

Chapter 333 I'm Not That Patien

When Janessa turned around and looked at the door, she found out that it was not Rayan who came in.

"C-Corbin, what are you doing here?" Janessa forced a smile. Truthfully, she felt a little guilty. After all, she had just stolen a document from Rayan. It would be weird if she didn't feel guilty at all.

Seeing Janessa, Corbin didn't think too much about it. It was because he knew what had happened between Janessa and Rayan. Hence, even if he saw Janessa inside the office alone, he would not doubt anything.

They had also known each other for a long time. Even until now, Corbin didn't find anything unusual about Janessa.

Corbin answered calmly without any suspicion, "The boss needs a document. I came here to take it to him." Corbin didn't mind what Janessa was doing inside and walked quickly to the cabinet where the documents were placed. After a few seconds of rummaging inside the cabinet, he found the document and took it.

Janessa felt slightly relieved upon looking at the document in Corbin's hand. To avoid looking suspicious, she fed some food to the goldfish on Rayan's desk and then walked to the door.

"Go ahead with your work, Corbin. I'm going out now." After saying those words, Janessa left the office. She had thought that this matter would come to an end. However, she didn't expect that Corbin would follow her immediately.

As soon as Janessa reached her desk, Corbin followed her and handed the document to her. "Can you deliver this to Mr. Lu? He needs this document now. Take the car and send it to him now. I'll send the address to you later, don't worry."

"Are you sure you want me to give it to him?" Janessa wanted to ask if Corbin trusted her that much, enough to entrust to her an important document. She looked at the document in confusion. Although it wasn't the special document that she needed, why did Corbin trust her so much that he asked her to send it?

Janessa felt uneasy. Probably due to the fact that she had just stolen a document in Rayan's office, she felt quite guilty at the moment. Janessa couldn't even look into Corbin's eyes in fear that he would realize how nervous she was. Looking at Corbin who was waiting for her decision, Janessa sighed and took the document.

"Alright. I also have a document here. The secretary of the general manager will come to fetch this document later. You can give it to her then. It seems like what you gave me is an important document. I should go now." With the document in her hands, Janessa grabbed the car key and went out.

Seeing Janessa's fast movements as soon as he handed the documents to her, Corbin was surprised that Janessa was so efficient. Truthfully, he didn't expect that Janessa would disappear as soon as he told her the instructions.

At first, Corbin was unsure why Rayan wanted Janessa to join the CEO office when she was in the design department. It turned out that everything had a reason. He was convinced that Rayan knew Janessa's efficiency.

Janessa didn't waste time and went downstairs directly with the document in her hand. When she drove far enough away from the Lu Group, she pull up on the roadside.

When she remembered what Larry asked her to do, Janessa felt like her head was spinning. She looked at the pictures of the document on her phone, worried. She didn't know what she should do.

She wanted to end the cooperation with Larry as soon as possible. However, if she didn't do as he had asked, she was afraid that he would hurt Rayan. Just thinking about it sent shivers down her spine.

She knew that anything she would do would be wrong. Every decision she could make had a positive and negative result. The only way she knew now was to let Rayan collect as many shares as possible and control his own company. Otherwise, the situation would be very dangerous for him.

However, there was no way Janessa could tell him personally. After all, she couldn't explain how she knew that Larry had taken the shares of the Lu Group.

Janessa put her forehead in the steering wheel and bumped her head a few times. "What should I do?" she thought to herself.

However, even after bumping her head a few more times, Janessa couldn't come up with a good idea. She felt so helpless because she had no one she could discuss this matter with.

Janessa was at a loss when her phone suddenly rang. However, as soon as she reached for her phone, the other party hung up quickly.

Without even checking the caller ID, Janessa knew that it was a call from Larry. She knew that Larry would be in a hurry to get the document.

Recently, Larry had always called Janessa in this way. When they talked, he would always talk about the document and rush her to steal it as soon as possible.

Janessa called him back. When Larry picked up the call this time, her expression suddenly became cold. Her voice became lower. She didn't want to talk to him. However, she had no choice but to do it.

"Why did you call? What do you want?" Janessa said in a cold but angry voice. She was suppressing herself from shouting at the man in the other line.

"Hey, you don't have to be so angry. I just called you because I care about our cooperation. That's all." She had to admit that Larry's voice was charismatic. However, instead of calming her down, it just made her more irritated.

Janessa wanted to curse her past self. Why was she so stupid that she made a deal with Larry? She was truly an idiot. Janessa bit her lower lip as she chastised herself for making such a decision in the past.

"I still don't have a chance to steal it yet. I can't find the right timing. For now, you have to wait. It's a confidential document. There's no way I would find it so easily. Give me more time." Despite her calm voice, Janessa felt anxious. She knew that she could only delay stealing the document for Larry for the time being. Larry was not a patient man. At some point, he would push Janessa to do it immediately. Although the document on her hand at that moment was not the most important, it was still a very important project plan for Rayan.

"Ha! You know those are just excuses, Janessa. You have been working for Rayan for half a year, after all. Do you want me to believe that you couldn't find a mere document? You should know that my patience is limited. I won't wait for you forever. If you won't give me the document, you already know what I will do," Larry said viciously to threaten Janessa. After all, he could easily ruin Janessa's and Rayan's reputation.

Janessa sighed and said, "Larry, do you think everything is as easy as you think?" Janessa gripped the steering wheel tighter as she tried to suppress her anger.

She had to appease Larry to give her more time. She couldn't let anything wrong happen to Rayan.

Rayan was the most important person for her. Even more important than herself. She was willing to sacrifice even the Qiu Group in order to protect Rayan.

Since she had chosen to love Rayan and be together with him, she should help him solve his problems.

"Fine. Just do it as soon as possible. I've been waiting for you for months. Do you really want to test my patience? I should tell you that I'm not as patient as you think," Larry said in a low voice. After saying that, Larry immediately hung up.

As soon as the line was cut, Janessa threw the phone in the passenger seat and shouted in frustration.

"I won't let Larry ruin Rayan," Janessa said in a low voice.

Janessa calmed down after thinking for a while. Then, she drove to the location sent by Corbin.

When she arrived downstairs and parked the car, the bag on the passenger seat fell out of inertia because of the abrupt stopping. Then, the things inside the bag all came out.

Janessa bent over to pick up the things on the floor of the car one by one. Then, she went upstairs with the document and her bag.

When she entered the elevator, she immediately noticed her messy appearance through the glasses in the elevator. Janessa decided to tidy herself up. She shouldn't present herself like this. Janessa looked for the compact in her bag. However, she couldn't find it.

She rummaged through her bag again. However, her compact was still nowhere to be found. She tried to remember where she had seen it last. Then, she recalled seeing her compact in the company for the last time.

Then, she remembered that the contents of her bag came out after her bag fell in the car. She must have left it in the car just now. However, she couldn't go down and get it now that she had gone upstairs.

Janessa simply tidied her clothes up. Afterwards, she walked out of the elevator and headed for the room where Rayan was.

"That's not it... Hmm... A411, this is it." After confirming the room number from Corbin's message on her phone, Janessa knocked on the door of the room in front of her. However, she didn't hear any sound inside.

Was it the wrong room perhaps? Janessa tried again and knocked on the door. However, there was still no answer.

Janessa took out her phone and dialed Rayan's number. It didn't take a long time for Rayan to answer her call. However, as soon as he spoke, she heard the drunken voice coming from the other end of the phone. Janessa also heard it from behind the door in front of her.

"Janessa, where are you? Why haven't you come yet?"

As soon as Rayan's question came out, Janessa hung up the phone and pushed the door open. As expected, the door wasn't locked. So, she just walked inside the room.

However, Janessa was stunned when she was welcomed by the sight of two people who were leaning against the table. In front of them were several bottles of liquor. Obviously, the two people in the room had drunk a lot. Although Rayan appeared to be sober, he kept talking on the phone in his hand, not noticing the phone was disconnected.

Janessa approached the table and asked, "How much did you drink? Waiter, bill please." Janessa called the waiter and paid the bill. Then, she sent their client to a taxi first with the help of the waiter. Then, she took Rayan into her car.

"You already know that you can't hold your liquor. Why do you drink so much?" Although Janessa was repulsed by the overwhelming smell of liquor on Rayan, she still took Rayan to her home.