

Chapter 250 Three New Female Assistants

The next day, Alana's parents came by to pick her up, so Janessa just came to work as usual.

The second she walked into the Lu Group's building, she sensed right away that something seemed off.

The atmosphere inside was kind of depressing, but Janessa decided not to think too much about it. At the end of the day, it was impossible for her to experience a normal work atmosphere, considering how she was working for a cold-hearted boss.

Under everyone's gaze, Janessa walked straight into the CEO's office.

When she walked inside, she felt like the place was a bit more crowded than usual.

Apart from her desk, there were three more desks. And there were three other women sitting on their respective desks in the CEO's office.

"Hi, Janessa! I'm Mr. Lu's new assistant, Anita. Since I'm new here, I will highly appreciate it if you can give me your advice or suggestions more in the future," Anita said with a smile. Compared with the other two, Anita was more proactive in trying to get along with Janessa, and she seemed to be genuinely interested in becoming friends with her. However, Janessa didn't seem to like this.

She looked at the woman in front of her. Although Anita looked harmless, something was telling Janessa that she was not as simple as she seemed.

"Nice to meet you. I am also his assistant," Janessa flatly replied.

Rayan was probably doing all of this because he wanted Janessa to apologize to him. However, Janessa didn't think she did anything wrong, so there should be no reason for her to apologize whatsoever.

The other two girls had no choice but to walk over towards them when they saw Anita talking to Janessa.

"Nice to meet you, Miss Qiu. I'm Samantha, the new assistant in the CEO's office." Although Samantha was average looking and always spoke in a coquettish way, she was rather well-endowed. It would be quite obvious even if she was wearing a loose blouse. What was more, she was wearing tight-fitting clothes today.

It was crystal clear what she was up to.

"Hello," Janessa greeted her back and didn't say anything more. Without a doubt, Samantha was just a flirt who was here to seduce Rayan. Janessa didn't want to have anything to do with her.

"Nice to meet you, Janessa. I just graduated from college this year. My name is Leena. I would be most grateful if you could guide me as well. I'm not afraid of being criticized. I will learn faster if you can show me the ropes. I hope you can bear with me if I'm a bit slow sometimes." Leena was young and beautiful as her age suggested, and her big eyes were staring at Janessa. There was no hint of malice in her pure gaze.

"Well, we're colleagues working in the same office. I only started working here a few months earlier than you. So, there's no need to be so polite." Janessa said this not only to Leena, but to the other two as well, since they were going to be working with each other from now on.

This was her way of telling them that she didn't want to waste any of their time with unnecessary dramas.

For as long as they would take their work seriously, they would be able to keep working here. If they couldn't keep up, then they would have to go look for an easier job someplace else.

The CEO's office of the Lu Group had no place for lazy people.

"I understand, Janessa," the three of them said in unison and went back to work.

Without going directly into Rayan's office to let him know about today's schedule, Janessa turned around and went to Corbin's office.

"Hey, would you mind telling me what's going on? Three more assistants at once?" Janessa and Corbin had already become very familiar with each other. Whether they were talking about work or something else, they were no longer as formal as before.

Instead, they could now joke around with each other like friends.

That being said, what happened just now was the biggest joke.

After signing the document on his desk, Corbin pushed his glasses up his nose and helplessly said, "There was nothing I can do. Mr. Lu went out yesterday and when he was back, he told me to hire three assistants for him before he got off work. He also asked me to set up their desks next to yours. Do you have any idea how difficult it was for me to pull that off?"

Corbin didn't really want to talk about it. After he found a way for Janessa and Rayan to patch things up, how could things end up like this?

As much as he hated to admit it, it really seemed as though the two of them were just so incompatible, like oil and water.

"He went out? And after that, he asked you to hire three assistants without saying why? Does he take that CEO's office as the assistant's office?" With her back leaning against the glass wall of Corbin's office, Janessa continued to ask.

"What am I supposed to do about the work? I don't even know what kind of backgrounds they have. How am I supposed to delegate work for them?" It was really difficult for her to deal with this. She had no experience working as an assistant prior to joining the Lu Group. In fact, she even had to learn some new skills in order to be eligible to work for the company.

Corbin had always been the one who gave her work, and now she had to delegate work to others from out of the blue.

"You can just let them take care of things like printing and binding documents. It's not particularly important. However, some documents contain confidential information. So, you have to do those ones yourself. Just leave the unimportant stuff to them,"

Corbin casually replied. After thinking for a while, Janessa agreed that it was indeed what she usually did.

"That's a good idea!" Janessa prepared a pile of documents. Rayan's schedule for today was in there as well. Then, she went back to her desk with the documents in her arms.

When she saw Janessa carrying a pile of documents all by herself, Leena ran over to give her a hand right away.

"That looks heavy. Let me help you carry it." Janessa grabbed Rayan's schedule and put it aside. Leena's eyes fell on it.

"What's this document? Do you need any help with this?"

Before Janessa could even respond, Leena had already picked up Rayan's schedule.

"Oh! I know how to do this. I used to do this in my previous work. So, you can rest assured that's okay to hand over this job to me." Leena then headed straight towards Rayan's office. As she walked, there was an obvious glimmer in her eyes.

Just a second ago, she was putting on an innocent girl act. But, as soon as she saw an opportunity to get close to Rayan, she immediately showed her true color.

"Wait!" Janessa tugged on Leena's clothes and abruptly pulled her back.

"Do you need anything else?" Leena had always dreamt about having a conversation with Rayan. Therefore, after getting her hands on such a document, she couldn't hold back anymore and was raring to see him.

"That's not your job. But, you may get a chance in the future. For the time being, your task is to equally distribute these documents to everyone. There are instructions inside on how to do it. If there's anything you don't understand, you can ask me." Janessa grabbed the document containing Rayan's schedule and handed over the pile of documents to Leena.

"Okay!"

Leena's face darkened as soon as she was told that she wouldn't be allowed to go into Rayan's office. She had thought that she could finally get the chance to get closer to Rayan, but Janessa got in her way. It seemed that Janessa wanted to save Rayan for herself.

Although there was kindness in Leena's eyes, she was actually having vicious thoughts deep inside.

"Set a password for your computer in the office. If any of the confidential files get leaked, you will be punished."
