Chapter 329 What Are We Doing Here

The holidays went by rather smoothly this year. Janessa celebrated it with Rayan's parents in their house, as if the two of them never even had a divorce in the first place.

No one really brought it up either.

By the fourth day after the New Year's Eve, they had visited nearly all their relatives already. So, Janessa thought it would be a good idea to send her friends a message and organize a get-together.

Almost instantly, she received positive replies from two of her best friends.

"I'm in! I've been so busy lately, so it would be really nice if we could hang out. I don't have plans for tomorrow. How about we get together tomorrow?" Alana was a little bored because she was stuck with her family in the past couple of days.

Leona just said she was going to come and didn't say anything else, which meant she could go with them any day.

Thinking of Leona's baby, whom Janessa hadn't seen yet since he was born, she couldn't help but want to see the child.

While they were in the video call, Leona wanted her child to meet Janessa and Alana. However, the child was still quite young, so he just kept playing with his toys and wasn't paying attention to the camera at all. Be that as it might, the baby's appearance was enough to make Janessa feel warm deep inside.

"You should bring your baby along with you tomorrow. I really want to hug him. He looks so adorable." For some reason, Janessa had a motherly instinct when she saw the child.

"Okay, if you insist!" Leona agreed with a smile.

Since they didn't have children, they had no idea how big of a responsibility it was to take care of a child. Leona trusted the two of them and didn't mind having them take care of her baby. It should be just about time for them to know how it felt to be a mother.

They agreed to meet on the following day. When they arrived at Janessa's apartment, it no longer seemed to be a girls' party anymore.

"I can't believe you two. I thought this was supposed to be a party between just us girls?" Alana was under the assumption that it would just be the three of them plus the baby. Unfortunately, there were more people than she had expected.

Alana was a bit disappointed in her besties.

Janessa and Leona glanced at each other helplessly. Truth be told, they didn't really ask for this either. But, the men insisted on tagging along with them. What were they supposed to do?

"Well, Alana, at least we don't have to prepare the meal ourselves for our party. We'll let them take care of it. Today, all we have to do is chat and take care of the baby," Leona tried to comfort Alana.

Hearing what Leona said, Janessa went on and added, "Yeah, we're here to catch up and have a good time. They're just here to help us out a little."

The two men behind them exchanged glances with each other, but neither of them complained. After all, they were the ones who insisted on coming, so no matter what their wives said, they couldn't talk back.

All they could do was fulfill their wives' wishes.

When she heard what her two besties said, Alana felt much better.

When the five of them entered the apartment, the room felt a little cramped with more people inside.

After taking off her coat, Alana's eyes fell on the only little guy who was present.

Without Leona's help, Nolan had skillfully taken off the heavy clothes the child was wearing, revealing a cute beige onesie underneath.

"Are you just gonna keep staring at him like that? Feel free to hug him." From the look in Alana's eyes, Leona could tell that she was eager to hold the baby.

The baby was only five months old, but it should be quite easy to hold him already.

"Leona, I don't really know how to hold a baby. Can you teach me?"

Alana quickly learned how to properly hold a baby after Leona showed her how.

Perhaps it was because the child was full at the moment that Alana's arm felt numb after holding him for a while.

"Oh, my. How much have you eaten?" Alana thought she was fit, but felt so tired after holding the child for just a while.

"Janessa, come here and give it a try." Leona took the baby from Alana and carried her over to Janessa's arms.

Compared to the clumsy Alana, Janessa somewhat gave off a motherly aura, so she might instinctively know how to take care of a child.

"Holding a baby in your arms really suits you. You should hurry up and have a baby soon." Leona gave Janessa and Rayan a meaningful glance.

Having a baby had become a common topic when people talked to Janessa.

"Alright, alright. We should just let nature run its course. Let's go inside and have a chat. We can just let the guys take care of the baby and the meals."

Saying this, Janessa put the baby directly in Nolan's arms. Then, the three women happily walked into her room with a lot of snacks in their hands.

"Why are we even here?" Nolan stared blankly at Rayan who was just as confused.

The two men helplessly looked at each other and didn't know what just happened. The baby just peed all over the ground without a warning.

In a way, it was still quite fortunate that the baby only peed on the ground.

With a helpless look on his face, Rayan glanced at the TV and tossed the tissue over to Nolan.

After seeing what the baby just did, Rayan suddenly didn't feel like having a child anymore.

Nolan had already gotten used to dealing with incidents like this and was able to clean it up quite skillfully.

After changing the baby's clothes, Nolan taught Rayan how to take care of children.

Although Rayan couldn't possibly remember everything that Nolan said, but he learned a things or two, so it was still worthwhile.

In the room, Janessa was lying on the bed and looking at Leona. After giving it much thought, she finally threw out the question that had been bugging her for so long.

"Leona, when did Nolan get in touch with you? You..."

When Leona left, she had made up her mind that she didn't want to have anything to do with Nolan anymore. In contrast to that, the two of them seemed to be getting along quite well right now. Not only that, Nolan had also become much nicer, acting like a gentle and responsible father.

To put it bluntly, Nolan looked like a completely different person from the one they knew before.

"Well, to tell you the truth, Nolan found me not long after I arrived in B City. But, he didn't try to take me back, nor did he ask me to get rid of the baby in my womb. Instead, he just let me stay there in B City. He would come over from time to time when he wasn't busy. He didn't ask about anything other than if I had enough money to support myself, or if I was having trouble taking care of the baby by myself."

Thinking of everything that happened back then, Leona almost couldn't believe it.

"At that time, Nolan seemed to have changed into a different person altogether. He wasn't as irritable as before, and he treated me really nicely. We've been together after that. I honestly feel like there's a chance for us to be really happy," Leona said, wearing a vibrant smile on her face.

From the genuine smile on her face, Janessa could clearly feel that Leona was brimming with happiness.

"I wish you and Nolan could have a lifetime of love and happiness."

"Me too! I wish you all the best. An everlasting happiness."

"Okay, enough about me. What about you? Janessa already got married, so... Alana..." Leona covered her mouth before she could say anything else.

Love was a painful topic for Alana. It seemed that she was really not good at chatting.

"Actually... I..." Alana said in a low voice. She seemed to be so happy about something that she wanted to share it with her friends. But, then she suddenly stopped half way.

Could it be a good thing or a bad thing?
