

Bloodline 201

Chapter 201 I will find you

Han froze for a moment when he heard about the storage rings, he laughed dryly because on his way he inspected the storage rings.

Everything was normal except for three certain storage rings with a familiar mana signature on them. They all belonged to Kyle!

One of the rings was filled with thousands of mana stones, the second was filled with gold coins and some old weapons, heck he even saw a majestic gold throne embedded with diamonds. The last one was empty but he was dumbfounded when he sensed the sword placed inside was (S)-Rank. He almost fainted when he carefully looked at the sword scabbard. It was (SS)-Rank!

To his shock, one of the rings was supreme grade! It's not that he hadn't seen a supreme grade ring before but it was very rare.

After seeing Kyle's wealth, Han felt like he was too poor. His disciple was so rich and he wasn't even aware of this fact?

He did see the other storage rings and weapons but compared to Kyle's wealth they were not even considered average!

Han looked at Ratric with a solemn expression and offered him a bag.

"Don't be greedy, okay? Make sure to return the rings to their original owners. I know Kyle's mana signature so I placed his storage rings separately in a small pouch. Just take care of them for him until he returns."

Ratric blinked at his remarks with a frown but before he could question Han started floating and disappeared.

After Han left, Ratric scoffed and flipped his sleeves.

"Do I look so greedy that I would steal from the kids?"

He walked around for a while with a blank expression but inwardly his curiosity was piqued.

With a nonchalant expression, he stepped inside his room. The moment the door closed behind him he hurriedly opened the bag and peeked inside the storage rings.

After a minute, Ratric stood in front of the rings with a blank expression. He gazed lingered at the pouch for a second.

"Okay I except I am a little poor but I own the Academy."

With a serious nod, Ratric placed the pouch in a secure place before calling the other students who were kidnapped.

Soon, Professor Oliver and a group of students entered his room. Alec sighed with relief when he got his sword back. The others were also happy when they got their precious belongings.

Bia was sitting on Mia's shoulder. She gazed at the Principal and ruffled Mia's hair to attract her attention.

Mia gazed at her round eyes and patted her head with a smile. Afterward, her eyes landed on the Principal.

"Sir, is there any news about Kyle?"

Ratric looked back at her with a serious expression.

"Not yet, Gero and the elders are looking for him. If he is alive they will find him but..."

He didn't complete his sentence and all the students standing in front of him became quiet.

Mia nodded and looked at Bia with a gentle smile.

"Don't worry he will be fine. He is not weak."

Bia narrowed her eyes at the Principal. There was no way Kyle was dead because even though it was very faint she could sense their connection.

"They are so incompetent. Can't they even find a person?"

She scoffed inwardly and closed her eyes. Ratric gazed at Bia and shook his head. He gathered the student's attention.

"Alright, you all can leave now. I have to do a lot of work. About the Academies tournament, it was canceled and will be held a month later. Your Professors will inform you regarding further information."

The students nodded and left the room. The next few days in the Academy were quite peaceful but a few students were worried about Kyle.

Among them, Nine was the one who was the most flustered. He even wanted to leave the Academy and look around for Kyle himself but the individuals participating in the tournament were forbidden to leave the Academy.

"Damn it! I fought for a spot to enter the tournament because of him and now I can't leave this place."

Nine was frustrated and angry. He requested some old individuals from his Kingdom to look around for Kyle but they didn't listen to his command. Their reason, they weren't allowed to leave his side. In the end, the only thing Nine could do was to wait patiently for Kyle to return safely.

After a week, George and Elaze returned to the Academy but they were alone because even after searching the whole forest they weren't able to find Kyle.

Elder Han insisted on staying in the forest a little longer but he was called back. He gritted his teeth and left for the Central Continent again.

In the Academy, Aoky was tortured by Elder Levi. After two weeks of torture, he spilled a lot of secrets. The Principal was livid when he found out the culprit behind the kidnapping incident was Ziner the Dark mage. He knew the Dark mage wasn't a good person but never in his wildest dream did he imagine the latter would attack his people!

With an angry expression, Ratric immediately contacted some of his old friends and issued a huge bounty on Ziner's head.

Ziner posters were distributed in the whole Kingdom but the Principal wasn't able to locate him.

In the end, Principal Ratric called Lily to his room as he knew about her Origin. Even though he never wanted to involve her because she entered the Academy with her strength. Also, she never harmed the Academy or did anything suspicious but Ratric was too frustrated.

He just wanted to find Ziner at all costs so that in the future no one would dare to think about harming the Academy.

Still, he felt a little guilty when Lily answered each and every one of his questions with an innocent expression. She wasn't aware of Ziner wereboats.

With a sigh, Ratric dismissed her. In the end, he wasn't able to locate his enemy.

"Ziner you can hide as long as you want but I will find you no matter what."

Meanwhile, after the kidnapping incident, the students of each year were training and working very hard. Especially the ones involved in the incident.

Chapter 202 No fun without Kyle

Time passed very fast as the Royal Academy engrossed itself in the preparations for the upcoming tournament.

Even though it was all because of a tragic incident that the tournament was canceled King Cedric was too distressed because now he had to find a new and secure place for the tournament coupled with the various responsibilities to ensure the Kingdom's wellbeing he wasn't even able to rest properly.

That's why he called Ratric, George, and a few trusted subordinates and dumped all the matters regarding the tournament on their shoulders. The group of old men was stunned for a few seconds but before they could voice their opinions King Cedric disappeared from the room.

Ratric shook his head and returned to the Academy. The preparations went on until the day of the tournament arrived.

The top ten students from each year stood proudly in front of the Principal with their heads held high. This time to ensure everyone's safety Ratric and George stayed vigilant as they took care of everything regarding the Teleportation Array.

Ratric gazed at the students and nodded his head with a smile. His eyes passed at the one of the girls standing with the first-year students and a sigh escaped from his lips. After George and Han didn't find Kyle, he ordered two capable Professors to look around the elf's forest for that kid but a whole month passed and they all returned with zero clue. That's why he had no choice but to remove Kyle's name from the tournament.

Of course, Alec and a few students voiced against his decision as they firmly believed Kyle would return soon but even after a month, there was no news regarding Kyle which is why they had no choice but to agree to his decision.

So to fill the last spot a new 1vs1 battle Arena was opened in the first-year training ground and the one who won Kyle's spot was none other than Lily.

Professor Aliza and Liam stood behind the students with some more Professors and the Principal himself checked the Teleportation Array that would teleport them to the place where the tournament was held.

The first person to step into the Array was Ratric. After him, Professor Oliver and Liam stepped inside. At last, Aliza waved her hand to gather the student's attention.

"Alright Kids, I hope you all do your best. Now step in the Array."

Unlike her usual cold demeanor, her voice was gentle when she wished them luck. As she knew a lot of students wouldn't be returning to the academy any time soon.

With one last loud beaming shout, the students stepped into the Array.

Standing behind Alec, Nine wore a nonchalant expression. He just wanted to be done with all this as soon as possible. However, the thing he didn't know was after the tournament those who won would be dragged around by the principal and some old foggies so the kids could train for the 'Ancient Lumbra Relam'.

Among the few excited, calm, and nonchalant students. Bia was sitting on Mia's shoulder. Her round eyes were no longer purely crimson, just in a month they got a deep shade of blue within them. Moreover, the edges of her feathers were turning light blue.

She looked even more adorable than before with the combination of a few golden and blue feathers between her entirely red body.

Her gaze was fixed at a distance because she still wasn't able to communicate and accurately sense Kyle's presence. However, their tiny thread-like connection remained intact.

She would have loved to look around for him because just in a month she had grown a lot stronger due to the Principal and a few strong individuals from the Academy showering her with many rare things. Heck, even the students would come and give her a lot of precious things.

Bia laughed at their actions and accepted everything with glee because it was very profitable. Anyway, after gobbling up everything she never even spared them a glance.

According to her observation, now that Kyle was out of the picture those students and Professors were all hoping to make a bond with her because in their opinion Kyle was dead and now Bia was free to form a new bond with someone else.

Bia clicked her tongue with annoyance. Who do they think they are? Anyway, she mostly stayed with Mia. Also, the Principal set some rules after seeing Bia's reluctance to get close to anyone else. That's why those idiots could do nothing but tempt her with rare things.

"Tsk, Tsk, even if they dare to do something more I will grill them all. Shhh, I don't want to taint my precious eyes with such a bad image so I will ask Kyle to punch them once or twice for me."

Her thoughts wandered around as she carefully ran her beak along her feathers, smoothing them out and removing any dirt or debris.

"I know Kyle is fine and seeing the change happening in my body I think he's going through the awakening phase. It's taking so much time I wonder how strong is his bloodline. One thing for sure it's far stronger than mine because it can influence me so much just because we are bonded."

She mused, at first she was worried sick about Kyle because after he disappeared their connection was weak like a thread but after two weeks she felt strangely calm and knew he was fine.

Her thoughts were disturbed when one of the professors went to activate the Array.

A few murmurs echoed in her ears. She gazed at the excited students with a sigh.

-It's no fun without Kyle, even though he is very annoying... I kind of like his presence.'

While saying the last sentence Bia's mood turned sour. She would never accept this fact in front of Kyle!

Moreover, the tournament didn't forbid students to participate alongside their bonded beasts that's why she was a little regretful because together with Kyle they would have easily grabbed the first spot.

-Tsk, all those amazing rewards would have been mine. What a pity. Now I can only fight alongside Mia. Let's just wish I get something useful from this tournament.'

Bia grumbled inwardly and closed her eyes when the Array emitted a bright light and everyone standing on the Array disappeared with a flash.

Chapter 203 Confused

While the students stepped on a path to start a new journey, the atmosphere around the elf's village where Alec and the group of students crashed after they safely left the enemy base was very different.

In the village, the calm old elves who always basked under the sunlight and walked on the uneven roads to spend their peaceful days were trembling due to the sudden harsh winter that appeared out of nowhere.

They were all shocked because there had never been a time such a cold winter appeared in their village.

Heck, the intense sun was burning on their heads so why was it so cold?

However, no one was able to answer these questions. In the end, two of the courageous old elves decided to go deep into the forest and investigate the reason behind the cold.

They both went into the forest with arrogance, ready to face everything that appeared in their path to disclose the mystery behind the sudden low temperature.

The other old elves stood behind and looked at their departing figures with solemn expressions.

The grandma who tried to make Blane his adopted son squinted her eyes at the departing figures.

Just a few days ago she received a letter from her grandson, he was coming back within a few months to meet her because afterward, he would be busy as he had to enter the strange selection process happening all over the Kingdom.

She looked at her husband with a serious expression.

"Dynn, make sure the temperature returns to normal before my grandson comes back or else you are sleeping on the floor."

Dynn looked at his wife and blinked his eyes.

'How the hell will I change something that could very well be happening due to natural reasons?'

He cried out inwardly and tried to grab his wife who had already started walking.

"Dear..."

Meanwhile, the two elves who entered the forest were soon dumbstruck. Their eyes went wide with shock when they traveled deeper into the forest. Everything was frozen. The iced trees, the grass, and even the insects shone brightly under the reflection of the sun.

The two elves traveled a little more and their body started to turn numb. In the end, when they returned they were trembling with white wisps of smoke puffing out from their mouths.

Dynn looked at their condition and knew a big headache was waiting for him. His wife would probably kick him out of the house if he didn't take care of the temperature before his grandson arrived.

He looked at the clear sky with unshed tears.

'Is the nature angry with me because I didn't do enough good deeds? Or is it because I secretly stole those extra sweets even though my wife hid them from me?'

Dynn shook his head and mentally prepared his back to sleep on the uncomfortable cold floor.

As he walked around with a dejected expression, ready to go into the forest to check what was the reason behind all this. A strange thing happened, the cold wind suddenly retracted, traveling back toward the forest with incredible speed.

Dynn eyes narrowed. Now he was sure this wasn't due to something natural. Not just him a lot of old men appeared beside him with serious expressions.

"Don't tell me a natural treasure appeared within this forest?"

One of them said with disbelief. Natural treasures were something that appeared when a thick layer of mana gathered in a single place. They were very useful for those who wanted a breakthrough in their strength.

Dynn words stuck in his throat. If there was a natural treasure born within the forest he could pick it up for his grandson.

He sensed the cold air that traveled backward toward the forest and hurriedly followed behind it without any fear. A few more old men followed behind him. They traveled inside the forest for two whole days but found nothing except for an area that was frozen completely.

"I can't sense any treasure."

Dynn said with a solemn expression. He shook his head. Just what the hell was he thinking? It was very rare for natural treasures to appear.

He sighed because he knew the situation was strange. After looking around for a few more hours they went back to the village empty-handed.

After they left, a small movement appeared within the ice but it disappeared within a second.

At the same time, the ice above the place where Kyle was present started melting albeit very slowly.

In the void where Kyle's body was floating, he opened his eyes with a blank face and sat down.

The towering flames around him were nowhere to be seen now the place where he was sitting was empty, devoid of anything. The sky above his head was white and lightly blue. The ground beneath his body was invisible he felt like he was sitting in the air.

"Hmm, where am I?"

After a few minutes, his mind finally started working as he took in his surroundings with a confused expression.

Kyle looked below and his eyes widened slightly. There was nothing beneath him.

He stood up and walked but no matter what he did he didn't fall. His confusion was increasing with each passing second. Also, he could sense something changed inside his body.

Meanwhile, in a faraway place filled with nothing but wisps of strange energies.

A majestic blue dragon with a sleek and powerful body, adorned with scales that glisten like sapphires opened its eyes.

The dragon's eyes sparkled with wisdom and mystery, reflecting the depths of the universe as he glanced at the huge bright projection hanging above him.

"Hmm, one more name appeared on the list and it's a human again?"

His voice rasped as he closed in to see the name clearly.

"Kyle."

The name was shining brightly among the thousands of other names but it was at the bottom.

The dragon nodded as its ethereal wings opened to hide a large expanse of space, ready to fly but in the next second, he stopped.

Chapter 204 Intruder

The dragon's eyes narrowed at the projection that shone brighter than the stars. With an irritated huff, he retracted his large wings.

"I saw the name, so it's not a big deal to stay until the end."

A lot of new names appeared and disappeared each day in front of him, so he never got interested in them. However, the narrow slit within his dark eyes remained unmoved when he looked at the projection with unblinking eyes.

The new name 'Kyle' that appeared out of nowhere at the bottom of the projection gained a brown color. There were three colors in the projection, golden, red, and brown.

The red color indicated the person had long surpassed the divine rank, the golden color indicated the person had stepped into divine rank, and lastly brown color showed the person was a mortal who had a chance to reach the divine rank in the future.

"Hmm? What a pity, their ancestors are trapped within the second realm due to him, and yet so many new names are appearing just to suffer alongside them."

The dragon's voice sounded amused. He had seen many powerful names appear on this projection but for someone to gain a place among those names they had to be very extraordinary.

"It was majestic indeed in the past but now it's meaningless."

He gazed at a faraway place where a brutal war was going on. Many were dying and many were running away to save themselves. A sad sigh escaped his mouth. He was going to fly away when the name 'Kyle' shone again.

"Hmm, it's moving?"

He murmured under his breath and fixed his eyes on the name.

His breath hitched when the name brightened and moved upward with an incredible speed.

At the start, the name was at the bottom means he was the weakest.

"This..."

The dragon's eyes widened slightly. It was very rare for the projection to improve a mortal ranking because they hadn't even reached the divine rank.

Under his intense stare, the name didn't stop moving, with rapid speed it jumped above, leaving behind all the brown names.

After arriving under the golden names, it stopped for a second.

"Oh? It's seemed this person would be the strongest among the individuals who will reach divine ranks in the futur..."

His sentence was cut short because in the next second the name started moving again. His eyes contracted when the name shot above the golden names like they were nothing.

"What's happening?"

The dragon's surprise cry rang out within the empty void but the name didn't stop jumping. It crossed the first half of the projection and left the golden names behind, stopping beneath the red names.

"It finally stopped..."

As if waiting for the cue, in the next second the name moved again. The dragon who had seen so many ethereal things within his long life trembled. No one knew if it was due to excitement or something else.

He cried out with strange emotions but the name didn't stop jumping. After a whole minute, the brown name stood proudly above all the other's names.

"Who is this person?!"

The Dragon zoned in and tried to probe. He even used his authority after such a long time just to see who and where was this person.

"His name is above everyone else! Does that mean he would be the one to stop the war in the future?"

"If it's true I can't let his identity get exposed!"

He cried out and wanted to hide the name from the projection but in the next second, the brown name turned grey. After two more seconds, the name started to turn even lighter in shade. Soon, it became invisible but its spot remained unclaimed.

The dragon stopped and looked at the projection. His eyes went wide for the second time when he saw how his hope was crushed so easily.

"Hahahah, so you are not sure if he would stay alive but in your opinion, he would be the strongest if he survived?"

The dragon laughed loudly, the void around him trembled as he mocked himself.

"What did I even expect?"

He shook his head with a bitter sigh. He glanced at the faraway place and closed his eyes.

"This news will soon spread far and wide. Moreover, I have to leave so I will just peek at his condition."

A small piece of consciousness shot out from the dragon's head and entered the projection. He was the guardian of this projection that was created by a supreme existence a long long time ago, so he was able to see the information regarding the names shining brightly on the projection.

He searched within the projection and the next moment a frown appeared on his face.

"A hidden planet?"

Nevertheless, his consciousness passed through the projection, heading straight toward the hidden planet.

His consciousness turned into a tiny wisp of energy, it traveled even faster than the speed of light and stopped outside the hidden planet because it could sense a few divine presences inside the planet.

The dragon raised his eyebrow with interest. However, he immediately ordered the wisp to enter the planet.

With a flash, the wisp dived down at an incredible speed. It passed through the protection layer of the planet, a row of clouds, and many mountains.

After what seemed to be an eternity, the wisp lingered above a quiet forest. It passed through the many trees and arrived in an area filled with ice. With a last jump, the wisp entered the ice.

While all this was happening, Kyle was walking aimlessly between the infinite space. He was troubled with confusion but suddenly the space around him trembled and he unconsciously looked up.

Kyle's eyes contracted and he almost lost his balance, two big eyes were staring at him from above.

He didn't know how and why but his mind started ringing alarm bells when he stared back at those majestic and dark eyes. Unconsciously a single word appeared at the back of his mind.

'Intruder.'

Kyle grabbed his chest but then looked down at himself. He couldn't feel his own heart. Now, he knew what was wrong with his body. He couldn't feel anything.

He trembled and pointed at those dark eyes filled with nothing but two white slits.

"Who?..."

Chapter 205 Did I made a mistake

Inside the Tower of Opportunity, a faint shadow sitting on a chair within a white room gazed at the protection layer of the planet with a frown.

"Did I make a mistake?"

Jake's cold eyes loomed around the layer for a while and his frown deepened.

"I just sensed someone passed through the layer but it's disappeared, just like an illusion..."

He whispered and shook his head with an expressionless face.

"It's a mistake indeed."

At the same time, Kyle pointed at the eyes with trembling fingers.

"Who?..."

The eyes stared at him and Kyle noticed how they went wide for a second. A few emotions passed through those huge eyes but he wasn't able to understand those emotions.

Kyle didn't even notice he was holding his breath when a heavy voice resounded in his mind.

[I mean no harm. I am just a passerby.]

Kyle hissed and released his breath. He wanted to wipe some sweat from his forehead but then he noticed he wasn't sweating.

'The fuck... I am confused and now these scary eyes.'

He cursed inwardly because the moment he woke up in this strange place he tried to communicate with Bia but she didn't reply. It's like something was blocking their connection.

Kyle gulped down nervously and stood up straight. Those eyes turned darker as they looked at his body from top to bottom.

[Hmm, I can't stay here longer, I only wanted to take a look but seeing you so lost I believe the knowledge regarding the otherworldly beings had disappeared or maybe erased from this planet.]

Kyle listened attentively. He grasped the words 'I can't stay here longer' and after gathering all of his courage he looked straight at those eyes but he trembled slightly the moment he met those eyes.

"Ahem, excuse me ey...I mean sir? Can you tell me where is the exit of this place because I have been trapped here for a while now?"

Kyle waited patiently and fiddled with his fingers. He knew the two eyes in front of him belonged to a strong being who could easily crush him with a breath so it was better for him to stay polite.

The eyes stared at him with amusement and after a few seconds, a soft chuckle resounded in his mind.

[You don't know the exit of this place? Are you sure, you don't know about your own mind space?]

"Huh? Mind space...."

Kyle mumbled and blinked his eyes. It was the first time he heard about mind space, so how would he know about it?

The dark eyes seemed to have sensed his confusion because, in the next second, a small white ball appeared in front of him.

"What is this?"

Kyle stared at the ball with unblinking eyes.

[Your knowledge is severely lacking, I would have answered your question but I don't have time so you should digest this light and sort it out yourself.]

The ball of light started floating and appeared in front of Kyle who stepped back with caution.

'Is it safe for me to trust someone I don't even know?'

The eyes above his head curved up when they saw how Kyle stepped back with a frown. A mischievous glint flashed through those eyes and under Kyle's shocked gaze, the ball of light rushed and entered his head.

"Wait...."

Kyle's protest died down when many letters appeared in his mind, he closed his eyes. The feeling was very familiar, he had felt it before while absorbing skill cores.

Another chuckle resounded above his head but Kyle was too busy digesting the new knowledge that appeared in his mind.

[Remember you owe me, kid.]

After saying these words, the eyes disappeared and a white ethereal light scattered above the ice where Kyle's body was present.

On the other hand, Kyle was shocked to the core only after reading the first part of the information that appeared in his mind.

He looked around himself with twinkling eyes.

"This space belongs to me? It's present within my mind!"

He looked around with excitement. Mind space, a space that was present in his mind, he could store anything here. Now he didn't even need storage rings! This space was ten times greater than the space within a supreme-grade storage ring!

Kyle laughed as he read the second part of the information.

"So I awakened my bloodline? I have this mind space because of it."

With a deep breath, he studied the space around himself. After a while, he closed his eyes.

"Hmm, I need to go outside. It will take some time to figure it out."

With a sigh, Kyle opened his eyes and started looking through the other information the scary eyes left behind.

"It's a lot."

He went through each and everything carefully but when he read about the power structure his eyes went wide with shock.

Meanwhile, in the void, the dragon opened his eyes with delight. He laughed loudly but this time he was happy.

"A person with Celestial Bloodline? No way I can't believe this... Hahaha..."

He laughed, never in his wildest dream he would have thought he would meet a person with so much potential. He eyed the projection floating above himself with a mysterious glint.

"How is it possible? Those Celestials have long left the universe and stepped into a realm above everyone else so how is possible for someone to have their essence."

His low question resounded in the void as he looked at the projection.

"It's so long since someone who was blessed by nature itself appeared but now I know why is the projection not sure if he would survive or not. His bloodline is above everyone but he has a mortal body."

The dragon closed his eyes. While observing Kyle's body he noticed there was something between his heart. An artifact filled with sinister energy.

"Sigh, I can't help him further. I can only hope he survives."

He shook his head with pity and hurriedly fiddled with the projection to remove everything related to Kyle. Now no one will know why the first spot on the projection was empty. Another chuckle escaped his mouth as he flipped his majestic wings and started flying.

Chapter 206 Leaving the mind space

No one knew how much time passed as Kyle sat in the mind space with a blank expression. He went through the information regarding the power structure again and again. After reading the information for the nth time he sighed and pinched his brows.

"Those dark eyes said I lack knowledge but after going through the ball of light I feel like I don't know anything at all?"

He shook his head with disbelief.

"So, the books I read all my life were incomplete? It seems that with time everyone forgets about the true path. Or maybe someone hid it deliberately?"

He closed his eyes and gazed at the true power structure, a shuddering breath escaped his lips.

1_Mortal ranks;

(F-)-Rank to (SSS+)-Rank;

(The true beginning where mortals gain knowledge and hone their skills becoming proficient in their chosen path. With each advancement they can gain more lifespan.)

2_Ascendant;

(An ethereal state, can only appear when a mortal reaches SSS+ Rank, this stage decides if a powerful mortal can truly gain enlightenment from the universe and step in the path of immortality.)

3_Pseudo Divine rank,

4_Divine rank;

(The two stages where Ascendants gain enough strength to create a direct connection with the universe, they are showered with divine power and possess god-like strength.)

5_Transcendent rank;

(The stage where the beings are eternal and their bodies have achieved true immortality.)

6_Supreme rank;

(The stage where immortals surpassed the limitations of divine existence and gained extraordinary abilities. They can interfere with the universe's laws, their presence commands reverence and their very essence resonates with the forces that shape the universe.)

7_Celestial;

(The strongest rank, represents the ones who stand on the pinnacle of all existence. With mere thought, they can shape reality, bend time, and destroy the universe's laws. They are the epitome of strength, a force unmatched and unrivaled, destined to leave an indelible mark on the tapestry of existence.)

Kyle chuckled. All his life, he thought (SSS+)-Rank was the highest rank one could achieve in their whole life but who would have thought, many beings with unimaginable powers were present outside the confinement of this planet?

He thought about the strange eyes and his eyes turned serious.

"Just how much stronger is the owner of those eyes? Divine... or..."

He sucked in a cold breath when he recalled the last words those eyes left behind.

[Remember you own me, kid.]

"Damn it, I am just a mere weak mortal who just accidentally or naturally gained a bloodline... Ahem okay, I admit my bloodline name is similar to those beings who are on the pinnacle of all existence but still how the heck am I going to repay those scary eyes?!"

Kyle's breath hitched, he had obtained too much knowledge in a short period and it was not good for his health.

He stood up and paced around the empty space, trying his best to digest the fact that he had to repay the favor of a strong existence.

After grumbling for a few minutes, he threw the matter at the back of his head.

"There is no point fretting over this now. I can deal with it in the future."

He rubbed his hands and looked around the space.

"Let's leave this place. It's too dangerous what if another powerful existence just happened to pass by again and saw me?"

Kyle looked around and the space around him trembled slightly.

He had gone through all the information regarding mind space. It's a place directly linked with his consciousness. A place where he could store anything but if he somehow died or his consciousness was severely injured everything present within the space would disappear forever, never to be found again.

Normally, only the individuals who reached Pseudo Divine rank could open a mind space in their consciousness but Kyle's condition was a little special.

He gained such a huge mind space the moment his body was ready for the bloodline awakening process.

Kyle eyed the mind space one last time and thought in his mind to leave the space. In the next second, his body burst into many blue particles. The particles shone brightly for a second but then scattered around the space.

At the same time, Kyle's original body twitched and the blue blanket enveloping his body trembled ever so slightly.

The ice around him was nowhere to be seen, instead, puddles of clear water surrounded the green trees. The air swirled around and gusts of wind brushed passed the leaves.

Kyle hissed and a large breath escaped from his lips. He moved his fingers and as if waiting for the cue many tiny cracks appeared in the blanket.

The cracks traveled around the whole blanket and with another loud sound, the blanket lost its color and turned into dust.

Kyle's eyes shot open and he groaned when bright light entered his eyes. He rubbed his eyes and took in his surroundings with large breaths

"Ugh..."

His fingers curled up into a fist and he shook his head.

"Huuu...."

With another large breath, he moved his hand and tried to grasp the tree behind him for support.

Kyle stood up, his whole body was stiff due to being inactive for he didn't know how much time.

He walked a few steps and a cry rang out inside his mind.

-'Kyle!'

"Omg, why is she shouting so much? I almost lost my balance."

-'Kyle! Kyle! Can you hear me?'

Kyle felt dizzy due to the loud shouts. He wanted to close his ears to take a proper breath but then he recalled the voice was ringing in his mind.

'I can hear you Bia! Don't shout so loudly.'

He said with a sigh and the shouts finally died down.

-'Are you alright...?'

Kyle hummed when he sensed Bia's emotions. Their connection was back to normal and he could feel she was very worried.

His lips curved upward slightly. It was very rare for Bia to show worry for him.

'I am perfectly fine.'

After taking another step he froze. His gaze was fixed into one of the puddles of water. The clear water shone under the brightness of the sun.

"Wow..."

Chapter 207 A little higher than Alec

Kyle blinked when he saw himself in the water.

"Is this face even mine?"

He gasped slightly, bright silver hair cascaded down in silky strands, gleaming like moonlight on a calm lake. The slightly long hair completely hid his ears and half of his eyes.

Moreover, under the bright hair, he could see a pair of green eyes, just like emerald gems they held a dept within them. The eyes sparkled with intensity when Kyle blinked.

A face with a chiseled jawline, high cheekbones, and a well-proportioned nose. His skin looked pale, smooth, and radiant.

Kyle was stunned for a few seconds, not even recognizing himself.

"I am sure with this appearance no one would believe I am Kyle."

He opened his palms, just like his face, they were smooth. The calluses as a result of repetitive sword training were nowhere to be seen.

Kyle snapped out of his daze when Bia's voice resounded in his mind again.

'Yes... I am sure I am fine. Only my appearance changed just a little bit... Maybe?'

"I did see my appearance in the mind space when I stared at those huge eyes. If I recall correctly my appearance was the same as before. Hmm, I think it's because I wasn't aware that's why my mind just gave me the appearance I was familiar with."

Kyle nodded with satisfaction. He indeed liked silver hair better than black. There was just a small problem. His family would probably refuse to recognize him if he returned home with this face.

"Now that I think about it, I want to see their shocked face, especially Nine."

He chuckled and shook his head. With such a smooth skin he looked so weak. Like a person who had never suffered hardship in his life.

- 'Why are you feeling so smug suddenly?'

Bia's suspicious voice rang out in his mind and Kyle sighed.

'Just because.'

Kyle closed his eyes and sensed his body. He could feel a clear stream of energy coursing within his body and he was sure it was very different from mana.

He opened his palm and cold blue flames appeared above his palm, they traveled around his palm gently and caressed his skin.

"I don't feel cold anymore."

Kyle used a large chunk of his mana and the flames burst upward, they traveled according to his will and envelope a nearby tree. The tree didn't burn instead the moment the flames touched the tree it started freezing with an incredible speed.

Kyle grinned, he could manipulate these flames with his will because it wasn't a skill he absorbed. The flames naturally appeared in his body when he awakened his bloodline, they were like a part of him.

He thought inwardly and the flames disappeared, leaving behind a iced tree. He blinked his eyes and touched the tree. It was probably cold but Kyle didn't feel the sensation.

"It's seemed the coldness won't affect me anymore."

The more Kyle revealed the secrets of his bloodline the more incredible he felt. He shook his head and looked around.

"I am still at the same place. I need to find a way to leave this forest."

He started walking while talking to Bia in his mind.

'Bia how are others doing?'

- 'They are fighting. The tournament remember? It's ended and now they are training under some old individuals.'

Kyle stopped for a second but then again started walking.

'How long was I asleep?'

His voice was serious and Bia replied within a second.

- 'Two months.'

Kyle clicked his tongue, so that's why he felt sore all over his body. He was practically lying in the same place for two whole months!

- 'Should I come find you?'

Kyle thought for a while.

'No, don't. Stay with Mia. I will pick you up later it's dangerous if you roam around alone. Anyway, I believe my friends would have worked hard in my absence. So how strong are they now?'

Kyle waited for the answer with a smile.

- 'Alec is the strongest among them. His score was the top among all the first-year participants who fought in the tournament. Right now he is (C)-Rank.'

Kyle merely replied with an 'Oh'. That's why Bia's interest was piqued.

- 'What about your rank?'

Kyle chuckled and looked at his stats from the corner of his eyes.

Kyle mused with a smile and ignored Bia's grumbling voice.

Chapter 208 I am lost

Kyle sighed when he saw his talent. It was (SSS+)-Rank, the highest potential known by everyone but after knowing the true strength that lay outside the boundaries of this planet he shook his head with a bitter smile.

"It's the greatest rank a mortal can breakthrough into if he has enough talent. Moreover, it's impossible to know the exact potential after (SSS+)-Rank. Only when a person steps into the 'Ascendant state' and gains enlightenment from the universe will he be able to continue his journey toward a greater path."

Kyle mused. He liked how he had a lot of knowledge and because of this knowledge, his thought process wasn't the same as before.

If before he wanted to just become strong enough to protect his loved ones now he wanted to see what lay behind the boundaries of this planet.

"Will I be able to..?"

His voice sounded uncertain but the tiny upward movement on his lips gave him away. Now that he knew about the astonishing truth that was hidden behind a curtain, he wanted to reach a powerful stage.

He would try his best and see how long can he walk on this path leading toward immortality.

Anyway, what the worse could happen? He would fail? Or maybe he would get tired? right? So what? In the end, he would be satisfied with his choices.

Kyle smirked at his thoughts. Just a little more than a year ago he wanted to laze around because his talent was low and he knew even if he worked hard his whole life he would never be able to cross (B)-Rank but now he wanted to reach the top.

How can someone change so much in such a short period?

He touched a nearby tree and sped up in a straight direction. His figure flashed between the trees like a breeze. The sudden increased speed after sleeping for two whole months made him a little lightheaded but he felt refreshed when the fast wind brushed past his skin.

Within a few seconds, he became familiar with the increased speed and used the skill 'Swift steps'. In an instant his speed tripled and Kyle felt a little dizzy but he didn't stop and rushed passed the towering trees.

His senses spread out in the surroundings and immediately he sensed the faint voices of birds chirping around the trees, the few insects crawling on the grass he passed through. After a minute, he heard some whispers a few meters away from himself.

"Hmm, someone's speaking."

Kyle stopped and narrowed his eyes at a distance where he sensed the voices.

'Bia, where did you and the others get teleported out after the Array I drew was activated? I slept for so long that's why I don't know my exact location right now.'

'Moreover, I didn't see the building where those individuals held us captive when I woke up. Instead, I saw large chunks of broken bricks. Did the ones who injured you get caught by the Academy?'

A cold glint flashed through Kyle's eyes when he recalled the helplessness he felt seeing Bia's bloodied body. He released a large breath and slowly started moving toward the place where he heard the voices.

'The Academy did catch some of them. However, I heard the main culprit who planned everything got away unscathed and the Principal is trying his best to find him.'

Kyle hummed. He took a mental note to find out this person who dared to lay his hands on Bia.

'We appeared in a village. An elf's village filled with old elves.'

'An elf's village?'

Kyle raised his brow with surprise. Does that mean he was too far away from Kingdom Escalante? He looked at the only low-rank storage ring on his finger. This was the ring he picked up while fighting those men clad in black.

'Just how will I return to the Academy when I don't even have a clean set of clothes?'

Kyle cried out inwardly. Never in his life had he felt so poor!

'What about my storage rings? My mana stones? My gold coins? My (S)-Rank sword?'

Bia's amused voice resounded in his head. She laughed at his panicked voice.

'Tsk, tsk, don't cry. All the others got their storage rings back so I think your storage rings are with the Principal.'

Kyle sighed with relief but in the next second, he froze. With a swift movement, he hid behind a tree.

A few steps away from him an old couple was standing.

Kyle peeked out from behind the tree, his eyes narrowed slightly when he saw their pointed ears. The old elves couple was wearing white robes.

He noticed the old man was flustered as he tried to soothe the woman next to him.

The old woman with white hair scoffed and pushed the green-haired old man away.

"He said in his last letter he is coming so why isn't he here yet?"

With a perplexed expression, the green-haired man sighed.

"Dear, listen to me our grandson is busy. He promised he would come back in a few days. Let's go back home."

Kyle blinked when he saw them fighting. Well, he won't say they were fighting. Instead, it looked like an old husband was coaxing his runaway wife to return home.

He wrinkled his brows and tried to sense their strength.

'The woman is (C)-Rank but I can't sense the old man's rank, he is probably stronger than me.'

After thinking for a minute, Kyle took a deep breath and wore an innocent expression. He wasn't sure about his location so it was better if he asked for a little help.

"Excuse me?"

The moment Kyle spoke the green-haired man abruptly turned around and stared at him with squinted eyes.

The old man stood in front of the old woman in a protective stance. He opened his mouth and a deep voice resounded everywhere.

"Who are you? How did you appear here? Why didn't I sense your presence."

Kyle didn't change his expression even after hearing the old man's cold voice. His long hair hid half of his eyes as he fiddled with his fingers.

"Actually I am lost. Sir, can you tell me where is this place?"

Chapter 209 Surprise I am back

The old man stared at him with suspicion. His eyes roamed around Kyle's body seemingly trying to sense his strength but because of the artifact present in Kyle's ear, he wasn't able to sense anything.

The old man opened his mouth to speak but in the next second the woman standing behind him smacked his head.

"Dynn, what the hell are you doing? Why are you scaring an innocent kid? Look at him, he went pale when you shouted so loudly!"

Dynn was stunned as he stared at his wife with wide eyes.

"Claire..?"

Not just him, even Kyle was stunned for a second when the old woman stepped toward him with a very gentle smile.

Dynn's silent protest was ignored as she looked at Kyle with twinkling eyes.

"Kid, what's your name?"

Kyle blinked his eyes. From the corner of his eyes, he could see Dynn was glaring at him but when he looked at the gentle and warm smile of the old woman a very familiar face appeared in his mind. A face he would never forget in this life.

'Ah, she smiles just like mom.'

A smile appeared on Kyle's face as he introduced himself.

"My name is Kyle."

Claire stared at Kyle for a few seconds. She stepped forward and grabbed his hand.

Dynn cried out behind her that it was dangerous to just believe a stranger but she ignored him completely.

"Kyle? It's a beautiful name. Your hair is beautiful shining brightly like stars. My deceased son's hair was similar to yours."

Dynn shut his mouth when he heard his wife's words. He sighed and patted her shoulder but Claire slapped his hand away.

"So Kyle you are lost, right? Would you like to come with me? My house is nearby, I can see you are wearing dirty clothes. You can take a bath and I will cook you delicious food."

Claire looked at Kyle with expectations, she liked him at first glance. If not for his gems-like green eyes, with long silver hair he looked very similar to her son.

It took Kyle a few seconds to process everything but in the end, he nodded.

'Well, I need a safe place to stay until I can contact the Academy so it's fine I guess.'

Claire's smile brightened when she saw Kyle nod. She tugged his arm and started walking toward the village with a bright smile.

"Kyle, you can call me Grandma. I would like it if you did."

On the other hand, Dynn sighed. He looked lost as he followed behind his wife all the while keeping an eye on Kyle.

They walked in the forest and the only talking person was Claire as she told some old stories to Kyle who smiled in return. With her talking so much, Kyle found out his current location. He was inside Kingdom Tersia.

After ten minutes, they arrived in an open area surrounded by trees. Kyle looked around and eyed the rows of wooden houses. The place was clean and the road was devoid of any shops or stalls. A few old elves were walking around the place with peaceful expressions.

'I think it's the same village where Bia and the others got teleported.'

He mused inwardly and Claire took him in front of a house.

"Kyle, this wooden house is mine and you can stay here as long as you want."

A few old elves walking on the roads glanced at Kyle with confused expressions. Kyle's arrival was sudden and they weren't able to sense his rank but they stopped when Claire glared at them.

Dynn could do nothing but watch when his wife took Kyle inside the house with a bright smile.

He shook his head with a bitter smile and followed behind them quietly. Even though Kyle's appearance was suspicious as long as his wife was happy it was okay. Moreover, he would keep an eye on that kid.

Meanwhile, after Kyle entered the house the first thing he did was to take a long bath. Dynn gave him a white robe to wear and when he came out a large table of warm food was waiting for him.

Kyle looked at the food with a sigh, there was no meat. The only thing he could see was many types of vegetables.

'It's food anyway.'

He thanked the old grandma and ate a lot because he was hungry.

After he was done, he and the old couple settled down on chairs present in one of the rooms.

Dynn was still looking at him with a little suspicion but Kyle didn't mind it anymore. He was really grateful for their help.

Kyle looked at the old elves with a smile.

"Grandma I want to contact my family. Do you have a communication device here?"

Claire exclaimed softly and turned to look at her husband.

"Do we have another communication device?"

Dynn blinked his eyes when he heard the question.

"Dear, we only had two and you broke them last week when our grandson Regius didn't pick up your calls."

He massaged his temples, now they didn't have any communication devices. Another smack landed on his shoulder making him dumbfounded.

"So what? Can't you buy one more!"

"Alright, I will buy one tomorrow."

Dynn's shoulders slumped down with a resigned sigh. At the same time, a loud excited voice rang outside their house.

"Old madam surprise, I am back!"

Dynn gasped slightly and stood up. Even Claire was surprised when she heard the familiar voice.

She scoffed when Dynn ran away to meet the owner of the excited voice.

"So, he is finally back. I am going to beat him up! This little prick!"

Claire stood up and walked behind Dynn. Kyle watched the couple and silently followed behind them.

Outside the wooden house, a young boy wearing a brown hoodie and black pants was standing with a bright smile.

"Grandma."

He shouted and opened his arms for a hug when he saw Claire and Dynn figures emerging from the wooden house.

Chapter 210 Regius Gravis

"Grandma."

Regius's enthusiastic voice rang out and he opened his arms toward Claire with a bright smile. Just like Dynn, he had green hair and a pair of brownish eyes.

Just like Claire and Dynn a few old elves stepped out from their wooden houses to meet him when they heard his thunderous shouts.

Almost all the elves living in the village knew about Regius because he spent most of his childhood with them. Moreover, he was the only brightness in Claire's life after she lost her only son in an unfortunate incident

However, he left the village when turned 17 years old to enter an Academy and chase after his dreams of becoming someone strong just like Dynn and his deceased father.

Regius lips twitched when Claire stood in front of him and gave him a deadly stare. He waited with open arms for a minute but no one hugged him back. In the end, he chuckled nervously and scratched his head.

'She is angry.'

A few beads of sweat appeared on his forehead as he looked at Dynn for help but only shook his head with a grave expression.

"He is done for."

No one knew who said it but in the next second a loud smack landed on Regius's shoulder and he winced faintly.

Regius wanted to protest but seeing Claire's angry face he shut his mouth and looked at her with pitiful eyes.

"I am sorry grandma."

Dynn saw his wife back and silently grinned with satisfaction. Finally, he was not the only one who was getting beaten up.

His thoughts were cut short because after hitting Regius his wife turned around and glared at him with furious eyes.

"What are you laughing for?"

"No, I am not!"

"You are not allowed to step in the house!"

With a cold hump, Claire turned around and started walking. Regius silently followed behind her. He threw a mischievous grin at Dynn who stood outside with a wronged expression.

Kyle saw them approaching and stepped away but Regius's eyes narrowed at his figure.

"Who is this?"

He pointed at Kyle with a frown because it was not every day a young boy appeared in their village. Not to mention such a handsome and weak-looking one.

In the next second, he gasped with surprise because he noticed Kyle's ears weren't pointy. It was not rare to see humans in their Kingdoms but he didn't expect to see one standing in front of his house.

Claire looked at Kyle and a smirk appeared on her face.

"He is my son. You have any problem?"

"What! I was just away for two years and you made a son!"

Another smack landed on his head and he clicked his tongue. Claire sighed and rubbed his head gently.

"You said you would come back once in a while to meet me but you didn't even bother to pick up my calls. That's why I am angry."

Regius grabbed her hand with a smile.

"I am sorry. It's my mistake I won't do it again."

Afterward, they entered the house and Claire introduced him to Kyle. At first, Ragius was skeptical about Kyle's sudden arrival at their village but when he didn't sense anything from Kyle and saw his weak appearance he threw the matter in the back of his head.

Anyway, he would beat Kyle up if the latter tried to do anything funny.

The day turned into night and after dinner Claire finally let Dynn enter the house.

On the other hand, Kyle and Regius both left the couple alone and went to walk in the village for a while.

At night, the stars were twinkling in the sky. The village roads were brightened with many lamps hanging on the trees. The atmosphere was quiet and peaceful.

Kyle looked around and didn't see anyone. Maybe the old elves liked to sleep early. Regius silently walked beside him but after a few minutes, he wasn't able to take it and blurted out.

"Who are you silver hair? How did you get here? You look younger than me and so weak.. did your parents sell you to some evil thugs but because you wanted freedom you ran away."

Regius frowned when he thought about slavery. It was banned everywhere but a few hidden organizations would do this type of business to please the nobles and earn easy money. Due to these trashy organizations' existence, a few greedy couples would sell their young kids who were deemed unworthy and weak.

Moreover, a few months ago Regius and his classmates were assigned to catch a similar group of people who kidnapped beautiful elves girls and sold them in the other kingdoms. So he was personally able to witness the pain of those girls who were chained like animals.

After witnessing such a devastating scene, he was unable to interact with the others normally. He even stopped talking to his grandparents and it took him a while to expect that the world wasn't as beautiful as he thought. Only when he knew he was alright did he return home.

Kyle eyed Regius from the corner of his eyes and mused inwardly. He could see Regius's expression turned rigid when he talked around 'evil thugs'.

'Maybe he experienced something bad?'

After spending a few hours with Regius, Kyle knew the latter imagination was very wild. He thought for a second and turned around to look at Regius.

"No, my parents didn't sell me. They just kicked me out because I was the weakest among my siblings."

'Wow, how can I lie so effortlessly? If Neon and Ray heard this line they are going to beat me up!'

Regius sighed and tapped his shoulder.

"It's alright. Everyone has to suffer one way or another in their life."

Kyle nodded with a solemn expression.

'I will indeed suffer if my father knew I badmouthed him behind his back. So that's why I will take this secret to my grave.'

Regius smiled and held out his hand.

"Anyway, let me introduce myself properly. My name is Regius Gravis. I am 19 years old. Currently, I am studying in the 'Lune Academy' as a senior student."

Kyle looked at his hand and shook it slightly.

"Kyle Ohan. I am 18 years old."

Regius chuckled at his serious expression and when they returned home, Claire was truly surprised to see them acting friendly toward each other.

Kyle stayed with the old couple for two days and patiently waited for Dynn to get a communication device so he could contact the Academy but Dynn would make some excuses to avoid the topic

Kyle was perplexed because he wanted to leave as soon as possible but then Regius patted his shoulder with a serious expression and told him a hidden secret.

"Claire liked you. She wants to adopt you as her son or grandson. So I don't think they will buy a communication device in this life."

"Anyway, who do you want to contact didn't your family kick you out? It's better if you stay here with Claire. She is a good mother and will take care of you."

Kyle looked at Regius's expression and knew he was serious. He almost wanted to facepalm himself because his lie backfired.

"I want to contact my friends and I want to go back because they would be worried about me."

Regius raised his brow and nodded.

"How about it, I am leaving for the Academy tomorrow you can come with me. I would have given you my communication device but it's not with me right now. I left it in the Academy."

Kyle thought for a while and agreed. It was not a bad idea.

Next day early morning, both of them got ready to leave but Claire stopped them with tears.

She patted Kyle's hand and looked at Regius with angry eyes.

"You want to leave than just go alone why are you taking my son with you? Look at him he looked so pale. The city life is very dangerous for him. It's better he stayed with me. I will ask Dynn to get a communication device."

Regius laughed and removed Claire's hands holding Kyle.

"Grandma, I know you very well. You will never let him go. Also, don't worry about him, I will protect this weak fry."

Kyle shook his head when he heard their conversation. He tapped Regius's shoulder with a serious expression.

Regius turned around and looked at him with a frown.

"What? Don't worry she can't force you to stay here. We will leave together."

"No, it's not that. I just want to say I am not weak I can protect myself."

Kyle said with a serious expression but Regius burst into laughter.

"Have you seen yourself in the mirror? You looked a little buffy but because of your pale skin, you look very weak. Even your hands look so delicate, I believe you never held a weapon in your hands?"

Regius eyed his hands but then mumbled slowly.

"Why can't I sense your rank? Did you not go through the awakening process?"

Kyle wanted to reply when Dynn entered the room.

"Regius, time to leave. You have to travel on foot from here. After you reached the border of the village a merchant cargo would be waiting for you there. They will send you to a nearby Teleportation Array."

Regius nodded and pointed at Claire.

"Grab your wife, Kyle is leaving with me."

Dynn eyes narrowed slightly but he nodded and stopped Claire.

Kyle sighed and with Regius, he left the room.

The moment they stepped outside the room, Claire's angry cry resounded in their ears.

"Dynn! You are done for!"

Kyle looked at Regius and both of them sped up, instantly leaving the house to not get involved in the couple's fight.
