

Chapter 177 It’s Sally

"Am I not allowed to come here?" Rayan stretched his hand and grabbed the doorknob. He pushed the door until it was fully open.

Rayan stood in front of Janessa.

He pushed her into the house and closed the door behind him.

"How is it that you have time to come to my house? Are you here to see me?"

Why did Rayan show up at the house all of a sudden? Hadn't he a lot of things to handle in the office?

Corbin must have been helplessly busy at the office if Rayan was out here to look for her.

"My employee is injured. It's rational for me to come to see you." Rayan hadn't come up with an excuse for his visit today.

When Rayan arrived at his office in the morning, he saw the empty chair where Janessa usually sat, and flashbacks of what had happened the previous night came to him.

It was a dangerous situation, where she had to throw her high heels at the villain to protect herself.

Rayan was looking forward to seeing Janessa. But he couldn't find an excuse until he entered the room.

"There are thousands of employees in the Lu Group. I am afraid that you wouldn't have time to work if you went to visit every employee from your company who got sick." Janessa was aware that Rayan's excuse was not valid. But she had to take it so that she would get to argue with him.

He dealt with Edison through her. He then asked her to attend a charity party where she almost became a joke. She almost died when she was on her way home yesterday.

Therefore, Janessa had no easy way to forgive Rayan even though he came to visit with gifts.

"Janessa, don't push your luck. I have come all the way to see you, but you don't seem to be satisfied." Rayan was enraged. Janessa was trying to push her luck with him. She hadn't even shown gratitude for his efforts to come to check up on her. He was just trying to make it up to her.

"You can leave with the gifts. I can do fine without you coming to visit me." Janessa turned around and strode into the room.

Janessa wanted to throw this shameless man out. She looked at his muscular figure and her injured foot, realizing that she would not be a match for him in terms of strength.

She couldn't manage to get this man out of the house.

She could do nothing but let him do whatever he wanted.

Janessa had been sitting on the sofa for a long time without hearing a sound. She thought that Rayan had left, but upon checking, she found that he had taken a can of ice coke from the fridge and now he was drinking it in the dining room.

"Hey, this is my house!" What was he doing here?

Janessa was helpless. They had divorced, and now they were no longer related. Why hadn't he ever visited her house when they just divorced? He didn't even bring the clothes she had left at his place back.

But now, he had the audacity to bug her every now and then.

Did he have the intention of getting back to her?

But Janessa quickly shook off the idea.

Janessa would feel bad about the clothes she had lost. After all, they were all the best works of a great painter.

In addition, she guessed that all her clothes had disappeared from Rayan's villa after she saw how intimate Rayan and Gracie were at the Lu Group's gate.

If her guess was precise, then her clothes must have been torn up into pieces by Gracie.

"It's your house, so what? Don't you want to know who was responsible for attacking you last night?" It was clear that Rayan had got some news.

He must have known who the responsible person was.

Janessa's intuition informed her that it must have been a woman.

Judging from the fight, the person must have been a woman or someone with little strength.

"Who was it?"

Since Rayan had taken the initiative to come here, she would not miss such an excellent opportunity to know the truth.

"It's Sally." Rayan looked into the eyes of Janessa and realized that he had to be frank with her.

He said that person's name directly.

Judging from Janessa's reaction, he was convinced that she had believed him.

"Why did Sally set me up? I have never offended her." Janessa couldn't understand why Sally would be so vicious.

It didn't make sense.

She couldn't remember any conflict between her and Sally when she thought about this period of time before she was attacked.

If there were some grudges, it must have been because of Gordon.

But she hadn't seen Gordon nor Sally for a long time. Where would the conflict come from?

If that was not the reason, she couldn't think of any other reason that might have led to the conflict.

"You can ask her yourself."

"Did you report her to the police station or..." Janessa perceived that Rayan had caught Sally.

Janessa was aware that Rayan would be violent sometimes. She had to find a way to avoid him sometimes.

"She is in the police station. But if you have to ask her anything, remember to tell your lawyer. I can give you all the information you want."

"How do you know that I have something to ask her?"

Janessa was confused. She hadn't expected that Sally would do such a thing. She had suspected that Gracie would be the culprit.

How could a quiet and obedient woman like Sally hurt her?

"You can go and interrogate her if you want. If you are late, you may never see her again. Here's the key card. You can go into the room whenever you want."

Rayan left after leaving this clue.

It seemed that Rayan always pushed himself too hard. He was really exhausted.

Janessa still felt that she had to go to the police station after Rayan left.

She had to know why Sally wanted to kill her yesterday.

If it was about Gordon, Janessa had nothing to do with him. Therefore, Sally had no reason to loathe her.

Janessa had to find out what the misunderstanding between them was.

Leona came back from shopping as soon as Janessa wore her clothes.

There were not many bags in her hands, but for a pregnant woman, they were a little heavy.

"Why didn't you ask me to accompany you? What if you get hurt accidentally?" Janessa glared at Leona and said with concern for her welfare, looking at her belly.

"How dare you treat your baby like this? I won't let you go if anything happens to the baby."

