Chapter 384 Visit Was Denied

Looking at the girls helplessly, Trevor took out the key to the villa from his pocket and opened the door.

By doing this, he wouldn't be regarded as an employee of the moving company, right?

The moment he took out his keys, the girl with plump figure squealed excitedly.

At that time, Trevor thought that she realized her previous mistake. However, to his surprise, the girl said something he didn't expect.

She batted her eyelashes seductively and asked, "Moving boy, since the owner gave you the keys, he must be familiar with you, right? Where is he now?"

Will he come here soon? I wonder if that rich man is handsome or not. Can you give me his phone number?"

Hearing her countless questions, Trevor shook his head helplessly. At this point, he had no idea what to say anymore.

The girls thought that Trevor was lucky to know this kind of rich man.

After all, he knew the daily routine of the rich man.

On the other hand, Trevor didn't want to explain to them anymore. After all, they were just strangers.

Without sparing them a glance, Trevor picked up a stack of books and moved them into the villa. He temporarily put them in the hallway.

Since he didn't take many things there, he could finish moving everything in just a few times.

However, when he came out of the villa again, the girls still hadn't left yet.

They were still standing outside the villa while whispering to each other.

Finally, the girl who had plump figure came to Trevor and said, "Hi, moving boy, my name is Lois Byrd. Can we take a look inside the villa? It's only for a while. We just want to see how a villa that is worth thirty million dollars looks like."

However, Trevor smiled faintly and refused immediately, "Sorry, I can't allow you to go inside."

After all, he only bought this villa a few hours ago and had never had a good look at it himself. So, how could he let others in and have a look?

Even though Lois looked a little disappointed at his refusal, she gave up politely, "Okay then."

She just pouted and looked a little aggrieved.

Since she had a nice figure and appearance, she was liked by the boys most of the time.

Therefore, Trevor's calm and direct refusal somewhat made her feel frustrated.

However, Lois thought that Trevor refused her directly because he was afraid of the owner.

On the other hand, when the other girls heard Trevor's words, they complained in a low voice, "He is so mean. We just want to take a look. No one will know about it!"

"Humph, many boys want to please Lois by all means. This guy doesn't even know how to seize this kind of good opportunity."

After hearing the girls' complaints, Trevor just smiled faintly and closed the door casually.

In fact, these insults were nothing compared with the ones he had been told before.

Even though these girls were pretty, he only had Luisa in his heart.

Moreover, he couldn't wait to have a good look at the villa that he bought.

After all, this villa cost him thirty million dollars.

Maybe this would meet the standard of his father's requirements, which wasn't lowering the reputation of the Sanderson family.

However, Trevor felt a little distressed because of the amount he spent on this villa.

Therefore, he wanted to see if this villa really was worth the price or not.
