

Chapter 315 Let Me Make Breakfas

In the morning, as Janessa woke up, she turned over and hit something hard. Then, it hit her that she forgot the presence of another person beside her.

Janessa opened her eyes and looked at Rayan's face carefully. Suddenly, his thick eyebrows knotted together while he was sleeping.

"Why does he has that expression when he is sleeping? Is he worried even in his dream?"

Janessa studied the knot on Rayan's forehead. Strangely, she felt the need to soothe him. At that moment, her body moved before her mind could process it. She carefully raised her hand to smoothen it. However, her slight movement seemed to have disturbed his sleep because the knot on his forehead spread to his face even more. Rayan turned to his side, effectively showing his handsome sleeping face to Janessa.

"How is he still handsome even when he is asleep?" Janessa snuggled closer and watched him, fascinated by Rayan's sleeping figure. In fact, they had never laid together so quietly like this before.

In the past, they always fought. However, now that everything was settled, she could see him as soon as she opened her eyes in the morning. It made her really happy.

Janessa's thoughts were disturbed by a deep, manly voice that was calling out to her. "Mrs. Lu, are you still gonna keep watching?" When Janessa turned to Rayan, his eyes were fixated on her. He had already woken up earlier. However, when Janessa kept looking at him, he pretended to be asleep. He knew she was looking at his face and didn't make any sound. She touched his eyebrows and then looked at his eyes. He really enjoyed seeing Janessa watch him sleeping.

If he had known that he and Janessa would end up like this, he wouldn't have wasted those three years.

"Oh, you're up. When did you wake up?" As if she was caught in the act, Janessa subconsciously moved back slightly and jumped out of the bed. She avoided Rayan's gaze.

However, when she stepped out of the bed, a slight chill swept over her body. She then looked down and found that she was fully naked.

On the other side, Rayan watched Janessa with one hand supporting his head, smirking.

Janessa's face instantly flushed red up to her ears. She looked around and found that there were no clothes that she could use to cover herself. Feeling Rayan's gaze, Janessa unconsciously looked at him. He then smiled at her meaningfully, which made her more embarrassed.

"W-What are you looking at?" Janessa quickly got into the bed and wrapped herself with the sheets tightly.

"Hey, we're already a married couple. There's no need to be so shy," Rayan said with a soft smile on his lips. The Janessa in front of him now was different from the Janessa three years ago. This cute move of hers was not something the old Janessa would do—or at least that was what the impression he had about Janessa in the past.

Looking at Janessa with red cheeks, he felt the freshness of falling in love once again.

"W-What are you saying? Who married you? Y-You... You, you should get up first. I'll get up later." Janessa stuttered with her words. However, she tried not to show her embarrassment to Rayan. Janessa continued laying on the bed as if she didn't have a plan to get up before Rayan. She buried herself further in the blankets.

Rayan wanted to stay with Janessa for a while. However, he also knew that the two of them had moved so fast. This time, he better slow it down. In any case, they were together now. They had a lot of time in their hands. There was no need to rush. Of course, there was no need for him to push her for now. Janessa would eventually get used to him and their new life together in the future.

"Alright. I'll get up first."

Rayan got up and walked to the bathroom. Then, he suddenly turned back when he remembered something. "Janessa!"

"Hmm? What?" Upon hearing Rayan's voice, Janessa subconsciously turned to look at him. However, it was a mistake because Rayan was completely naked, too. Her face turned even redder. Suddenly, she felt hot all over.

"What are you doing?! Why are you naked?!" Janessa said as she buried her head in the quilt.

Rayan smirked and looked at Janessa with a glint in his eyes. "Why do you think I would have clothes on after what happened yesterday?" Rayan slowly closed the distance between them. Then, he pulled Janessa out of the quilt.

The quilt just covered Rayan's lower body. Even if Janessa got out of the quilt, she wouldn't see anything now.

"Hey, move! What are you doing? Go away..."

"Can you help me get my clothes?" Rayan leaned in closer and whispered to her. It must be her imagination but she felt a chill down her spine when she felt Rayan's warm breath on her skin. After he said those words, Rayan went to the bathroom, completely unaware of what he did to Janessa. She sat up to calm herself.

When the sound of water was heard from the bathroom, Janessa sluggishly got off the bed. Janessa pushed the memory of Rayan's warm breath on her skin and quickly put on her pajamas quickly. Then, she prepared the clothes for Rayan and put them outside of the bathroom door.

Janessa looked at the mirror to fix herself. After finishing the preparation, Janessa went downstairs and saw a maid making breakfast. Janessa took a look at the food and then shook her head. She smiled at the maid and said, "I'll make the breakfast today. You can leave now."

Despite Janessa's smile, the maid was terrified because of her words. She might have been in the villa for a long time but this was the first time she made breakfast for Mr. Lu. However, she was stopped before she could finish it.

"I apologize, Miss Qiu. D-Did I do something wrong?" The maid said in a trembling voice. She was afraid that she would be fired if she really messed up.

It was a fact that the salary given by Rayan was three times the salary she could get elsewhere. Despite the slightly heavy workload, it was acceptable. In any case, no one would be willing to lose such a well-paying job. The maid clutched her hands together and bowed her head.

Seeing the maid's fear, Janessa touched the woman's shoulder and said while smiling, "You think too much. You didn't do anything wrong. It's just that I want to make breakfast for Rayan myself." When Janessa woke up this morning, one of the things she planned to do was make breakfast for Rayan. Not because she had to. It's because she wanted to.

However, the scene of the maid already cooking in the kitchen ruined her plan.

"Wow! Mr. Lu is so lucky for having Miss Qiu make breakfast for him. Then, let me help you, Miss. What can I do for you?" The young maid's face finally brightened. Then, she stood beside Janessa. The maid was a young girl in her early twenties. Naturally, she was envious of the relationship between Janessa and Rayan.

"Thank you. But there's no need. In return, can you share the food you made with other staff? Only those with a full stomach can have enough strength to work." Janessa looked at the food in front of her. It looked delicious, maybe even more delicious than what she would cook for Rayan. Anyway, she didn't like to waste food. Even if it was already made, it shouldn't be wasted. There were so many people in the villa, and everyone could have some.

"Of course. Thank you, Miss Qiu. I'm sure they will also appreciate it. Just call me if you need anything. I'll be right here as soon as possible." The young maid took the breakfast she just made and left the kitchen.

Janessa used to make breakfast for Rayan when they were still married. Even if she couldn't say she knew much about what Rayan liked, she was confident that she knew what to make for him.

Janessa wore an apron and took out the ingredients she needed. Soon enough, the breakfast was made. She placed it carefully on the table.

When Rayan saw Janessa in the kitchen, he was initially confused. However, he smelled something and instantly knew what was happening.

Janessa was making breakfast.

Strangely, he knew it was made by her just by smelling the food.

Rayan approached Janessa and peered over her shoulders. Then, he said, "Why don't you go upstairs first and take a shower? I'll wait for you here to eat breakfast with you." Janessa was initially surprised that Rayan had approached her so closely without her knowledge. However, her surprise didn't last when she felt some droplets of water from Rayan's hair. It seemed that his hair hadn't dried up yet.

Janessa turned around and saw a few small locks of Rayan's hair stuck on his forehead. This showed a different kind of look on his handsome face.

Even if he looked silly, he still looked handsome. Surely, he would still be handsome even if he would shave his head.

Janessa felt her cheeks heat up when she realized that Rayan was only wearing a night robe. However, he still looked so handsome, much handsome than ordinary people.

To have such a good-looking man, she felt so lucky.

Janessa touched Rayan's wet hair and said, "You must be hungry. You should eat first. I'll be back later. Anyway, why don't you dry your hair first?" Janessa played with Rayan's hair some more. For some reason, she felt herself relax as she twirled some of his hair in her fingers. Truthfully, she didn't want to take a shower now. However, when she thought of what happened last night... Janessa moved her hands away quickly. Rayan was about to sulk. But when he saw the blush on her cheeks, he already knew what she was thinking. Awkwardly, she quickly went upstairs without looking at Rayan.

Janessa wanted to enjoy her shower. However, she got so tired last night. She then got up and made breakfast this morning. She was already starving. Janessa sighed. Regardless of anything else, she took a quick shower and went downstairs to join Rayan.

Janessa only had time to make breakfast for Rayan. She didn't make one for herself.

But she saw two breakfasts on the table when she went downstairs. She looked at Rayan and asked, "What's this?"

Rayan beamed at her, pleased. "This is for you. Come, try it. You didn't make breakfast for yourself. So I made this for you." Janessa sat down in the seat opposite Rayan. Truthfully, the breakfast didn't look very good. However, it didn't look bad either. It seemed edible thankfully. She felt her heart swell with happiness because of Rayan's sincerity.

"Thank you," Janessa said, with a smile forming her lips. Despite how it looked, Rayan's food was quite delicious. Janessa enjoyed it, having eaten more than usual.
