

Chapter 319 Will You Forgive Me

Originally, Janessa simply wanted to punish Rayan. But somehow, they ended up in the lounge and had sex.

When they finished, it was already afternoon. Janessa lay on Rayan's arms, with her fingers drawing circles on his chest.

"Hey, why did you bring me to bed?" Ever since Janessa had agreed to be with Rayan, they already had sex several times. It turned out that with Rayan, she would live an erotic life with him. The two of them somehow always ended up in bed every time they had a trivial fight or flirting.

Realizing that they had sex at least once a day these days, Janessa felt her cheeks heat up. It was a bit too often. Janessa felt a little overwhelmed with the turn of events.

"You're the one who seduced me, cutie." Rayan pinched Janessa's nose slightly. Then, Rayan pressed the restless little hand on his chest. Janessa herself was like a strong love potion for him. She didn't need to speak a word because her very existence next to him was enough to stir his mind.

Janessa hit Rayan's chest softly and protested. "When did I seduce you? You're the one who did this to me! My waist still hurts, you know?" Janessa felt wronged by Rayan's accusation. She wanted to turn over and lie down for a while. However, her whole body seemed to be falling apart. Even moving a little felt like tearing her limbs apart. She had already cursed Rayan in her heart.

Rayan turned Janessa over with a gentle push on her body. Then, he placed his big hand on her waist.

"What the hell are you doing? Let me go," Janessa tried to get away from Rayan's grip to no avail. He didn't even flinch. Janessa thought Rayan wanted to do it again. So, she stopped him quickly.

"I'm not doing anything to you. Just lie down here." Rayan gently massaged her back.

Rayan's palm was huge. Thus, his gentle press on her back could already make Janessa feel so comfortable without having to exert much strength.

With her eyes closed, Janessa felt so comfortable that she almost fell asleep.

"You're quite good. Why do you know how to massage? Have you ever massaged someone before?" Janessa was curious about many things about Rayan. She wanted to know him more, especially the things she missed before. However, Janessa regretted the question as soon she uttered it. It was because a scene of Rayan giving Gracie a massage immediately came to her mind. The playful smile on her lips suddenly turned cold.

As Rayan adjusted the strength of his hand on Janessa's back, his gaze was fixed on her face. Naturally, he noticed the change in her expression just now. Rayan grinned to himself when he realized what she might be thinking at that moment. 'She is jealous, huh? Cute,' he thought. Teasing her was the first thing he wanted to do. However, it might make Janessa's mood worse.

Hence, he said with a kind smile, "No, this is my first time."

It also surprised Rayan that he could know the exact position and strength he should use considering this was his first time.

It seemed that he had the talent.

"This is your first time? Don't fool me. I don't believe you! You're lying, aren't you? You must have practiced on other women! Or it could be that you went to a massage place to let those women massage you. If not, then how could you do it so well on your first try?" Janessa pouted, convinced that her guess was right. Thinking that another woman had been the recipient of Rayan's massage made her feel upset. After all, no one would believe that it was Rayan's first time. How could he lie to her?

"Dear me..." Rayan stopped massaging Janessa and turned over. He leaned against the bedside table, lit a cigarette, and put it into his mouth.

"Rayan, you shouldn't smoke too much." Janessa sat up and moved closer to Rayan. With a frown, she attempted to grab the cigarette from him.

Janessa thought she would have a hard time grabbing the cigarette off his hand. However, she didn't expect it to be so easy. Perhaps Rayan allowed her to take it.

Janessa immediately put out the cigarette in the ashtray and looked at Rayan seriously. For some reason, Rayan felt like a child being scolded for being naughty. "Don't smoke too much. That's not good for your health."

Janessa's behavior reminded Rayan of when she was just transferred to the CEO's office as an assistant. Although she could do nothing about his habit of smoking at that time, she would silently open the window every time he filled the room with smoke. Then, she would report her work standing next to the window.

"You can rest for now. I know you're tired. I will ask Corbin to order some food for us later. We can eat in the office after all. Then, I'll take you out tonight."

Janessa didn't try to coax Rayan to rest because she knew that he had a lot of work to do. She wanted to get up to help him as much as she could. However, Rayan stopped her by pulling her arm.

"You should rest. Don't need to worry about work for now and sleep." Rayan also knew that Janessa must be exhausted from work. In addition, it seemed that he had pushed her to her limits. Rayan felt a little guilty when he saw Janessa wince in pain. He tucked Janessa in and patted her head. Just a few minutes after, Janessa had already fallen deep asleep. Rayan went to the bathroom and took a quick shower. Then, he quickly put on his clothes and walked out of the lounge.

When Janessa woke up again, the sun was already setting. It seemed like she was truly exhausted. Janessa looked out of the window and watched the sunset while still lying down in the bed. In fact, she was not as relaxed as she was supposed to be. There was one thing that had been weighing on her mind all the time. Since Janessa came back from abroad, she had been trying to solve this problem. However, she had no time to tackle it properly.

Janessa wondered as she kept thinking about her problem and almost forgot the time. When Rayan came in to call her out, she was still looking out of the window in a daze.

"Oh, you're already up? Come on, get dressed and we'll go out for dinner." Rayan was surprised to see that Janessa hadn't gotten up yet. This was the first time he saw her lagging in bed. It pleased him to see a new side of this woman after getting together again.

Watching her act this way, Rayan felt good because she felt more like a lively girl when she behaved like that.

Rayan walked over and sat on the bed beside Janessa. She looked so deep in thought. "Rayan... I want to ask you a question." After thinking for a while, Janessa made up her mind to ask what Rayan thought about it. If he could not forgive her, then perhaps the present happiness she felt would disappear like bubbles in the end.

Janessa looked at Rayan seriously. Her eyes had a trace of expectation.

"What is it? Why are you so serious, though?" Rayan listened to Janessa as he carried her to the bathroom. He then began to help her wash her body.

"Wait. Listen to me first." Janessa touched Rayan's arm to get his attention. Rayan stopped and looked at Janessa. Then, Janessa took a towel to cover her body and looked back at Rayan with a serious expression on her face.

"Let's say one day, you find out that I did something wrong. However, it didn't cause any serious consequence. Will you forgive me for making such a mistake?"

"What's with that question? How can you make such a mistake? You're one of the smartest people I know! What's more, I will forgive you even if you did something wrong. You are my woman, after all. There's no way I wouldn't forgive you." After saying that, Rayan touched Janessa's hair that was stuck on her face. Then, he looked at Janessa who was still visibly on alert.

"Are you satisfied with my answer? Then, let me help you wash now, okay?" Rayan unwrapped the towel that was hiding Janessa's body and threw it aside. Then, he carefully bathed her.

Rayan's eyes that were intently looking at Janessa were clear. However, there was a violent wave of emotion that was hidden in the deepest part of his eyes.

"Rayan, I appreciate the thought but I can do it myself." Janessa would have never thought she would be bathed by a man.

However, despite Janessa's aversion to being bathed by someone else, she was being carefully attended to by Rayan. Water sprayed on Rayan's shirt. The wet part clung to his skin.

Somehow, seeing Rayan's wet shirt cling to his body made her feel that he was very sexy.

Janessa turned her eyes and looked at her own body instead. She gently pushed Rayan away. "Okay, that's it. I'll get dressed now."

This time, before Rayan could even stop her, Janessa dried herself off quickly and ran outside to get dressed.

Upon getting out of the bathroom, she saw a new set of clothes had been prepared on the bed. Janessa looked at it and made sure it was her size before quickly putting it on.

Janessa was already dressed when Rayan came out of the bathroom.

Looking at Rayan's wet body, Janessa's face flushed instantly. She immediately moved her eyes away and said while feigning nonchalance, "You should change your clothes. I'm going to eat first."

Looking at the retreating back of Janessa, Rayan couldn't help but burst into laughter. Seeing the slight blush on her ears, he immediately wanted to hug Janessa and kiss her. 'She's really adorable,' he thought.

However, what they didn't know was that this peace would be followed by a raging storm...