

Blessed 93

Chapter 93 The 'Heartbroken Memory'

"If you really want to pursue Miss Taylor, you have to keep an eye on her!"

After saying that, Estrella covered her mouth and laughed while looking at Trevor with disdain.

A frown appeared on Bessie's face when she heard her words. She was about to scold her for making rude remarks when Henson uttered, "To be honest, I think that he is a man of good character from the first impression. You shouldn't defame others casually, okay?"

In Henson's eyes, Estrella was courting death by saying those rude remarks.

At that time, Henson was so anxious that he almost went crazy. Honestly, he would support Trevor in everything, even if he wanted to do something bad towards Bessie.

When Trevor heard Henson's words, a playful smile appeared on his face. In fact, Henson didn't act this way when they first met.

As Estrella didn't expect Henson to scold her that way, she shut up sulkily.

Of course, Bessie was also surprised by his words and her impression of him changed a little.

At that moment, a waitress came over to their table.

Then, she asked politely, "Do you want to order the dishes now?"

Since Trevor had learnt to drive for some time just now, he was a little bit thirsty. Therefore, he said unconsciously, "Can you give me a glass of water first?"

Hearing it, Estrella burst out laughing. She didn't even try to hide the contempt look on her face and said, "Trevor, do you think this place is your dormitory? You really are a poor guy. Although both you and Henson are young men, he is way much better than you!"

Wiping the cold sweat on his face, he thought to himself, 'Damn it! If you want to die, die alone. Don't drag me into the mess!'

Thinking of this, he said with a straight face, "You don't know anything. Actually, Trevor is really a wise man. He knows a lot. I can't believe he even knows the hidden menu of this new restaurant. The water that he ordered is a special drink here and its name is 'Heartbroken Memory'. A glass of it costs 999 dollars, which makes it extremely extravagant!"

After saying that, Henson felt that he had never been so smart in his entire life. Right now, he made up things that came into his mind in order to please Trevor.

He didn't care or think about how to fix things later.

Henson's words made the waitress confuse. Not knowing what to do, she looked at Trevor perplexedly.

She even wondered if there was really such kind of hidden menu in this restaurant or not.

In fact, before Trevor came into the restaurant, he had informed all the staff not to expose his identity. Therefore, they could only use body language to communicate like this.

On the other hand, Trevor was amused to hear Henson's words.

He had never thought that Henson had such kind of interesting side. After hesitating for a while, he nodded slightly to the waitress.

Since Henson was fawning on him by acting this way, he decided to cooperate.

Nodding her head, the waitress said, "Okay, sir. A glass of heartbroken memory, right?"

Well, that was Henson's turn to get surprised. Obviously, he just made that up. Why was the waitress taking it seriously?

It didn't take him long to figure out the key point.

This new restaurant was located in the commercial street which meant there was a huge possibility that it belonged to the Sanderson family. Maybe Trevor gave Henson a chance to please him secretly!

With that thought in mind, Henson thought to himself, 'I have to seize the chance this time!'

If he could get on the good side of Trevor and win the support from the Sanderson family, everything would be worth it.

At that time, Estrella said sarcastically, "Then, it's an expensive drink. Someone can't even afford it yet he orders it when Henson is treating. How shameless you are to make Henson spend so much money!"

Hearing it, Henson cursed in his heart, 'Damn it! This stupid woman keeps making rude remarks on Mr. Sanderson. At this rate, she is going to mess up my plan.'

Therefore, he couldn't stand it anymore. Pounding on the table, Henson stood up and slapped Estrella's face as he snapped angrily, "I'm willing to do so. Why don't you just mind your own business?"

In an instant, Estrella's eyes turned red. She couldn't think of a reason why she was slapped by Henson when she only took on his side.

Feeling aggrieved and embarrassed, she burst into tears and ran out of the restaurant.

The moment she passed the gate, one of the security guards said coldly, "Miss, this is a high-end restaurant. Please don't make loud noises!"

His words made her cry even louder.

No matter how much she thought about the situation, she couldn't figure it out.

Why? Why?

Why was everyone targeting her instead of blaming Trevor?