicia decided to send a message to Trevor. Then, she went out of the green room to look for him.

However, as soon as she opened the door, a horde of reporters rushed towards her in the hope of having a short interview.

No one paid attention to Trevor anymore. Everyone was trying to get as close to Alicia as possible. At the same time, these journalists shouted their questions aloud such that the whole place became really noisy.

Jacob and Orion also turned their attention to Alicia, casting cold glances at Trevor as they walked past him. Of course, they also did their best to push their way through the crowds for the chance to interview Alicia.

For every reporter, time was money. They wouldn't wait till the end of the performance to interview a star.

As a reporter, you couldn't allow yourself to be slow or timid. Otherwise you could never have the chance to get hot news.

As for Trevor, he didn't seem in the slightest rush. He guessed it was him Alicia was looking for.

He took out his phone and immediately saw the message she had just sent him.

"Mr. Sanderson, are you held back by anything? I'm coming out right away to look for you!"

Trevor then looked in the direction of Alicia who was literally assailed by this crowd of reporters. He couldn't help shaking his head helplessly.

He then typed his reply. "Well, I was stopped outside your room by a group of reporters. Do you have any way to let me inside?"

After the message was sent, Trevor quickly typed another message.

"One more thing. Do not expose my identity."

There were journalists all over the place. If his identity was revealed, he would make the headlines of newspapers in Jork very soon.

That was precisely what he wanted to avoid. He wanted to live a life as far from public attention as possible.

After sending the message, Trevor waited patiently there. He looked in disgust at the crowd that was almost choking Alicia.

Luckily for Alicia, there were more than ten huge bodyguards standing at the door of the green room. Otherwise, she might not even be able to check her phone now.

Alicia was rather annoyed by the inopportune reporters. She rolled her eyes helplessly seeing how determined they were to interview her.

While she was wondering how to make her way through the crowd to find Mr. Sanderson, her phone vibrated.

Alicia quickly took out the phone and checked the message. It was from Mr. Sanderson. After she read the messages, an idea came to her mind.

At this point, Jacob and Orion were finally able to make their way to the front of the crowd.

Jacob confidently put his microphone in front of Alicia and said proudly, "Hello, Miss Calderon. I'm a reporter of Red Wine Newspaper. I have a few questions for you. I hope you can give me the chance to interview you."

Alicia barely noticed him, her thoughts being occupied with other things.

She suddenly turned to the leader of bodyguards and asked him to make the crowd quiet. The captain immediately raised his hands and then put them down slowly, indicating that everyone should be quiet.

The journalists fell silent one after the other. When everyone was quiet, Alicia finally spoke.

"I know you're all very excited, but unfortunately we don't have much time. So only one person can interview me."

Hearing that, Jacob's face lit up with excitement.

He was almost certain to be the chosen one. After all, it wasn't until he introduced himself as a reporter for the Red Wine Newspaper that Alicia made that decision!

Thinking about it, the Red Wine Newspaper was one of the most influential newspapers in Jork. So, a big star like Alicia could only accept to be interviewed by such a big newspaper.

Jacob looked even more confident and stood proudly.

When Alicia stretched out her hand in his direction, Jacob's smile grew broader.

He had already forgotten his earlier anger caused by Trevor.

When Alicia's hand landed softly on his shoulder, Jacob's excitement reached its peak.

He felt honored in front of his peers.

However, what Alicia said next made his smile freeze.

"Sir, why are you straightening up? You are directly in my line of sight. Please step aside!"
